Rev. John Bunyan Shearer, D. D., LL. D.

Dr. Shearer was born in 1832 in Appomattox County, Virginia. He was prepared for college at Union Academy, graduated with degree of A. B. at Hampden Sidney College in 1851. He later took the A. M. degree at his Alma Mater and also at the University of Virginia. He graduated from Union Theological Seminary in 1858. From 1858 to 1862 he was pastor of Chapel Hill Church, N. C. He founded Cluster Springs High School, was President of Stewart College—now Southwestern Presbyterian University—from 1870 to 1879. Then Professor of History and English Literature until 1882, when the Theological Department was organized and he became professor of Biblical Instruction. In 1888 he was made President of Davidson College and Professor of Biblical Instruction, which position he held until 1902, when he was made Vice President and Professor of Biblical Literature in the same institution.

Dr. Shearer placed the Bible in the rank of earnest studies, wrote a number of text books for Bible study, helped to organize a number of educational institutions in our church, gave liberally of his time and energy and means to keep other institutions alive, and possibly did more than any other man to hold the church to true ideals and earnest purpose concerning Church and Christian Education.

HENRY H. SWEETS,
Secretary

Our Presbyterian Educational Institutions.

On the following pages will be found illustrations and statements of special features, historical facts, needs and financial condition of all the educational institutions that are recognized by official action, of any kind, by Sessions, Presbyteries and Synods.

The specific relationship sustained by each institution to the Presbyterian Church is revealed in the paragraph headed "Government."

There are other institutions which are not connected with the Presbyterian Church by any legal ties, and are not recognized by the official act of any Church court, but their history and their associations with the life and work of our Church are close and helpful.

The Ad Interim Committee appointed by the last General Assembly will recommend that the Assembly to meet in Kansas City clearly define what relationship an institution must sustain to the Church to be called Presbyterian. It is earnestly hoped that when this is done, some of these institutions may be brought into more vital relationship with the Presbyteries and Synods.

The various institutions are listed on the following pages as follows: I. Theological Seminaries, II. Colleges, III. Seminaries, Junior Colleges, Academies, etc., and, IV. Orphanages. Each division is arranged alphabetically, according to Synods.

A full index of Synods and Institutions may be found on pages 204, 205 and 206.

HENRY H. SWEETS, Secretary,
Louisville, Ky.

The Educational Situation in our Church.

It is confidently believed that the Presbyterian Church in the United States is entering upon a new and more hopeful era of her educational history.

In 1867, the General Assembly sent down to the Presbyteries the following memorial: Whereas the Presbyterian Church has at all times been distinguished for the high degree of mental culture of its ministers and people, an honorable precedence which it will be commendable for us to try still to maintain; therefore, Resolved, 1, That in the judgment of this Assembly it comes clearly within the province of the organized Church of God to look after the mental, as well as the moral, culture of the people of God, with the view to their highest attainment in active, vital piety. 2, That in view of this fact, this Assembly deems it of the utmost importance that the Church elevate its standard of learning, and widen its domain in prosecuting the educational interests of the people over whom it exerts a controlling influence. 3, That this Assembly request the Presbyteries throughout the bounds of the Church to take this subject into consideration at their next regular meetings, and report their action to the next General Assembly.

In the early years of her history our Church could accomplish little. The civil war had swept away her resources, laid waste her private and Church property, and in many instances closed her institutions of learning, because trustees, professors and students had gone to the front in defense of their country. At the close of this period she determined to arise and build and many schools, academies and colleges were revived or erected. Some of these have ceased to be. Others have had a hard struggle for a bare existence. Others have made steady progress and have brought untold blessings to the Church and the Southland.

Until very recently there had been no well defined plans—no real unity of action. Each institution has been concerned for its own life and its struggle for existence and for the enlargement of its life and influence has oftentimes shortened its vision and narrowed its sympathy.

Evolution of a System. In 1899, the General Assembly took up in earnest the consideration of Church and Christian education. A Permanent Committee was erected with Rev. J. B. Shearer, D. D., as chairman.

This General Assembly made the following declaration: "While expressing its appreciation of the great work done for the cause of education by the schools, colleges and universities supported and controlled by civil authorities, by philanthropists, and by other religious denominations, and urging our people to do all that is expedient to throw about these institutions a wholesome Christian influence, the General Assembly does not consider it safe for any Church to turn over to any other parties, either religious or civil, the entire education of her sons and daughters. The history and traditions of the Presbyterian Church in this and other countries amply prove that denominational fidelity in this and other matters has not only secured the best results for our Church, but has accomplished great good by its influence on all others. The General Assembly hails with delight the unmistakable signs of a re-awakening, not in our Church only, but in all the evangelical Churches, to the great importance of Christian education. We also record with satisfaction the increasing prosperity, success, and usefulness of our higher institutions of learning, male and female, under direct Church control and denominational influence. We also hail the increasing number of high schools, academies, grammar schools, and mission schools, which have more or less of direct Church control. Therefore, in view of the great importance and promise of earnest effort for Church and Christian education, we do recommend that all our Synods, Presbyteries and Church sessions undertake whatever may be practicable in furtherance of this cause, and we believe that very much may be done along denominational lines without antagonizing any good work done by others."

The Assembly in 1907 established an Executive Committee of Schools and Colleges with headquarters at Atlanta, Georgia, and assigned to it these duties: “(1) To make a thorough study of present conditions and movements in our educational work, and a similar study of the conditions and movements in educational work in general, and put the results of their investigations in such form as will make them practically available for the information of our people. (2) To endeavor, with prudence, and by correspondence with those actually entrusted with the educational work of our Church, to create and secure common assent to true educational standards. (3) To use their endeavors to pave the way for the unifying of our educational work by a proper correlation of secondary and higher education. (4) To encourage the planting of schools at strategic points within our bounds. (5) To create a literature on Christian education for our Church, defining Christian education; showing the needs for, and the fruits of, such education; and giving such information as, in their judgment, will tend to advance the interest of this great cause. (6) To use all of the endeavors that Christian wisdom and prudence may devise for keeping our institutions distinctly Christian. (7) To devise measures for building up an intelligent and liberal clientele for our denominational education, who will have its interests specially at heart; and to secure a large collection annually for this cause, arranging to have the cause presented by all of our pastors to their respective churches.”

Little was accomplished by this Committee on account of their failure to secure a secretary. In 1908, arrangements were made to use part of the time of one of the secretaries of one of the other Executive Committees. Information concerning the educational work of the Church was carefully gathered and published, and a Student Loan Fund was suggested to the Assembly by the Committee. Rev. Walter L. Lingle, D. D., and Rev. F. H. Gaines, D. D., rendered most efficient service at this time. In 1909, Rev. William E. Boggs, D. D., was made secretary, and with great energy and zeal successfully launched the Loan Fund, from which any boy or girl, of approved character and aim in life, may secure a loan of one-hundred dollars a year while taking the four years' course in one of our Presbyterian Colleges. Dr. Boggs, continued his labors until July, 1912.

The Assembly called upon the churches for two collections each year for Schools and Colleges—one for the treasury of the Executive Committee of Schools and Colleges, and the other for the Synodical treasury for the Schools and Colleges of the various Synods. At the time these offerings were ordered the unrest because of the inadequate plan of finances in use by the Church had reached a crisis, and the new method was under consideration. “The weekly offering” for all benevolences was subsequently adopted before these annual offerings had found a place in the churches, and in the hearts of our people.

The Financial Plan.

In 1910, the Executive Committee of Schools and Colleges was consolidated with The Executive Committee of Ministerial Education and Relief, located at Louisville, Kentucky, and the title was changed to THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION AND MINISTERIAL RELIEF. This Committee is incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Agencies Consolidated.

During this period of awakening in the General Assembly several of the Synods had been giving careful thought to educational matters. The Synods of Texas and South Carolina about the same time began to take an inventory of the educational assets and needs, and instead of listening to the loudest cry that came from any institution within their bounds, carefully planned state wide educational systems. Both these Synods have recently made successful canvasses for much needed funds for all of their institutions and are planning much larger and better things for the future. North Carolina, Missouri, Mississippi and Kentucky are making plans on somewhat similar lines and other Synods and many Presbyteries are giving more time and prayerful consideration to this important department of the Church’s work.

Awakening in the Synods.

Last May, at Atlanta, Georgia, the first large and representative body of our educators met to confer together and plan for greater things in Christian education. The General Assembly, which convened immediately after the adjournment of this Conference, recognizing the far-reaching importance of this movement, appointed an Ad Interim Committee, "to consider all matters relating to the discovery, definition, co-ordination and allied questions of the schools and colleges connected with our Church," and directed that "this Committee call the Christian educators of these schools and colleges into conference with themselves to discuss matters coming under the purview of this Committee, and report its findings, with or without recommendations, to the General Assembly of 1914." The Assembly urged "all the Synods and Presbyteries to give earnest attention to the work of Christian Education, using every endeavor to arouse our people to a deeper appreciation and a more liberal support of our educational institutions," and further recommended, "that the next General Assembly be an 'Education Assembly' and the first Friday and Saturday evenings be given over to popular meetings in behalf of our schools, colleges and seminaries."

A careful study of the educational situation in the United States inspires one with greater hope for the Christian schools and colleges. Educators everywhere are discussing the possibility of developing character without the impelling force of religion. The state universities are crowded and many of them are already beginning to urge the importance of preparation in a small college before the students enter upon professional or scientific training. All thoughtful Christian statesmen are agreed that education and religion must go hand-in-hand. This thought is voiced by Dr. W. H. P. Faunce when he says, "Here, then, is our national peril—that the supremely important task of our generation will fall between Church and State and be ignored by both. The Church may say: 'Education is no longer in our hands'; the State may say: 'On all religious matters we are silent.' Thus millions may grow up—are actually growing up in America today—without any genuinely religious training. It is time, therefore, for Church and school to co-operate, as army and navy co-operate, in defense of our common country."

The inspiring history of the past—from John Calvin and John Knox to the men and women who today are toiling unselfishly and with untiring zeal for our boys and girls and for the Great Head of the Church—calls us to go forward.

An Imperative Call. The needs of this present age, with its agnosticism and materialism, summon us to a clear duty.

The demand of the Church for a large increase in the number of efficient leaders warns us not to be weary in this fundamental work. The immense possibilities wrapped up in the lives of the youth of the land impel the Church to follow them as they leave the parental roof and to see that with all their getting they get the true wisdom and understanding.

The Church of all institutions in the world must be honorable and honest. She should not claim an academic efficiency which her institutions do not have. Her standards should be true and faithfully adhered to. Her sons and daughters deserve the best.

Honesty of Purpose. The Bible must have its rightful place. The atmosphere of each institution must be thoroughly Christian, and so warm and evangelical that high and heavenly aim may be generated and developed in the lives of the students.

With the sympathy and prayers and help of Presbyterians—and with broad and fraternal comity and co-operation with other denominations and with the State—the Presbyterian Church can meet this challenge of the

A Hopeful Consummation. age, answer this call of God, and fulfill her duty to her youth, her country and her Lord.

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1853.

GOVERNMENT.—By twenty-four trustees elected by Synods of Kentucky, U. S., and U. S. A., and Missouri, U. S.

THE Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Kentucky, located at Louisville, Ky., successor of Danville Seminary, founded 1853, and Louisville, founded 1893, which were consolidated in 1901, is controlled by the Synods of Kentucky and Missouri (U. S.), and Kentucky (U. S. A.), which elect the twenty-four trustees, by whom the professors are appointed, subject to approval of the Synods and the two General Assemblies.

Rev. C. R. Hemphill, D.D., LL.D.
President

The staff of instruction embraces seven professors, including a Professor Emeritus, with a librarian, and instructors in New Testament Greek and Music. The three years' course covers the traditional theological studies and more modern branches, such as English Bible, Biblical Theology, Missions, the Sunday School, etc. The buildings occupy an admirable site, are constructed of stone in the Collegiate Gothic style, and provide a complete equipment for the seminary work, with dormitories for about 100 students. The alumni number a little over 700, of whom a good proportion have gone to the foreign field.

Columbia Theological Seminary Columbia, South Carolina

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1828.

GOVERNMENT.—By fifteen trustees elected by the Synods of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida.

COLUMBIA Theological Seminary is marked by the following special features:

1. The combination of the scholarly and the practical in a very high degree. Upon the basis of the usual curriculum and discipline, there is given also an unusual amount of attention to Practical Theology, including a year of study in a special course in Sunday School work, and also a year's study in the field of missions.

Rev. Thornton Whaling, D. D.
President

2. A library of unexcelled value in our Church furnishes the opportunity for thorough investigations and parallel reading, which is a part of our method of teaching and of studying.

3. Practical work for every student who desires, and, as a matter of fact, every student in the institution is at the present time engaged in some form of religious work either in the city or the community or the adjacent country.

4. This Seminary located in the heart of the Church represents fully the history, traditions, genius and spirit of our own particular type of Presbyterianism.

Our special need is more Scholarship Funds.

Southwestern Presbyterian University
Clarksville, Tennessee

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1875.

GOVERNMENT.—By eight directors elected by the Synods of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

SOUTHWESTERN Presbyterian University is unique in having a College (organized in 1875) and a Divinity School (1885). Standard entrance requirements. Bachelor of Arts or of Science in four years. Master of Arts in five. Combined course for Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Divinity in five years. Study of the Bible required. Presbyterian Board of Directors. Faculty of experienced Christian teachers. Students nearly all church members. Character is put before numbers. Small dormitories with resident Christian matrons. Athletics encouraged, but subordinated to scholarship. Necessary expenses, $250 to $350. One in every 8 or 9 Southern Presbyterian ministers for 1909-1912 was a student at Southwestern, about 200 in all. 35 to 50 candidates for the ministry enrolled every year. The charge for their tuition, which is given free, would be $1,750 to $2,500 a year; the cost of educating them, paid from the University income, is $7,000 to $10,000 a year.

Our special needs are a modern dormitory, more professors, better salaries, an improved equipment; therefore, a larger endowment. Plans have been made to this end.

THE special needs of Austin Seminary are four: (1) Additional endowment in the sum of not less than $75,000.00 to cover the professorship of New Testament Greek, and also the general expense of the institution. (2) An administration building to cost, approximately, $50,000.00, located nearer to the University of Texas than our present plant. (3) Additional scholarships for students. We need from ten to fifteen more, producing one hundred dollars annually, than we now have. (4) Large additions to our library, to which scarcely none have been made for some years past.

MAIN BUILDING—STILLMAN INSTITUTE

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Stillman Institute
Tuscaloosa, Alabama

FOR COLORED MEN. FOUNDED 1873.

GOVERNMENT.—By Executive Committee of Home Missions.

STILLMAN Institute is distinguished from all other theological schools in the country.

1. It is truly a Home Missionary contribution of our Southern Presbyterian Church to the salvation and uplift of the Negro race. Students of approved character are received from all denominations and treated alike. Our work is to train this young and growing race in the great and plain doctrines of grace, and to give them a usable knowledge of the English Bible.

Rev. J. G. Snedecor, LL. D.
Superintendent

2. Simple industries are provided, such as gardening, carpentry, dairying and poultry raising, which afford a wise vehicle for education and a sensible means of exercise and recreation to the students. Credit is given them for all labor performed, thus enabling any student to pay his own way to an education and to become self-reliant and enterprising.

Of our graduates, 48 are serving colored Presbyterian Churches, many of whom are also teaching parochial schools. As many more are enlisted in the ministry of other churches.

In order to accommodate all who may apply, Stillman Institute needs a new dormitory to be built of brick and to cost not less than $10,000.

An endowment for Stillman Institute is becoming an imperative need. For thirty-five years the barest necessities of this benevolent missionary agency have been supplied by the gifts of churches and faithful friends. The professors, all Southern white men, have been poorly paid, and only their devotion to the end in view has enabled the management to keep such capable men in charge.

Alabama Presbyterian College for Men.
Anniston, Alabama

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1905.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Synod of Alabama.

ALABAMA Presbyterian College for Men is located at Anniston, under the shadow of Blue Mountain, which rises 1,750 feet above sea level. The College campus of eleven acres is located on Tyler Hill. The main building of the College is a massive structure three stories high, and has every modern convenience and appliance for first class college work. The laboratory is pronounced by experts as excellent in point of equipment.

Rev. E. D. McDougall, D.D.
 President

The founding of the College was the outgrowth of a real need in the Synod of Alabama, and particularly this section which has had such an immense growth in population during recent years, the single city of Birmingham having increased more than two hundred and forty-four per cent in a single decade. Within a little more than a hundred miles of Anniston there are more than one million white people.

The College has just completed eight years of work, and the wisdom of the Synod in founding and fostering the institution is evidenced by the fact that during the past year the attendance increased twenty per cent. The Synod has awakened to the fact that the Church which makes no provision for the education of her sons must ultimately lose her leadership.

The Bible is a text book and is taught not merely as a "discipline of culture and a correct standard of the imagination," but as "the Word of God, the only infallible rule of faith and practice."

The College believes in sane athletics, and no student is allowed to participate in an intercollegiate contest who fails to make a daily grade of seventy-five per cent.

Alabama Synodical College for Women

Talladega, Alabama

FOR WOMEN.

FOUNDED 1849.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Synod of Alabama.

ALABAMA Synodical College for Women is a successor to Isbell College and is located in the city of Talladega, a most delightful and cultured town of 6,000 inhabitants, and situated among the mountains 700 feet above sea level. In 1902, the Board of Directors, elected by the Synod of Alabama, changed

Rev. T. Peyton Walton
President

the name from Isbell College to that of the Alabama Synodical College for Women. At the same time they elected as President of the College, Rev. Thomas Peyton Walton, who still holds that position. In 1911 a beautiful new site of nine acres, on which was a splendid three story brick building, erected by Governor Parsons at a cost of $30,000, was donated to the Synod and a large building was erected upon this new site, adequate to the needs of a first class school for young women. The faculty is composed of experienced Christian teachers and the College is known for the thoroughness of the work done in the class room. Character building is one of the chief objects of the school and every influence brought to bear upon the pupils looks toward that end. Character is placed above numbers. Number of boarding pupils constantly increasing. Daughters of ministers are given free tuition. One of the finest assets of the College is its noble alumnae scattered over Alabama and other states. Our special needs are an immediate equipment and larger grounds. We have a financial agent now in the field who is trying to secure money for this purpose.

Arkansas CollegeBatesville, Arkansas

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1872.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by the Synod of Arkansas.

ARKANSAS College “aims to excel in thorough work rather than showy pretensions.” While attended by some of the wealthiest, it remembers with thankful pride that no one has ever been turned away for lack of means to pay tuition, if possessed of brains enough to take an education and a will to work. In connection with a standard-grade, secular course, leading to graduation, it trains in the facts of the Bible and proofs of its inspiration, not only because it contains a literature that has shaped history more than any and possibly more than all others combined, but it builds faith, strengthens character and stores the mind with material for Christian service. And this supplies the moral ballast, which, conjoined with the study of Civil Government, makes the powerful, the harmless and, therefore, useful and really successful CITIZEN.

Our special needs are a new dormitory for boys, the present building having recently overflowed; a larger endowment that the faculty may be increased and the courses of instruction multiplied with a view to having a wider range of attractions to offer students. It should be equipped as well as any non-Christian school so that our youth may be drawn more generally into the atmosphere that makes most for faith and righteousness.

PALMER COLLEGE—Bird's-Eye View of Campus

Palmer College
DeFuniak Springs, Florida

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1907.

GOVERNMENT.—By twenty-one trustees, fourteen elected by Board and seven by the Presbytery of Florida.

PALMER College, the youngest of our Presbyterian institutions, was founded in 1907, and named in honor of the late honored and beloved Benjamin M. Palmer, D. D., LL. D., of New Orleans.

Succeeding the Florida State Normal College it came into possession of all of the property acquired by that institution. Since its reorganization under Presbyterian ownership and control a large athletic field has been purchased, one dormitory of brick erected, all the old buildings refurnished, and many substantial improvements made upon the property. This has been done by a comparatively small group, and represents sacrifices on the part of its founders.

Rev. Lynn R. Walker, D. D.
President

Fathered by Presbyterians of Scotch descent it boasts its ancestry as a guarantee of its distinctly Christian character, yet it seeks not to narrow its mission and influence in behalf of Christian education by being sectarian. The object of its founders was a definite one—namely, to make Palmer College in the best sense a Christian school, to serve all the people without interfering with denominational preferences. Study of the Bible is required of all, and the faculty must be Christians. Its location in DeFuniak Springs makes an almost ideal environment—no saloons by city charter, a community of churches, the seat of the Florida Chautauqua; the people have high social, moral and intellectual standards. The site marks the highest point in the State and is beautiful for situation.

Our immediate needs are $20,000 to pay our indebtedness, $50,000 for additional buildings and equipment, and $100,000 for productive endowment.

Agnes Scott College Decatur, Georgia

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1889.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by Board—Charter requires they shall be members of Presbyterian Church, U. S.

THE purpose which has prevailed at Agnes Scott since its foundation has been to offer the very best educational advantages under positive Christian influences—the training and furnishing of the mind in a modern, well-equipped college, and at the same time the formation and development of Christian character and ideals. Along with these ends, it is constantly sought to cultivate true womanliness, a womanliness which combines strength with gentleness and refinement. It is thus the aim of the College to send out educated Christian women to be a power in blessing the world and glorifying God.

Rev. T. H. Gaines, D.D., LL. D.
President

The College was founded by Presbyterians, and hence its moral standards and religious life conform as nearly as possible to those which obtain in that Church. Its ideals are—the supreme end the Glory of God; the Bible a text-book; Christian teachers; all the influences positively Christian; a high standard strictly maintained.

The College offers only the B. A. degree. There are, however, optional courses leading to this degree, thus giving the opportunity for each student to elect a course most in accord with her special talent and plans.

Sayre College
Lexington, Kentucky

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1854.

GOVERNMENT.—By a self-perpetuating Board of fifteen trustees. The majority must be members of Southern Presbyterian Church. The Mayor of Lexington and the Circuit Judge are ex-officio members. Synod of Kentucky annually appoints Visiting Committee.

SAYRE College has an enviable and interesting history. The charter was written in 1854 by one of our most distinguished Kentuckians, Hon. John C. Breckenridge, Vice-President of the United States and Secretary of War of the Confederate States.

Rev. J. M. Spencer, D.D.
President

Matthew Vassar said his attention having been called to this institution was one of the influences that led him to the founding of Vassar College.

Sayre College is one of the few educational institutions in the South that did not close its doors from 1860-1865.

Today the school combines the prestige of age with modern equipment. New dormitory, new furniture, beautiful trees and flowers, and outdoor sports are among the material advantages. College Entrance and Junior College courses, Music, Art, and Physical Culture, Expression, also Domestic Science and Domestic Art provided for.

A faculty selected with regard to Christian influence and character as well as to thorough scholarship and experience.

Small classes with individual instruction and personal interest and attention from teacher to student, among our strong points. In short, a Christian Home School. Our motto: "Culture Consecrated to Service."

Chickasaw Female College

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1862.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by East Mississippi Presbytery.

CHICKASAW Female College has been the greatest home missionary East Mississippi has ever had—a very large part of the spread of Presbyterianism having been due to the influence it has exerted in all directions, in the sending out of strong women impressed with the teachings of our beloved Church to exert their influence in helping to build it up, and in the earnest efforts to spread that influence by the preaching of the Gospel by ones who have served the terms as President and godly ministers who have at different times been a part of its faculty. God has abundantly blessed its work and made it to be an incalculable blessing to our Church. Looking into its future, we feel that it is to be a still greater blessing, for the outlook is a bright one in every way.

Memphis, Tenn., at the junction of the Illinois Central and the 'Frisco railroads, is the highest altitude between New Orleans and Chicago. The influences are those of a Christian home. The President's family reside in the school home, the President's wife being a mother to the girls. Much attention is paid to the development of the religious character, the moral nature, and the social graces. The Bible is a text book. The courses of study lead to English, Scientific and Classical diplomas. The college is noted for the very highest advantages in music, art, expression, and domestic science. High rank has been attained among the best institutions of learning. Graduates are admitted into the junior classes of our State University, and are occupying positions as teachers in our best colleges and high schools. The expenses are exceedingly moderate. Worthy girls are assisted. Needs, one hundred and ten boarding pupils for the session 1914-15.

SYNODICAL COLLEGE—A DORMITORY—MISSOURI

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Synodical College Fulton, Missouri

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1874.

GOVERNMENT.—By fifteen trustees elected by the Synod of Missouri.

SYNODICAL College is a Junior College, offering courses of study which are parallel with those given in the first two years of Class A colleges and universities, together with an academy course which is equivalent to the standard high school curriculum.

Lawrence I. MacQueen, M. A.
President

There are some features which go to give the life and work individuality, keeping it a distinctively woman's college. Believing that an education should be a preparation for life, an endeavor is made to meet the needs of sane young womanhood. It is neither a convent nor a reform school in its mode of discipline. A feature is made of student government as a means to develop character and self-control.

Taking for ideals good work, good health, and happiness, every effort is made to realize them. Stress is laid upon Personal and Social Hygiene, Household Chemistry, Dietetics, Child Study, Physiology, together with Domestic Science and Art. Much attention is given to systematic exercise and to the preparation of menus for the college tables, both being necessary for good health. The atmosphere is that of a large family, thereby insuring a happy life.

Synodical College has just completed a new dormitory, modern in every respect, which doubles the capacity of the institution. This enables the college to enter a larger sphere of usefulness.

Our particular need is for scholarships whereby Presbyterian girls of ability and promise, who have but slender purses, may be trained for lives of usefulness and service.

Westminster College
Fulton, Missouri

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1849.

GOVERNMENT.—By twenty-four trustees elected by Synods of Missouri, U. S., and U. S. A.

WESTMINSTER College was founded in 1849, and owned by the Southern Synod of Missouri from its foundation until 1901. It has since that time been equally and jointly under the control of the Presbyterian Synods of Missouri, U. S., and U. S. A.

Rev. Charles B. Boving, D. D.
President

With four handsome modern buildings, all erected in the last thirteen years; a campus, thought to be the most beautiful college campus in the State; a fine athletic field; a strong faculty of eleven men; possibly the best college laboratories in Missouri; Westminster offers splendid advantages to young men seeking an education. The entire history of Westminster has been a work of promoting the highest ideals of scholarship and citizenship for Church and State; its object has been to teach the things that make for more than physical and mental accomplishment, the things that exalt character, make life sacred, and put men in harmony with the Bible standard of conduct. From Westminster's walls have gone forth one hundred and fifteen ministers, twelve foreign missionaries, and a great number of earnest Christian men into every profession and walk of life.

The most pressing need of the college is an additional endowment of $150,000.00. Those who wish to make such disposition of their money as will accomplish the most good for all time can make no better investment than to put it into Westminster's Endowment Fund.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE

NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Davidson College
Davidson, North Carolina

FOR MEN. FOUNDED 1837.

GOVERNMENT.—By fifty-eight trustees elected by Presbyteries of North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and part of South Carolina, and by the Alumni Association.

DAVIDSON College, for men only, was founded in 1837 and is now in its seventy-seventh year.

It was never more vigorous, nor better equipped for its work. For a number of years its student body has numbered from 330 to 350 and fills the institution to its capacity from the standpoint of teachers, dormitory space and class room accommodation.

William J. Martin, Ph. D., LL. D.
President

Few of the students are not church members—19 such this year out of 335. A fine, manly set of young men.

Faculty of fourteen university trained men of wide experience as teachers, and every one a Christian gentleman of fine influence.

The standard of scholarship is high and it is not “easy” to secure a degree, for Davidson’s diploma stands for thorough work. Fourteen units are required for entrance and only two units of condition allowed.

Over one-third of all candidates for the ministry of the Southern Presbyterian Church now in college are on Davidson’s campus, and this has been the record for years.

Davidson’s desire is not so much to be a bigger, as it is to be a better college. Doing the one thing of undergraduate college work, with no instructors teaching even the freshmen, our wish is to so equip, man, and endow the college that it shall do the most efficient work possible for the young men of the South.

No man or woman can better or more lastingly invest funds to develop young life and the Church than to add to the equipment or endowment of Davidson College.

Davidson needs an endowment fund raised to $500,000; a new gymnasium building, a Y. M. C. A. hall, additional laboratory equipment and space, and an administration building.

Statesville Female College
Statesville, North Carolina

FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

FOUNDED 1857.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Presbytery of Concord.

Rev. J. A. Scott, D. D.
President

STATESVILLE Female College offers careful and thorough education, at very reasonable rates, to young women who need and seek a good education. It is located in a delightful and healthful region. The students are surrounded by gracious Christian influences. The tone of life in the College is pure and wholesome. Good and ladylike girls are sought as students.

Statesville Female College needs an endowment of at least $100,000.00, as an interest-bearing source of support. It also needs a number of "Scholarships" of $1,000.00 each, to enable the President to assist in the education of worthy young women of moderate means.

OKLAHOMA PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE FOR GIRLS

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Oklahoma Presbyterian College for Girls Durant, Oklahoma

FOR GIRLS. FOUNDED 1910.

GOVERNMENT.—By eleven trustees elected by the Synod of Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA Presbyterian College for Girls is a Junior College for girls and young women. The title to the property is vested in Assembly's Committee of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, governed by a Board of eleven trustees chosen by the Synod of Oklahoma.

W. B. Morrison, A. B.
President

At present it is the sole high grade institution for girls being operated under denominational auspices within the State of Oklahoma. The influence of this school is already felt throughout this section. Few girls leave its halls without surrendering their hearts and lives to the Savior. A number of its teachers and students have volunteered for service in either Home or Foreign field. Students are drawn from a territory largely destitute of religious advantages. This makes the institution a most valuable evangelizing agency.

The present attendance taxes the capacity. Limited means and heavy debt stand in the way of accomplishing greatest usefulness.

The greatest present need is an additional building, giving more school room, and dormitory equipment for one hundred additional girls. No more inviting field for the Christian philanthropist is to be found in the South. It is an ideal place for endowment of a training school for Christian workers. Scholarship funds are needed for partial support of poor girls.

Chicora College
Greenville, South Carolina

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1893. BOUGHT BY CHURCH 1906.

GOVERNMENT.—By twenty-eight trustees elected by the Presbyteries of the Synod of South Carolina.

CHICORA College is the South Carolina Presbyterian College for women and is maintained and conducted for the purpose of promoting Christian education in harmony with the Constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Rev. S. C. Byrd, D. D.
President

It is a Christian home-school with high ideals and high standards.

Its supreme aim is to make women; and its conception of womanhood is a graceful and vigorous body and a thoroughly disciplined mind, together with a high moral and spiritual character.

It is located in the healthful Piedmont section of South Carolina.

It is a standard college, maintaining and enforcing standard entrance requirements.

Its curriculum embraces the special features of a broad, liberal education and culture adapted to the needs and desires of cultured, Christian womanhood.

The departments are: The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, which offers degrees of M. A., B. A., B. S., and B. Ped.; the College of Fine Arts, which includes Schools of Music, Art and Expression.

The instructors are men and women of exemplary character, Christian ideals and purposes, and are specialists in their respective departments.

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Presbyterian College of South Carolina Clinton, South Carolina

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1880.

GOVERNMENT.—By twenty-four trustees, three elected by each of the seven Presbyteries in the Synod of South Carolina, and three by the Alumni Association.

THE Presbyterian College of South Carolina is a Christian college of the liberal arts and natural sciences, standing firmly on the great truths of evangelical Christianity. The standard is recognized by State Superintendent of Education as equal to that of the best colleges for men in the State.

There are four encouraging points regarding the future development of the college. 1. It is well located. Clinton is a progressive town in the Piedmont section of the State, with an elevation of 800 feet. It has all modern improvements, the climate is invigorating, free from malaria, and the general healthfulness of the place is excellent. 2. It has a strong constituency. According to the Minutes of the General Assembly for 1913, there are 26,706 members of the Presbyterian Church in South Carolina, and these Presbyterians have about 500 sons in different colleges. 3. It has ground for future development. The college owns thirty acres of land, beautifully located, all within the corporate limits of the town of Clinton. 4. The buildings are modern. All except one were erected in the last ten years.

Rev. D. M. Douglas, D. D.
President

The growth of the College during the past four years has assured the Church that it has a future. Three years ago there were 85 students, two years ago 109, last year 133, and this year 155. The income from students was $3,763.85 three years ago; this year 1913-1914 it will be over $10,000. From the increase in income it will be seen that the College has elements that will attract. It is appealing to all classes of students and is not dependent upon free scholarships for growth. The standard, equipment, and general tone of the College have well kept pace with the increase in students and income.

1. We need an additional income of $2,500 a year to meet running expenses. It is customary for all institutions to say they need a larger income, but a glance at the financial statement of the College will show that it is running with an annual deficit of about $2,500 a year. This deficit has been approximately the same for the last four years.

2. $10,000 in order to secure a new library and science hall. The College now has $15,000 it can use for this purpose on the condition that it secures not less than $10,000 more. The student body has grown, and in order to do first-class work the College is almost obliged to have this new building. It will be seventy by one hundred feet. Most of the first floor will be used for a library, and the second floor for science.

ROGERSVILLE SYNODICAL COLLEGE

Rogersville Synodical College
Rogersville, Tennessee

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1849.

GOVERNMENT.—By sixteen directors elected by the Synod of Tennessee.

ROGERSVILLE Synodical College for many years has rendered a most efficient service to the homes of Eastern Tennessee and the South. It has claimed as its President some of the leading educators produced by our Church. In recent years, however, it has been allowed to suffer greatly because of the lack of finances.

In 1912, the Synod appointed a special committee to raise $2,600. At the meeting of the Synod in 1913, the committee reported that they had not been able to accomplish this task.

The Annual Report of the Board of Directors, for 1913, contained this statement, "The Board has made diligent effort to secure someone to take the Presidency of the institution, but has been unable to make suitable arrangements and consequently the college is now closed with no prospect of reopening until Synod shall take the necessary steps to put the institution on its feet. The resolution of the Synod a year ago to raise an endowment of twenty-five thousand dollars for the College has not as yet produced the desired results."

The value of the property is $21,500. The amount of the debt is about $2,600 and $1,000 is needed for repairs.

Austin College
Sherman, Texas

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1849.

GOVERNMENT.—By sixteen trustees elected by the Synod of Texas.

AUSTIN College has just completed a three-story Science Hall, and a two-story power house. We already have plans for an administration building to cost $75,000 and a library and auditorium to cost $50,000. This last building is the gift of the city of Sherman, and is to be known as "Sherman Hall." Our plant, when completed, will be worth about $50,000.

Rev. T. S. Clyce, D. D., LL.D.
President

We need another dormitory to cost $60,000. We also need an additional $200,000 endowment so that we may increase our faculty and also the salaries paid, and add other necessary departments.

This is the oldest Presbyterian college in the West, founded by Dr. Daniel Baker. He secured a few large and many small gifts from the Presbyterians in all the Southern States and from a large number of Eastern States. Possibly more people from all parts of the nation have small investments in Austin College than in any other college in America.

Daniel Baker College
Brownwood, Texas

Co-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1889.

GOVERNMENT.—By thirteen trustees elected by the Synod of Texas.

T. P. Junkin, LL. D.
President

DANIEL Baker College is located in the geographical center of Texas, in a city of 10,000 people. The climate is free from malaria. Altitude of 1,500 feet, which is about the same as Staunton, Va., or Chautauqua, N. Y.

It is one of the ten standard institutions in the State recognized by the State Board of Examiners as of the first class.

The University of Texas and other Southern institutions give full credit for every hour of college work done.

There are four buildings with all modern improvements. Physical and chemical laboratories. Library of standard fiction and reference books and all leading magazines and periodicals.

The student body now is not only more representative than ever before in the history of the institution, but very much larger—234 in all departments to date, and from all over the state and adjoining states. Proper care of them has taxed and is taxing the present faculty to the limit and we have not class room enough. We need most sadly, and in order as follows: A dormitory for boys, an administration building and a chapel and gymnasium building. It is hardly possible for us to ask for more patronage without more equipment.

Texas Presbyterian College
Milford, Texas

FOR WOMEN.

FOUNDED 1902.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by Synod of Texas.

Rev. Henry C. Evans, D. D.
President

TEXAS Presbyterian College is an ideal school for young ladies.

This school in ten years' history has attained a development and reputation equal to schools of scores of years. Its location is ideal, healthful, beautiful, convenient. It has a faculty of twenty-two teachers, representing all departments of liberal culture, Literature, Music, Art, Needle Work, Domestic Science, etc. Its pupils are noted for their gentle, quiet, ladylike manners. A beautiful home life. A true, refined, college spirit.

DAVIS AND ELKINS COLLEGE

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Davis and Elkins College

Elkins, West Virginia

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1904.

GOVERNMENT.—By eighteen trustees elected by the Board of Trustees from candidates nominated by the Presbyteries of Lexington, Winchester, Kanawha, Greenbrier and Tygarts Valley, of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., and by the Synod of West Virginia, U. S. A.

DAVIS and Elkins College is the only Presbyterian college in West Virginia.

The college is the outgrowth of a desire on the part of representatives of Lexington and Winchester Presbyteries and of the Hon. Henry G. Davis and the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins to establish an institution of high grade of more or less cultural nature in West Virginia.

James E. Allen, A. B.
President

Ground was broken in 1903, and with a faculty of four and about fifty students the doors of the college were opened in September, 1904. For some years after the opening the trustees were unsuccessful in awakening the active interest of the Southern Church in the further development of the College; but in 1908, the Synod of West Virginia, representing the Northern Church, upon the invitation of the Board of Trustees, joined in the ownership and maintenance of the College, and brought with it a very desirable patronage, and the stimulus for a very pronounced and growing interest in the affairs of the College throughout the entire Church in West Virginia. Later Greenbrier, Kanawha and Tygarts Valley Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., joined in co-operation. Now that a Southern Synod is to be erected in this State, the opportunity seems brighter than ever before to make Davis and Elkins College conspicuously the Presbyterian College of West Virginia.

The plant consists of two buildings and twenty-five acres of land. The trustees have, in the nature of a bequest from ex-Senator Henry G. Davis, a pledge of $100,000 at least. He has promised in addition $50,000, or any part thereof, in cash, whenever the trustees will have raised a like amount. A campaign is now on to meet this proposition.

Our special and urgent needs are greater liberality on the part of our church people: First, to assist in meeting the additional offer of Mr. Davis, thereby securing in cash $100,000; second, to provide more library space and a gymnasium by the erection of a building to take care of these two departments; third, to erect a dormitory especially provided for preparatory students.

Hampden-Sidney College Hampden Sidney, Virginia

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1776.

GOVERNMENT.—By twenty-seven trustees elected by Board from list named by the Synod of Virginia.

HAMPDEN-Sidney College is the second oldest in the South. It was organized as an academy in 1775; opened for students January 1, 1776, with Samuel Stanhope Smith, afterwards President of Princeton, as Rector. It was named with striking appropriateness for the two English patriots,

Rev. Henry Tucker Graham, D.D.
President

John Hampden and Algernon Sidney; and was chartered as a college in 1783, Patrick Henry and James Madison being among its incorporators and staunch friends. Except for the cenotaph on Chalgrove field and his statue in heroic size in the lobby of the House of Commons, this college is the one public memorial of this great man and patriot, John Hampden, and of Sidney also.

Hampden-Sidney's work in education has been and is astonishingly great. It has furnished one President of the United States (Wm. Henry Harrison), at least nine Governors of States, a number of Judges, members of Cabinets and of Congresses, and a distinguished roll of officers for the five wars in which the country has been engaged since 1775. Through its alumni it has founded four theological seminaries, two medical colleges, eleven literary colleges, and, in addition, through Joseph Carrington Cabell, Jefferson's invaluable co-laborer, it helped to found the University of Virginia. Today its alumni fill five of the ten prominent State offices in Virginia, and teach in twenty-six colleges and in more than thirty academies in the South. Drawing its students from the staunchest stock of the two Virginias, it is sending them back as leaders in every line of work.

STONEWALL JACKSON COLLEGE

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Stonewall Jackson College
Abingdon, Virginia

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1869.

GOVERNMENT.—By thirty trustees, one-half elected by the Board and one-half by the Presbytery of Abingdon.

STONEWALL Jackson College is the only Presbyterian School for girls in Southwestern Virginia, Southwestern West Virginia, Eastern Kentucky, Eastern Tennessee, and Western North Carolina, from which sections our present patronage has come. “One hundred years ago every family in Southwestern Virginia was Presbyterian.” Within a radius of thirty miles, four schools of other denominations are bidding for our girls (and getting some of them). If we do not maintain “Stonewall,” what will be the fact 100 years hence?

The teaching is decidedly Presbyterian. The Bible is memorized as well as studied (a four years’ course, with about 200 memory verses each year).

The courses of study offered are full and varied, the teachers consecrated as well as competent, and the climate almost ideal.

OUR SPECIAL NEEDS ARE

1. Another Dormitory. Our capacity is about 70, and should be increased to 100.
2. Additional equipment in Laboratory, Library, and Classrooms.
3. An Endowment, or Scholarship Fund, to assist worthy girls.

FOR WOMEN.

FOUNDED 1852.

GOVERNMENT.—By seven trustees elected by the Presbytery of Louisiana.

Rev. H. H. Brownlee, A. B., B. D.
President

SILLIMAN Collegiate Institute is just about the usual Junior College. Has the usual departments—Music, Art, Expression, Domestic Science, Stenography and Typewriting. Emphasizes thoroughness, and has a reputation for that sort of work throughout the State.

Assists about thirty girls each year by giving free tuition through the Silliman Fund. The Dickinson Fund affords free board and tuition each year to three daughters of Presbyterian ministers. The McKowen Fund assists still others.

The needs are larger endowment, a new building to accommodate needs of growing school, scientific equipment, etc.

Belhaven Collegiate and Industrial Institute
Jackson, Mississippi

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1911.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by the Presbyteries of Central Mississippi and Mississippi.

BELHAVEN Collegiate and Industrial Institute was founded in 1911. Upon the burning of Belhaven College in October, 1910, Prof. J. R. Preston, the owner, decided not to rebuild. Rev. J. B. Hutton, D.D., and Elders W. C. Wells, Jr., and J. R. Dobyns and others seized the opportunity to establish a Presbyterian College for girls at this strategic point. A handsome tile roof brick building, modern in every part, with a bath room between each two bed rooms, was put up during the summer of 1911 and the school was opened for business September 19th of that year. R. V. Lancaster, D. D., was chosen President. The first session a number of girls were turned away, necessitating enlargement by erection of annex of same character as main building. Every brick in the building belongs to the Presbyterian Church. There are no stockholders.

The college requires 14 units for entrance. There is an Academic Department that takes girls from the Seventh Grade up. There is no limit to our opportunities, except as our means are limited. Self-help is offered to as many girls as our resources will permit.

CENTRAL MISSISSIPPI INSTITUTE

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Central Mississippi Institute
French Camp, Mississippi

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1885.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by Presbytery of Central Mississippi.

CENTRAL Mississippi Institute has had to make a constant and vigorous fight for its existence because it has no endowment, and few gifts come this way. Its course is too high for many to graduate, but its alumnae are doing a very fine work. For two years local conditions have crippled it seriously.

J. A. Sanderson, B. A.
Principal

Boll-weevil has created a panic here. Our whole plant needs the kind hand of love to be extended. This school is in the truest sense Christian in its teachings. The Bible is a text-book—some of it is memorized daily and recited. The students take part in the evening devotions in the parlors.

The setting is very fine for developing Christian character. It would be a distinct loss to Presbyterianism if we failed to support adequately this school. The country needs it and the Church needs its work if it measures up to its duty to God.

Chamberlain-Hunt Academy Port Gibson, Mississippi

FOR BOYS AND YOUNG MEN. FOUNDED 1879.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Synod of Mississippi.

CHAMBERLAIN-HUNT Academy is doing strictly high grade preparatory school work. It is one of the few endowed preparatory schools owned by the Church in the South. Industrial features have been added so as to provide ways for students of limited means to secure an education. A good

Rev. M. E. Melvin, D. D.
Principal

farm, dairy, and manual training shop enable several to work, in part, their way through school. Some of the endowed scholarships go to those who are helping themselves. The aim of the school is to develop the best raw material available for future church leadership. It gives help to no one unless he works to help himself. The location, a mile from a quiet little town, makes it an ideal place for such a school. Every session it has been crowded with students. For the past three years it has turned them away. If the old bonded debt of $28,000 were out of the way the present endowment would be adequate for the work of the school.

The two greatest needs are, first, another dormitory with rooms for hospital and library, to cost about $25,000. This will give room for 40 more boys and add to the income of the school, with little added expense. The other pressing need is a fund to provide for the bonded debt mentioned, of like amount. The school is doing pioneer work in industrial education by the Church and with a little help has a great field and future.

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1885.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by the Presbytery of Central Mississippi.

Rev. H. H. Thompson
Principal

FRENCH Camp Academy has military discipline and uniform which is not only economical, but differentiates the school boys from the town boys. Country location and minimum temptations to dissipations and diversions. Athletics are encouraged but not given undue place. Bible is studied by every one in class room and memorizing of selected portions required. Healthfulness is most remarkable. Expenses very low.

Religion dominates the Academy, but not sectarianism.

Elmwood Seminary

Farmington, Missouri

ELMWOOD Seminary was founded in 1888 and is owned and controlled by the Presbytery of Potosi. It has 3 acres of land and a large building, making its property value $30,000. A large debt, however, has accumulated on the property and after much thought and prayer the Presbytery proposed to the Synod of Missouri to consolidate the Seminary with the Synodical College for girls, at Fulton, and to use this valuable property as a Synodical Orphanage. These plans are now being perfected.

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1851. REORGANIZED 1905.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by Presbyteries of Palmyra, U. S., and Kirksville, U. S. A.

VAN Rensselaer Academy, founded in 1851, and re-organized in 1905, is especially adapted to the education of the boys and girls of the farm. It is located in the country ten miles from a town of any size, yet but one mile from railroad station. A faculty of four teachers reside in the dormitory with the pupils. The cost is very moderate. $170.00 covers board, tuition and incidentals for the year of eight months. Students are able to work out at least half of their expenses if they desire. It seeks to educate "back to the farm." The Board of Trustees is composed of four ministers and four ruling elders of the Presbyterian Church, chosen by the co-operating Presbyteries of Palmyra (South) and Kirksville (North).

The needs of the Academy are a good workshop, chemical laboratory equipment, and boys' dormitory.

Albemarle Normal and Industrial Institute
Albemarle, North Carolina

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1894.

REV. GEORGE H. ATKINSON, PRESIDENT.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by Presbytery
of Mecklenburg.

ALBEMARLE Normal and Industrial Institute, established by Miss Frances E. Ufford, of New Jersey, and Miss Helen J. Northrup, of Minnesota, is under the control of a Board of Trustees elected by Mecklenburg Presbytery.

The aim of the Institution is to prepare young women for the actual duties of life—for teaching in our rural and public schools, for the duties of the home, or for entrance to higher institutions of learning. Full recognition is given to the fact that this is, above all, a Christian school, and its object the development of character training for service in the extension of the Kingdom of God. The Bible and Missions are taught in every department.

The school is finely situated on an eminence above the town of Albemarle, and commands a view of the town and surrounding country. The health of the pupils is carefully guarded and physical culture is given to all.

Of the one hundred and two boarding girls only twenty have rooms in the school building, the others are in rented cottages. There is, therefore, great need for more dormitory room.

Albemarle Normal and Industrial Institute has 5 acres and 2 buildings; property valued at $24,500; indebtedness, $5,000; 138 students; 15 teachers; 1 alumna in Mission work and 4 teaching. It requires of all students two and a half hours a week in Bible study.

Elise High School
Hemp, North Carolina

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1904.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Presbytery of Fayetteville.

Rev. Robert S. Arrowood
Principal

ELISE High School strives to give a first class high school, Christian training to all who enroll as pupils, at a cost as low as possible consistent with good results. We strive to train the whole man, mentally, physically and spiritually. The Bible is taught as a text-book every day. None but Christian teachers are employed. We strive to maintain all the time a wholesome Christian atmosphere about the school.

The special needs are: about $3,000.00 to finish paying the debt of the school, a few hundred dollars to more thoroughly equip it, and a small endowment fund to be used to aid bright, worthy young men and women of limited means, who can not secure an education in any other way.

James Sprunt Institute Kenansville, North Carolina

FOR GIRLS. FOUNDED 1896.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Presbytery of Wilmington.

Rev. J. E. L. Winecoff
President

JAMES Sprunt Institute is a boarding school for girls only, offering highest advantages to those who wish to prepare for college or for a more useful life. It is a home school in the best sense, for a limited number, under Christian management and influence, where each girl is cared for in everything that pertains to her life and welfare. It is in an exceptionally healthful locality, free from malaria and other infectious conditions; a place to get well, rather than to get sick. A number of scholarships have been given by friends of the school, to pay the tuition of girls of insufficient means, who can secure them.

PEACE INSTITUTE—MAIN BUILDING

Original from
NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

Peace Institute
Raleigh, North Carolina

FOR WOMEN. _____ FOUNDED 1857.

GOVERNMENT.—By twenty-five trustees, 2 elected by the Synod of North Carolina, 2 by each of the eight Presbyteries of said Synod, 7 by the officers of the First Church, Raleigh.

PEACE Institute, founded in 1857, is the outgrowth of the generosity of prominent Presbyterians throughout the State of North Carolina, who recognized the strategic importance to the Church of a high grade school for girls at the State Capital.

George J. Ramsey, LL. D.
President

Due to the crippling effects of the Civil War the institution passed into the hands of a stock company, and for thirty-five years (1872-1907), under the wise guidance of those distinguished Presbyterian educators, Drs. Robert and John B. Burwell and Dr. James Dinwiddie, it attained high rank among its sister institutions of the South.

Six years ago when the continuance of Presbyterian influence was threatened the property was bought by a committee of the First Presbyterian Church, of Raleigh, bonded for the purchase price, and since that time has been successfully conducted by the committee in trust for the Presbyterians of the State. So great has been the increase in value that, if placed on the market today, the property would probably net from seventy-five thousand dollars to a hundred thousand dollars above the purchase price.

The present session opened with the dormitory, accommodating one hundred pupils, full to capacity and a waiting list. The school has never asked nor received a dollar from the Church at large, but to retain its present prestige and meet its enlarging opportunities it must have in the immediate future more dormitory room, improved equipment and free endowment of at least one hundred thousand dollars.

STANLY HALL

Frazer Academy
Anderson, South Carolina

FOR MEN.

FOUNDED 1912.

GOVERNMENT.—By eight trustees elected by the Session of the First Church, Anderson.

FRAZER Academy has a raison d'être. There is a recognized need for that preparation for a college course which will enable students to pursue the course with comfort and satisfaction. The distaste for college life is often traceable to lack of preparation for the college curriculum. It is the purpose of this institution to fit men for thorough college work. Experts in the different departments have been secured and the ambition of the management is to make a reputation for thoroughness in the work of preparation. Parents may be assured that the confidence reposed in the institution will not be betrayed, for we depend upon the record made for our right to exist. If we do not fill the need we shall have no claim to existence. Our work will be under the most scrutinizing review of the institutions of learning to which our graduates go for their college course. That in itself is a guarantee of every effort being put forth to make ours the best school of its kind in the South. With the co-operation of the public we propose to make Frazer Academy the synonym of proficiency and thoroughness in preparatory work.

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1912.

REV. J. W. SKINNER, D. D., PRINCIPAL

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by the Synod of Texas.

TEXAS-Mexican Industrial Institute needs:

1. Fifty annual scholarship funds of $100.00 each.
2. A brick or concrete dormitory to house fifty boys on second floor, and provide kitchen, dining room and chapel on first floor, $10,000. Much of the work can be “student labor.”
3. $500.00 to install an electric lighting plant. We have the engine, but need the storage batteries, dynamo, switchboard, wire and fixtures. Installation can be “home made.” The above will put Texas-Mexican Industrial Institute on its feet for five years. Then it must more than double its present capacity.

Lewisburg Seminary Lewisburg, West Virginia

FOR WOMEN. FOUNDED 1876.

GOVERNMENT.—By twelve trustees elected by the Presbytery of Greenbrier.

IN 1812, the Lewisburg Academy, for boys and girls, was chartered. Its founder was the Rev. John McElhenney D. D., a man of prominence in the Presbyterian Church. Virgil A. Lewis, in his "History and Government of West Virginia," says, "This was the most important school in the early history of the State. From its walls went forth legislators, great debaters and scientists, to become active characters in establishing Western commonwealths."

R. C. Sommerville, A. M.
President

In 1876 this Academy was transferred to a corporation and chartered as Lewisburg Female Institute. The grounds were added to and a large three-story brick building erected. In 1892, again, the stockholders turned over the property to the Presbyterian Church. More ground was added to the campus and another large four-story building was erected.

In 1901, these buildings were burned. But the friends of the school rallied to its support and raised the money to build the two larger and better buildings, which constitute the present plant, worth $120,000.00.

Lewisburg Seminary aims to furnish to the young women of West Virginia and adjoining territory an opportunity of obtaining a substantial education under carefully guarded Christian influences. It is the only school in the State belonging to a Protestant Church and devoted to the education of women exclusively; the other Protestant schools and the State schools are co-educational.

Our special need is money (1) to increase our library, (2) to make certain additions to and improvements in the buildings, (3) to equip a domestic science department, (4) to establish an endowment fund for the aid of poor but worthy young women.

Nacoochee Institute
Sautee, White County, Georgia

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1903.

GOVERNMENT.—By trustees elected by Presbyteries of Athens and Augusta.

NACOOCHEE Institute is located in the heart of the famous Nacoochee Valley just under the Blue Ridge Mountains in White County.

The Central School course begins with Primary and completes Tenth Grade. There is a course in Domestic Science conducted by a capable Christian woman. The Bible is taught for one hour each day, by an accomplished and experienced teacher. This is one of the happiest and most helpful hours of the school day and splendid results are in constant evidence. Regular preaching services are maintained at four points. The Presbyterian Church here was reorganized in April, 1913. At that time the entire community was spiritually refreshed during a series of special services.

NACOOCHEE INSTITUTE
Rev. John Knox Coit, Superintendent

Summer Schools are conducted by volunteer teachers who receive only bare expenses for their services and work from six weeks to five months. About eighty children are reached through this department.

Several young girls are helping themselves through school by doing the dormitory washing. Every boarding pupil is required to work two hours each day.

Last year every boarding pupil, not already a professing Christian, confessed Christ and united with the Church.

Nacoochee Institute is fulfilling a ministry to the Church of Jesus Christ at large by gathering up neglected young people, training them for Christian service and sending them out prepared for useful living.

A resolution adopted by the Synod of Georgia at a recent meeting, says:

“Nacoochee needs much larger and better equipment to fulfill its mission as a proper representative of the great Presbyterian Church of Georgia.”

Nacoochee Institute has 30 acres of land and eight buildings, a property valued at $11,928.00. 159 students in Central Schools, 140 in Extension Schools; 7 teachers; 1 alumnus in ministry, and 4 in college studying for ministry. It requires of all students one hour a week for ten years in Bible study.

Lees Collegiate Institute
Jackson, Breathitt Co., Ky.

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1891.
CHARLES A. LEONARD, M. A., PRINCIPAL.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Synod of Kentucky.

LEES Collegiate Institute has never had greater opportunity for effective work than at the present time. If the work can be expanded to keep pace with the needs of this rapidly developing mountain section, there is no limit to the usefulness of the school. It is the purpose of the Synod of Kentucky, which owns and controls this institution, to provide an education that will prepare a graduate for a college course or for creditable work in life.

The organization at present comprises five departments. (1) The Academic Department in Primary, Intermediate, and High School; (2) the Normal Department; (3) the Department of Music; (4) the McCormick Industrial School; (5) the Boarding Department.

CAMPUS LOOKING NORTH—LEES COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Lees Collegiate Institute has 7 acres of land and 4 buildings; property valued at $31,000; endowment, $14,700; indebtedness, $4,300; 239 students; 7 teachers; 2 alumni in the ministry, 1 in the Theological Seminary, and 10 others engaged in Christian work. It requires of all students five periods a week for four years in Bible Study.

Matthew T. Scott, Jr., Academy and Industrial School
Phelps, Kentucky

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1904.

GOVERNMENT.—By seven trustees elected by Synod of Kentucky.

Rev. Alfred Erickson, M. A.
Principal

MATTHEW T. Scott, Jr., Academy and Industrial School helps worthy and poor students, but they are always required to help about the place and on the farm.

As an appreciation of the good done by the school, a number of men have formed an Academy Club, pledging themselves to relieve the school of the burden of planting and caring for until maturity our orchards of over 2,000 trees, and to do farm work of a certain nature all free of cost to us.

Bible study is required in all departments.

M. T. SCOTT, JR., ACADEMY AND INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

NEEDS.

1. A sanitary system of water supply, being piped to houses.
2. A heating system. Present system of stoves for each room dangerous and expensive in the end.
3. The support of one or two teachers.

Matthew T. Scott, Jr., Academy and Industrial School has 77 acres of land and 3 buildings; property valued at $14,768; 77 students; 4 teachers. It requires of all students two and a half hours a week in Bible Study.

Mission Schools in Kentucky

THE following mountain mission schools were established within the bounds of the Synod of Kentucky by the Soul Winners Society under the leadership of Rev. E. O. Guerrant, D. D. In 1911 the work of this Society was turned over to the Executive Committee of Home Missions of the General Assembly, which is now conducting the work.

The School of the Ozarks Forsyth, Missouri

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1906.

WILLIAM LARIMER PORTER, M. A.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by the Synod of Missouri.

THE School of the Ozarks has been founded by the Synod of Missouri of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. The Primary object of the founders is to offer the best intellectual training under the best moral and Christian auspices. The hope is to build up a great school not only through the advantages gained by the location in such a healthful climate, in the midst of such inspiring scenes and with such opportunities for outdoor recreation, but most of all, through advantages which will be offered to those of both sexes who are deserving, yet financially unable to secure an education above the free school. Hence, in consideration of the extremely low tuition, the purpose is to make the school a self-sustaining "family" by requiring all students to spend a portion of their time in the various duties assigned them in the building or on the campus and farm, such as kitchen, dining-room and laundry work, or in securing fuel and provisions, and improving the property.

The School of the Ozarks has 160 acres of land and 2 buildings; property valued at $29,000; indebtedness, $3,500; 150 students; 7 teachers. It requires of all students five half-hour periods a week in Bible study.

Glade Valley High School

Glade Valley, Alleghany County, North Carolina

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1911.

REV. W. F. HOLLINGSWORTH, A. B., PRESIDENT.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by Presbytery of Orange.

GLADE Valley High School was established by Orange Presbytery and was opened in a half finished building, January 4, 1911. At an altitude of about 3,000 feet—on top of the Blue Ridge—it is in a needy section of our best mountain territory. There is no school of like character in all this region. Its work is not only that of Christian Education, but real pioneer Home Mission work. We are seeking to make the school a real evangelistic agency and a center for social betterment. Its class room and dormitory facilities have been overtaxed from the beginning. Last year 135 were enrolled in the Primary, Intermediate and High School grades. There is perhaps no section of our country where there are so many children and young people for whom so little is being done religiously, socially, morally, and intellectually. Out of these people, strong and virile in mind and body, will come, with proper training, men and women to bless the world. They are worthy, capable and responsive; but have lacked opportunity. We feel that money invested in buildings and permanent equipment will yield a rich dividend for years to come. We are building for eternity, in lives for whom Christ died.

The small sum of $7,000 would finish and furnish our boys' dormitory, install the heating system, and pay off all our debts. We have other needs, but these are the most pressing.

Glade Valley High School has 125 acres and 6 buildings; property valued at $18,000; indebtedness, $2,500; 135 students; 6 teachers; 1 alumnus teaching. It requires of all advanced students one and two hours a week in Bible study. The Bible is taught in all grades.

Lees-McRae Institute
Banner Elk, Avery County, North Carolina
 GIRLS' DEPARTMENT. FOUNDED 1900.

GOVERNMENT.—By trustees elected by the Presbytery of Concord.

IN the heart of the mountains of Western North Carolina, four thousand feet above the sea level, about 90 miles north of Asheville and surrounded by mountain peaks from five to six thousand feet, is a beautiful little village, at the lower edge of which, close to where the turbulent waters of the Shannehaw and Elk flow into each other's embrace, is situated the Girls' Department of the Lees-McRae Institute, a few facts concerning which are given below.

This school grew out of a small Summer Mission School carried on about seventeen years ago by Concord Presbytery. In 1899, the evangelist in charge gathered around an open fire in his own room less than a dozen of the most advanced pupils from this Mission School, and for a few months endeavored to further stimulate their minds to higher ideals in life.

The following fall the question of building a high grade boarding school was taken up at a mid-week prayer meeting in the Presbyterian Church at Banner Elk. At this meeting $250 in lumber and cash were subscribed. The matter having been thus started at home, appeals were made through the papers, by letters and in person until a twenty-two room dormitory was furnished on a small lot next to the church.

The object that the Institute has in view is to bring within reach of as many girls and boys as possible, especially those in the mountains, the opportunity of a Christian education. To obtain this end the following policy is pursued: First, all the common school branches are thoroughly taught by experienced teachers. Second, the Bible is made a daily text book, and every student is expected to attend church and Sunday school; but no effort is made to change any one's particular denominational views.

Third, every student in the boarding hall is given daily practical training in all the duties that pertain to good, economical housekeeping.

Fourth, there is a class in basketry and kindred subjects, and one also in sewing, all of which are open to every student in school.

Fifth, there will be a course in Hygiene and Nursing for a class of the oldest girls, in connection with a small hospital that is now being built close to the school. The object of this is not to send the girls out as regularly trained nurses, but for their own benefit in their own homes.

Whatever success this school has attained we feel is due to the fact that it is a school of many prayers. It was founded on prayer.

The class of teachers that have been employed have been of the highest order. Not only have they come from refined Christian homes, but also from some of the best colleges in our country. Their lives have taught as vigorously as their lips.

Every effort has been made to get the people in the mountains to feel that the school belongs to them and that its success depends upon their efforts. The first subscriptions in every improvement are always taken up at home.

It has been the policy of the school to never make a debt. Whenever we have reached the point where we could not go forward without contracting a debt, we have been content to stand still. But we never stand still very long.

Lees-McRae Institute, Banner Elk, N. C., has 250 acres of land and 7 buildings; property valued at $39,550; endowment, $2,100; indebtedness, $2,000; 150 students; 8 teachers; 50 alumnae teaching. It requires of all students two and a half hours a week in Bible study.

Lees-McRae Institute
Plumtree, Avery County, North Carolina

BOYS' DEPARTMENT. FOUNDED 1903.

GOVERNMENT.—By trustees elected by the Presbytery of Concord.

THE Plumtree village, rustic in name and appearance, is hidden away in one of the deep folds of the Blue Ridge mountains in North Carolina. A visitor once remarked, "The wonder is how you ever found this place."

The first school house at Plumtree, popularly known as the "Bluebonnet," was built by the citizens. They were eager for the school. Before benches could be made or the walls of the house ceiled, about thirty children were there with books. The first desks were crude, with straight-up backs. It was the best we could do then.

Quickly following the completion of the "Bluebonnet" building, the leaders of the village met with the manager of the school to plan a home for boys who would come from the mountains around. Two of the villagers promised $500.00 each, and a friend from afar hearing of the awakening, sent $1,000.00. A comfortable dormitory with twenty-eight rooms was soon built and crowded with boys as fast as it was furnished.

During this year the boys and the people caught the spirit of energy and self-help. The same desire came upon three men who live a few miles farther from Plumtree. These, though dependent upon their daily work at $1.00 to $1.50 for a living, cut the logs, sawed them, and built the house that they might have the school which has been since furnished them. One of these stockholders said, "Let's call its name Learnmore." A friend named it "Dawn."

This enthusiasm spread so that a great number of mission schools were built up around the Plumtree institution. Five of these are in a flourishing condition today—"Slippery Hill," "Dawn," "Buck Hill," "Three Mile," and the "Plumtree Primary School."

A number of rooms are yet to be furnished in the dormitory. $25.00 will pay for the furnishing of one room. The building is yet to be heated and lighted.

The school has 1,600 acres of land; enrollment, 90; teachers, 6; branch schools, 8; enrollment, 250; total enrollment, 340; entire property valuation, $50,000.00; 2 scholarship funds, $2,000.00.

Maxwell Home and School

R. F. D., Franklin, Macon County, North Carolina

FOR BOYS.

FOUNDED 1911.

GOVERNMENT.—By trustees elected by the Home Mission Committee of the Presbytery of Asheville.

THE Maxwell Home and School has as its aim: First, to save destitute boys from ignorance and vice; second, to teach them how to support themselves. We are reaching the children and the young people with the Gospel through the channel of Christian education. By giving a boy who is large enough to work $30 to $50 for a start, he can make his own way through school, and to a position of useful citizenship.

A man and his devoted wife who live in the mountains of North Carolina, where they were born and reared, though not at all wealthy, gave a splendid farm of 500 acres for the purpose of establishing this institution for homeless boys. This gift takes a great part of their property, which has been accumulated by their arduous toil and close economy.

This work is under the care of the Home Mission Committee of Asheville Presbytery. It will be enlarged and made more efficient as funds come in for this purpose.

The Maxwell Home and School, located at R. F. D., Franklin, Macon County, N. C., has 500 acres and 2 buildings, valued at $14,000. The school is in charge of Rev. C. B. Yeargan, Superintendent, with 3 teachers, and 47 pupils. Bible study is required of all the students.

Morrison Industrial School
R. F. D., Franklin, Macon County, North Carolina
 FOR GIRLS. FOUNDED 1911.

GOVERNMENT.—By trustees elected by the Home Mission Committee of the Presbytery of Asheville.

MORRISON Industrial School is located in Franklin, Macon County, N. C., at the foot of the great Nantahalah Mountains. The grounds and surroundings are ideal for school purposes. The buildings are situated in a grove and on a knoll overlooking the Little Tennessee Valley. These buildings are new and were designed especially for the kind of work that is being done. They were planned with a view to convenience, comfort and sanitation.

The object of this school is to give worthy girls of limited means the privileges of a first class academic education. There are vast numbers of young people in the mountains waiting for opportunities of this kind. The aim is three-fold: To train the hands, the mind and the heart. The domestic work is done by the girls, each one sharing in turn the several household duties. No servants are employed, thus making the dormitory a real home. By such methods the rates for board are greatly reduced and the girls are taught the art of good housekeeping. Teachers and pupils live together as one family, having the same table fare, etc. And above all else this is a Christian home, where the teachings of God's Word are held up as the standard for right living.

Morrison Industrial School, located at R. F. D., Franklin, Macon County, N. C., was established in 1911. It has 2 buildings valued at $10,000. The school is in charge of Miss Ethel V. Wallace, Principal, with 2 teachers and 60 pupils. Bible study is required of all the students.

The Westminster School
Rutherfordton, Rutherford County, North Carolina

FOR BOYS.

FOUNDED 1901.

REV. T. E. P. WOODS, PRINCIPAL.

GOVERNMENT.—By nineteen trustees elected by Presbytery of King's Mountain.

THE Westminster School has great educational advantages. (1) It has the standard course of study as prescribed and adopted by the Educational Associations, North and South, for entrance to colleges and universities. (2) It has an efficient faculty of college graduates. (3) It furnishes careful and honest instruction.

It has attractive physical features. (1) Healthful climate, beautiful location, surrounded by mountains. (2) One mile and a half from railroad. New graded road from station to school. (3) Large shaded campus, beautiful grass, attractive walks and drives, tennis courts, and large athletic field.

It has rich religious privileges. (1) The Bible a text-book, and all students required to take it. (2) Family prayers for boys in dining room after breakfast. (3) Chapel for whole school at 9 a. m.

It is a Christian school having an atmosphere of Christian refinement, exerting a wholesome influence on the boys. Personal work for the salvation of the boys done by the faculty and members of the Y. M. C. A.

It has beneficial discipline. (1) Discipline is strict but just. (2) Students not allowed to leave campus without permission of principal, excepting certain privileges allowed to those over 18 years of age. (3) All pupils are required to remain in the study halls during the recitation periods, whether on recitation or not. (4) Sabbath school and Church attendance is required.

It is cheap in price, but here the cheapness ends; its work is thorough and of high grade, and its position is in the front rank among preparatory schools.

Its students are noted for their gentlemanly behaviour, good manners, and high moral standing.

It is a clean school—physically, mentally, morally.

The school needs $500 to finish its buildings. Have just paid off a debt of $4,600—money raised entirely in King's Mountain Presbytery.

The Westminster School has 20 acres of land and 9 buildings; property valued at $30,000; 90 students; 4 teachers. It requires of all students one hour a week for four years in Bible study.

Central Academy, Literary Institute and School of Music

R. F. D. No. 4, Stuart, Patrick County, Virginia

CO-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1910.

GOVERNMENT.—By seven trustees elected by Presbytery of Roanoke.

Rev. Wm. E. Todd, LL. B.
Principal

CENTRAL Academy, Literary Institute and School of Music is located just within the eastern range of the Blue Ridge Mountains, about half way between Stuart, at the western terminal of the Danville and Western Railroad, and the historic peak known as "Lover's Leap," and not far from the widely famed Meadows of Dan. It is in the healthiest part of Virginia. Numberless bubbling springs and noisy streams abound. It is in the very heart of Patrick County, the Fairy Stone and Big Apple Country, 1,700 feet above the sea. Cool in summer, warm in winter.

In the school is established thorough courses of study for all grades of students, impressing the constant need of personal culture, the great importance of local improvement, magnifying love of home, love of country, love of God, purity and truth, and to emphasize the true value of lasting friendship.

Students are received at any time. 401 were enrolled in the different departments last school year. The total expense charged is for board and books. All earnest boys and girls are welcomed and given every possible encouragement.

We have four candidates for the ministry, ten students are in college, ten in business positions, and fifty-six are school teachers. Board is but $6.00 a month and tuition is free. This gives every one who earnestly desires it a chance.

Our special needs are more dormitory room and a larger operating fund. There is opportunity to do great good here. The work ought to be well backed with needed funds, and with the prayers of the Church.

Central Academy, Literary Institute and School of Music has 70 acres of land and 4 buildings; property valued at $10,574; 401 students; 4 teachers; 52 alumni teaching and 10 in business. It requires of all adult students three hours a week in Bible study.

Grundy Presbyterian School
Grundy, Buchanan County, Virginia
 Co-EDUCATIONAL. FOUNDED 1909.

GOVERNMENT.—By nine trustees elected by Presbytery of Abingdon.

Rev. F. E. Clark, A. B., B.D., Principal, and Caroline

GRUNDY Presbyterian School was established September 15, 1909. The school is the strong right arm of the Church. It stands for the principles of Christianity. And its purpose is to inculcate these principles in the minds of the boys and girls of these mountains.

We have been able to gather many of the very finest specimens and give them true polish.

We have no endowment and but meager equipment compared with what we need.

We have a most excellent student body, and a fine corps of teachers. It is an opportunity to take a county for Christ and the Church.

Now we have our school well established with an average of sixty pupils this year. And the edge has hardly been touched.

Grundy Presbyterian School has 1 acre of land and 3 buildings; property valued at $9,050; 101 students; 7 teachers; 2 alumni are candidates for the ministry. It requires of all students one hour and a half a week in Bible study.

“Finally, Brethren”

You have read the story.

You know what has been accomplished.

You have been given a panoramic view of what is being done, though this book can give no conception of the sacrifices and the heartaches which have accompanied, and still accompany, the doing.

By faith, in much self-denial, through consecrated toil, noble men and women have made possible your sense of pride in your Church as you close this book.

Similar men and women are still toiling in a similar manner to accomplish yet more for Christ and the Church.

Very much yet remains to be done by Presbyterians.

Will You Help Do It ?

Did You

have some part in the work
of the past ?

Will You

do your part in the work
of the future ?
