

44874 The Nature - operations - & final End of False Repentance: or the Sorum of the world!

2 Cor. 7:10.

1. The apostacy of professing Christians may be accounted for: they never had Godly sorrow.
2. Impossible for man to decide on the truth or falsehood of professed Conversion.
3. Duty of Ministers in consequence of this: to instruct &c.
4. Let the wicked make thorough work in their repentance. Those who doubt their repentance, should, seek assurance of it.

Suitable for Revivals: to search the inquiring: & convict the erroneous.
Also, to preach before Ministers.

Brief consideration of the Text.

We shall take the Text Taken out of its connection and considered ^{it} as a distinct proposition.

Introduces us to two Kinds of Sorrow for Sin: the one True: the other False.

1. "Godly Sorrow": i.e. a sorrow ~~καταθεωρησιν~~ "κατα Θεον for Sin, having God for its αυτην author: and God for its end.

It results in a change of mind & purpose in respect to Sin: and a turning wholly from Sin to God & holiness, out of sincere hatred of the one & love of the other. The Sorrow results in this sincere repentance, the end of which is Salvation. A repentance never to be regretted - or repented of, whatever may have

3. been its pains & distresses, but on the contrary to be rejoiced in forever!

"ὁ δὲ τοῦ κόσμου λύπη."

2. "The Sorrows of the world."

i.e. Sorrows for Sin, having the world for its author: & the world for its end: a sorrow for Sin & turning from it in some sense & degree.

(but never effectually & permanently) nor out of sincere hatred of Sin & love to God, but from other various selfish worldly motives: such a sorrow for Sin, ~~and~~ as worldly, unrepentant men may have: consistent with a worldly mind.

It "worketh death." The final end is the perdition of the soul exercised thereby.

There is therefore a worldly sorrow for Sin, working Re repentance unto life: not⁴ to be repented of: and there is a sorrow of the world, which results in no repentance no reformation unto salvation. The end is death. There is a true & false sorrow for sin: ~~eternae &ce & alas~~ resulting in a true & false Repentance.

Let it be our object to inquire into the Nature operations & final End of this worldly sorrow for sin which leads to false Repentance: particularly and attentively.

1. The Nature of the Sorrow of the world. -

It is essentially different from godly sorrow. Both indeed have respect to Sin

5 but

(1) The Sorrow of the world, is different in its origin.

Godly Sorrow, is the fruit of the Spirit of God.

The Sorrow of the world, the fruit of man's own Spirit.

(2) Different in Kind or Character.

The true Sorrow, is Sorrow for Sin because in itself is vile: in its consequences of polluting & damning: but as committed against a God of infinite authority, majesty, excellency & glory, whose service & favour are supremely to be desired.

The False, is Sorrow for Sin because it brings distress of mind: loss of temporal advantages & eternal ruin.
It is only considered as making against in its consequences the individal's happiness & prosperity, there is no view nor impression of its intrinsic evilness: no taste for and preference of holiness.

(3) Different in Effects; works out a different kind of repentance.
The True, brings self loathing & condemnation: hatred of sin, turning in supreme love to God & holiness.

The False, views sin as a misfortune more than a crime: there is no hatred of sin: (no turning to holiness) beyond its miserable consequences: no hearty turning to holiness.*

* A Child will mourn & weep for its fault - not out of hatred of the fault itself & sorrow & shame for having offended his kind & excellent Parent: not with full determination to do so no more, out of sincere love & respect to his parent: but out of a servile fear

(4) Different in duration of punishment, the consequence of his faults.
The True, always perpetual, the motive perpetual.

7 The False: generally temporary: depending upon the Continuance of the nature.

To show how the Sorrow of the World differs from Godly Sorrow: and wherin its true nature consists, we may simplify the matter by referring each to the object upon which the Sorrow centres, Godly Sorrow - centres in God.

Sorrow of the world - centres in Self.

The one is spiritual, the other carnal: the one heeds only: the other earthly.
Where the true work is performed: the man sorrows: He repents, that he may ly be pardoned, & sanctified: ⁸ glorify God & enjoy him forever.

Where the false work is performed, the man sorrows, & repents, that he may escape punishment: obtain peace in his own troubled mind, or some worldly good.
He has reference to himself not to God.

Such is the nature of worldly sorrow.

II. The operations of this Sorrow of the world.

What are its causes? To what extent does it go? How far?
How deep: how plausible?
What effects follow it? and How long will it continue?

1) Causes: various. Preaching

9 of the word, which sets his Sins in order before him & the dreadful reward of them

The Conversation of a friend the reflections of his own mind: Convictions of Conscience: Some sudden calamity, illness, or sickness. The impression of some truth on the mind

The desire of some earthly by god which Sin presents to.

Any thing may be the cause or occasion of awakening sorrow, which sets his Sins in order before him, either as procuring his ruin or keeping him out of some great good.

(2) Extent of this Sorrow.

(a) He may be enlightened so as to have some views of the greatness & vileness of his ¹⁰ Sins: He may have some feeling of unworthiness: and express his abhorrence of himself & bewail his vileness.

(b) He may have such convictions of guilt & danger, and have such fears of God's wrath, as freely to confess all, & tremble and cry out "what shall I do!"

(c) He may understand the plan of Salvation: and declare the greatness & excellency of it: and apparently with joy receive it, & call upon the Lord Jesus & profess to put all his trust in Him.

(d) He may break off to all human appearance from Sin: and keep fast prayer & act circumspectly: & keep the 11 Sabbath day: & observe the Seasons for religious services and commune with the pe=ple of God: & give of his time & substance to the promo-tion of the Redeemer's cause All which would seem to imply genuine conversion Sin: all is plausible.

(3) The Effects.

may be both internal & external. He may make more conscience of his thought and pretend to innocent pe-rity of feeling & purpose.

He may externally
-ly ^(a) in Private: pray station-
-ly: & read God's word, and ^(b) in Public - in his family set up family prayer - the instruction of his household.

to be careful of his own ¹² example: ⁽²⁾ in the Church - punctual - active - liberal - in the world - upright - accommodating. He may appear a reformed man.

14) The Length of Time this pudor may continue.

This depends entirely upon the continuance of the Causes & or motives to it: sometimes longer, sometimes shorter, As long as the heart is tender: & the Truth of God affects it & fills it with fears: As long as Conscience remains active & unsear'd & stings & goads & distresses: Or as long as there is hope & enjoyment of good which is sought after through this 13 Sorrow, so long may it continue.

Indeed men may get into the habit & appearance of Sorrow & repentance for sin, & retain it even till death!

Yet we may add in these these operations of the Sorrow of the world, there is indeed no hatred of sin: turning from it out of love to God in Christ. Soul!

These operations of the Sorrow of the world, may be illustrated & confirmed by Examples drawn from the word of God.

Sorrow & repentance

1. Between man & man.

Saul & David, in the Cave at Gedi. 1 Sam. 24:1-22.

Saul wept, deeply affected by the 14 the generosity of David, under impressions of the danger which he had escaped & gratitude to one so noble. He confessed his sin: apparently repented; suspended the pursuit, returned home, yet persecuted him again & called David's 'Enemy!'

2 Between God & man.

Sin & apparent Repentance for Sin under the fear of Divine Judgments in this life, & of eternal misery in the next.

Ahab. 1 Kings 21-17-29.

His sin set in order before him by Elijah, and he was threatened with Divine Judgments, that would hurl him from the Throne, bring his wife & his family himself to a bloody death! a prelude to eternal pains.

15 He was awakened: he trembled with fear: "he rent his clothes": he humbled himself as a Sinner before God & "put on sackcloth": and "fasted": mortified his soul & prayed for pardon. He "lay in sackcloth": this expressed grief & repentance continued with him: & he made no secret of it, but "went softly": appeared abroad in the dress & with the looks subdued gait of a mourner: and in a degree suspended his violent drinkings.

There was a hopeful appearance: but it was the effect of fear only & selfishness, for he had no hatred of sin in itself considered, no love or respect for God, no turning to business. For he restored and Naboth's vineyard: 16 he renounced not the influence of his abandoned wife: nor restrained her evil doings: he cast not away his duty. His nature was unchanged: & some time after we behold him (Ch 22) hating Micajah the Prophet of God: casting him into prison & despising the message of God forbidding him to go up to Ramoth-Gilead. So he died!

Rehoboam: a similar case.
2 Chron. 12:1-14. He forsook the Law of the Lord & all Israel with him. The Lord sent Shishak with an army to punish them. Shemaiah the Prophet came & set their sins in order before them & denounced judgments. Whereupon,

17 "The Princes of Israel and the King humbled themselves they said: The Lord is righteous."

But how long was this sorry war? It was but for a little time, until the danger was passed: for of the King it is said, "And (v 14) he did evil because he prepared not his heart to seek the Lord." He never set his heart to the work: his heart never was determined from evil to good. Nature acted itself out a gain.

Similar was the Repentance of the Children of Israel, recorded in Ps. 78: 34 & 37 & illustrated in many passages of their history. Their heart was not right.

and they were not steadfast in their Covenant." + of, Sorrow & apparent Repentance for sin, from a sense of gratitude for great deliveran-ces & a desire for continued mercies.

As the Children of Israel in
Ps. 106: 10-15.

It was but right to be sorry for sins committed against God who had wrought such great deliverances for them: and to sing his praises. But it was all a temporary restraint upon nature: a mere impulse which was swept away by the next returning gust of passion.

From a desire and Expectation of worldly advantage.

As Simon Magus:

18 x Such is the Sorrow of many - as Mariners & passengers in extreme dangers on the sea: as individuals, in seasons of public Calamities - in the midst of pestilential diseases: or on their own beds of death as they sleep : pore. Such as individuals feel when the sudden or awful death of some one
- or the powerful exhibitations of the wrath of God & future punishment, rouse them up to think of their own condition.

* This Sorrow comes after fear is passed.
There seems to be a link between a sense of great gratitude: a Sorrow that so much has been done to give me so good as God is, upon whose favour they see, so much of their peace & prosperity to depend. They all sorrow & praise him, & his favour will continue with them.

* Such is the Sorrow in Acts 8:5-24. which many feel when they can turn Religion to their own advantage.
Some are politically followed the popular tide & pross sorry for Sin.
Some - Covetously sorry for Sin. They may be helped thereby to a prop or to a large & more prop stable partner for life:
stable partner for life: or to greater respect & pop ularity among men: or to greater pleasures liberty of life.

Thus, in Revivals - when the currents sweep into the Church, many are borne along with it, who are actuated by sympathy, or worldy motives. The net is thrown & it gathers the good & the bad.
The people forsook him & followed the Apostles. He professed himself a penitent & convert, & so perfect Philip. But it was all for sinister purposes. He considered the Apostles, only as greater deceivers than himself: Religion to him was merely a means of power & wealth. He offered to buy the gift of the Holy Spirit: he was still in the gall of bitterness & in the bond of iniquity: "his heart was not right before God."^{*}

(d) Sorrow for Sin & apparent Repentance, from a sense of He guilt & disgrace: from in 20 ward distress: remorse of Conscience!

As Judas Iscariot.

His sorrow & repentance in the beginning was through Covetousness: in the end through remorse.

"He repented himself": i.e. re gretted what he had done, as an act of baseness & ingrati tude: as staining his soul with innocent blood, & that the blood of the Son of God! He felt himself ruined before men:

Cut off from God's forgiveness: for doubtless, all the warnings & threatenings of Jesus, his Lord sounded with awful terror in his ear: "rise unto that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed &c."

He could not obtain the price

* There may be in 21 of blood: he restored it: the stones of men who put publicly confessed his sin. an end to their existence through remorse of con- Then unable to support his science. But there is feelings, in remorse & des-a sorrow like that of pair, he hanged himself!
Judas more common than this. Men who have led wicked lives & been He could bear pain & suspension often reproved - whose competition! no longer: he plunged into sciences have stung them into remorse - & God at all: no turning from who have given them- sin to believe.* selves up in despair - or have settled down determined to run the hazard of the snare

From these Examples the Govern of the world we perceive - the causes and the Extent of it: what Effects it produces & how long it may continue. -

In all the grand Characteristic of it appears: there is no sorrow for sin, no turning from it, not of love to God The Sorrow Repentance are selfish, earthly.

III The final End of this

Sorrow.

It "unketh Death:" sometimes as in the Case of Judas temporal death. Always, the death of the Soul: eternal perdition in the world to Come!

Whatever may be the present inquiet: & profits of the Soul, futurity is dark: ruin is Certain:

for the Soul is still "in the gall of bitterness" & "in the bond of iniquity": unhumiliated, unsanctified: unrepentant to God: Christless: Godless. It has ^{not} done its first work.

Inferences & Application.

1. The Apostacy of professing Christians may be accounted for, on the true ground of their never having truly repented.

For "godly sorrow worketh repentance unto salvation"

The work is genuine: perman-ent. - But "the sorrow of the world worketh death."

It will most commonly come to an end in this life: nature restrained for a time, will burst forth & often, like a flame damped up, with increased violence: so that "the least it end is worse than the first."

They are stony ground hear-ers, who with joy receive the word, but having no root in themselves, dure only for a while. Matt 13:21. They put their hand to the plough & presently look back, and are not fit for the Kingdom of God.
Matt. They run well for a time: but are hindered & again entangled in the world th Like Lot's wife, they set out 24 seemingly with good resolution flee from destruction, but stop the way: their heart is behind them, & judgment overtakes them.

They return like the "Dog to his vomit: & like the Sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire": Their "goodness is as a morning Cloud & as the early dew it goeth away!" Nes. 1:4.

As such persons have been in the Church on profession from ancient times: so are such in the Church now. As they have been in former revivals, so they may be in revivals now. The good coin must not be rejected because false coin is found mingled with it. Revivals are not to be rejected, because there are some spurious Converts in them.

2. It is impossible for man to determine in every in-stance, the truth or false-hood of cases of professed repentance & conversion.

And for the reason that we cannot as God can, search the heart. "Man looketh upon the outward appearance: God looketh upon the heart." We judge by the profession & by the Conduct. Now the profession and Conduct of those who only have the Scurm of the world, are so nearly like that of those who have godly Scurm, that man cannot distinguish the false from the true. Nay, the false at times, may appear better than the true. The tares & the wheat, do resemble each other.

We may learn observation "stand in doubt of some". And ²⁶ it may be reduced to Certainty in our own minds, that such such professing Christians know nothing of "Godly Sorrow".

In such cases we decide upon their actions. It was plain Ahab was no true penitent when he kated & abused the Prophets of God: & despised the Divine Command: when Simon offered to buy the gift of the Holy Ghost: when Judas sold his Lord. But before these acts, who could know the heart & decide?

And further more - time itself will not always reveal the false from the true. Some prove themselves false after a long course of years of great apparently great piety: others die with the lie in their right hands!

27 Such being the fact, 3. It is the duty of Ministers while they unceasingly exhort men to Repentance, to in= struct in all wisdom every in= quiring Sinner as to the true nature of Repentance: most cautiously to decide upon Con= versions: Carefully to examine those who offer themselves for Church membership: and openly & searchingly proclaim death to such as have only the Sinner of the world.

The object of the Minister is not to build wood hay & stub= ble: but Gold & Silver! for the fire is to try every man's work of what sort it is! He watches for Souls as one that must give ac= count.

It is by holding up the distin=

quishing marks of Godly sorrow, that you are enabled to decide whether you have it ^{or} not.

It is by being cautious in determining that you have Godly sorrow, that he escapes perhaps confirming you only in the sorrow of the world.

It is by close examination of you & even by rejecting you from Church memberships, that he is enabled to detect your ignorance, or hypocrisy, or self-deception.

Nor do we have the least hesitation in declaring death to every soul in whom alone is the sorrow of the world!

Let the wicked man therefore make thorough work in doing his first work.

You may sorrow for your sins because the judgments of God 29 are denounced against you: - because his mercy to you has been great in delivering you from many evils: - & it is a shame to sin against me so great, so good: - because many are surrounding around you & rushing into the King:dom of God, and you will be left: you catch the feeling & you desire the reputation than or of the Christian name & the advantages which religion may bring you in the world: because your sins have been truly great: you feel too great to be forgiven: you despair: you desire to die, than to live as miserably as you do.

All this much more, may make you sorrow for sin: but it is the sorrow of the world which overbeth death!

You must have that "godly sorrow, which craveth repentance" - a change in your very soul towards Sin & Holiness: a hearty hatred & turning from the one unto the other - out of Love supreme to God your Saviour!

And if any have been shaken in their minds, & made to doubt, or even to believe that theirs is not ~~the~~ Godly Sorrow: then let such make thorough work: it may not be too late: the salvation of the Soul depends upon it!

Duties of Husbands.

Ephesians 5: 22-33.

1. Their Authority: 2 Their Duties.

1. Authority: Constituted of God:
How to be exercised.

2. Duties: 1 Love. Degree of it? How manifested? 2. Protection. 3. Provision: 4. Assistance in Religion. -

Reasons for the performance of these duties - 1. Honor 2. Individual happiness 3. The fear of God's damning judgment.

Duties of Husbands.

Eph. 5: 22-33.

The Husband & Wife are united for life. They have to fulfil their duties towards each other: their families: friends & neighbours: and to attend to the cares & business: & to bear & suffer the trials & disappointments, & afflictions that await us all in this world.

There are a great many matters to be considered & talked of: a great many opinions to be formed & plans to be laid & things to be done. And it must needs be that sometimes the wife will differ from the Husband & the Husband from the wife. The Husband will desire the wife to do what she is unwilling to do, & so, the contrary.

Hence there must be a Head,² in married life. a final Supreme authority. As in all governments, among men - Households: ~~the~~ Labourers: armies: navies: states: Empires: there must be a head a final Supreme authority, as in the Government of Families.

That Head is the Husband: verse 23^o.

Why? Such is the Will of God: So Constituted of God.

(a) "First formed." Gen 1:27. 2:18 & 1 Tim 2:11-14. Reason given in this passage v. 13.

(b) Formed to have dominion of the world. God's representative of power on the earth. 1 Cor 11:7. Comp. Gen 1:28.
Woman to be subject as well as other things.

(c) The woman springs from the man: he is the glory of the woman.
1 Cor 11:7-9. She was created for the man. Gen 2:18: 21-24.

she is the weaker of the two: 1 Pet. 3:7

3. (d) He was not only first formed but formed, with greater strength, ^{& bolder spirit} as the preserver - protector of his wife. She depends upon him. verse, 23. He provides support &c.
1 Tim 5:1. Comp. Gen 30:30.

These considerations constitute to what we may term the right of nature of the Husband to the Head

(e) But the woman is made still further subject to her husband on account of her being first in the great transgression.

(f) 1 Tim: 2:12-14: the 14th verse.
Compare. 1 Cor: 14:34. where does "the law" say this? In Gen. 3:16, immediately after the great transgression.

The Husband therefore by the appointment of God is the Head of the wife.

The Authority of the Husband⁴ over the wife is similar to the authority of Christ over the Church.

verses - 22-24.

Christ has authority over the Church because, God has appointed him to be the Head: so that his will is the Law: and as the Head, He is also the appointed Redeemer & preserver of his Church: and the Kind & bountiful provider for all her wants. So is the Husband the Head of his wife.

How is the Husband to Exercise this authority over his wife?

As Christ exercises His over the Church.

1. Intelligently. 1 Pet. 3:7.

Wives have a natural reverence & feeling of subjection to their own husbands: & a disposition to obey and to please them in all things.

5 And where the Husband is wise & prudent, he may govern & never speak of his authority: & the wife obey & never feel it, except with pleasure & delight.

First therefore, the Husband must understand what he owes to his wife: & the wife to him: in what he may use his authority & in what he may not.

For example - His wife has a right to have her own opinion: & speak her own mind on all subjects: She has a right to inquire into and to know every thing concerning their Character, Business, & welfare in life: She has a right to worship God as she pleases: and to maintain her authority over her own Children & household: & she has a right to see her friends & enjoy their society in reason:

&c. &c. &c.

To be bitter against the wife and to force ^{her} ~~them~~, by power & authority from these rights & privileges, is to act without knowledge & also with wickedness.

2. Honorably & Justly.

To require her to do what would dishonor her, & her Husband chiefly, before men. To lade her with burdens difficult to be borne & not touch them with so much as one of the prings.

As the Indian: who makes his wife his beast of burden: who drives her into the field: sits, sleeps: & consumes her labour in his idleness.

Some through Covetousness, not willing to afford the wife sufficient assistance: through love of ease & comfort: through want of feeling, lay upon the wife, work & care & duties, in the family, even above her strength, see her stire stail from day to day, & never offer the 7 least assistance or relief!

3. Tenderly: rationaly.

The husband deals not with a brute - nor with a stranger nor a man. But with a reasonable being: his wife: a woman.

Whenever they differ: he may if it be a matter of no vital importance please his wife - let her have her way. He is to reason with her: persuade: entreat: & kindly urge to obedience. He is not to abuse his wife for folly & obstinacy, nor beat her, nor lock her up, nor starve her: nor beat nor destroy, nor take away her goods, in order to force obedience.

If it necessarily comes to violent dealing with her person: the difference is such, & she wants of proper respect & affection, so great, better separate - for a time.

4. Benevolently.

8

Require obedience for the best good of the wife & the interests of the family. Let her see, what you desire, you believe to be, for the best good of the family. Not to show off your power: nor gratify your pride or passion over her. Do not act the Tyrant.

5. Piously.

Ever feel that you are accountable to God for the authority you use. Nor compel your wife to act dishonestly, falsely, unfeelingly, disrespectfully, or wickedly, in any manner. You thereby load it over her conscience, & jeopard her soul!

6. Affectionately.

Let her feel & see your affection in all your Commands, & it will take away the pain, if any there be, in them. You will rule by love: The dominion of love, is the most 9 pleasant: the most absolute.

Such is the Authority of the Husband: & such is the manner in which he is to exercise it.

We come next, to his pecu-liar & great Duties to his Wife.

1. Love.

This duty we may say, lies at the foundation & comprehends and insures all others.

The tastes & feelings of men differ exceedingly. One man admires, & loves one form of beauty & another some other form. One style of Character suits one man: & the very opposite another. It is in matrimony as in every thing else: the tastes of men differ. A woman pleases & attracts & engrosses the affections of one man, but has no power whatever over another.

The great wisdom of God is in 10 this, for thereby all are suited & generally, quietly so.

A man chooses the woman that pleases him best: and although she may not be as beautiful: nor as intelligent, nor as wealthy, nor as amiable, nor even as elevated in life, as an hundred others of his acquaintance, yet there is an attraction in her, which he finds in no one else: an undefined sympathy: a powerful speaking of love in her countenance & firm & sweet voice & manner, that takes his heart. And he loves her above all other women.

This Love is the foundation: the first Duty which the Husband owes to the wife.

verse 25. "Husbands, love your wives"

A man should not marry, for beauty, for health, or for any other reason, than that of love. If he does, he renders no duty to his wife: he breaks the commandment of God.

The Degree of this Love.

(1) As Christ loved the Church.

vs. 25-27. The highest degree possible in which love can be expressed, is that of Christ to the Church. In similar manner

(2) "As their own bodies."

vs. 28-31. "They are no longer twain but one flesh." Considered one before God: before men: in fact: for man is not perfect until he is married.
The husband is to look upon himself as in his wife: his wife in him: bone of his bone, flesh of his flesh." Gen: 2: 23.

Many men love their wives for themselves: they are matters of convenience & pleasure & comfort & 13 profit: they use them as such, selfishly. What they do to their wives, is not looked upon as done to themselves: what their wives endure & suffer, they do not feel it is themselves, enduring suffering. They do not love them as themselves: looking upon their lives, ^{& honor & respectability} & comfort & happiness & prosperity, as equally valuable as their own, and as carefully

The Husband is bound to the wife as long as she lives if she is guilty of no impropriety as in Matt 19.

(3) Above every other relation in this life.

o 31. Gen 2:24. No Father, no Mother, no Sister, Brother, nor friend, must ever turn the heart away from the wife.

No matter what changes which come upon her, whether age: or infirmity, or disease, or any bodily affliction, or loss of mind, No person on earth must ever come between them. - o

(2) In words. The voice, the converof things that please and deal in sincere expressions of kindness.

A kind word is better than a great gift. He will avoid wounding and irritating remarks: bitter and sarcastic reflections. He will 15 will not dwell upon faults, nor magnify them, nor delight in receding faultfinding. Some men seem to speak only to wound. Their conversation with their wives is never pleasant, they prefer to converse with any one else.

There is a species of conversation in which some husbands indulge, indicative of a want of refinement of feeling: as well as of tender love: saying, "they are very much found fault with: they cannot please: they have a hard lot in married life: or "they shall never have an opportunity for a second wife: or when their wife dies, they intend to form a connection with such & such an one!" This is cruel!

(3) In Actions.

His behaviour will be respectful here. They see their affectionate, in private: in the family: in public. He will sup put her authority in the family & cause children & domestics to be respectful. When he goes abroad he will show her marked attention & respect, that others may be won to honor her.

He will by unexpected presents and acts of kindness to relieve her of care, or assist her in difficulties, or as expressions of his love make her delight in him.

In hours of sickness & severe afflictions & trials, he will be her unyielding companion & sympathizing friend.*

He will flee from acts of neglect, from angry, passionate conduct. And rather forgive & forget, and Love shows itself, but it will be to assail it. Her weaknesses he will cover: her infirmities

Another duty is:

3. To Provide for his Wife.

(a) All the necessaries & comforts of life within his power, for the present time: *

(b) And for time to come: he will endeavour to lay up something in store against an evil day.

(c) He will share what he possesses, freely & generously with her: without stint or grudging. It will be his happiness to see his wife, live well & plentifully.

4. To set before her a pious & holy example.

This crowns the whole.

There is many a hard hearted husband who neglects these duties, & spends what he makes, & what his wife makes up on himself: & in sickness, she has nothing; perhaps he abandons her!

this duty, though he may feel:

greatest. The husband who opposes his wife in religion and conspires her in Sin, is in this most judicious, kind & faithful efforts, should be for her conversion.

How bitter the thought that those who are one in this world shall never be united again in the world to come!

Such is the Authority, and ²⁰ such are the Duties of the Husband.

There are solid Reasons why the Husband should endeavour to fulfil his Duties, faithfully.

1. For his own Honor.

A man who will use his many opportunities, & his greater power, to tyrannise over, & to oppress & distress & torment a poor, weak defenceless woman, who has committed her personal happiness to his keeping, & whom he has vowed to love & cherish with the tenderest affection, is of all men, the meanest spirited, & most despi-cable! He entices her to his arms for happiness & then robs her of it.
He uses the power which love has given him over her, to ruin her 21 peace forever! If her home is miserable, where shall she find rest? If her husband is her enemy & tormentor, where shall she find a friend? who can repair her loss? who can bind up her wounds?

A bad husband must be despised by children, friends, the world!

2. For his Own Happiness.

Husbands have greatly the character of Wives for their formation.

No man can be a bad husband & be happy, or live happily at home.

If he is miserable at home, through his own doing, he is miserable indeed.

He increases his unhappiness by the horrid influence of his Conduct over his Children. They learn to despise their mother, through the Father, & then the Father himself. "A house divided against it self cannot stand"! Warring ²² upon the happiness of his wife, he was upon his own. —

3. From fear of God.

He shall render a strict account for all his conduct as a husband.
God will be that account, if he has fallen short of duty!

The time is short! Your wife may die soon: live well with her, that you may part in peace & when she is no more you may remember all your love towards her and your conscience be at rest! If you have treated her ill, & how will conscience distress you, if your conscience be not satisfied! You will not remember her but with pain! You will not go to her grave to weep there!

You yourself may die soon: judgment may be near! Prepare to render your account to Christ 23 the Judge of all.

If any are convicted of being bad husbands, - condemned in their own Consciences: let them repent before their wives, before God & amend their ways.

Those who feel that they love their wives & desire to fulfil their duties, more perfectly let them rejoice - and seek from God that grace, mercy & wisdom which will succeed them in all!

the Duty - the Practice - of ⁴ Secret, private prayer: and submission to God; will, its longing for His glory on Earth & in Heaven. -

I. ^{secretly} ^{in general} That Prayer is a duty incumbent upon every man none may deny. -

(1) A duty which arises from our relations, & obligations to God & our dependence on Him. x

(a) He has created us, & for his own service & glory. Therefore we are bound to render Him the glory due unto His holy name: to worship Him: & we pay him the homage of our heart. How can we do this except by communing with Him, from the heart: by pro
- ing to Him: Prayer is the Sum Substance of worship there can be none without His it.

(b) He is our Constant Benefactor & merciful Redeemer.

Every blessing, both temporal & spiritual, we receive from him. How can we confess & mourn before Him our sinfulness & unworthiness, and express our thankfulness & obedience to His righteous will, except we pray?

(c) He is our Kind preserver:

He sustains, life temporal & spiritual. All our springs are in Him. How can we express our weakness, & dependence, & seek from him that mercy & grace & power necessary for our preservation, except we pray?

Prayer is the rendering unto God the glory due unto His holy name, from the Creature

7 Hence,

(2) It is Commanded us of God as a duty.—

The scriptures furnish many Commands. Hear but a part of them. "Continue inconstant in prayer." Pray without ceasing." Rom 12:12 & Thess. 5:7. "Continue in Prayer & watch in the same" Col. 4:2.

What are these commands but, God calling upon us to do our duty: to render unto Him the glory due unto his holy name?

(3) Prayer is a duty, because it is absolutely necessary, to our spiritual life & salvation.

God bestows very many blessings, temporal & spiritual upon the wicked man, who never prays. But they reach nor his heart: they make him of no better: there is no communication of his soul with God: it is shut against God: His spirit enters not to give life & peace.

But it is upon the man of sincere prayer, that God bestows the inward richer blessings of his grace. The heart is opened & measure by prayer: in prayer doth the Lord fill it. *

Thus God has made prayer the way & the only way of our communing directly with Him: the way & only way for us to render Him praise - & honor: & repentance of faith & obedience & devotion: & to ask of Him, all that we may need for ourselves or others, needful as well for the Body as the Soul. *

Thus also has the Lord made prayer, the channel - the Here then may every one behold how great a duty is prayer, since it is absolutely necessary to our spiritual life & peace.

Such is the Duty of prayer,
incumbent upon every man, but our Lord commands ~~us~~ in the ~~Text~~ to pray in secret: and it is therefore the Duty of secret prayer, that we must give our attention at this time.

II. And we shall first consider the nature of secret prayer, required by our Lord.
What is secret prayer?
or what it is to pray in secret?

1) It is to pray alone.
To go into ones closet - or Chamber.
Or to go out into the fields, or woods, into some retired place.
The object is privacy. The object is to escape the sight - the hearing, the observation.

10 thus he Communes in prayer with us.
See the fact in Dan 9: 19-23. While he was speaking in prayer - God heard & sent Gabriel to him.

Such is the Duty of Prayer, incumbent upon every man. Each man is to pray himself & of course to himself - secretly - as well as with others.

Examples. Daniel
"went into his house - in his Chamber &c." 6: 10 Isaac went out into the fields, as wonted to meditate: prayer no doubt mingled with it.
"Jesus - went up into a mountain to pray: & was there alone". Math 14: 23
"In the morning Jesus rising up a great while before day, went out & departed into a solitary place & there prayed." Mark 1:35.

"Jesus withdrew him self into the wilderness of prayer." 5:16

"Cornelius prayed in his house - privately: acts 10:30. Peter went up to the house top to

(2) Examples. The Psalms: and on their return David said - 5:3 "my voice shall thou hear in the morning &c" 55:17. "Evening & morning & at noon will I cry aloud."
"Daniel kneeled upon his knees, three times a day & prayed & gave thanks" Dan. 6:10. -

"I prevented the dawning of the morning & cried unto thee -

"Seven times a day do I praise thee"

Ps. 119:147-147.

"Anna served God with fastings & prayers night & day" Luke 2:37.

"Jesus continued

Care must be taken both as to time & place, to secure our selves from interruption. "That "No sincere worshipper of God ever desires men either to see or to hear him in prayer to God.

(2) It is to pray at stated hours.

The seasons must be requi-redly kept.

At least every morning and one at the beginning - the other at the evening: times suitable; close of the day. -

Many pray three times a day

(3) It is to pray constantly. ^{When God slew them, when they sought Him} (3) Examples etc. "See some under distresses - under our spoke a parallel inquired early after God." Ps 78:34-41.

Corrections of Conscience - under religious excitements - ought always to pray and to faint." Luke 18:1. Pray without ceasing." 2 Thes 5:7

Some pray regularly in secret before & after Communion. The primitive Christians "continued steadfastly - in prayers" Act. 2:42.

in: or on the Sabbath day: & no more. It is the sign of the Hypocrite Job. 27:10. "will he always call upon God?" that he will not pray always.

The Duty must be performed constantly - even unto death. "The end of all things is at hand: let ye therefore sever & watch unto prayer."

There will be occasionally interruptions: from sickness; from sudden calls of business; from journeys: but even in these cases, although we may be out of the world pray ing. Iesus our Lord said as he died - "Father into thy hands I commend my spirit." He said - "Lord Iesus receive my spirit."

 This is the essence of the duty without sincerity.

ness here to all: (4) "and without God's Character sways, & willingness open to hear us. (5)

This is to pray in secret. - This is the particular kind of prayer commanded by our Lord.

He proceed to show that that secret prayer is absolutely necessary to every disciple of Christ.

(1) Absolutely necessary to meet & satisfy the feelings & desires of his new nature.

(2) It is absolutely necessary to ^{the souls} ~~its own~~ growth in grace and fulfilment of daily duties of love, penitence, gratitude & devotion. -

Prayer is God's appointed channel for communicating spiritual blessings to his Children: "ask ye shall receive." - as before stated.

Daily therefore we need to approach him that we may receive for we need spiritual blessings daily. It is by waiting upon God in prayer that we do run our race, fight the fight of faith, renew our strength, we can grow in grace, only as God makes, desires us to grow. He does this while we pray & in answer to prayer. If we cease to pray our Christian graces die.

Besides - daily we sin - daily we receive mercies - daily we desire favours from God for ourselves & others - daily we depend upon God. Hence we of necessity must be in secret prayer day by day, to fulfil our duty to God: Confessing forsaking sin, beseeching pardon, returning thanks:

17 entreating for others - in pleading aid of God. If we neglect prayer, all these spiritual duties, lie unperformed

(3) It is absolutely necessaer will answer in the room Prayer in the Family, will not do in the room of it.

Prayer in the prayer meeting will not do.

Not Prayer on the Sabbath

Prayer in these places is right proper & a duty not to be omitted: but it will not answer in the room of secret prayer. And he who thinks that it will, & acts so, lives in sin, for he does nor obey the Command of Christ: he does not truly, fully pray for himself. 18 (1) There is always something peculiar as to himself - that he needs to remember

Every man must do his own praying: just as every man must do his own re- penting. And in order to his doing this properly & effectually, he must go to him- self & pray in secret. - God requires every man to do his own duty of Prayer by him- self for himself. not answer our purpose. They meet some part of our case, but leave a great deal out: & we are not satisfied. and even when a Christian Brother prays, who knows much of us, still he cannot reach all that within us.

sider the Promise of Reward to secret prayer:

Flesh come." Ps. 65:2
"Thy Father which seeth ed to answer promises of Re-to him in secret, our Lord

The Lord is not ashamed of his poor unworthy people - says he does it openly - man he will let it be seen that he owns them: he will put his honor up on them.

(1) God rewards him who prays in secret - by taking up his abode more, fully in his soul: & revealing to it his holiness & greatness & goodness & glory: & so increasing the delight & rest & happiness of the soul in Him. ^{*(1)}

(2) By comforting the soul, & increasing & strengthening its love, joy, peace, faith & every grace: thereby giving to it an assured hope. ⁽²⁾

(3) By enabling it to obtain the victory over the world, the flesh & the Devil: & thus fitting it more & more for Heaven. ⁽³⁾

(4) By ~~thus~~ giving the man, an answer to prayer before the eyes of men: ⁽³⁾ by giving him honour & respect before men, they beholding his uprightness & sanctity of life.
For the man of prayer will be known & respected. ⁽⁴⁾

It shall be seen & known 20 (1) He will cause his glory to pass before that soul; as he caused it to pass before Moses. Behold my it - the soul will exclaim - "throw out the portion of my soul & bid: Whom have I in Heaven but Thee &c." Ps.

(2) This is indeed the effect & reward of prayer: Scripture abounds with it as the says - "Be careful for nothing &c." Phil. 4:6.

(3) These answers are all over the scriptures.

(4) Moses face shone after he came from the presence of God.
God put his glory upon him. Thus the face - the carriage of the man that dwells much with God will to openly known. 2^d openly that he worships God in secret.

This is the reward - and reward sufficient to stimulate us all to the duty.

An inquiry is suggested by the subject, necessary to our practical improvement of it

How is this Duty of Secret Prayer, performed by us, who are the people of God?

Do we enjoy the Spirit of prayer? Are we frequent and regular in the exercise of it?
Are we prompted to it by a real love & desire of it - and for the good & peace it secures to our souls: & the glory which it gives to God through Christ?

From our experience & observation, and from the testimony of others, we fear this all important duty is sadly neglected. Neglected by some, 22 ^{in the morning} (1) he often we practice secret prayer: make conscience of it: and would by no means neglect it: yet, we give way to journal hour in the eve-ing, until sleep

sion, supplication, giving of thanks, flow from the lips - thoughts are wandering to the ends of the earth!

we are vain in our imaginations: our
earth!
but the heart is far from God. we rise day after day, from our knees, without abiding impressions of God: our own simplicity, weakness & dependence: we go forth to our business in life, and ^{we} are unsatisfied. No fruit of secret prayer would it ever be known that we prayed. It also appears before men. Not having prayed in secret, we are not rewarded openly.

Little Children

are sleepy at night,

Others - pray not daily - but occasionally when they feel inclined to it: or at certain special seasons: when they suppose it to be particularly necessary: when they feel themselves called upon to be more engaged than at other times. -

Or praying daily, they have no stated hours, but pray at any & at all times, as it may suit their convenience.

x Prayer is not a solemn duty - but a matter of the way.

allowing business, company or pleasure to interfere with the duty. God is required to stand in waiting until they are prepared to speak with Him! x

(3) Secret prayer is neglected by others - altogether.

They prayed perhaps, a great deal, perhaps a little - while under Conviction of sin - before they were received into the Church and for some time after: but gradually, finding no special comfort nor interest in it, they have ceased to pray at all.

Or it may be, they have prayed occasionally in days of illness or Calamity or affliction: to propitiate God.

Their general levity of Character: and earthly mindedness: the great lack of Spirituality about them: their habits in their own families, evidence to all that they cannot be men of prayer.

This total neglect of prayer: is as perfect with some, that they are wholly unused to the exercise of it nor nor nor 25 What to say on their knees - is an evidence, powerful in deed that they have never been taught by the Spirit of God to pray: in other words, have never been converted!

Judging from the amount & degree of active piety, discovered by members of the Church in their families, on their Plantations, and in the Church & Society to which they belong, we are led however unwillingly, to the lamentable conclusion, that the command of our Lord, is greatly neglected: by many trampled under foot! -

Let it then be addressed to us all at the present time with the power & freshness of a New Commandment. "But when thou prayest &c.

Let us examine ourselves, carefully solemnly. wherein we have been remiss - positively neglectful - let us penitently reform: "and enter into our closet": & there pray unto our heavenly Father & make Confession. -

The spirit of Prayer is the gift of God: to Him let us seek for it: and let us remember that it is to be cherished and improved like every other spiritual gift, by exercise. Every sincere prayer in secret - prepares the way for & renders the next one more easy & pleasant. The more we pray as we ought in secret, the more shall we pray.

⊕ Men stand prepared to awaken & large faith in its strength upon the soul. In needs and occasions & opportunities to do so. - How often have the wicked been convinced of their own consciences - in the rebellion of God's Law: in hours of danger & extreme illness. Danger has set the whole soul in action, & conscience has regained its empire. alas! how soon forgotten in acting health.

⊕ Rather take the Law of God and be enlightened thereby & encourage conscience to do its duty, painful as this may be. God's law is a light to your feet & a light to your eyes. It is to enlighten your mind: quicken & strengthen conscience - He commands you to repent & turn to him who alone can heal the wounds of conscience. That while you feel your sins & conscience accuses of them, yet, you may be at rest in Jesus Christ.

Follow the commands of Conscience tells you, to Repent - Obey: not to sin, get drunk, Christ you edify, &c. &c. do it

The Law of God remains eternally the same: all actions retain their true character of good or evil, under that Law. There is a day coming when the diviner shall be enlightened by that Law. His memory quickened to recall his works, and conscience shall then, taking sides with God & his Law, begin & never end its awful work.

Life & Death of Aaron. Num. 20: 22-29.

The Old Testament neglected

Assisted Moses in the government of the people in the wilderness.

By virtue of this office - He presided over the affairs of the entire Church. His was the duty of bearing the hard causes of the people into the holy of holies - before the Shechinah

3. He with Aaron held up Moses' hands while he prayed on the mount, for the overthrow of Amalek. He alone of all the men of Israel was permitted by God to draw near giving of the Law. He was not born with the 70 elders, one of whom went up to the very presence of God.

Exod 19:24 He was ^{shally} called to a severe affliction in the sudden death of his sons Nadab & Abihu - for offering strange fire before the Lord. But Aaron held his peace! Then Lord said done it! Lev. 10:1-3

This was the solemn duty of offering once every year the great censures for the Atonement of the People, & of carrying the blood of the sacrifice within the veil into the holy of holies & sprinkling it before the mercy seat. Type & shadow of our Lord & His one great sacrifice for sin!

for Aaron was very like Moses without reproach.

~~They envied~~ Aaron, the saint

Upon one occasion, influenced by the Lord's P. by Miriam his sister, envious of the 106. 11,

On another occasion - in connecpeople and required of God to bring water out of a rock - He gave way to anger & unbelief in the eyes of all Israel, thought reproach upon God's office. For which sin, the Lord denied them both admittance to the promised land. Numbers,

Yet in general He was a man of meekness & piety. In all the on the Saint of the Lord: P. 106: 16

When Korah, Dathan & Abiram openly rebelled against Moses & Aaron - & sought to cast Aaron out of the Priesthood - and the Lord had determined to consume them for their sins, & all the people who countenanced their rebellion - Moses & Aaron fell down & entreat God not to do so in his mercy. They prayed for their enemies. After God had caused the earth to open her mouth & swallow up Korah his company - the people murmured against Moses & Aaron & charged them with the death of the men - the very next day. Then the 7 Lord sent out a plague among the people - and Aaron touched with their condition - at the Command of Moses - took his Censer, & came in among the people, & stood between the living & the dead, offering prayers to a God of mercy for them, & the plague was staid. Numbers, 16: 1-50

These facts in Aaron's life, prove him to have been a man of great meekness & piety: indeed an eminent servant of God: who served God faithfully in his day & generation.

The hour has arrived - "Aaron shall be gathered to his people" -

In the solemn sentences of death there are words of consolation - He shall be gathered to his people - the blessed - who have gone before him, in Heaven.

The Summar was sudden: not a word escapes the lips of a man - he meekly bowed to the will of God.

But where when shall he die?
The Lord proceeds to tell - 26. 25-26. Now shall he die: Here - on the top of Mount Hor - in the sight of all Israel: resign ing his garments & offices to his son.

The solemn announcement flew through the vast Congregation! It reached the family of Aaron! Who could see cause why he should die sure the will of God. He was in health - in power - in usefulness - why might he not be spared to the Church - his family - the world - even until old age had mellowed him ^{a little more} for the grave!

I * Mount Hor, in Deut. 10:6, the place, called Mosera. The apparent discrepancy, is relieved by the opinion, that Mosera, might designate some particular spot on Mount Hor where he died.

10 The hour has come! See the venerable man in his family!
His wife falls on his neck - they embrace it is for the last time on Earth. His Children rush into his arms! Tears flow. Hearts seem breaking. He commends them to God! They part!

See him in the Court of the Tabernacle. He puts on the magnificent dress of the High Priest.
The Priest, Levites, carried around him to behold his face.
He raises his blessing over Israel.

He leaves them - moves ^{up} on one hand & Eleazar on his ^{own} on the other! They pass in deep solemnity along the Levites of the Tent of Israel. The tents in front of the vast Congregation silence reigns - sad sighs

is tried in their great High Priest. their spiritual friend & father. All his admonitions, Sermons, acts of kindness flow crowd in their memories. Now ^{this great & good man} is ~~he~~ about to die & appear before the bar of God, & render an account of his Ministry. How shall we meet him there!

"And they went up into Mount Hor in the sight of all the Congregation:-"

"And Moses stripped Aaron (his brother) of his garments, & put them upon Eleazar his son." Then he laid down his office: it fell upon his first born son.

"And Aaron (then) died there in the top of Mount Hor." Supported by his Brother - His son!

They witnessed the hand of God suddenly laid upon him. They 12 alone heard his last words - they alone consented - prayed with him - they alone saw the manner of his death - as of the righteous - for his end was peace.

Their own faith no doubt got to and strength from his death.

x Aaron was 120 Years old when he died: He died with the 40th year of the journey of the Children of Israel with the wilderness: being 120 years old. Numbers, 33: 38-39

Their feelings are not peculiar ed. Who may describe the feelings of a Brether & of a Son!

There they buried him. "And he Moses & Eleazar came down from the mount." "And when dead, all the Congregation saw that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron, thirty days, even all the house of Israel." (21 27-29)

Such was the death of Aaron, the High Priest, and if we consider it with attention we shall find it remarkable in his its character & highly instructive. ¹³

Observation 1. The Certainty with which he was told he should die. "A arm shall be gathered to": No doubt hung over the event. His life was to end, and all the pains of death & consequences of it were forced upon his mind. He was to part with his family: friends: beloved people: his great office: with all the world. He was to grapple with the last enemy & feel the pains & throes of death: to close his eyes to this world: and appear before the judgment bar of God; and be judged "according to the deeds done in the body!" All these things were before him. Surely his soul must have been moved within him!

Observation 2. The Suddenness of his Call to die.

14 There was no previous notice.
It was "to day shall thou die". No time given him for special preparation. To day in time - to morrow in eternity.

Observe - 3. The peculiar circumstances under which he died. A

(a) In full health: though he was old. (1)

(b) In the midst of great usefulness.

(c) He died not at home in his bed but from home on the mountain in the open air - on the cold ground

(d) He died almost in sight of his family, yet no one permitted to be with him, but his Brother & his Son. He died thus, almost alone

(e) He died thus in the wildernness, as a mark of God's displeasure against his Sin at Mount etc

Thou then these things together er & you will perceive that his ¹⁵ death was a most remarkable one. One calculated to rouse up his whole soul.

And how did he meet his death?

As a Saint of God.

(1) Calmly. manifested no excitement: no alarm. was perfectly self-possessed. No prayer when God said to him, Here kick, then shall be for postponement, went through die - He turned his face to the wall & prayed the required preparation, for God to spare him. Not so alarm the event, putting on the garments of the High Priest: and firmly walking with Moses & his son, to the mountain of death.

(2) Submissively. No reluctance: no disposition to draw back - no rebellion. He gave up his family: his office - the world - his own soul & 16 body at God's Command. It was God's will that he should die - & die now - and that will - was his will. God's time was his time.

(3) Believingly. His peace was made with God, through faith in the Redeemer (to come) and relying upon justification through his merits - he was prepared to appear in judgment.

His treasures, were laid up in Heaven - & he expected eternal blessedness with God. He and like Simeon - he might have said & looked upon death as a happy exchange of worlds to him.
He would let thy servants depart in peace!

There was a wonderful calmness & greatness in the death of this great & good man!

It was Religion that enabled Aaron thus to die. "Mark the perfect man he beheld the upright, for the end of that man is peace" Ps. 37: 37.

And it is his Death, that we should endeavour to improve to ourselves.

1. Like Aaron we shall die: That event is most certain, and it will come to us sooner or later.
"Dust thou art & unto dust shalt thou return". In due time, "man goeth to his long home, & the manners go about the streets." Eccl. 12: 5. "His flesh is clothed with worms and clouds of dust" - "The eye that saw him shall see him no more." "He shall return no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more". Job. 7: 1-10. "Neither hath he 18 any more a portion forever in any thing that is done under the sun". Ecd. 9: 5-6. Our connection with this world has an end: death closes the scene.

2. Our Death too may resemble that of Aaron's.

(a) Like him we may die suddenly. With God are the issues of life & of death. It is He, that "turneth man to destruction" by a word. Ps. 90: 3. He; he that can say, "This night shall thy soul be required of thee". and it may be that our death, shall be numbered among that multitude ~~who die~~ whose deaths, are sudden.
We cannot tell.

(b) Like Aaron we ^{may} die in our usual health. No disease giving warning of the approach of death. But at once by the finger of God, the earthly tabernacle is dissolved! 19

(c) Like Aaron, we may die in the midst of usefulness, & be stripped at once of all that we possessed on Earth.

We are not of so much consequence to our families, to the Community in which we live: to the Church of God, that the Lord may not dispense with us. He can raise up other instruments to do his will - to fill our places. The Lord is not dependent upon us. His cause will not suffer because we die.

(d) Like Aaron we may die away from our families.

We may die - in distant places: or even almost in sight of them, yet the Providence of God forbid their presence in that awful hour when every one desires all his friends, family around him. -

20 We cannot indeed tell when we shall die: nor when, nor where. But come, death will.

3. We therefore who like Aaron are the ministers & people of God - like him - let us endeavour to live in preparation for death.

(a) First of all. We should endeavour to make our own Calling & Election sure.

To see to it - that we are truly converted to God - that "Christ Jesus is in us." That we not only have the profession - but the practice of piety. That we not only have faith - but works also. Sound conversion is the foundation of preparation.

(b) In the next place - we should keep death always before our minds.

(a) As that which will certainly happen to us.

(b) and may happen to us, every day - any hour - any moment.

(c) so address to ourselves the admonition of Christ our Lord, "Be ye therefore ready also, for the Son of man cometh at an hour when ye think not."

(c) he must keep death in mind as the end of our warfare on earth.

Our trouble, - trial, - difficulties, afflictions, pains, sicknesses, & sorrows, will never cease until, we die. Death releases us from all. We have never done with all until we die. That is our last great work. After that is over - we may enter into rest.

(d) he must keep death in mind

22 so that we may constantly see feel the excellency & value of true Religion.

The Psalmist prays - "So teach us O." The moment we think of dying, we see Religion to be all in all. Therefore we will in view of death - keep Religion in our own sins, & in the world supernatural.
As the principal thing: the one thing needful. We are prone to forget it. Whatever else we need, Religion is to be secured.

(c) Thus, keeping death in mind, we shall be stirred up to activity in all the duties of Religion.

We will improve our time, & opportunities of doing & of getting good. "We will work while the day lasts, remembering that the night cometh O."

23

(f) We shall be weaned also from the world - its pleasures, its honour, & its riches, as a portion.

Death ends the world with us. It strips off our pleasures - honours & wealth - & gives them all to others.

So that remembering we are to die, we will use the world as though we used it not. &c.

(g) We shall endeavour also to keep ourselves unspotted from the world - laying aside - anger - malice - evil speaking - revenge - hurt-pride. & transgression. Let our Lord may come to find us, resting, & drunken with sin!

(h) The remembrance of death, will teach us also, to be much & continually with God, as the portion of the soul - an Chief Happiness on Earth.

We shall have a joy inward, and 24 and peaceful. We are happy in this world - because we are Gods.

We are not happy because we are well - have honors - riches - friends friends, &c. &c. but because we are Gods. We enjoy all them - as the gift of God. We see his goodness in all. We rejoice.

So when called to part with all: the soul loses not its chief good. That is God.

This is the great end of Religion to make us happy in God: to give us the victory over the world, the flesh & the Devil. If we thus live death is but going home.

When it comes, ^{then, like Aaron,} we may meet it calmly, submissively, and believingly ~~as Aaron did~~, so enter into rest. - As Aaron put away his garments, so we may put away all we possess - all earth, & die in peace. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." "Let me die for the Lord." "O death, where is thy sting?"

4. He also, who may not be as was Aaron, prepared for death, should hasten to prepare for it.

The first step of course, is to make your peace with God. "The strength of sin is the Law" "The sting of death is sin." Sin must be repented of; and a Redeemer must be sought for your soul.

Call home then your thoughts, & consider your latter end. Death will soon come & strip you of all you here possess; and if you have not at that hour peace with God & hope of glory through Jesus Christ our Lord, your end will be bitterness and eternal misery!
