PRESBYTERIANS SHOULD SUBSCRIBE

FOR THE

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL ALMANAC,

TAKEN FROM THE PUBLISHED OPINIONS OF

Editors, Authors, Professors in Seminaries, Presidents of Colleges, Pastors of Churches and Secretaries of Boards.

“It gives all the operations of the Church in its department of benevolence, revealing not only the absolute but the relative state of the whole Church in the grace of giving.”
REV. DR. SMITH, of Union Theological Seminary, Virginia.

“A glance at the table of contents will convince the reader that he has a work of no ordinary interest and value; in fact, it might be called what it really is—The Annual History of the Presbyterian Church throughout the world. We heartily wish a copy of it, which costs only a DOLLAR AND TWELVE CENTS, may soon be found in every family of the Church.—EDITOR of “The Presbyterian of our Union,” St. Louis, Mo.

“The Presbyterian Historical Almanac contains an amount of information that surprises me. The second volume is even superior to the first, comprehensive as that one was. I rejoice to learn that it will be continued.”—WM. B. SPRAGUE, D. D., Albany, N. Y., Author of the Annals of the American Pulpit.

“The great importance of the work is that it gives in a condensed and uniform plan, all the operations of the various branches of the Presbyterian Church. It is a photograph of the great Presbyterian Host from year to year.

“Every Minister and Elder should have a copy, and we suggest that some one present their Pastor with a copy, which can be done by sending to JOS. M. WILSON, No. 111 South Tenth street, Philadelphia, ONE DOLLAR AND TWELVE CENTS.”—T. V. MOORE, D. D., Editor of the Central Presbyterian Herald, Richmond, Va.

“My interest in the Almanac will not abate, and I will use all my influence on its behalf. You deserve the thanks of every one who loves the name of Presbyterian, and every Minister ought to aid you in circulating the work. I will try and sell five times as many as I did of the other volumes.”—REV. T. C. BLAKE, Cor. Secretary of the Board of Missions of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Lebanon, Tenn.

“The Presbyterian family is large and rapidly increasing, and I hope becoming more fraternal. These important volumes should be carefully read and pondered over by at least every Minister, Elder and Deacon throughout the whole Church.”—REV. D. H. CUMMINS, Pastor Pres. Church, Covington, Tenn.

“I will cheerfully subscribe for Ten copies annually rather than be without a copy, or that the enterprise should fail.”—WM. H. FOOTE, D. D., Romney, Va., Author of Presbyterian “Sketches of Virginia and North Carolina.”

“It is a complete compendium of Presbyterianism, and as such is invaluable for fact and reference and will give universal satisfaction.”—JAS. B. DALES, D. D., Editor of The Christian Instructor.

“Your plan of grouping together the various branches of the Church of Christ which hold the same form of Ecclesiastical polity is a happy conception. By this means we will become better acquainted with each other, and mutual sympathy be excited. Thus we may be prepared for a still closer fellowship.”—D. ELLIOT, D. D., Professor in Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pa.

“The Presbyterian Historical Almanac is the very work that we, as Presbyterians, have been waiting for these many years, and we feel very much obliged to the author for developing the idea.”—REV. W. W. HARRIS, Pastor of the Pres. Church, Auburn, Mo.

“It is the only book that gives a complete view of Presbyterianism. A Presbyterian Almanac—not an Almanac to tell us of the different phases of the moon, but the different phases of Presbyterianism; not to tell us of the rising and setting of the sun in the heavens, but the rising and setting of many in Israel. Not to tell us of the weather, but of the storms and calms, of the heat and the cold, and of the gentle showers of grace that have visited the Church of God. It is truly a wonderful idea.”—REV. J. B. STAFFORD, Pastor Pres. Church, Danville, Miss.

“There are two works which should be in every Presbyterian's Library, viz: The Forty Years Correspondence of Rev. Dr. J. W. Alexander and The Presbyterian Historical Almanac.”—W. W. HALL, D. D., Editor of Hall's Journal of Health.

The ALMANAC is lost sight of in the great fact that it is the unfolding of an idea which has long prevailed in the minds of many throughout the Church; and the important light in which the influence of the work is viewed, may be inferred from the fact that during their sessions Resolutions were passed commending the ALMANAC to the attention of the MINISTERS, ELDERS, DEACONS and MEMBERS of the Church, by the following bodies:—

The Presbyterian Church in Canada, and the Presbyterian Church in New Brunswick, in connection with the Church of Scotland, and also by the Synod of Buffalo, N. Y.; the Synod of North Carolina; the Synod of Memphis, Tenn.; the Synod of Pittsburgh, Pa.; the Synod of Virginia; the Synod of Philadelphia; the Synod of New Jersey; and the Synod of Chicago, Ill. This last Synod, in view of my proposition to inaugurate a plan by which Parsonages could and should be erected for Presbyterian Churches, adopted an overture to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, (O. S.) of 1851, on the subject.

The Almanac being published by subscription, parties will please address me; and this becomes more important from the fact that I design issuing supplements from time to time for gratuitous distribution to all subscribers on my list; and I request all persons who wish to encourage the publication of the work, to mention that their names can be enrolled as annual subscribers.

Address

JOSEPH M. WILSON, PUBLISHER,

No. 111 South Tenth St., below Chesnut,

PHILADELPHIA.

NOTE.—The Price of the Almanac is $1 12 each, with or without postage. An extra copy will be given as a premium for every Ten subscribers. It is published in the Autumn of each year, and the two previous Volumes can be supplied on the same terms.

As many persons have not the previous volumes, I print the following Table of contents of Volume Second.

CHARLES D. GOULD.

JOSHUA LINCOLN.

Introduction to the Study of the Gospels.

By Brooke Foss Westcott, M. A. With an Introduction by Prof. H. B. Hackett. 12mo, cloth, $1 25.

The Life of Christ Historically Considered.

By C. J. Ellicott, B. D. 12mo, cloth $1 25.

The above are two able and scholarly works.

Morning Hours in Patmos. The Opening Vision of the Apocalypse and Christ's Epistles to the Seven Churches of Asia. By Rev. A. C. Thompson, author of "The Better Land," etc. With beautiful Frontispiece. 12mo, cloth, $1.The Year of Grace; a History of the Revival in Ireland in 1859. By William Gibson, Prof. Presbyterian College, Belfast. 12mo, cloth, $2 25.

A remarkable book on a remarkable subject. Next to a visit to the scenes of the Revival, nothing can give so adequate an idea of this wonderful work as the thrilling narrative of Prof. Gibson.

The Pilgrim's Progress from this World to that which is to come. By John Bunyan. New and beautiful Edition, with forty elegant Illustrations. Small Quarto. Tinted paper. In various bindings, $3 50 to $6 50.The Pulpit of the American Revolution; or, the Political Sermons of the Period of 1776. With a Historical Introduction, Notes, etc. By John Wingate Thornton, A. M. 12mo, clo. $1 25.

This work contains some of the remarkable political sermons of the Revolutionary period, with copious historical and illustrative Notes, a narrative of the leading events of the time, and a fine likeness of Dr. Mayhew. It shows in a new and important light the influence of the pulpit in our early history.

The Romance of Natural History. By Philip Henry Gosse. With numerous elegant illustrations. 12mo. cloth, $1 25.

A beautiful volume, on a popular subject, and written in an attractive style.

Geographical Studies. Tr. from the German of Carl Ritter, by Rev. W. L. Gage. A Sketch of the Author's Life, and a Portrait. 12mo. cloth, $1.

This volume contains the grand generalizations of Ritter's Erdkunde, his lectures on the relations of Geography and History, and a number of important papers on Physical Geography.

Hamilton's Lectures on Logic. With notes from Original Materials, and an Appendix containing the latest development of his New Logical Theory. By Sir William Hamilton. Edited by H. Longueville Mansel, B. D., Oxford, and John Veitch, A. M. Edinburgh. Royal 8vo. cloth, $3 00.Lectures on Metaphysics. By Sir William Hamilton, Bart. Edited by Prof. H. L. Mansel, B. D., and John Veitch, M. A. Royal 8vo. cloth, $3 00.

The above masterly works of Sir William Hamilton have been received with eminent favor, and are fast taking their place as text-books in leading colleges throughout the country.

Prolegomena Logica; An Inquiry into the Psychological Character of Logical Processes. By Henry Longueville Mansel, B. D. 12mo, cloth, $1.The Benefit of Christ's Death; or, the Glorious Riches of God's Free Grace, which every True Believer Receives by Jesus Christ and Him Crucified. Originally written in Italian by Antonio Paleario, and now reprinted from an Ancient English Translation. With an Introduction by Rev. John Ayer, M. A. 16mo, cloth, 38 cents.The Life of Trust; A Narrative of the Dealings of God with the Rev. George Muller. Edited and condensed by Rev. H. L. Wayland. An Introduction by Francis Wayland, D. D. 12mo, clo $1 25.

This work has a peculiar charm for every child of God, as an unadorned story of the experience of a Christian man who believed in the mighty power of prayer, and lived by daily faith in God's providence and grace. It contains the entire history of the famous Orphan Asylum at Bristol, Eng.

DR. D. JAYNE'S Family Medicines.

Are prepared with great care, expressly for family use, and are so admirably calculated to preserve health and remove disease, that no family should ever be without them. They consist of

- JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, for Coughs, Consumption, Asthma, and other Pulmonary Affections.
- JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE, for Worms, Dyspepsia, Piles, General Debility, &c.
- JAYNE'S SPECIFIC FOR THE TAPE WORM. It never fails.
- JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALSAM, for Bowel and Summer Complaints, Colics, Cramps, Cholera, &c.
- JAYNE'S ALTERATIVE, for Scrofula, Goitre, Cancers, Diseases of the Skin and Bones, &c.
- JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS, a valuable Alterative and Purgative Medicine.
- JAYNE'S AGUE MIXTURE, for the cure of Fever and Ague.
- JAYNE'S LINIMENT, OR COUNTER IRRITANT, for Sprains, Bruises, &c.
- JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC, for the Preservation, Beauty, Growth, and Restoration of the Hair.
- JAYNE'S LIQUID HAIR-DYE, also, AMERICAN HAIR-DYE, (in Powder) each of which will change the Hair from any other color to a beautiful Black.

These Medicines have now been before the public for twenty-five years, and during this long period, the demand for them has been constantly increasing, and their reputation gradually spreading, until their great curative powers have become known and thoroughly appreciated in all quarters of the world. While, however, the proprietor is fully persuaded that they will give very GENERAL, if not UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION, it is not pretended that they are "CURE ALLS," nor that they are in all cases, and under all circumstances, absolutely infallible. Yet he can truly say, after thirty-six years experience, in an extensive and diversified practice, and with a full knowledge of the medical qualities and effects of the component parts of each of the above named articles, that there is no combination of medicines which have been so generally successful as these, in removing the various diseases for which they are severally recommended.

It should be borne in mind, too, that the popularity of these "Family Medicines" is not confined to the illiterate and credulous, but innumerable persons of intelligence and character, occupying the most prominent stations in society, too honest to impose upon others, and too sagacious to be imposed upon themselves, not only use, but speak of them in the highest terms of praise, for the uniformity of their success in subduing diseases.

Among the thousands of persons who recommend the use of the Family Medicines, from receiving or witnessing their beneficial effects, may be found the names of the following CLERGYMEN, many of whom are residents of foreign countries, and who thus attest to their wide-spread popularity

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.

For Coughs, Colds, or Hoarseness,

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT is the proper remedy. It suppresses Coughs, relieves Hoarseness, and Permanently cures nine out of every ten who use it as directed.

For Asthma or Phthisis,

USE JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. It will overcome the spasmodic contraction of the wind tubes, and cause them to eject the mucus or matter which clogs them up, and by an easy and free expectoration, remove all difficulty of breathing.

For Whooping Cough,

USE JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. There is no remedy which will so effectually subdue this disease. It is pleasant to the taste, and is taken by children without difficulty.

For Croup,

A prompt, reliable medicine is required. The Expectorant will be found to afford that relief, without which, in many cases, death, supervenes.

For Consumption, Bronchitis, and all Pulmonary Complaints,

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT should be used. It cleanses the lungs from all irritating matters, while at the same time it heals and invigorates them. MINISTERS OF THE GOSPEL, and others accustomed to speaking in public, will find the Expectorant a most excellent preparation, for Clearing the Throat of all Obstructions. Relieving Hoarseness,—Restoring the Natural Tone of the Voice, and Strengthening the Organs of Speech.

A volume might be filled with certificates from persons testifying to the cures effected, and benefit derived from the use of this Expectorant. Among others lately received are the following:

From the Rev. Dr. DOWLING, late Pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
 NEW YORK, June 1, 1860.

DR. D. JAYNE—Dear Sir: I have long known the virtues of your Expectorant, and frequently tested them on myself and family, when afflicted with COUGHS or COLDS. I believe it to be one of the best remedies ever discovered for these maladies.

I am about to sail in a week or two on a voyage to Europe, and should as soon think of exposing myself to the changing skies of England without an overcoat or an undershirt, as without a supply of JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. Please send me a dozen bottles by express, and oblige,

Yours Truly, J. DOWLING,
 Pastor of the Berean Baptist Church, N. York.

Extract from a letter lately received from the Rev. A. WIBERG, a celebrated Swedish clergyman residing at Stockholm:—"Your invaluable medicine, the EXPECTORANT, has been of very essential service to my throat and breast, and I can scarcely do without it a single day. Several of our friends to whom we have occasionally given some, express themselves as being much benefited."

From the Rev. A. H. DANFORTH, Missionary to Assam of the American Baptist Mission Union.
 NEW YORK, May 28, 1859.

DR. D. JAYNE—Dear Sir: I found your medicines of very great use in relieving suffering while in Assam. The SANATIVE PILLS, CARMINATIVE BALSAM, and EXPECTORANT have been the most useful. Indeed, I would not be without them.

Mr. George J. Williamson, an extensive tea planter of Jorhath, Assam, was afflicted for years with a distressing Asthma. He had sent to England for every medicine he saw recommended in English Journals, and had used the prescriptions of the medical officers of the East India Company, and finally had resorted to the native doctors with a faint hope of finding relief in their prescriptions, but all to no purpose. Rev. Mr. Whiting, on hearing him mention these facts, suggested to him to try your EXPECTORANT, and gave him a bottle of it. He took it, and to his great joy, found speedy relief. He said it was the first thing he had ever found that did him good.

On my way home from India, on board the English Passenger Ship, "Marlborough," I met with Major Clarke, an officer in the Queen's service, who was connected, I think, with the 53d regiment, and was located in Fort William during the rebellion. I soon perceived that he had a TROUBLESOME COUGH, and urged him to take some EXPECTORANT. He at first refused, saying he had had the cough for sixteen years, and had tried everything without the least benefit, and he had now given up doctoring as useless. His wife, however, persuaded him to try it, and to gratify her, he did so. He found so much relief that he begged me to let him have all I had with me, saying I could get more when I reached home, and he could not.

A. H. DANFORTH.

The Rev. J. J. WALSH, Miss., of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, at Futtegurb, (North India) writes:

DR. D. JAYNE—Dear Sir: Your EXPECTORANT and CARMINATIVE BALSAM were the means, under Providence, of curing a case of INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and also of CHOLERA, which had been pronounced incurable by competent medical men.

J. J. WALSH, Missionary Pres. Board.

The Rev. E. V. R. JAMES, Missionary Teacher, in Liberia, of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, writes from Monrovia:

DR. D. JAYNE—Your EXPECTORANT has been used with the most happy results, and I feel assured I never used an article of medicine that produced a more sure and certain relief for the complaints for which it is recommended.

LOCATION, BUILDINGS, &c.

The village of Hanover is situated upon an elevated bluff of the Ohio river, six miles below Madison, Indiana, in a region of remarkable salubrity and natural beauty. The village and neighborhood are characterized by morality, and the absence of all ordinary temptation to vice and idleness. The Ohio river, and the Railways from Madison, N. Albany, and Cincinnati, place Hanover within twenty-four hours of all the principal points in Indiana, Kentucky, Western Ohio, and Eastern Illinois. A Turnpike from Madison to Hanover, renders the village easy of access at all seasons of the year.

Hanover College is controlled by a Board of Trustees; one half of whom are appointed by the Board itself, and the other half by the Synods of Indiana and Northern Indiana.

The Board purchased, some years ago, a farm of two hundred acres, lying between the village and the Ohio river, upon a beautiful point of which, overlooking the river from an elevation of four hundred feet, they have erected a commodious College edifice, now completed and occupied. The new College consists of a centre building, nearly eighty feet square, with lateral and transverse wings. The whole length is about two hundred feet. It contains no dormitories for Students; (an undesirable provision;) but affords ample and convenient halls, library, cabinet, lecture and recitation rooms, and a spacious chapel.

The building commands an exceedingly diversified view of the river, for six miles up, and ten miles down its course.

INTRODUCTION.

THE PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL ALMANAC AND ANNUAL REMEMBRANCER OF THE CHURCH FOR 1861, is now in the hands of its friends. Those having the previous volumes will find in this the natural unfolding of my plan, by which the Almanac reveals the power and importance of the Presbyterian Church.

The work has this single object in view, keeping within the range of fact; it gives to the reader all that is reliable, so that the mind becomes strengthened, and the heart encouraged in learning what great things the Lord has done for us, of which we are glad.

The simplicity of the plan enables me to preserve it in all its integrity; whilst introducing much that might be deemed of collateral importance, but which, when carefully examined, is found to be identified with the true character of the work; this refers to those tables showing the relative, as well as the absolute interest felt by the Church in her various departments of benevolence, not only for the year, but for previous years; thereby presenting many instructive suggestions to the reader.

Every effort has been made to collect full details and statistics, and my success has depended in a great measure upon the attention which the various Presbyterian bodies have devoted to this department of intelligence; arrangements are in progress by which the record of the churches in Scotland and Ireland will be as full as those in our own country. It is gratifying to know that the interest of the Church at large is becoming more and more apparent in its love for statistics, and we may reasonably expect a marked increase in our knowledge of the resources of the Church, as the habits of thought and attention which this love engenders, will certainly develope it.

The ALMANAC is divided into various departments: that of Record, gives the business transacted, free from all superfluous matter, and arranged under appropriate headings.

The department of Benevolence is shown, in the full reports given of the operations of the year, and in many instances of what has been done in times past, with statistics of the most suggestive character, relative to the grace of giving.

The department of Statistics reveals the present state of the Church; the columns are divided in the most comprehensive manner, and a close attention will enable the reader to become thoroughly conversant with all the resources of the Church.

The department of Historical Sketches of churches, where the Annual sessions were held, are replete with much that is interesting and valuable; and I have in all cases, when writing for information, urged the propriety of placing upon record, such names of members and office-bearers as will show, who in the early struggles of the respective congregations were willing to bear the heat and burden of the day, and also to place upon record a tribute to the memory of such of their elders as are resting from their labors.

The department of Biographies will awaken the deepest interest; here I have gathered together the lives and labors of those whom we all knew and loved; those who have stood side by side with us in the fulfillment of their duty, falling all around us under every form of disease, and at every age of adult life; those who whilst living sustained the high and holy calling of a Presbyterian minister, and dying, have left behind them a record hopeful and encouraging.

The department of Ministers includes the names of eleven thousand Ministers and Licentiates, with their Presbytery and Post-office address. And I would remark that the Almanac has a list prepared expressly for its pages of The Cumberland Presbyterian Church, more full and complete than has ever yet appeared in print.

I have thus, with becoming brevity, set forth the general plan of the Almanac for 1861; and in view of the fact, that it ought by all means be rendered not only a useful volume by showing what the Church is actually doing, but that it should stimulate us all to do more for the Church which is dear to our hearts; therefore, believing that in a well ordered Presbyterian home, the highest hopes of earthly happiness culminate, all other sources of comfort being merely comparative, I feel, that of all others, those in whose hands are the spiritual interests of Presbyterians, should possess the opportunities of having just such homes; but I find that a vast majority of Presbyterian ministers in the United States are merely tenants at will in the houses where they reside. I will therefore give one hundred and twenty dollars for Essays, showing the necessity, the economy, and the wisdom of erecting a parsonage for every Presbyterian pastor. These essays will appear in the next volume of the Almanac.* In a work like this, with a range so comprehensive, and with details so numerous, it can hardly meet with the approbation of all; but I will receive with pleasure all suggestions and co-operation which will enable me to bring the Almanac up to the highest point of excellence. With a continued and (I am thankful in saying) an unflinching faith in the ultimate success of the idea, I bring to bear the experience gained in preparing three volumes; and whilst it does not come within the province of this introduction, nor would it become me to say aught in behalf of my Almanac, to prompt ministers to aid me in circulating it among their people, still I feel warranted in calling their attention to the commendations of various Presbyterian bodies in the British Provinces, of numerous Presbyterian Synods in the United States, the approbation of the fathers of the church, both in the mother country, and our own, as well as the suggestions of those whose experience and wisdom we all acknowledge; surely these will secure their considerate attention and co-operation; if the Almanac is commended to the MINISTERS, ELDERS, and DEACONS, because they are office-bearers, it must be also valuable to the members of the Church over which they have been called to rule. Besides, the general knowledge of the rank and file of the Church is rapidly increasing, and it thus becomes a matter of necessity that they should know more about their own Church; and to whom shall they look but to those who are their spiritual guides? And the more they study her past history, or search out her present resources of power, or contemplate the grandeur of her future, the more will they be thankful that they are Presbyterians.

J. M. W.

PHILADELPHIA, December 18, 1860.

* This offer I have widely circulated throughout the Church; if any person proposes writing an Essay, I will send a circular, in which the offer is made in detail.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, (O. S.)

THE SEVENTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA met, according to appointment, in the First Presbyterian Church, Rochester, New York, on Thursday, May 17, 1860, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

The Assembly was called to order by Alexander T. McGill, D. D., Permanent Clerk; he announced that Wm. L. Breckinridge, D. D., Moderator of the last General Assembly, being absent,* it was neces-

* The following letter from Dr. Breckinridge will give the reason of his absence.

OAKLAND COLLEGE, Mississippi, April 23d, 1860.

REV. DR. HILL, Stated Clerk of the Presbytery of Louisville.

Dear Brother—The Presbyterian Herald of the 12th inst. has brought me the proceedings of our Presbytery, in session at Owensboro on the 5th inst. They make known to me that I was chosen a Commissioner to the General Assembly, and further, that "the Presbytery heartily approves (and requests the Commissioners to sustain) the action of the General Assembly of 1859, (See Presbyterian Historical Almanac, 1860, p. 35,) and also that of 1848 on the subject of the relations of the Church of Christ, and voluntary societies formed for the purposes of art, literature, and secular morality." In the report of the proceedings, it is added that "this resolution called out an earnest and animated discussion, in which its passage was advocated by Messrs. Robinson, Rice, and others, and opposed by Messrs. Matthews, Hopkins, Hill, and others. The motion was finally adopted without a count."

I recognize the absolute freedom of the Presbytery in the choice of its Commissioners. I acknowledge the right of the Presbytery to see that its mind is represented in the Assembly, whether by positive instructions, or by making known its wishes and controlling the subject in some other way. I disavow all claim to a seat in the next Assembly in virtue of my position as Moderator of the last, except such as may arise from the usage of the Presbyteries and the courtesy which is due to the General Assembly, and to a minister who has not forfeited the respect and confidence of his brethren. The duty imposed upon me by the will of the last Assembly, of opening the next with a sermon, and presiding until another Moderator shall be chosen, is subject to the pleasure of the Presbytery; and by the Presbytery I mean the actual majority in a lawful meeting, whether that majority be accidental, or whether it truly express the mind of the persons who properly and usually compose the body.

There is a very clear and wide distinction to be taken between the action of the Assembly of 1859 and that of the Assembly of 1848, cited by the Presbytery. The latter declares that the Church has no power to require of its members the support of the societies in question, while it asserts the right, sary for the members to choose (according to the rule adopted by the General Assembly of 1843) one of the Commissioners present to open the Assembly by a sermon, and preside until a Moderator be chosen.

Wm. A. Scott, D. D., of San Francisco, Cal., was on motion appointed, and he preached from 1 Cor. ii. 2. "For I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and him crucified."

After the sermon, he constituted the sessions with prayer. The Permanent Clerk announced the formation of two new Presbyteries: that of Monmouth, in the Synod of New Jersey, and that of Fairfield in the Synod of Iowa.

Willis Lord, D. D., was appointed Stated Clerk during the absence of John Leyburn, D. D., at present in Europe.

and on occasion the duty, of the Church to favour or oppose them, according to its judgment of their merits. This view of the subject I do heartily approve. I trust that I shall be ready at all times to defend and support it.

But the action of the Assembly of 1859 denies to the Church all right to have any thing to do with such Institutions. Believing this view of the subject to be false in its principle, narrow in its spirit, and every way hurtful in its influence, I do heartily condemn it, and I can do nothing under any circumstances to support it. It is plainly in conflict with the sentiments and usages of our branch of the church from the beginning. I think it has been justly described as setting forth a "new and startling doctrine." I find no warrant for it in the letter of the divine word, or in the spirit of the gospel. I believe that it was inadvertently uttered by the last Assembly, without arresting the attentions of the body, and now that it has fairly engaged the thoughts of the Church, I do not doubt that it will be disavowed by the coming Assembly.

My brethren were not ignorant that I entertained these opinions. They were not uttered in the Assembly because I was in the chair, and not on the floor. But they were freely expressed in the Synod of Kentucky, and came into the newspapers through the report of the proceedings of that body, whose mind was very clearly and strongly declared to the same effect; and they have never been concealed in private, while they have not been pressed upon others. My brethren certainly do not expect me to change them, unless on the conviction of reason. They can hardly expect me to support the opposite of them in the General Assembly. Under these circumstances, there seems to remain nothing for me to do, with a becoming respect for them and for myself, but to decline the service to which they have appointed me.

You will be assured that I do this with much regret, while the necessity for it has taken me altogether by surprise. Had any of my brethren intimated to me, before I left them, the purpose which has now been executed, I would have relieved us all of the present embarrassment, by declining the appointment in advance—excusing myself to the Assembly as well as I could. It would afford me great pleasure, if the will of God were so, to represent the Presbytery of Louisville in the General Assembly once more, before dissolving my connection with it—which must follow my removal to my new and distant home—a connection which has subsisted very happily through so many years. I shall not cease to cherish a deep concern for my brethren in the ministry, and for the churches in this venerable and honoured Presbytery. Peace be to the brethren, and love, with faith, from God the Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ. Grace be with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity.

Will you do me the kindness to give this letter an early place in the Presbyterian Herald, that the members of the Presbytery, and of the churches belonging to it, and our brethren of the General Assembly, may know why I shall not be present to perform the service which the ancient usage of the Church requires of me?

I am, very truly, yours,

W. L. BRECKINRIDGE.

The Permanent Clerk announced the following Commissioners present who constitute the members of the Bills and Overtures.

The Committee on Bills and Overtures, WILLIAM A. SCOTT, D. D., Chairman, reported the following:

OVERTURE, No. I.—From the Board of Foreign Missions, respecting a week of prayer.

No. II.—From the Presbytery of St. Paul, of the same character.

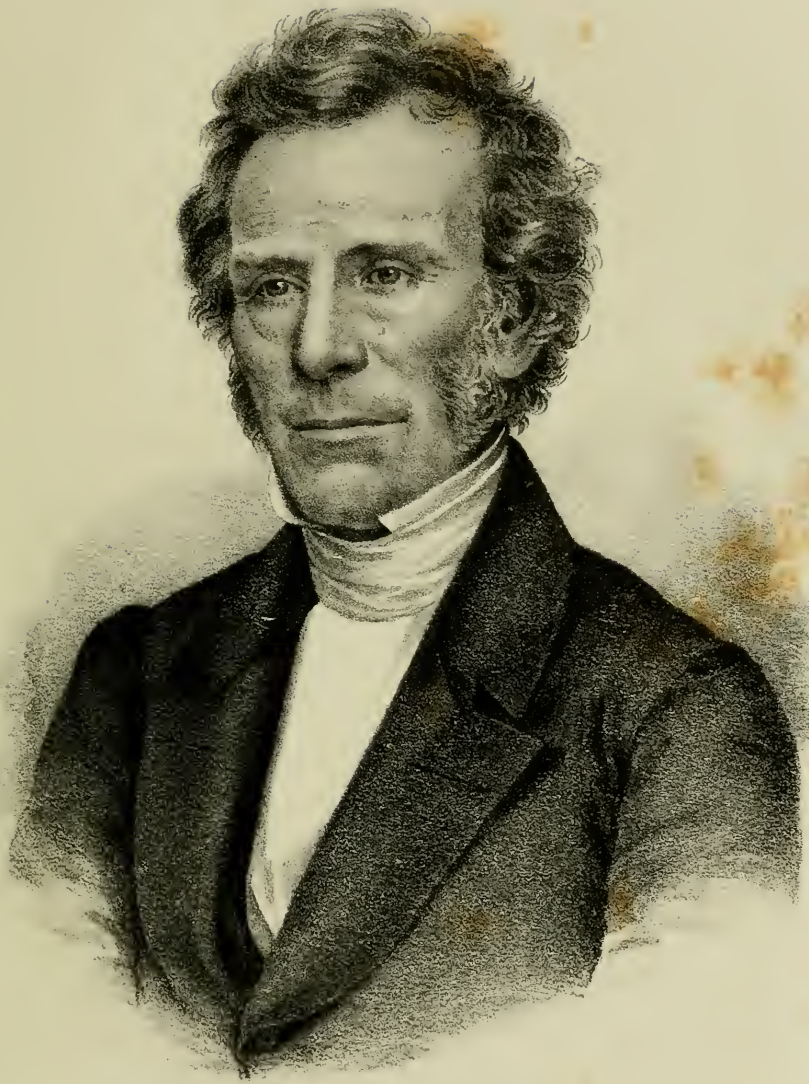

The Committee offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Assembly recommend to all the churches under their care, to observe the 2nd week in January, 1861, commencing on Monday of that week, as a season of special prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on all flesh; that his word may have free course and be glorified; that his kingdom may come, and his will be done on earth as it is in heaven; and the Assembly affectionately invite all who love the Lord Jesus Christ to unite with them in such observance, at the same time and for the objects specified.

No. III.—From Robert S. Kennedy, Esq., of New Jersey, asking that Alex. Fraser and Alex. Gordon be restored to the communion of Caledonia Church, New York.

The Committee recommend that the petitioner be referred to the action of the last Assembly, in the case reported on pp. 547 and 548 of its minutes. (See Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1860, p. 38.) Adopted.

No. IV.—From the Presbyterian Historical Society, asking certain action in reference to it.

The S. Wagner's Lith 38 Hudson St Philad.

J. W. Yeomans

Pastor of the Mahoning Presbyterian Church Danville Pa
Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States 1860.

Published by Joseph M. Wilson No 111 South 10th St Phila.

The Committee recommend the following answer :

Whilst the General Assembly does not deem it expedient to acquiesce in the overture, so far as to recommend that the churches take up a collection on behalf of the Presbyterian Historical Society, but prefers to leave the subject to their unbiased discretion; it does cheerfully declare its appreciation of the importance of the objects contemplated in the organization of that Society, and the satisfaction with which it would regard any contributions which the liberality of the churches may impel them to make to its funds. Adopted.

No. V.—From the Presbytery of Cincinnati, proposing the following questions: viz, 1st. Are social dances and private theatricals included under the head of “dancing and stage-plays” mentioned in the Larger Catechism amongst “the sins forbidden in the Seventh Commandment?” 2nd. Is it the duty of the church sessions to exercise discipline upon those members of the Church who send their children to dancing-schools, or who give and attend dancing parties? and if so, ought such discipline to be carried to the extent of exclusion from the sacraments, where other means fail of producing reformation?

The Committee recommend the following reply :

To the first question: That, whilst the pleasures of the ball-room and the theatre are primarily intended by the “dancing and stage-plays” forbidden in the answer to the 139th question in the Larger Catechism, the spirit of the prohibition extends to all kindred amusements which are calculated to awaken thoughts and feelings which are inconsistent with the Seventh Commandment, as explained by the Saviour in Matt. v. 27, 28. To the second question: That whilst we regard the practice of promiscuous social dancing by members of the Church as a mournful inconsistency, and the giving of parties for such dancing on the part of the heads of Christian families as tending to compromise their religious profession, and the sending of children by Christian parents to the dancing-school, as a sad error in family discipline; yet we think that the session of each church is fully competent to decide when discipline is necessary, and the extent to which it should be administered. Adopted.

No. VI.—Was taken up, and at his own request, E. T. Baird, D. D., had leave to withdraw it.

No. VII.—From the Presbytery of Baltimore, asking first, that the Assembly direct the addition of a column for Sabbath-school contributions to the statistical reports; and secondly, that the Boards should be directed to issue the Home and Foreign Record on a single sheet.

The Committee recommend the following answer, viz :

That as to the first proposition, the Assembly does not consider any action expedient at present; and that the second, proposing a change in the Home and Foreign Record, be referred to a Special Committee, such committee to be composed of the Secretaries of the Boards and of the Church Extension Committee present at this Assembly, to report at their earliest convenience. Adopted, excepting the part relating to a column in the statistical tables, which, on motion of H. J. Coe, was referred to the Committee on Systematic Benevolence.

No. VIII.—On the same subject, from the Presbytery of St. Paul.

The Committee recommend that this overture be referred, as in the preceding case, to the Special Committee, composed of the Secretaries of the several Boards and of the Church Extension Committee.

No. IX.—Memorial from the Presbytery of Cedar, for the formation of a new Presbytery, to be called “The Presbytery of Toledo.”

The Committee recommend that the request of the Presbytery of Cedar be granted, and that the ministers and churches within the boundaries of the counties specified be, and are hereby erected into a new Presbytery, to be called the Presbytery of Toledo; and it is further ordered that this new Presbytery shall meet at Vinton, Iowa, the second Tuesday of September next, at 7 o'clock P. M., and that the Rev. Luther Dodd preach the opening sermon, and preside until a moderator be chosen, or, in case of his absence, the oldest minister present. And it is recommended to the Synod of Iowa, so to change the boundaries of the New Presbytery as to strengthen it by as equal a division of ministers as may be consistent with their locations.

No. X.—From the Presbytery of Kaskaskia, asking the General Assembly to make provision for the calling of special sessions of ruling elders from neighbouring churches, to obviate delays in cases of discipline for want of quorums in church sessions.

The Committee recommend the following answer:—The Assembly can afford no relief, of the nature proposed, to the difficulties contemplated, and recommend a patient submission to circumstances, which the increase of their churches, we may hope, will soon remove. Adopted.

No. XI.—From the Presbytery of Kaskaskia, asking that our Boards be required to publish their standing rules this year, and every five years afterwards, in their Reports. Put on the docket.

No. XII.—Can an ordained minister be an acting ruling elder of a congregation?—was placed upon the docket, and at a subsequent session laid upon the table.

No. XIII.—From the church of the Borough of Bedford, Pennsylvania, asking the Assembly to transfer that church from the Presbytery of Carlisle to that of Huntingdon.

The Committee answer, that this overture should be first presented to the Synods of Baltimore and Philadelphia. Adopted.

No. XIV.—From the Presbytery of Vincennes, was laid on the table.

No. XV.—From the Presbytery of St. Clairsville, making several suggestions about Deacons and their office.

The Committee recommend that the Presbytery of St. Clairsville be referred to the recorded expressions of the views of our Church on the subject of the Diaconate, which may be seen in the Assembly's Digest, pp. 64, 65, as presenting all that this Assembly considers expedient at present. Adopted.

No. XVI.—From the Presbytery of Memphis, asking more columns to the Statistical Report for ruling elders, deacons, and baptized children.

The Committee recommend that it is inexpedient to add any new columns to the Statistical Report. Adopted.

No. XVII.—From the church of Union Grove, in the Presbytery of Bloomington, Ill., proposing certain questions in thesi for the Assembly to answer.

On motion, this overture and the report thereon were laid on the table.

No. XVIII.—From Yellow Chapel Church, Stafford County, Va, asking the General Assembly to set them off from the Presbytery of Potomac, to that of East Hanover, and that the boundary between the two Synods be so altered as to put the church within the bounds of the Synod of Virginia.

The Committee recommend that the boundaries of the Synods of Virginia and Baltimore remain the same, and that the church of Yellow Chapel, with the pastor, John H. Davis, be and are hereby transferred from the Presbytery of Potomac to the Presbytery of East Hanover. Adopted.

No. XIX.—From the Presbyterian Congregation of Schellsburg, Penna., asking that they may be detached from Carlisle Presbytery, and attached to the Presbytery of Huntingdon.

The Committee recommend that the Congregation have power to withdraw their overture. Adopted.

No. XX.—From the Presbytery of St. Paul, Minnesota, asking the following question, viz :

When a domestic missionary has organized, in his field of labour, two or more churches to which he stately ministers, though not installed as pastor over any of them, are these churches to be considered vacant, and have they each a right to send an elder to represent them in Presbytery ?

Our missionaries in the West do virtually sustain the relation of pastors to the churches they gather, and where the Presbytery is small, it gives an undue advantage to the minister who can bring with him to the Presbytery three or four elders.

The Committee recommend the Assembly to answer, that in the cases specified, the churches are vacant, and entitled to be represented by elders. Adopted.

No. XXI.—From the Presbytery of Albany, submitting the credentials of Rev. Jas. Ireland, minister from Scotland, and after such examination and upon such conditions as are prescribed by the General Assembly, and being satisfied as to his ministerial character, &c., respectfully asking, that they may be permitted to receive him to regular standing as a minister of the gospel.

The Committee recommend that the request be granted, and that the testimonials, &c., be returned to the Presbytery. Adopted.

No. XXII.—From the Synod of Illinois, asking the following question :

Has a Presbytery the constitutional power to dissolve the pastoral relation against the remonstrance of the pastor and a majority of the church, when a large and influential minority of the church request it, by petition, and in the judgment of Presbytery the interests of religion in that congregation require it ?

The Committee recommend the following answer, viz :

The General Assembly think that the Presbytery has the constitutional power to dissolve the pastoral relation, according to Chap. x., Sec. 8, and Chap. xviii. of our Book ; but that great regard ought to be had to expediency in all such cases. Adopted.

No. XXIII.—From the Presbytery of St. Paul, asking the Assembly to erect a new Synod, to embrace the Presbyteries of St. Paul, Chippewa, and Lake Superior ; and that the new Synod embrace the entire state of Minnesota and those portions of the state of Wisconsin now embraced in the Presbyteries named, and that portion of the proposed Territory of Dakota lying in the valley of the Red River of the North. And further requesting, that, as in erecting said Synod, it seems necessary to divide the Presbytery of St. Paul, that a division be made by a line beginning on the Mississippi River at the southeast corner of the county of Dakota, and running along the south line of Dakota to the Canon River, following the said river to the south line of Rice County, and thence along the south line of Rice and the south line of Sibley to the western boundary of the state. The territory south of said line, embracing the churches of Lake City, Glasgow, Wheatland, Forest, St. Peter, Owatonna, and Dodge City ; and ministers H. Chapin, A. H. Kerr, S. Hazlett, and Porter H. Snow, to be erected into a new Presbytery, to be called the Presbytery of Owatonna.

The Committee recommend that the request be granted, and accordingly that the Presbytery of Owatonna be erected according to the boundaries herein and above described, and comprising the ministers and churches above named, and that its first meeting be held in Lake City, on the first Thursday of Sept.

next, at 12 o'clock, M., and that it be opened with a sermon by the Rev. H. Chapin, or the oldest minister present, who shall preside until a Moderator be chosen. And also that a new Synod be erected according to the foregoing request and according to the boundaries above named, and embracing and being constituted out of the ministers and churches within those boundaries, and that the new Synod be called the Synod of St. Paul, and that it be directed to meet in the Central Church of St. Paul, Minnesota, on the second Thursday of September next, at — o'clock, and that the Rev. J. G. Rihel-daffer preach the opening sermon, and preside until a Moderator is chosen, or in case of his absence, the oldest minister present. Adopted.

No. XXIV.—From the Presbytery of Columbus, asking that the Board of Publication be instructed to prepare and publish a suitable Tune and Hymn-Book for general use in the worship of God;—and

No. XXV.—From the Presbytery of Redstone, substantially on the same subject, with the additional clause, that the Presbytery earnestly desire that our authorized Psalm and Hymn Books be furnished at the lowest practicable cost.

The Committee recommend that these overtures be referred to the Board of Publication. Adopted.

No. XXVI.—From the Synod of Philadelphia, asking the Assembly to take the sense of the Presbyteries about retaining in our Confession of Faith the clause anent the marriage of a deceased wife's sister.

Laid on the table.

No. XXVII.—From the First Presbyterian Church of Steubenville, respecting parties who forsake the ordinances of one particular church on account of discipline exercised upon their friends, and seek to enter another church with regular dismissal.

Indefinitely postponed.

No. XXVIII.—From the Synod of Baltimore, respecting certain boundaries. This memorial presupposes that the Presbyteries of Lewes and Baltimore have sent memorials on the same subject to this body; but as no such memorials have been presented, the Committee recommend that the Synod have leave to withdraw their memorial. Adopted.

No. XXIX.—From Rev. I. A. Cornelison, appellant in the case of Wm. McClung, asking the Assembly to answer the following questions, viz:

1. Supposing that a musical convention desires the use of the church for its sessions and exhibition, can the Board of Trustees give the use of the house of worship for that purpose without the consent of session?

2. Supposing that at such convention, upon the week following the administration of the Lord's Supper, and at the table from which that solemn and sacred ordinance had been administered, a silly and ludicrous song is sung, calling forth from the audience boisterous applause, clapping of hands, stamping of feet, and loud cheering; is it assumption of authority which does not belong to his office, for a ruling elder present to rise in his individual capacity, unauthorized by act of session, to rebuke such conduct with the authority of his office, reminding the congregation that the house in which they are assembled is "none other than the house of God and the gate of heaven?"

The Committee recommend the following answer, viz:

Resolved, 1. That the Trustees of a Church hold the property for religious purposes, and their legal rights are only to be determined by the State laws and charter under which they act as custodians of the church; still they have no moral right to convert the house of God into a place of business or amusement.

Resolved, 2. That an elder is called upon, by virtue of his office, to testify against vice and rebuke sin under all circumstances, where, in the exercise of a sound discretion, he may hope to do good. Adopted.

No. XXX.—From the Presbytery of Omaha, about forming a new Synod.

The Committee recommend that this overture be referred to the Synod of Upper Missouri. Adopted.

No. XXXI.—From the Presbyteries of Findlay, Maumee, Western Reserve, and Michigan, of the Synods of Ohio, Cincinnati, and Buffalo, requesting the erection of a new Synod, to be called the Synod of Sandusky.

The Committee recommend that this request be granted, and that the Presbyteries of Western Reserve, Findlay, Maumee, and Michigan, be and are hereby erected into a new Synod, to be called the Synod of Sandusky, to hold its first meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, the last Thursday of October next, in the Westminster Church, at 7 o'clock, p. m., and that the Rev. Henry Neill preach the opening sermon, and preside until a Moderator be chosen, or in case of his absence, the oldest minister present. Adopted.

No. XXXII.—Several memorials and overtures referred to the Committee relating to Colonization, Temperance, the Slave Trade, &c.

The Committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution, viz :

Resolved, That while the General Assembly, on the one hand, disclaim all right to interfere in secular matters ; and on the other, assert the right and duty of the Church, as God's witness on earth, to bear her testimony in favour of truth and holiness, and against all false doctrines and sin, wherever professed or committed ; yet in view of the often repeated action of the Assembly, in reference to the subjects above referred to, it is inexpedient to take any further action in relation thereto. Adopted.

No. XXXIII.—The Committee respectfully inform the General Assembly that they have received intimations of the desire of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church to enter into correspondence with this Assembly, by a mutual interchange of delegates ; wherefore, Resolved, That this General Assembly cordially acquiesce in the proposition, and recommend the nomination of a delegate to represent our Church at the next meeting of the General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Adopted.

J. T. Edgar, D. D., was appointed principal, and Rev. Jas. P. McMullen alternate, under this resolution.

No. XXXIV.—From the Synod of Cincinnati, in the following words :

Resolved, That the General Assembly, at its next meeting, be requested so to alter the line between the Synods of Ohio and Cincinnati, as that the town of New Holland, in Pickaway County, Ohio, and the contemplated church in that place, be transferred from the Synod of Ohio and Presbytery of Columbus, to the Synod of Cincinnati and Presbytery of Chillicothe, and that the Synod of Ohio be asked to concur in this request.

The Committee recommend that this request be granted. Adopted.

No. XXXV.—From sundry parties about forming new Presbyterial lines.

The Committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution, viz :

Resolved, That the petition be granted, and that the Counties of Tucker, Barbour, Harrison, and Doddridge, be transferred to the Presbytery of Lexington ; and that the boundary lines between the Presbyteries of Lexington and Redstone, also between the Synods of Virginia and Pittsburgh, be established accordingly. Adopted.

Wm. A. Scott, D. D., from the Committee on Bills and Overtures, offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That it is inexpedient to continue the practice of appointing preachers in behalf of the several Boards, at each meeting of the General Assembly, and that the same be hereby abolished.

This resolution was adopted, and on motion of H. A. Boardman, D. D., any appointments of preachers already made were rescinded.

The Committee offered the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Treasurer of the Board of Publication be directed to pay James H. Thornwell, D.D., the expenses incurred by the publication of the Revised Book of Discipline, and that the Stated Clerk draw his warrant on the Treasurer of said Board.

The Committee reported on a memorial of S. J. Baird, D. D., the following paper, which was adopted, viz:

Whereas, The author of the Assembly's Digest, in the preparation of that work, has performed a service of great value to the Church; and whereas the Board of Publication, acting under the general commercial principles prescribed by the Assembly, was unable to make such a pecuniary compensation to him as is adequate, in the mind of the Assembly, to the value of the time expended, and the labour performed, and to the intrinsic importance of the work in facilitating business and harmonizing the action of our various courts; therefore,

Resolved, That the Board of Publication be directed to pay to the author, Samuel J. Baird, D. D., the sum of one thousand dollars, out of any fund which may be subject to draft for the publishing expenses of the Board.

Judicial Cases.

J. B. ADGER, D. D., Chairman of the Committee, reported the following:

JUDICIAL CASE, No. I.—The complaint of John Turbitt against the Synod of Illinois, for refusing to take up and consider, at their meeting in October, 1859, his appeal from, and complaint against, the Presbytery of Peoria; and would recommend to the Assembly to dispose of the case by adopting the following minute:

It is earnestly recommended by this Assembly to the Synod of Illinois, to reconsider their judgment in the case of Mr. John Turbitt declared at their late meeting, October, 1859; and without regarding the circumstance of his having originally passed over the Synod and appealed directly to the Assembly, nor the circumstance of so much time having elapsed since the decision of the Presbytery against him, to take up his case, and either try it as an appeal against the Presbytery upon the old evidence, or else remand it to the Presbytery for their hearing of the new testimony.

No. II.—That of Joseph Templeton against the Synod of Missouri.

The Committee find that the appeal and complaint of Mr. Templeton are not in order, and recommend that the case be dismissed. Adopted.

No. III.—Was read, and the report of the Committee approved; E. Thompson Baird, D. D., being recognized as conducting the case for the complainants.

This report is as follows:

The complaint of J. W. Davidson, W. C. Koons, and J. McElhinny, against the Synod of Baltimore.

This case originated in the Presbytery of Carlisle, as the result of the trial of a minister, by which the complainants were severely censured for presenting a certain paper containing allegations against the character of said minister, which allegations, though not tabled as charges, were adjudged to be slanderous.

The parties censured complained to the Synod of Baltimore, and the complaint was "sustained in part," by a vote of 17 to 12.

The Synod, in its final minute, still inflict a modified censure, of which the said Davidson, Koons, and McElhinny complained to the last General Assembly. This last complaint was laid over to this Assembly, to enable the complainants to correct an informality; which they have since done

On motion of J. B. Adger, it was

Resolved, That the judgment of the Synod of Baltimore be sustained pro forma, and that the following paper of E. Thompson Baird be admitted to record, viz :

The undersigned, counsel appointed to manage the case of Davidson, Koons, and McElhinny, versus the Synod of Baltimore, begs leave to submit that through an oversight of the complainants in stating their causes of complaint on the one hand, and on account of the rulings of the Assembly as to technical points on the other hand, it is impossible for the case to come before this body on its merits. The complaint ought to have brought up the whole proceedings of the courts below, in order to a judgment on their regularity as well as justice; but by an omission of the complainants, in stating the grounds of their complaint, this matter cannot be reached.

The second cause of complaint is ruled out, because it requires a cross issue, involving the rights of a party not involved in the case. And the first cause of complaint, i. e., as to the rights of the complainants to place on the table of Presbytery the statement alluded to, cannot be justly investigated without taking up all the records and ascertaining all the circumstances which led to its presentation. Under the rulings of this house this cannot be done, since it would involve an absent party. We are thus on technical grounds shut out from a full presentation of the case. All that is left for us is to request the Assembly to admit this paper to record as our reason for waiving a trial, and agreeing that the judgment of the Synod of Baltimore be sustained pro forma.

E. T. BAIRD.

On behalf of Complainants.

No. IV.—J. H. Spillman against the Synod of Kentucky—after a further conference with the parties representing this case, would recommend to the General Assembly the following minute, disposing of the same, which was adopted :

Whilst this General Assembly do not undertake to reverse the decision of the Synod of Kentucky against Mr. J. H. Spillman, this General Assembly, however, grant leave to Mr. Spillman to withdraw his appeal, and recommend to the session of Paint Lick Church to take up the case where it was abandoned before their tribunal; provided, that Mr. Spillman assure them that he has testimony to produce which may be relevant to the case. Should the session take up the case as herein recommended, this Assembly would further advise that all the charges against Mr. Spillman which may be wanting in definiteness, be made, if practicable, more specific, so that they may be conformable to the directions of the Book of Discipline.

No. V.—The appeal of William McClung against the Synod of Illinois, as in order, but inasmuch as the appellant has submitted a proposition, upon the acceptance of which by this Assembly he is willing to withdraw his case, the Committee will proceed to read his proposition, and recommend that the Assembly agree thereto, and the case be dismissed.

This report was adopted; and the proposition referred to having submitted queries to be answered, these were referred to the Committee on Bills and Overtures. (See Overture No. xxix.)

The Board would report a large falling off in the attendance of the students towards the close of the term of the second class especially seeking licensure, and they obtain it before the constitutional time of "at least two years have been spent in study." They thus infringe upon the letter and spirit of the constitution. If Presbyteries will refuse to license students until they have fulfilled the demands of the constitution of the church, it will greatly promote good order in the pursuits of the seminary, and arrest a growing evil.

Gymnastic exercises have been successfully introduced, and the health of the students has been remarkably good; but retiring in due season, rising early in the morning, and exercising in the open air will do everything for their health and consequent usefulness.

The Board announced the death of JOSEPH ADDISON ALEXANDER, D. D., Professor of Hellenistic and New Testament Literature.

The Assembly assigned the Chair of Ecclesiastical History and Church Government to A. T. MCGILL, D. D., and elected BENJAMIN M. PALMER, D. D., Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of New Orleans, La., to the Chair of Pastoral Theology and Sacred Rhetoric, and REV. CASPER WISTAR HODGE, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Oxford, Penna., to the Chair of New Testament Literature and Biblical Greek. This last Chair, which is a new one, has been endowed by an able friend of the Seminary.

The Professors in the Seminary are as follows:

CHARLES HODGE, D. D., Exegetical, Didactic, and Polemic Theology.
 WILLIAM HENRY GREEN, D. D., Oriental and Old Testament Literature.
 ALEX. T. MCGILL, D. D., Ecclesiastical History and Church Government.
 BENJAMIN M. PALMER, D. D.,* Pastoral Theology and Sacred Rhetoric.
 REV. C. WISTAR HODGE, New Testament Literature and Biblical Greek.

* It is proper to state that Dr. Palmer has declined the Professorship.

It was also reported that the large and steadily increasing number of students, has devolved upon the department of Sacred Rhetoric more labour than can be fully performed according to the present arrangement, and they therefore asked for some additional force.

The Assembly, at the request of the Directors of the Seminary, divided the Professorship, now held by Professor Wilson, so that his Chair shall be called that of "Biblical and Ecclesiastical History."

The Assembly erected another Chair, that of "Sacred Rhetoric," and unanimously elected Wm. M. Paxton, D. D., Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, as Professor.

The final examination of the graduating class, in the presence of the Board, was eminently satisfactory in all respects, and highly creditable both to the Professors and the students. The other classes also were examined by the Professors publicly, and in the presence of such members of the Board of Directors and Trustees as could conveniently attend. From the reports of these brethren, we are able to state to the General Assembly, that the examinations showed a commendable and gratifying degree of attainment on the part of the students, in their various studies.

The additions to the library have been 110 volumes. The eighteen volumes of the Wodrow Society publications, donated by the Rev. Dr. Lowrie, are a very valuable addition.

The Board informed the General Assembly that the Rev. William L. Breckinridge, D. D., declined the professorship of Church Government and Pastoral Theology, to which he was elected by the Assembly of 1859, and they would respectfully urge upon the Assembly in order to a full organization of the Institution, to elect a Professor for that department. The Assembly elected JOSEPH T. SMITH, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md., Professor.

Hanson K. Corning, Esq., and other friends in New York, contributed about two thousand dollars towards a library, which, in consideration of the generous act, will be called the "Corning Library." The Board have accepted as the permanent site of the Seminary the offer of twenty-five acres of land, in the northern limits of the city. The conditions are deemed advantageous to the Institution, and it is hoped that a suitable building may be erected, and the Seminary transferred from its temporary accommodations in due time. To ensure this, however, it will be necessary to carry the property by means of donations for buildings and other purposes within the next three or four years, until it is fairly established in its permanent location.

Soon after its appointment, the Committee elected Randolph A. DeLancey, D. A careful examination of the foregoing table shows a marked increase in all the operations of the Board, and the increase of new Candidates exceeds that of any previous year.

THE TREASURY.—The receipts for Ministerial Education Fund, $64,637.19; for General Education Fund, $6,340.20; Teacher's Fund, $155; total receipts, $71,132.39; add balance at beginning of the year, $8,167.47, makes the total resources of the Board for the year $79,299.86.

THE PAYMENTS have been for Ministerial Education Fund, $59,104.19; General Education Fund, $7,298.22; Teacher's Fund, $190.—Total Payments, $66,592.41, leaving a balance in the Treasury of $12,707.45.

THE OFFICE.—The report states that "The conviction strengthens from year to year that no necessity exists for the Secretary or General Agent to engage to any great extent in the work of collecting funds," the plan of Systematic Benevolence, now being fostered by the church, is growing in favour and will produce its legitimate results.

The illness of C. VAN RENSSLAER, D. D., the Corresponding Secretary, rendered it necessary to obtain assistance in his department of the work; and in January, 1860, he selected Rev. ROBERT WATTS, Pastor of The Westminster Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, to take his place, and carry on the correspondence of the Board, with such suggestions as he from time to time might give. This selection was confirmed by the Board. In this, as in all other cases where the interests of the Board of Education were concerned, the wisdom of Dr. Van Rensselaer was manifested. Mr. Watts has been a member of the Board for many years, and is fully conversant with all its business; his prudence, judgment, and sound scholarship commended him to the attention of the Secretary in chief.

The illness of Dr. Van Rensselaer continuing, the Board were convened for the purpose of receiving the following letter :

Burlington, N. J., May 1st, 1860.

JAMES N. DICKSON, ESQ., President of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church.

My Dear Sir :—It has become my duty, in the providence of God, to present my resignation of the office of Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education, to which, by the favour of the Board, I have been elected for the last fourteen years. The resignation to take effect at the Annual Meeting of the Board, if my life be spared so long.

The feelings, Mr. President, with which I part from you, the officers, and other members of the Board, my associates in the work of the office, our candidates, the co-operating ministers and elders in the Church, and the whole cause, in all its departments, how can I ever express?

God has wisely and righteously inflicted on me a severe, wasting, and still progressive disease, and I have a clear conviction that I obey his will in surrendering an office whose duties I can no longer discharge.

Glory be to his name in health and sickness, in life and death!

With my affectionate regards to all the gentlemen of the Board,

I am your fellow-servant in Christ,

C. VAN RENSSELAER.

By C. L. V. R.

The reading of this letter was followed by a sad and solemn silence, which no one felt willing to break. At length, Mr. Dunlap, after a few remarks suited to the occasion, suggested that the resignation be accepted to take place at the time specified, and that the President be requested to appoint a committee to draft a minute and resolutions in accordance with the same. This motion was carried, and the following minute and resolutions were reported by the committee, at the subsequent meeting, and unanimously adopted :—

The Board of Education, sorrowfully constrained in the providence of God to entertain the resignation of their honoured and beloved Corresponding Secretary, the Rev. Cortlandt Van Rensselaer, D. D., do here make record of their sense of God's great goodness, in giving them the official services of one so eminently fitted to be their executive officer; and they thankfully mention the grace of God vouchsafed to them through His distinguished servant, in that his wisdom, his breadth of view, his practical efficiency, his loyalty to all Christian and Presbyterian interests, his disinterested zeal and liberality, his genial and courteous bearing, have, during the fourteen years of his official labours, given to the Board of Education a moral power and eminence, and an extent of usefulness, in some good degree commensurate with the growth and the responsibility of the Presbyterian Church in the United States

This Board now formally Resolve,—

1. That the resignation of the office of Corresponding Secretary tendered by the Rev. C. Van Rensselaer, D. D., in view of his declining health, be accepted solely in deference to his wishes, and with a view to relieve his mind from a generous and conscientious solicitude to “surrender an office whose duties” he finds he “can no longer discharge.” This acceptance to take effect from and after the next Annual meeting of the Board.

2. That this Board present to the Rev. Dr. Van Rensselaer their thanks for his eminent services in the office from which he now retires.

3. That this Board tender to the Rev. Dr. Van Rensselaer their cordial personal regards, and their sincere sympathy in his declining health; and they join in earnest prayers to God that his valuable life may yet be spared to the Church and to the world, or that, in his advancing illness, he may enjoy proportionally that grace, mercy, and peace which come from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ.

WM. NEILL. ROBT. WATTS. H. D. GREGORY, Committee.

SCHOOLS, ACADEMIES, AND COLLEGES.—The experience of the past year has added strength to the convictions of the Board as to the importance of the Parochial school. Reports from these schools have not been received so as to enable the Board to present fully the results of the year in this department, but arrangements have been made to obviate this deficiency in future.

The Academies, which form a second link in the educational chain of the church, have been conducted with a high degree of usefulness and success. The total number is sixty, an increase of two over last year.

Colleges.—The topic chosen as the leading thought introduced into the report is "The Ministerial Curriculum of the latter half of the Nineteenth Century," from the pen of the Assistant Corresponding Secretary, reveals the sentiments of the Board on this subject.

A learned ministry has ever ranked among the watchwords of the Presbyterian host. Wherever that host have planted their standard, they have unrolled this legend to the breeze. It has waved in the light that hailed the birth of the Republic of Geneva; it has claimed a place on the banners of the sturdy Switzers, and the unconquerable Vaudois; it has graced the goodly array of Hollanders and Huguenots; it has streamed out from the mountain fastnesses, and glens, and moors of old Scotia; her parish schools, and academic halls have echoed to that war-cry with which she has ever met the enemy,—a learned ministry. This has been the motto of Irish Presbyterianism, whether primitive or restored. And when, in her zeal for the crown and kingdom of Christ, she sent forth her missionaries to minister to her sons, who had sought a home among the wilds of this Western World, she placed in their hands the old banner with the old motto,—a learned ministry. And right loyal did her standard-bearers prove. Rather than lay that old banner down, they planted it on the walls of their log parsonages, and on the ridges of their log colleges. And as the standard-bearers fell, how nobly have their sons stepped forward to the breach, and flung out afresh upon the breeze, the old motto,—a learned ministry!

The report of the Board was referred to a Committee, Rev. HENRY A. BOARDMAN, D. D., Chairman, who offered the usual resolutions; the last one having reference to C. VAN RENSSELAER, D. D., is here recorded, together with the action of the Assembly.

"While there is so much that is cheering in the dealings of God with the Board, during the past year, it has also been called to an unexpected and most painful trial. In the illness and consequent resignation of the REV. DR. VAN RENSSELAER, its Corresponding Secretary, the Assembly feel that not only this Board, but our whole Church is deeply afflicted. We gratefully acknowledge the goodness of God, in raising up this beloved man to take charge of that important interest in our communion, and in preserving him to us for so many years. We here place on record our conviction, that as he had been endowed with pre-eminent gifts for the conduct of our educational affairs, so those gifts were consecrated to this sacred cause with a singleness of aim, an affluence of labours, a self-sacrificing generosity, in respect both to personal toil and pecuniary means, and an humble, steadfast, animating trust in God, which have made him an unspeakable blessing to the Church. We desire to bow in reverence and awe to the dispensation which has bereaved us, for the time, of the services and the example of our beloved brother. We pray that this sore trial may be sanctified to the Board of Education, and to its candidates, and to the whole Church. We offer our united supplications to the God of all grace and consolation, that He may sustain and sanctify his servant on his bed of sickness. And, in further tokens of our sympathy and gratitude, we approve and adopt the following letter, and direct it to be forwarded as the Act of the General Assembly, duly attested by the signatures of the Moderator and Clerk."

The letter to be sent to the Rev. Dr. C. Van Rensselaer, Secretary of the Board, was then read, and is as follows:—

TO THE REV. CORTLANDT VAN RENSSELAER, D. D.

Beloved Brother in Christ Jesus:—The General Assembly has learned, with deep solicitude, of the afflictive dispensation which detains you from its present sessions. It has pleased Him whose “way is in the sea, and His path in the great waters,” to visit you with a painful illness. We cannot permit you to suppose that the Church which you have loved and served so well, is unmindful of you in this season of trial. And we would do injustice to ourselves, not to assure you of our united and cordial sympathy.

We are well aware that one who feels himself drawing near to eternity, and around whose couch of suffering the light of that “better country” is shedding its heavenly radiance, can stand in no need of earthly consolations. Nor would we offend your Christian humility, by enlarging upon the services you have rendered to the cause of Christ. But we may, nay, we must magnify the grace of God in you, which has wrought so effectually to the furtherance of the Gospel amongst us, through your instrumentality. We cannot accept your resignation of the important office you have just relinquished, without bearing our formal and grateful testimony to the manner in which its duties have been performed. With devout thankfulness to God, and under Him, beloved brother, to you, we record our sense of the eminent wisdom, fidelity, and efficiency, and the noble, disinterested liberality with which you have, for fourteen years, conducted the affairs of our “Board of Education.”

Under your administration, it has risen from a condition of comparative feebleness, to strength and power. Its plans have been matured and systematized. Its sphere has been greatly enlarged. It has assumed new and most beneficent functions. Your luminous pen has vindicated the principles which lie at the basis of true Christian education. And by your numerous publications, your sermons and addresses, your extended correspondence, and your self-denying activity in visiting every part of the Church, you have, by God’s blessing, accomplished a great work, in elevating this sacred cause to its just position, and gathering around it the sympathies of our whole communion. Nor may we forbear to add, that in prosecuting these manifold official labours, you have greatly endeared yourself personally to the ministry and membership of the Church.

Rejoicing, as we do, in the auspicious results of these unwearied exertions, we mourn this day the sacrifice they have cost us. While the Church is reaping the harvest—a harvest which we fully believe she will go on gathering until the Master comes to present her unto himself, a glorious Church—the workman who has done so much to prepare the ground and sow the seed, falls exhausted in the furrows. There, dear brother, we doubt not you would choose to fall—upon that field, to the culture of which you have dedicated your life.

On behalf of the Church we represent, we once more thank you sincerely and gratefully for all your labours and sacrifices. We lift up our hearts in humble and fervent supplication to our common God and Father, that His presence may be with you in this hour of trial. We hear with joy that He does not forget you; that He is giving you strength according to your day; and that your peace flows like a river. We plead with Him, that if it be possible, this blow may be still averted, and your health restored. But we desire to commit you into His hands. That Saviour in whom you trust will not forsake you. The Divine Comforter will comfort you and yours. Your covenant God will be the God of your children.

To Him, the Triune Jehovah, we affectionately commend you, praying that His rod and His staff may comfort you; and whenever the summons shall come, an entrance may be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

On behalf of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in session at Rochester, New York, May 23d, 1860.

JOHN W. YEOMANS, Moderator.

WILLIS LORD, Stated Clerk.

ALEXANDER T. MCGILL, Permanent Clerk.

A. G. VERMILYE, Temporary Clerk.

An Historical Sketch of the Board of Publication of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

DURING the sessions of the General Assembly in Philadelphia, in 1838, it was Resolved,—“That the General Assembly will superintend and conduct by its own proper authority the work of furnishing the churches under its care with suitable tracts and Sabbath-school publications, by a Board appointed for that purpose, and directly amenable to the Assembly," and the Assembly appointed the following forty ministers and forty laymen to constitute "The Board for the Publication of Tracts and Sunday-school Books." (This name was shortly after changed to what it now is.)

To this Board was entrusted, with such directions and instructions as might from time to time be given by the Assembly, the superintendence of all the operations of the Presbyterian Church, in relation to the publication of Tracts and Sabbath-school books.

It was resolved that the seat of operation shall be the city of Philadelphia, Pa., and that they have the power and are hereby authorized to receive a transfer of all books, tracts, and funds belonging to "The Presbyterian Tract and Sabbath-school Book Society," now under the control of the Synod of Philadelphia.

The importance of this Society warrants the following notice:—In November, 1833, The Synod of Philadelphia, at its session in Columbia, Pa., received overtures from the Presbyteries of Philadelphia and Huntingdon, asking the Synod to constitute a Board of Managers to prepare, publish, and circulate Presbyterian Tracts, inculcating the distinctive doctrines of our standards, to be known, as the Board of Managers of "The Presbyterian Tract and Sunday-school book Society," under the care of the Synod of Philadelphia.

The overtures were adopted, and the Synod appointed the following thirty ministers and eight elders to constitute said society:—

Dunlap, Robert	Mustard, Cornelius	Winchester, Samuel G.

This society organized the day of its appointment, and issued a circular soliciting co-operation. It was some time before any general interest in the Church was manifested. In 1835, they had printed Tracts Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, as they now appear on the catalogue of the Board of Publication; in 1836, Tracts 6, 7, 8, and 9 were issued; in 1837, Nos. 10, 11, 12, and 13 were published, and some of the earlier numbers were printed in bound volumes; and in 1838, Tracts, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 18 were issued; the society reported to the Synod that the publications were gaining ground on the churches. The receipts during the five years of its existence were in 1834, $217, in 1835, $460, in 1836, $408, in 1837, $631, and in 1838, $724.00.

During the year 1838, the propriety of enlarging the sphere of influence of the society by placing it under the control of the General Assembly was freely discussed, which resulted in the dissolution of the society, and transferring all its Books, Tracts, and stereotype-plates to the Board appointed by the Assembly.

Thus, after a brief existence, the "Society" of the Synod gave place to the present Board; they had published 18 tracts, printed 104,000 copies, containing 4,324,000 pages; their receipts had been $2,440, and at the transfer, their stock was valued at $2,620.

In 1839, the Board appointed by the Assembly made their first Annual Report; little had been done save organizing, and receiving the transfer of stock, &c., from the Synod's society, and that the receipts had been $734.00.

At this session of the Assembly the name of the Board was changed to what it now bears. The constitution was so altered as to require the Board to publish "approved works in support of the great principles of the Reformation, as exhibited in the doctrines and order of the Presbyterian Church, and all else the Assembly may direct." They authorized the appointment of a general agent to bring the subject before the churches. A column was added to the reports of Presbyteries to the Assembly, in which were recorded the contributions to the Board. They also ordered thank-offerings to be taken in the churches during this (1839) the fiftieth year of the organization of the General Assembly, in view of the many mercies extended to the Church; these offerings to be sent to the Treasurer of the Board of Publication.

The amount realized from this Semi-Centenary contribution was about forty thousand dollars; a larger amount was reported in the statistical report of the Presbyteries to the Assembly, but the difference was absorbed by local objects and in other ways not reaching the Treasury of the Board. It might be mentioned however as an offset to this, that considerable sums have been given from time to time to the Board as special donations to publish certain works specified by the donors, having a practical and doctrinal character.

Thus fostered by the Assembly, the Board grew in favour; in 1840, they reported thirty-six volumes published, and 68,400 copies printed; in 1841, forty-one works were issued.

In the following table will be found the operations of the Board in this department of its work, and it will be observed that the columns have been so divided that the reader can form a just estimate of the number and size of the volumes issued, and the tracts published.

The Board have from time to time made arrangements to publish several works issued by other publishers, such as the Life of A. Alexander, D. D., Life of Daniel Baker, D. D., The Martyred Missionaries, Notes on the Gospels, and the Acts, &c.

The capital furnished by the churches was to be used in printing and publishing books and tracts only, without any special arrangement for their circulation. The Assembly recommended the establishment of Synodical and Presbyterian depositories, which to some extent was adopted; but after an experience of several years it was found that the works were not reaching the Church, and that in the more needy portions, where depositories could not be established, they were neglected.

In order to reach the families, and extend the influence of the publications of the Church to its utmost limit, the Colportage System was adopted. The Assembly recommended the plan, and in 1847 the Board reported that it had taken the incipient steps towards the organization of the system, and that they had received $1,021 towards the Colportage fund.

In this way a new element was introduced into the organization of the Board—up to this time it was purely commercial, but this rendered it also a benevolent institution. In order to fully develop the plan, and bring the Board and churches into closer communion, the Board, in the autumn of 1848, elected JOHN LEYBURN, D. D., Corresponding Secretary and General Agent; upon this officer devolved the organization of the plan of Colportage, and bringing it to the favourable consideration of the churches. In 1849, they reported a few Colporteurs in the field, and that $1,380 had been received. The results of this year were sadly interfered with, in the destruction by fire of the building of the Board, and the necessity of asking the aid of the churches to erect a complete and commodious edifice. In 1850, the report to the Assembly revealed an increased attention to the claims of the Board, and a corresponding increase in its receipts. The Colportage system was fully inaugurated, and the following table gives a complete statistical history of this department of the Board's work.

The main business of the Board is to sell and dispose of books and tracts; and the following table which is not wholly complete until 1854, will show the success which has attended this department of the Board's work.

The Books and Tracts given by the Colporters and the Executive Committee of the Board are paid for out of the Donation Fund; this fund is sustained by individuals, Sabbath-schools, and churches interested in the gratuitous distribution of the publications of the Board.

THE DEPARTMENT OF SUSTENTATION.—The Board depends upon the sales of their publications to sustain the Business department; upon contributions (authorized by the General Assembly) from the churches and individuals, to sustain the Colportage system; upon the Donation fund, made up of contributions from individuals, Sabbath-schools, and churches, who desire the gratuitous distribution of the publications of the Board; and Miscellaneous receipts arising from a great variety of sources, such as interest, rent of rooms, Home and Foreign Record, Sabbath-School Visitor, &c.

In the following table all these items are divided, the leading one, which is the most important, indicates the cash received during the year from all sources for the sale of Books, the next the amount received in behalf of the Colportage fund; these two items indicate the interest manifested by the Church in behalf of the work; the other columns explain themselves. This table covers the whole time since the organization of the Board.

The buildings of the Board are located at No. 821 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, and were erected at a cost of over $20,000, which amount was furnished by the churches and individuals. They cover the whole lot, which is 25 feet wide, and 174 feet deep. The front is brown-stone, four stories high, and the store and various rooms throughout the building are fitted up with all modern conveniences.

The Board was incorporated in 1847, by the Legislature of Pennsylvania, and in order to be legally entitled to legacies, the following is the proper form:

To the Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication, and to their successors and assigns, I give and bequeath the sum of _____, or I devise a certain message and tract of land, &c., to be held by the said Trustees and their successors for ever, to and for the uses, and under the direction of the said Board of Publication, according to the provisions of their charter.

PERIODICALS.—The Sabbath-School Visitor; published on the first of each month, is an illustrated paper for children. The Home and Foreign Record is a monthly journal, being the organ of the Boards of the Church—and the annual report of the Board.

With the foregoing sketch of the Board of Publication, the friends of the Almanac will be fully conversant with the past operations of the Board, and can form some idea of the importance of the work entrusted to their care, and the wisdom of the Church in thus creating such an institution directly under her control; and subsequent volumes will chronicle the annual operations of the Board arranged in an intelligent and comprehensive manner.

Board of Church Extension.

The Fifth Annual Report is as follows :

The number of applications for aid during the year was one hundred and thirty. These applications were from churches within the bounds of seventy-eight Presbyteries. One hundred and eighteen ask for aid, amounting to $61,934.71, or at the average rate of $524.87 each. The remaining twelve churches have not yet stated definitely the amount of help needed.

Besides these new applications, there were on file and undisposed of, April 1st, 1859, ninety-one applications calling for at least $41,000. The Committee, therefore, had before them, during the twelve months under review, two hundred and twenty-one applications, calling for more than $109,000.

The applications during the year do not, however, so fully represent the demands made on the Board as the applications duly prepared for their action, some of which had been received in previous years. The number of applications thus prepared, was ninety, calling for $51,555.91.

The Appropriations during the year ending April 1st, 1860, amounting to $34,573.87, were made to eighty-five churches within the bounds of sixty-six Presbyteries.

COST OF CHURCH EDIFICES.—Your Board has continued to act upon the conviction that the gifts of the benevolent should not be used to build expensive churches.

Of the eighty-five appropriations made during the year ending April 1st, 1860, twenty-nine were special appropriations in whole or in part. Of the remaining fifty-six church edifices, forty-six cost from $500 to $3,000; eight from $3,000 to $5,000; and two from $5,000 to $8,000.

Since the organization of the Board, July, 1855, it has made appropriations to three hundred and forty-six different churches. Of these, thirty-eight were special donations, for which we take no responsibility. As nearly as we can ascertain, the remaining three hundred and eight church edifices aided from the general fund, cost $645,227, or $2,095 apiece. Two hundred and sixty-one ranged in cost from $500 to $3,000; thirty-six from $3,000 to $5,000; and eleven cost over $5,000.

RECEIPTS during the year have been from churches $35,153.93; miscellaneous sources, $416.08; balance on hand, $14,795.34.—Total resources, $50,335.35. Payments to ninety churches, $31,614.33; miscellaneous, $3,126.31; balance in the Treasury appropriated, $15,585.71. The Committee to whom the report was referred, SAMUEL J. BAIRD, D. D., Chairman, reported the usual resolutions, which were adopted.

Narrative of the State of Religion.

CYRUS DICKSON, D. D., Chairman of the Committee, reported the following Narrative:

The devout study of the history of God's dealings with his Church has always been regarded as a very profitable exercise for the Lord's people, enabling them to understand the true condition of the Church.

This Narrative is made up from the reports furnished by one hundred and thirty, out of the one hundred and sixty-eight Presbyteries, which comprise the whole strength of our branch of the Presbyterian Church. It is a cause of earnest and sincere thanksgiving to the Great Head of the Church, that the tenor of all the reports is cheering and hopeful.

All the Presbyteries make mention of the faithful and earnest preaching of the word of life, as God's great instrument for the edification of the Church, and the conviction and conversion of sinners. Many make special mention of the increased energy and hopefulness with which the churches are using those well-tried instrumentalities—the Prayer Meeting, the Bible Class, and the Sabbath-school, as well as the particular and faithful inculcation of the truths of our holy religion, as summed up in the Shorter Catechism. For the past two years nearly all the Presbyteries have reported revivals, and now they speak of cheering and hopeful progress.

The attention of the Assembly has been specially called to the work of God's grace among the French Canadian Colonists in Illinois, and it is believed that a wide and effectual door is now open for preaching a pure and simple Gospel to nearly if not quite all the French Canadian Romanists on this continent. This movement, in connection with the present hopeful condition of the Church, the General Assembly regards as the most profoundly significant event of our day.

It is gratifying to know that in many parts of our Church the elders are waking up to a higher sense of their official duty and their obligations to promote the spiritual welfare of the churches in which they bear rule. The active graces of God's people are manifested in increased interest in the great objects of Christian Benevolence conducted through the Boards of the Church.

The power of the Church of God on the ungodly world is manifested by an increased and increasing attendance upon the preaching of the word; in the better observance of the Lord's day as a day of sacred rest; in the improvement in the general morality of the people. But while this is so, several of the Presbyteries state that the deadly vice of intemperance is on the increase, and that, too, even in places where the work of the Lord is revived. This anomalous state of things may be due to the fact that the Church has not yet taken this subject into her own hands, and by the help of God applied the only remedy for this and all other vices of man. In conclusion, the Assembly recognizes the goodness of God in the peace and unity of our Church, in its enlargement, and in the new and louder calls to increased efforts.

The Lord has surely dealt bountifully with our beloved Church, and blessed be his holy name. But these times of mercy are peculiarly times of responsibility. Be strong, therefore, brethren, and do valiantly for the cause of your God and Saviour.

May grace and peace from God our Father, and Jesus Christ the Lord, be multiplied to you all by the power of the Holy Ghost.

JOHN W. YEOMANS, Moderator.

SYSTEMATIC BENEVOLENCE.

N. C. LOCKE, D. D., Chairman, reported as follows:

It is now some six years since this subject of Systematic Benevolence was particularly urged upon the attention of the General Assembly. Since then, it has been considered carefully and maturely in all its bearings. The perfecting of the system will of course require time. The desideratum now is, to secure a more uniform and efficient operation of the system thus already inaugurated, and in general favour. Since the system of agents for collecting funds is done away, our Boards have now to make their appeals to, and depend mainly upon the Presbyteries and Sessions to co-operate with and sustain them.

Sabbath-schools have become objects of great interest and attention. Here a large proportion of the children of our Church, with others, chiefly receive their religious training. These children are the hope of the Church. What we cannot do with their fathers and mothers, we may do with them.

Already the contributions of Sabbath-schools form no inconsiderable item in the charities of the Church. At present, contributions from the churches are required for only six specified objects; but there is another, recommended most cordially by the Assembly, and for which contributions are regularly made in most of our churches, which your Committee desire should have a place in the blank form with the others—namely, for the publication and circulation of God's holy word—the Bible, that we may know what our churches are doing for this object.

Your Committee submits the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in the Statistical Reports to the General Assembly, all the funds now included under the head of "Presbyterial," be transferred to "Congregational," except contributions made for disabled ministers, and the widows and orphans of deceased ministers, which shall hereafter, under the heading of "Disabled Ministers' Fund," occupy exclusively the column now filled by Presbyterial.

Resolved, That the Board of Publication be directed to print and distribute to every Presbytery the accompanying blank form,* for the use of the Stated Clerks in preparing their annual reports on Systematic Benevolence to the Assembly.

Resolved, That a Committee of five be appointed by the Moderator to prepare a circular, calling the attention of our Presbyteries to the necessity of increased efficiency in carrying out the instructions of the Assembly on the subject of Systematic Benevolence, and to invite and receive from Presbyteries suggestions on the subject, and report to the next Assembly such facts and suggestions as they may deem worthy of attention.

The Moderator appointed N. C. Locke, D. D., Cyrus Dickson, D. D., W. P. Junkin, H. I. Coc, and R. A. De Lancey, said Committee.

FUND FOR DISABLED MINISTERS, AND THE FAMILIES OF DECEASED MINISTERS.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF TRUSTEES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN REGARD TO THIS FUND, JOSEPH H. JONES, D. D., CHAIRMAN.

At the beginning of the year, there were $4,667.66 in the Treasury. All has been expended, and $910.34 more, making the whole amount disbursed by the Trustees during the year, $5,588. This money has been divided in different proportions among twenty-three ministers, twenty-four widows, and one family of orphans. This is an increase of five in the number of applications over that of the last year, and of about ten dollars, on an average, to each, above the highest appropriation made at any former year. Several of the recipients of this money are not less than four-score years old, and almost entirely dependent for their support on what they receive from this source. The ministers not disabled by age, are laid aside by consumption, palsy, or other severe diseases, which render them incapable of doing anything for the support of themselves and their families. The impression on the mind of the Trustees is becoming stronger every year, that provision for their disabled brethren is one of the most urgent duties of the Church; and they greatly marvel that it should be regarded with apparent indifference by so many. Not half of the Presbyteries, and only one in sixteen of the congregations under the care of the Assembly, have obeyed their injunction to make "annual collections" for this object. The Trustees would respectfully suggest to the Assembly, that effectual means be used to have these contributions made yearly, and, so far as practicable, in all of our churches.

The Trustees apprehend no failure in this plan of relief, it is not only the cheapest and best, but the most feasible that can be adopted. No new agency is called for, and nothing more is needed to make it all that the exigency demands, than that the Church obey the recommendation of the Assembly.

The Trustees regret to report that the collections for the past year fall much below the amount contributed the year before, and therefore the sum in the treasury to meet the applications for the coming year, is considerably less than was reported at the last meeting of the Assembly. The Trustees, however, do not despond. They believe that, as the claims of their disabled and suffering brethren are more generally known and better understood, their case will be regarded with growing interest, and that the churches will not fail to sustain it efficiently by their liberal gifts as well as by their prayers.

On motion of W. Lowrie, it was

Resolved, That the Assembly would earnestly call the attention of the Presbyteries to this important subject, that full provision may be made for such of our ministers, or the families of deceased ministers, as, in the providence of God, stand in need of the assistance of the churches, in such manner as the Presbyteries may direct.

Collections for this fund are to be sent to GEORGE H. VAN GELDER, Treasurer of the General Assembly, Philadelphia.

REVISION OF THE BOOK OF DISCIPLINE.

The following resolutions were adopted in regard to this subject.

Resolved, 1. That the Revised Book of Discipline be recommitted, so that the committee may harmonize any conflicting provisions which may be discovered, and make such other alterations as they may deem advisable.

Resolved, 2. That the Book thus corrected or altered, be printed, and copies be distributed to the Stated Clerks of all the Presbyteries before their Spring meetings, to be delivered by them to the Commissioners appointed to the next Assembly.

Resolved, 3. That the Committee of Revision be enlarged by the addition of William D. Snodgrass, D. D., William M. Paxton, D. D., T. E. Peck, D. D., and John W. Yeomans, D. D., ministers; and Messrs. T. C. Perrin, Scott Lord, and H. A. Clark, ruling elders.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

THE Special Committee appointed by the last Assembly on the Board of Domestic Missions, reported—upon which a discussion ensued, going over several days of the session, and finally the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That it is inexpedient to make any organic change in the Board of Domestic Missions.

W. S. White, D. D., called for the ayes and nays, and the Assembly ordered them to be recorded. The ayes are as follows:

COMMENTARY ON THE SCRIPTURES.

A COMMENTARY ON THE SCRIPTURES.—A memorial on this subject from Tombeckbee Presbytery was read by E. Thompson Baird, D. D., and the following resolution adopted:

Resolved, That the request contained in the memorial for the appointment of a special Committee of the friends of the object from the various parts of the Church, to consider this subject and report at a subsequent Assembly, be granted. The said Committee is directed to report on the character of the work proposed, the degree of authority it is desirable or competent for this Assembly to give it, the extent of responsibility this body is expected to assume, the feasibility of the undertaking, and a plan for its execution; and also on all other matters connected with the proposed measure, on which it is desirable that the Assembly should have information, before adopting or rejecting it. The object of the Assembly in adopting this minute, is not to commit itself to the proposed undertaking; but simply to give the subject careful scrutiny before determining the matter; so that we may understand the whole magnitude of the work, and the full measure of our responsibility in case the work be undertaken; and so that we may be able to justify ourselves before the people of God, in case it should be determined not to begin.

The Committee on the Commentary are, Rev. Drs. Smith, Lord, Baird, Alexander T. McGill, J. B. Adger, Stephen Yerkes, S. J. Wilson, John W. Yeomans, and R. J. Breekinridge; Messrs. O. N. Stoddard, J. Ross Snowden, Scott Lord, and J. T. L. Preston, Elders—and on motion, it was resolved that the Committee be directed to publish their report, at least two months anterior to the meeting of the next General Assembly, in the Presbyterian papers published in the different parts of the Church.

The Committee on the Home and Foreign Record reported, and the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, 1. That the whole subject of the Home and Foreign Record be referred to the Executive Committees of the respective Boards; and should they agree on any changes necessary to be made, that they be authorized to carry them into effect as soon as practicable.

Resolved, 2. That if the said Executive Committees cannot agree upon any one plan for the publication of the Home and Foreign Record, they are hereby directed to send up to the next General Assembly the respective plans proposed, with the reasons in their favour respectively, in order that the General Assembly may come to a decision on the subject.

INAUGURAL ADDRESSES.

INAUGURAL ADDRESSES.—CYRUS DICKSON, D. D., presented to the Assembly in the name of JOSEPH M. WILSON of Philadelphia, four hundred copies of the Inaugural Addresses of the Professors in the Theological Seminary at Chicago; and on his motion the donation was accepted, and the thanks of the Assembly were voted to Mr. Wilson.

Wm. M. Paxton, D. D., offered the following resolutions which were adopted:

Whereas, The Report of the Board of Directors of Princeton Theological Seminary has announced the death of JOSEPH ADDISON ALEXANDER, D. D., Professor of New Testament Literature and Biblical Greek in that Institution; therefore,

Resolved, 1. That we record our devout gratitude to the great King and Head of the Church for his great favour in raising up, and continuing to us for so many years, one so eminently gifted, and qualified by such a rich variety of powers and acquirements, for the work of training a ministry for the Church.

Resolved, 2. That whilst we bow in humble submission to the sovereign hand of God, we cannot forbear to express our deep sorrow under the inscrutable dispensation which has deprived the Seminary of a sound, faithful, experienced, and eminently learned Professor; the Church of an eloquent herald of the gospel, an able defender of the faith, a wise and skilful expounder of the truth as it is in Jesus; and the world of a noble mind, a potent pen, a praying voice, a great heart to feel for its sorrows, and a ready will to relieve its woes.

Resolved, 3. That whilst we express our high estimate of the distinguished ability and rare erudition with which he enriched his professional instructions, and our deep appreciation of the industry and self-sacrifice with which he devoted himself to the great end of the Church's mission in the world, we feel cheered by the tokens of the Divine favour which attended his life and crowned his death; and we hereby record our thankfulness for the grace which made his dying moments a testimony to the efficacy of the Christian's hope, and his memory an incentive to follow after, if "that we also may apprehend that for which we are apprehended of Christ Jesus."

J. Ross Snowden, Esq., offered the following minute, which was adopted:

Whereas, in the dispensation of Divine Providence, the Hon. Joel Jones, LL. D., one of the Trustees of the General Assembly, has, during the past year, been summoned by death, this Assembly desires to record its high appreciation of his eminent character, his great learning, and his faithful services in the several Trusts which have been committed to his charge.

On motion of J. H. Bocoek, D. D., it was

Resolved, That the heartfelt thanks of this Assembly be presented to those Churches of this city and vicinity, who have opened their pulpits for preaching during the session to the people of Rochester, without distinction of denomination, for their elegant, cordial, and unbounded hospitality and kind consideration; and also to the authorities of the city, for their tender of rooms in the Court House for the Assembly's use.

That the thanks of the Assembly be tendered to those Railroad Companies who have had the kindness to pass members of the Assembly over their roads for half fare; and to the New York Central Railroad Company for the free excursion to Niagara Falls given to the members of the Assembly.

It was then, on motion,

Resolved, That this Assembly be dissolved; and that another General Assembly, chosen in the same manner, be required to meet at the Seventh Presbyterian Church, in the City of Philadelphia, on the third Thursday of May, at 11 o'clock, A. M., in the year of our Lord, 1861.

Closed with singing, prayer, and the apostolic benediction.

ALEXANDER, D. D., JAMES WADDELL.—The son of Rev. Archibald and Janetta (Waddell) Alexander, was born in Louisa county, Virginia, March 13th, 1804. Surrounded by the happiest influences, his active mind developed freely and rapidly; he was a frank, open-hearted, generous boy. At college, though the most youthful of his class, the attractive simplicity and loveliness of his character won for him the affections of all. He graduated at the College of New Jersey, in 1820, and was appointed Tutor in the same Institution in 1824, and was licensed by New Brunswick Presbytery the same year; he resigned his Tutorship in 1825, and became Pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Charlotte C. H., Va.; here he laboured two years, when he was called to the First Presbyterian Church, Trenton, N. J., which he accepted. In 1830, he resigned his charge, and became Editor of The Presbyterian, published in Philadelphia. In 1833, he accepted the appointment as Professor of Rhetoric and Belles Lettres in the College of New Jersey, and discharged the duties of this office until 1844, when he became pastor of the Duane street Presbyterian Church, New York. In 1849, he was appointed Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Church Government in the Theological Seminary at Princeton, N. J.

In 1851, he accepted a call to become pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, where he continued until his death, which took place at the Red Sweet Springs, Va., His health had been somewhat feeble, and he had visited the Springs in hope of restoration, but in this he was disappointed.

The nature of his disease and the necessity for the frequent use of opiates, as well as his own characteristic modesty, prevented him from much allusion to his own personal feelings in the near approach of death. After the event became obviously inevitable, much of his time and strength were spent in sending messages of farewell and comfort to his beloved congregation, and the absent members of his family, on whom he knew the blow would fall with crushing weight. After doing this, although very much exhausted, he seemed to arouse his powers to a further effort, and added: "I have not been in the habit of talking much on the subject of my own spiritual states of feeling. With respect to my subjective religion, I have often disappointed people who look for manifestations of a certain kind. But I have often made known to my dear wife the grounds of my hope." On a suggestion that he was exhausting himself and needed rest, he said: "Let me add one word more respecting the solemn event to which you have called my attention. If the curtain should drop at this moment and I were ushered into the presence of my Maker, what would be my feelings? They would be these:—First, I would prostrate myself in the dust in an unutterable sense of my nothingness and guilt.—Secondly, I would look up to my Redeemer with an inexpressible assurance of faith and love. There is a passage of Scripture which best expresses my present feeling, and it is this: I know whom I have believed—some persons put in a preposition and say, I know in whom I have believed. This is not correct, Christ himself is the object of the Apostle's faith. I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day. That is all I have to say." Almost immediately he fell into a sweet sleep, after awakening from which he was able to say but little. He died July 31st, 1859, of dysentery. His body was taken to Princeton, New Jersey, where it was buried by the side of his sainted father.

The venerable Dr. S. K. TALMAGE, President of Oglethorpe University, Georgia, thus briefly sums up his character:

He was mild, but firm; accommodating, but never compromising principle; dignified, without stiffness; deeply pious, without the least austerity; earnest and warm-hearted, without extravagance or enthusiasm. He was laborious, learned, highly polished both in mind and manners, and yet so simple that the humblest could approach him, and could understand and relish his teachings. He served his generation through the press as well as the pulpit. His report to the General Assembly on the claims of denominational and religious education, had much influence in raising our Board of Education to its present prominent position. His agency in preparing our Church Psalmody will live in the songs of the Church. His writings on the Sunday-school and its adjuncts, and on family prayer, will abide a rich blessing to the rising generation and the Church. His interest in the young communicant and the afflicted saint are on record, and will long bless the young soldier of the cross and the mourner. His labours and sympathy for the American mechanic and working-man will long survive. In his model life of his revered father, we have that eminently gifted and lovely man of God still living and moving before the eyes of the Church in all his simplicity and godliness of life. His writings are characterized by exact scholarship, precision of language, and literary elegance.

REV. F. G. CLARKE, in his opening sermon before the Presbytery of New York, referred to him as follows:

Dr. Alexander was more than kind to his younger brethren. He was thoughtful and painstaking to encourage them. He freely gave them his advice when asked, but always with such humility as excluded all appearance of condescension. His usual reserve did not diminish the confidence with which he was approached. There was that in his words and manner which revealed a true heart.

The day of my first introduction to the pastoral office brought me into the relation of a co-presbyter with him. Many years have passed since then, and during all these years he has been to me as "the brook in the way." His wisdom, his kindness, his intense sincerity, his simplicity of character, his spiritual attainments, all conspired to mark him as a counsellor. Perhaps no year has passed during the period referred to in which I have not repeatedly availed myself of his advice. I disclaim any special intimacy or advantage over others in this regard. I believe my own case to have been but a type of many others; and I refer to it only to bear a grateful tribute, which I utter with diffidence, but dare not suppress.

REV. ALBERT BARNES, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, (N. S.) Philadelphia, in a letter says,

The Church has not many—it has very few such men to lose; and the loss occasioned by his death was a calamity not only to the denomination with which he was connected, but to the Church at large; not only to the city where he lived and laboured, but to his country and to the world. He combined perhaps as many qualities to constitute a useful minister of the gospel as any man now living. He was a finished scholar, a man of singularly fine taste, and a taste highly cultivated, an ever easy and graceful writer, an attractive public speaker, a man of remarkable urbanity in his feelings and manners, a man of deep and fervent piety, a man whose great and leading aim was to do good in the world. Though enrolled with the Old School branch of the Presbyterian Church, he had no bitterness of spirit towards his brethren of the other branch, or towards any Christians of any denomination. He was not indifferent to truth, or to those views of truth by which the Presbyterian body is separated from other denominations of Christians; but my apprehension is, that he regarded those distinctions as of much less importance than the great doctrines of Christianity, in which all are united. I regard him as a man who was eminently qualified to commend religion, pure, simple, spiritual, kind, charitable, heavenly, as we find it in the New Testament, and in the life of our Lord, to his fellow men, showing by his life, that religion of the purest kind easily blends with the most delicate traits of character, that it assimilates with and so adorns that which is most refined in taste and courteous in deportment; that it is in fact the proper basis of all that is pure, and lovely, and elevated in the human soul.

In a letter from the genial Editor of the New York Observer, REV. S. IRENAEUS PRIME, D. D., he says,

Dr. Alexander suffered much from bodily infirmities, which often brought about seasons of despondency; but he fought his way up from the gates of despair to the cheerful sunlight of christian joy.

He was a true philanthropist, he loved his fellow-men. He was a gentleman by instinct, education, habit, and conscience; in the house, the pulpit, in society, in the church, he was a model of Christian courtesy. Genial, cheerful, communicative, playful when it was a time for playfulness, overflowing with humorous incident and anecdote, a world of apt quotations at his tongue's end, he was a most delightful companion in the social circle or the morning walk.

The realms of learning were at his command, his mind absorbed the cream of every subject. The classic literature of the Greek and Latin tongues were like his own to him, and the modern languages of Europe were familiar; he spoke and read the French and German fluently; yet there was no pedantry in all his learning.

His mind was wonderfully prolific, like a full fountain of living water running over continually. In letters to friends, books for children, essays for newspapers, religious and secular,—fresh, full of sense, information, curious learning or gentle humour, sometimes tinged with irony, but always in good temper, and pervaded with bright, sparkling thought, apt allusion, and rich instruction; but above all he was a model preacher, his method was simple, perspicuous, systematic, and exhaustive of his theme. His style was clear, beautiful, without excess of ornament; strong, without being heavy; vivacious, nervous, finished. His manner of delivery was earnest, animated, commanding, and impressive. He lifted his voice like a trumpet, and his whole soul was thrown into his discourse; filled with the matter of the gospel, learned in the Scriptures, and thoroughly alive to the great object of preaching, he was always ready to preach, and able to preach with or without notes, yet writing was his uniform practice. He was always ready for every good word and work. How fond he was of the daily prayer-meetings, how his soul longed for a revival of religion and the conversion of sinners! To know him well was no small part of a christian education; such completeness, symmetry, and propriety were in his walk and conversation, that it was impossible to be exposed to the light and warmth of his character without feeling its sacred power on the soul. He walked with God,—the aroma of heaven was about him in his house and by the wayside, breathing in his discourse, and shed on the souls of all who were near him, rebuking levity, commanding cheerfulness, diffusing joy and peace.

As a Pastor, he was eminently faithful, systematic, and regular. His congregation was arranged in the order of streets and numbers, and from day to day he pursued his work patiently and impartially, knowing no distinction among his people but those which their spiritual wants required him to make. This was the external order of his pastoral labour, carried on with an endurance truly wonderful; but to know his pastoral power, see him in the domestic circle and by the bed of suffering, by the side of the anxious sinner; what tenderness dwelt on his tongue! his genial manner easily winning the confidence of the young; the timid and retiring gave him their confidence without fear, and the sorrowing felt that his words of sympathy came from a heart that also suffered. From the deep wells of a christian experience, pure and spiritual, his lip dropped the language of love, and fell on the ear as the voice of a brother and friend. The doubting learned from him the counsel they needed, for he too had been behind the clouds; the bereaved found him the sympathizing pastor, for he also had been smitten and could weep with those that wept. He carried the sorrows of his people with himself, like his Master, a man of sorrows.

With a chivalric devotion to the Church of his fathers, he joined a charity as broad as the gospel, toiling with heroic zeal to build up his own, and freely giving time and strength in cordial co-operation with all who love the Lord Jesus and seek the salvation of immortal souls. In such a man we have the elements of a perfect character in such harmonious adjustment, that if he is not the greatest in each of them, he is unsurpassed in all.

He was one of the most laborious ministers of the Presbyterian Church, and his death caused a thrill of sadness to flow throughout the Church and country. Affable in his manners, courteous and refined in his intercourse with all—every one loved him.

Besides numerous essays and miscellaneous contributions to the periodical press, his published works are The American Mechanic and Working-man, a work replete with practical common sense; Gift to the Afflicted; A Geography of the Bible; Thoughts on Family Worship; Consolation, or Discourses to the Suffering Children of God; Life of Archibald Alexander, D. D.; Plain Words to Young Communicants, and over thirty volumes for children, published by the American Sunday-School Union; essays and reviews for the Biblical Repository; since his death, Forty years' Correspondence with Dr. Hall of Trenton, and several volumes of sermons.

He married Miss E. C. Cabel, who with several children survives him. One of his sons, Rev. Henry C. Alexander, is pastor of his father's old church at Charlotte C. H., Virginia.

ALEXANDER, D. D., JOSEPH ADDISON.—The third son of Rev. Archibald and Janet (Waddell) Alexander, was born in Philadelphia, April 24, 1809. His early education was obtained under the immediate supervision of his parents, and owing to an intellectual vigor, rare indeed, his powers of acquiring knowledge were amazing, especially in the department of languages. In 1825, he graduated at the College of New Jersey (Nassau Hall) with the highest honors of his class. He was elected Tutor, but declined the appointment, and, with Mr. Patton, founded Edgehill School at Princeton. He studied Theology at home and at the Universities of Halle and Berlin, in Europe. He was licensed and ordained by New Brunswick Presbytery in 1832, and became assistant instructor of the Hebrew and the Greek text of the Bible in the Princeton Theological Seminary; in 1835, he was appointed associate professor, and in 1840, sole professor of Biblical and Oriental literature; in 1851, he was transferred to the Chair of Biblical and Ecclesiastical History; and in 1859, at his own request, he was assigned the department of Hellenistic Greek and New Testament literature. The main business of his life was with the Holy Bible, giving to Theological research and instruction, all the energies of his massive intellect.

He said, at the beginning of the term in 1859, that he never entered on his course of lectures with so much pleasure, speaking of the change made in the title and duties by the previous General Assembly. He was suffering from Diabetes. This fact will account for that decline of flesh and premature look of old age, which his friends noticed for more than a year past; and yet, owing to the peculiarly retiring habits and remarkable delicacy of the man, and to the extraordinary indifference with which he treated his physical nature and all hygienic science, many of his nearest friends, among these his own colleagues, did not know of this disease till the day of his death. It now appears that the hemorrhage which he suffered, and several other things, conjectured to be his ailment, were all symptomatic of the dreadful malady of which he died.

His gigantic mind was in full vigor until the day before his death. On the morning of that day he was occupied with his usual course of polyglot reading in the Bible, being accustomed to read the Scriptures in some six different languages as part of his daily devotions. He seems also to have entertained himself during some part of the day with one of the Greek classics, Herodotus, as a pencil mark on the margin, "January 27, 1860," is said to show. In the afternoon of that day, he rode out in the open air for the first time since his attack of hemorrhage. During that ride, however, which was not continued more than forty-five minutes, a sudden sinking of life came on him, so much so that he was borne almost entirely by the help of others from the carriage. This sinking continued all Friday night, and on Saturday he was hardly conscious of any thing until he died, which was about half past three o'clock, P. M. His death was perfectly calm, without a struggle, without one heaving breath. He died in his study, January 28, 1860.

During the whole confinement from his sickness, about two months, he was cheerful and happy; seeming to regret nothing but his inability for the ordinary duties of his chair in the Seminary. He occasionally expressed a fear that he was not sufficiently chastened in feeling by the affliction upon him. When dissuaded from severer studies, he seemed to find pleasure in committing hymns to memory, and humming them in his study; and these the most simple that could be found, to breathe the childlike trust, with which his heart was leaning on the Saviour. Instead of chanting in Greek the ancient hymn of Clemens Alexandrinus, or any other lyric which a scholar like himself might be supposed to prefer, his favorite hymn was "Just as I am, without one plea,

But that thy blood was shed for me."

Full of touching kindness towards all his colleagues, he seemed, if possible, to take a deeper place than ever in their love, as he approached his end; and brilliant as his whole career in teaching sacred literature had been, he never probably impressed his pupils with more delight than he did his last session. He was a man of vast learning. A mind of large capacity and uncommon vigor, competent to grasp and retain all knowledge, had been disciplined and enriched by study from early childhood. At ten years of age, already a classical scholar, he began the study of the Arabic, and pursued it through all its cognate languages, till he became one of the most thorough Oriental linguists of the age. Nearly all the modern languages he read and spoke with such fluency that he was at home in the midst of books and men of any land. From the morning of his life, not for a single year, and scarcely for a day, had he been engrossed by any occupation to prevent steady, rapid, and mighty acquisitions of learning. In the realms of German thought he was more at home than any other of our American scholars. For he had not been led captive and astray by the teachings of a single and narrow sect in philosophy; but, superior to schools, he mastered everything that fell in his way, and was never weak enough to submit his faith in the Divine Teacher to the neology of the times.

As a preacher, he was among the princes. His style was lucid as the sun-beam itself, and in his sermons the splendor of his genius, and the affluence of his thought were revealed with such fervor, power, and beauty as to command the profoundest attention of the most exalted minds.

His discourses were magnificent for imagery and diction, evincing in them, as he did also in ordinary conversation, his mastery over his own tongue, always using the right words in the right place. He was probably one of the greatest masters of style this country has produced. Dr. Hodge said that he had never, in this country or Europe, met with a man superior to Dr. Alexander in variety and combination of powers, and extent of learning. And that conversant as he had been with the most ensnaring forms of skepticism, critical and historical, he did not believe there was a man in the Church who had a more simple childlike faith in the entire Scriptures, from Genesis to Revelation. To crown all, he was a thorough, spiritual, devoted Christian. He was one of the most learned and remarkable men of the Presbyterian Church.

He had been particularly engaged, for the last two or three years, in conjunction with Dr. Hodge, in the preparation of a Commentary on the New Testament. He had published on Mark, and the Acts, and had a work on Matthew, nearly ready for the press. He had also published The Earlier Prophecies of Isaiah, The Later Prophecies of Isaiah, Isaiah Translated and Explained, Essays on the Primitive Church, and The Psalms Translated and Explained. His sermons have been published since his death.

Shrinking from society with singular diffidence, leading a retired, scholarly life, finding in his study the highest enjoyment which his massive intellect appreciated, he was yet the most entertaining, genial, and instructive companion in the social circle. Giving and receiving the hospitalities of the cultivated, always a gentleman of high sensibility, and fine perceptions of the true, the beautiful, and refined; it was his delight to lavish the wealth of his reading, observation, and thought without ostentation, with simplicity and vivacity in the midst of friends who admired him as the best of company. Never married, he was yet fond of children, and usually had one or another of the little ones of his friends as a pet, for whom he wrote letters and stories in the hours of relaxation from the severity of study; a giant refreshing himself with the playfulness of a child.

BALDRIDGE, M. D., SAMUEL.—Was born March 21, 1780, in the immediate vicinity of the battle-ground of Guilford Court House, N. C. His ancestry were Scotch-Irish, and his parents trained him in the approved style of the mother country. He was early led to seek the Saviour, and made a profession of religion when quite young, at the same time with the noted Gideon Blackburn, D. D. He turned his thoughts to the ministry, and after many struggles and privations, usual in those times, he entered Washington College, Tenn., under the Presidency of Samuel Doak, D. D. He also studied Theology under this eminent teacher, and in 1802, he was licensed by Abingdon Presbytery, Tenn.

In the early days of his ministry, he gave his life to the West—then an almost unbroken wilderness—and studied medicine in order to maintain his family, whilst he was preaching the Gospel to the feeble and destitute churches, and planting temples to the living God in solitary places. He preached in frontier settlements for many years, organizing churches in Ohio and Indiana.

About the year 1830 he was struck with paralysis, and from this time forth was, measurably, laid aside from the active labors and usefulness of the ministry. He resumed the pastoral charge in a few cases after this calamity; but the ardor of his mind, and vividness of his imagination, and energy of his language and manner, had well nigh vanished. In 1847 he was visited with another stroke, which affected him to such a degree that he would never afterwards attempt to preach. The previous year his devoted and beloved wife had been snatched from his arms by death, and such was the severity of his bereavement, and feeling of desolation, that he could never from this day long content himself at any one place. Like Bunyan's pilgrim, having come within sight of the river, he awaited the summons from his Lord with humble but earnest hope. At last it came; and with scarcely any sickness or pain, he suddenly passed, with great peace and serenity of mind, into the presence of his Saviour.

His health failed gradually, losing more the command of his body and mind as his years advanced. He died February 29, 1860, of Paralysis. He married twice, first in January 26, 1806, to Miss Lucinda Doak. They had six children, only one of whom survives him. His second wife was Miss Mary, daughter of Hon. Jonathan Coulter of Perrysville, Ohio. They were married in 1826, and had two children, one of whom survives him. He lived for some years with his son, Rev. Samuel C. Baldrige, at Wabash Parsonage, Friendsville, Illinois, where he died. Owing to his long illness, his name dropped out of the list of ministers; he was a member of Madison Presbytery. For a few years past, he communed with a Free Presbyterian Church, though he never took his regular dismissal from his Presbytery.

The first twenty-five years of the ministerial labors of Rev. Dr. Baldrige were very arduous, and eminently successful. His efforts to win souls to Christ were indefatigable. And he enjoyed most cheering evidence that the "pleasure of the Lord did prosper in his hands." His remains were taken and interred by the side of his late wife, in the Hanover grave-yard, Indiana.

BARTLEY, JOHN M. C.—The son of Dr. Robert Bartley, was born in Londonderry, N. H., May 15th, 1799. His father was a native of Scotland, a man of eminent skill in his profession, and endowed with a strong and vigorous intellect.

In 1821, after receiving a careful preparatory training, he entered Amherst College, Mass., but his health becoming impaired, his studies were interrupted, and he finally left in 1826; he subsequently received the degree of M. A., from his alma mater.

Having experienced a change of heart during his College course, he felt called upon to enter the ministry. He studied Theology in the Seminary at Andover, Mass., and in 1830 was licensed and ordained as an Evangelist by a Congregational Association.

His first labours began at Martha Vineyard, Mass.; at the end of a few months he removed to Orleans, Mass., where he remained two years; thence to Merrimac, where he continued until 1836, when, receiving a call from the Church in Hampstead, N. H., he was installed pastor—this relation existed twenty-two years.

In 1858, he asked for a dissolution of the pastoral relation, which was granted. He was then occupied for six months in Scotland, Maine; and then settled again as pastor of the church at Kittery Point, Maine, where he pursued his calling with renewed energy and zeal; his efforts being crowned with success. Here he died June 2nd, 1860, of Chronic Dyspepsia, with a general breaking down of his vital organs. His name first appears in the Minutes of the General Assembly in 1836, as a member of Londonderry Presbytery; and though the churches in which he laboured were Congregational, he continued a member of the Presbytery till his death. He had a strong and well-balanced mind, with clear perceptions—he judged of things in their several relations, taking a comprehensive view of a subject; thoroughly orthodox, he was firm in his opinions. His social qualities were of the first order, his people were endeared to him, and his pastoral labors among them fully sustained his pulpit ministrations.

He married twice; first, in 1831 to Miss Mary Ann Morrison, daughter of Rev. Dr. Morrison of Londonderry, N. H.; second, Miss Susan Dana, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Dana, of Newburyport, Mass., who with five children survives him.

BATES, LEMUEL P.—The son of Lemuel and Lucy (Waite) Bates, was born in Blanford, Mass., 1791. He was educated at Williams' College Mass., and studied Theology at Princeton, N. J., where he graduated in 1822. He was licensed by the Congregational Association of Mass., and ordained by a council in 1823 over the churches at Whately and Templeton, Mass. In 1846, he removed west, and became pastor of the Presbyterian church at Pontiac, Michigan, within the bounds of Michigan Presbytery. After laboring in this region for a year, he returned east, and became a member of Erie Presbytery, and was stated supply for Conneatville and Harmansburgh churches in Pennsylvania until 1850.

In 1851, he joined New Lisbon Presbytery, and preached for some time at Utica, Ohio. He was without charge for several years, though he always preached when an opportunity offered. In 1859, he took charge of the church at Edwardsville, Illinois, where he was laboring at the time of his death, which took place at the residence of his nephew, the Rev. C. H. Taylor, Alton, Ills., March 5th, 1860, of a fever, complicated with other diseases. He married Miss Eunice Edwards (a daughter of Deacon Elisha Edwards of Southampton, Mass.), who survives him. He was a good preacher, and thoroughly orthodox, holding to the old theology of New England; several revivals of religion took place under his ministry.

BLACK, JAMES.—Was born in Millerstown, Pa., in 1779; his parents dying when he was an infant he was raised by his grandfather. He was educated at Belmont College, Tenn., and studied Theology privately. He was licensed by Abingdon Presbytery, Tenn., Oct. 7th, 1809, and ordained shortly afterwards. His first charge was at Romney, Va., where he laboured for fifteen years; thence to Elk Branch, Va.; then as a missionary in Ohio for several years. In 1839, he was in Wheeling Valley, Ohio, and he subsequently supplied Milton, Monroe, and Mt. Carmel churches. In 1847 he was stated supply for a church in Cincinnati, Ohio. His health, which was never robust, began to fail, and his mind became seriously impaired, so that for the past seven years, he was without charge. He resided with his family in Shepherdstown, Va., within the bounds of Carlisle Presbytery; where he died Feb. 21st, 1860, of Paralysis of the brain.

He married Miss Nancy McMurran, Dec. 21, 1820, who with three children survives him. He published a work on baptism. He was a mild, amiable man, who rather won by the gentleness of his manners than by strong aggressive efforts in the ministry

BLAND, PETER RANDOLPH.—The son of Richard and Elizabeth Bland, was born in Nottoway Co., Va., Dec. 9, 1800. His early education was carefully attended to, receiving all the literary advantages his native state afforded. He graduated with honour at Hampden Sidney College, Va. Several of his family were members of the bar, and he was thus prompted to study law. He became a member of the legal profession, and was quite successful, especially in criminal cases. In 1825, he made a profession of religion, and joined the Presbyterian Church in Nottoway, Va., where he was ordained an elder. In 1829, he removed to Fayette Co., Tenn., and settled in the place where he died. Shortly after his removal, he was led to seek the Gospel ministry, and after studying Theology with his pastor, he was licensed by Western District Presbytery, April 2, 1831, and on the first of October following he was ordained, and preached at Mount Bethany church. He also preached at Brownsville, and for a year was stated supply for Mountain church, Tenn. He organized Prospect church, out of which have grown Hickory, Withe, and Macon churches—he also supplied Mount Carmel church. In 1844, he was installed pastor over Emmanus church, where he remained until 1853; he subsequently became stated supply in Bellemont church, in Memphis Presbytery, Tenn.

Mr. Bland was a pathetic and tender preacher; he loved to plead with sinners and beseech them to come to Christ. He was devoted to the cause of Church Extension, as the success of his labors fully reveals. His manners were those of a Christian gentleman. He was punctual in his attendance, and in all his promises to the brethren, he could be relied on. As Chairman of the Education Committee of Western District Presbytery, and a Treasurer of Presbytery, he fulfilled all his duties faithfully.

He was a sufferer for many years, and died July 24, 1859, of dropsy of the chest. He married Miss Sarah Bland, who with one son survives him.

BOYD, BENJAMIN.—Was born Dec. 25, 1776, in Westmoreland Co. Pa. He was educated in Jefferson College, Canonsburg, Penna., and was licensed and ordained in 1801, and labored in Erie county, Penna., until 1811, when he removed to Western Virginia. During the war with Great Britain in 1812, he served as Chaplain in the army in Virginia, under Gen. Leftridge. In the autumn of 1814, he removed to Mason Co., Kent'y. In 1827, he was a member of Cincinnati Presbytery; in 1829 he removed to Newport, Ky.; in 1834 and '35, he was a member of Madison Presbytery, and preached in Pleasant Township church, Indiana; in 1836, he removed to Campbell Co., Ky., in the bounds of Ebenezer Presbytery, in Newport, Ky., and resided there until his death, October 1, 1859, which was caused by a severe fall.

He married Miss Annie Finley; they had several children, who survive him. His field of labor was in the immediate vicinity of Cincinnati, Ohio, though he preached for a few years in Indiana. Three of his brothers were Presbyterian ministers. He was buried in the cemetery at Newport, Ky.

BRADSHAW, AMZI.—The son of James Watson and Sarah Bradshaw, was born in North Carolina, July 12, 1800. His studies, both literary and theological, were pursued under the supervision of Rev. George Newton, of Bedford Co., Tenn., the father of the late Rev. Dr. Newton of Miss. He was licensed by Shiloh Presbytery in April, 1826, and ordained by the same Presbytery, in October following, as pastor of Spring Creek church, Wilson Co., Tenn.; he also supplied the Smyrna church. He was called to Fayetteville and Unity churches, Tenn., in 1831, where he laboured several years, as he had also done at Spring Creek church; thence he became stated supply at Bethsalem church; in connection with his ministerial labours, he was engaged in the work of teaching. He was subsequently appointed missionary at large through the bounds of Shiloh Presbytery.

In the autumn of 1858, he removed to Texas, and became principal of a female school in the town of La Grange. In April, 1859, he was dismissed at his own request, by Shiloh Presbytery, to join the Presbytery of Central Texas. He had for some time previous determined to join the Presbyterian Church, (o. s.) and was never in favour of the formation of a new body; and at the organization of the "United Synod," he declined to enter it. Thus it will be seen that Mr. Bradshaw's whole ministerial career had been within the bounds of Shiloh Presbytery, with the exception of the time between his dismissal to Central Texas Presbytery and his death.

Whilst attending to the duties of his school in preparing for the examination, which was to take place in a few days, he was struck with apoplexy. In reply to a friend, who sent for a physician, he said it was "not worth while, it will be over in a few minutes; my father died of apoplexy and so will I; but send for my wife as soon as possible." On Mrs. Bradshaw's arrival, he said, "My dear, I hear your voice, but I cannot see you, I am blind;" these were his last words, and in about two hours he died, June 15, 1859.

His preaching talents were good, his manners were ardent, and his success as a devoted minister, gratifying. He was a man of prayer, and though subject to occasional seasons of gloom, he was a cheerful Christian. As a teacher he was greatly beloved by his pupils. Many of his relatives were ministers of the Presbyterian Church. He married Miss Hannah Brown, who with five children survives him.

BRADSHAW, FIELDS.—The son of Josiah and Elizabeth (Hogan) Bradshaw, was born in Lincoln Co., N. C., December 31, 1799. His parents were members of the Baptist Church, and though exposed to the hardships and trials of a life of poverty, he, amid many difficulties, acquired a fair education. In his nineteenth year he made a profession of religion, and joined the Baptist Church. The year following, (1820) he was licensed to preach, and was a Baptist minister for ten years. Meditation and prayer prompted him to examine the subject of baptism, and his mind becoming enlightened, he united with the Presbyterian Church at Montgomery, Alabama, in 1830. He joined Tuscaloosa Presbytery, and spent one year at Centre College, Danville, Kent'y. On his examination by the Presbytery, though he had not taken a full course of studies, his case was deemed an exception, such as was contemplated in the Book of Discipline. His licensure and ordination in the Baptist Church were declared valid, and he entered upon his labors in 1831, as stated supply for Mount Meigs and Providence churches, in South Alabama Presbytery. In 1834, for Millennium, Hope, and Mount Harmony churches. In 1836, he joined Tuscaloosa Presbytery, and was stated supply of Concord, Mount Zion, and Mesopotamia churches; of the latter he was installed pastor, in 1840. He resigned in 1843, and remained without charge till the year following, when he was appointed as stated supply for Hebron and New Hope churches. In 1846, he gave up New Hope church, and in 1847, he was installed as pastor of Hebron church; he also preached as stated supply for Ebenezer church; this connection existed until 1850. In 1851, he took charge of Oak Grove, Pleasant Ridge, and Pickensville churches. He also preached for Bethesda church, in 1853. In 1855, he was pastor of Oak Grove church, Ala.; this relation he held until his death; from this record it appears that, like Paul, he was in labors abundant. An earnest, faithful preacher, he was ever ready to plead the cause of our Saviour. In defence of the truth he was firm, but his kindness of heart prevented him from saying aught to wound the feelings of others, whilst his urbanity and consideration gained him the respect and confidence of all classes. His last sermon was preached from John xvii. 1; "Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son that thy Son also may glorify thee." He was taken ill the next day, and soon after died of typhoid dysentery, June 22, 1859. He had never enjoyed good health. Suffering constantly from a diseased liver, his arduous and continued labors under such a trial, are the best evidences of his faithfulness and zeal. His death caused a deep feeling of sadness to pervade the whole community where he lived.

He married Miss Eliza Brack, of Montgomery Co., Ala., April 9th, 1829, who with a family of eight children survives him. Though not an author of any book, he wrote several articles on baptism.

BREWSTER, LORING.—Was born in 1796 at Weybridge, Addison Co., Vermont; very little is known of his early years. He was licensed by the Addison Congregational Association over the Congregational church in Addison, Vermont, in 1822; here he labored until he was called in 1840 to the Presbyterian church, (N. S.) at Livonia, N. Y., in Ontario Presbytery, where he was stated supply about four years, when he resigned and was without charge for several years. In 1856, he joined Hudson Presbytery (O. S.) and was pastor of Bethel church, N. Y. In 1858, he joined West Jersey Presbytery, and became pastor of the church at Cape Island, N. J.; here he labored until his death, Feb. 12, 1860, of heart disease.

He was twice married; his first wife was Miss Jewell of Vermont; they were divorced. He subsequently married a lady in N. J., who survives him.

BRONSON, OLIVER.—The son of Greene C. and Lucretia Bronson, was born in Utica, N. Y., Jan. 9, 1826. He received careful parental training. His preparation for College was made at Prof. Bartlett's High School, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and at the Albany Academy; on leaving which, he received a gold medal as the best linguist in his class. He entered Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1843 and graduated in 1845.

Previous to his entering College, he became a member of the Second Presbyterian church, Albany, N. Y., under the pastoral care of the venerable Dr. Sprague. During his collegiate term his thoughts were turned towards the ministry, but owing to his delicate constitution, it was feared that the trials and privations of the ministry might produce an unfavorable effect upon his health; he therefore after much consideration and counsel decided to study Law, and was admitted to the bar in 1848. His prospects were brilliant—his father was on the bench of the Supreme Court, and all the appliances of success were at his command. But he had never given up the desire to preach the Gospel; so after practising law about three years, he resolved to change his profession, and entered the Theological Seminary at Auburn, N. Y. In 1852, he was licensed by Cayuga Presbytery, and in 1853 he finished his Theological course.

During the fall and winter of 1853-4, he preached as supply to the Congregational church at Sherborne, N. Y. In March, 1854, he received a call from the Reformed Protestant Dutch church, at Kinderhook, N. Y., and was ordained by the Classis of Rensselaer, in May, 1854. Owing to intense application to study and labor, and too little care of his health, in 1857 he was prompted to send in his resignation. After several efforts on the part of the Consistory and congregation to induce him to alter his mind, it was accepted. A hemorrhage of the lungs so reduced him that his death was anticipated; but slowly recovering until he was able to travel, he visited some relatives at Janesville, Wisconsin, and though earnestly requested by his parents and friends not to preach until his health was fully restored, his zeal in his Master's cause was such, that he consented to supply the Presbyterian church at Janesville for a year; at the end of which time, he was called to become their pastor, and was installed by the Presbytery of Milwaukee, October 1, 1858.

Here he labored earnestly and faithfully until his death, Jan'y. 10, 1860, which was occasioned by disease of the heart and hemorrhage of the lungs. He had long been an invalid, but his conscientiousness was extreme, and his constant prayer was for life and health, that he might do more for Christ and his cause. His remains were taken to New York, the residence of his parents, and buried in Greenwood Cemetery.

He married in Sept. 1853, Miss Annie Lightbody, of Utica, who with one child survives him.

He was somewhat slender in person, and had the air and manners of a student and a gentleman. He was conversant with the ancient languages, and read and spoke fluently the Italian, French, and German. He was beloved by all who knew him. A volume of his sermons will be published if sufficient encouragement is given.

COCHRANE, SYLVESTER.—Was born May 8, 1796, in Antrim, N. H. He was the son of Andrew, and grandson of deacon Isaac Cochrane, a prominent and worthy citizen of Antrim, and one of its earliest settlers. Owing to the limited means of his parents, his education was obtained under the usual difficulties of such a condition. He attended Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., until the Academy buildings were destroyed by fire, and continued his studies at seminaries in the vicinity of his home. He entered the Sophomore class of Dartmouth College in June, 1820, and finished his course in 1823. He studied Theology mostly under Rev. Moses P. Bradford, of Francistown, N. H., and in part with Rev. Dr. Whiton of Antrim, N. H.

He was licensed by the Union Association of New Boston, consisting of nearly an equal number of Presbyterian and Congregational ministers, and ordained in 1827 over the Congregational church in Poultney, Vermont, by a council of Congregational ministers. During his connection with this church, the cause prospered exceedingly. In 1829 it enjoyed a revival of religion, which resulted in nearly two hundred joining the church.

He remained pastor of this church until the fall of 1837, when he removed to Eaton Co., Michigan, with a colony from Vermont. The settlement was called Vermontville. He supplied the Congregational church there for five years. He next preached in Howell, Mich., and thence in 1844 removed to Northville, Mich., filling the pulpit of the Presbyterian church, (N. S.) for five years.

In 1854, having during the interim supplied the Congregational Church of Livonia and other Missionary churches in the vicinity, he commenced preaching to the Second Presbyterian church, Plymouth, Mich. In 1856, he joined Michigan Presbytery, and was installed Pastor over Plymouth church. In 1859, he resigned this charge, and from that time until his death, he was only occasionally able to preach.

His health began to fail in the autumn of 1854, gradual and unattended with much suffering,—a slow but sure consumption was wasting his system till he died, March 14, 1860.

He married in 1824 Miss Hannah Symonds of Hancock, N. H. They had four children; two of these, a son and a daughter, survive him.

He was an able minister, outspoken in rebuking error; he was a friend and advocate of moral reforms, though far from being a man of one idea; of catholic spirit, considerate judgment, and consistent deportment, he was a valuable member of society and the church.

COOLEY, ELI FIELD.—The son of Rinnah and Lucy (Field) Cooley, was born at Sunderland, Mass., Oct. 15, 1781. He received careful training from his parents, and was educated in the town Academy of Hartford, Conn., to which his parents had removed. In 1803, he entered the College of New Jersey, and graduated in September, 1806. He studied Theology under S. Stanhope Smith, D. D., President of the College of New Jersey; and in Oct. 1809, he was licensed by New Brunswick Presbytery. In August, 1810, he received a call from Cherry Valley church, New York, which was accepted, and in February, 1811, he was ordained and installed by Oneida Presbytery. James Carnahan, D. D., late President of the College of New Jersey, preached the sermon. Here he labored until 1819, when he accepted a call from the church at Middletown Point, New Jersey, in the bounds of New Brunswick Presbytery, over which he was installed, August, 1820. Isaac V. Brown, D. D., of Trenton, N. J., preached the sermon. He remained here three years, when he accepted a call from the Ewing church, N. J., then known as the Trenton First church. Here he was installed June 4, 1823, and continued to minister as pastor until July 19, 1857, when he preached his farewell sermon, the Presbytery dissolving the pastorate at his own request. From this time until his death he had no regular place of preaching; but his health visibly declined, though his faculties were unimpaired, and recovering from a sick spell, he died very suddenly, from what was deemed an affection of the heart, on Sabbath, April 22, 1860.

He was a decidedly practical man; not given to authorship, he devoted his time to doing good; a wise counsellor, an humble Christian, persevering, industrious, and charitable. His influence was strong, and his example worthy of profound respect—the leading effort of his life was usefulness. He prepared a genealogical work of interest to the people of his last charge.

Several of his relatives were ministers. He was married three times; first, to Miss Scudder, from near Princeton, N. J.; they had several children, two of whom, Mr. Wm. Cooley, of Philadelphia, and Mr. S. L. Cooley, of Trenton, survive; second, Miss Henderson of Monmouth, N. J., two daughters by this marriage are living; and third, Miss Reading, of his last charge, who survives him.

He filled various offices of trust, in all of which the practical character of his mind proved beneficial.

COOPER, SAMUEL MILROY.—The son of Robert and Elizabeth Cooper, was born in Kishacoquillas Valley, Mifflin Co., Penna. in 1814. He early professed religion, and after receiving a good primary education, he entered Jefferson College, Penna., and graduated in 1836. In 1837, he entered Princeton Theological Seminary, where, after a full course of studies, he was licensed by Huntingdon Presbytery at Manor Hill in 1840, and ordained the same year over the Lick Run or Sinking Creek church, Centre Co., Penna.; this relation existed for fifteen years. He subsequently was pastor at Clearfield, and during the last two years of his life was pastor at Little Valley church, Mifflin Co., Pa. These churches, amongst which he labored at different periods, all evinced their high regard for him by their considerate kindness during his last illness. He was obliged to cease his public labors early in the month of January, when his disease assumed a threatening aspect, and continued its wasting influence until he died, August 16, 1860, of pulmonary consumption.

In connection with his pastoral duties, much of his time was spent in teaching. He was highly esteemed, and particularly so by his brethren in the ministry. He was an able minister, an eminent Christian, and an exemplary man. The spirit and tendency of his intercourse, the character of his religious experience, and the stability of his patience and resignation whilst on his death-bed, were such as to heighten the desire expressed by the emphatic language, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his."

His funeral sermon was preached by James S. Woods, D. D., from Prov. xiv. 32, "The righteous hath hope in his death." His remains were borne to the burial-ground of a neighboring church, East Kishacoquillas, where other members of his family had been laid.

He married Miss Nancy Forsythe, who with three children survives him.

CRANE, NATHANIEL M.—The son of Oliver and Susannah Crane, was born in West Bloomfield, N. J., December, 12, 1805. His parents were pious, and taught the principles of truth to their son. At the age of fifteen, he went to Newark, N. J., and learned a trade. During his apprenticeship he made a profession of religion, and consecrated himself to the work of the ministry, devoting the little property he had acquired by his industry to the preparation for his work.

Having spent two years in the Bloomfield Academy, he entered Williams' College, Mass., and after pursuing his studies in that institution for several sessions, he travelled westward for the benefit of his failing health, which being restored, he entered Washington College, Pa., and graduated in 1832. Two years were then spent at the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pa. During this time he decided to become a Foreign Missionary, and having returned to the East, was led to finish his Theological course at Auburn, N. Y. In the Autumn of 1836, he was ordained by the Presbytery of Cayuga, and was soon after married, and sailed for India under the American Board of Com. for Foreign Missions, in company with six other missionaries and their wives. His field of labor was among the Tamul people, in Southern Hindoostan.

He was permitted to preach the Gospel, and labor for the salvation of that heathen people over seven years, when, having become prostrated by sickness, and, in the opinion of his physicians, beyond the hope of recovery in that climate, he returned to his native land. After spending two years with his kindred and friends in New Jersey, he removed with his family to Warren Co., Pa., where a residence of two years on a farm so far restored his wasted energies, that he commenced preaching at Sugar Grove and Irvine, in the bounds of Erie Presbytery, where he labored for six years. In the Spring of 1854, he removed to Rimersburg, Clarion Co., Pa., and took charge of the churches of Bethesda, New Bethlehem, and Middle-Creek. Over the former of these churches, he was installed pastor by Clarion Presbytery, in 1855, continuing as stated supply to the other churches of his charge.

In the Autumn of 1857, he removed to the West, and spent the following Winter in Illinois. The next Spring he removed to, and commenced preaching in Indian Town, Tama Co., Iowa. Here he labored eighteen months, when he died of typhoid fever, Sept. 21, 1859. His last words were, "I die in the faith of Jesus Christ. 'Tis sweet to die in Jesus."

He married Miss Julia A. Ostrander, who with two sons and four daughters survives him.

He was distinguished for his sincere and earnest devotion to his calling, the purity of his life, and the urbanity of his manners. He was a true missionary to the last, and died in the triumph of faith. His whole life was eminently one of conscientious and consistent piety. Unostentatious and meek in his whole deportment, none knew or observed him in his devoted performance of duty without being led to esteem him with affectionate consideration and regard.

CROWE, D. D., JOHN FINLEY.—The son of Benjamin Crowe, was born in what is now Green Co., Tenn., June 17, 1787. His early life was spent amid the anxieties and privations of a frontier life, owing to the border warfare with the Indians. In 1802, his parents removed to Washington county, Mo.; this was indeed missionary ground; for, surrounded by scenes of lawless violence, he was exposed to every temptation, but some other families removing to that neighborhood, a prayer-meeting was established, and his heart was touched with divine grace, and he made a profession of religion. In his twenty-second year he entered the family of Rev. Samuel Finley, pastor of a Presbyterian church near Lexington, Ky., at the commencement of his studies for the ministry. Here he passed the time till 1812, when he entered Transylvania University, Ky.; his talents awakening an interest in his success in the heart of Mr. McNeill.

He studied Theology one year (1814) at Princeton, N. J., and in 1815, he was licensed by West Lexington Presbytery. He commenced preaching for Shiloh and Olivet churches, Ky.; he was ordained by Louisville Presbytery in 1816, and preached in Shelbyville, Ky., until 1833, when he became pastor of the Presbyterian church in Hanover, Ind'a., and joined Salem Presbytery in Jan. 1827. At the request of the Presbytery, he opened a grammar school, which was the nucleus of Hanover College, and he thus again united the offices of pastor and teacher till 1823. When Hanover Academy became a College, he devoted all his time to giving instruction and acting as Agent. In 1840, he was again pastor of Hanover church, though still connected with the College; this arrangement lasted till 1845, when he devoted all his time to the College, until he was laid aside by ill health. He died Jan. 17, 1860, of dropsy, though he suffered from ossification of the heart, with a tendency to paralysis.

He married Miss Esther Alexander, Nov. 23, 1813. They had twelve children, six sons and six daughters, two of his sons and four sons-in-law became ministers.

He was a man of sound judgment and discretionary mind, patient, humble, and persevering from his strong sense of duty. He was considerate and forgiving, securing the love of those with whom he mingled. As a teacher, he ranked among the first, and his long continued and unwearied efforts in behalf of Hanover College made him the life of the institution.

He had an active mind, and wrote often for the press. He published a small treatise on Baptism, and edited a paper in Shelbyville, Ky., advocating the Colonization cause.

DANA, D. D., DANIEL.—The son of Rev. Joseph and Mary (Staniford) Dana, was born in Ipswich, Mass., July 24, 1771. He received his education under the immediate supervision of his father, and at the town school of his native place. In 1785, he was admitted into the Sophomore class of Dartmouth College, N. H., and graduated in 1788. He spent several years teaching school as assistant of Dr. Benjamin Abbot, at Exeter Academy.

In 1791, he returned to Ipswich, having made a profession of religion. He studied theology and taught school until May 15, 1793, when he was licensed by the Essex Association at what is now Georgetown, Mass., where he preached a few weeks. He supplied Dr. Morse's pulpit, in Charlestown, and preached at Londonderry, N. H., and Hampton, Mass.

In March, 1794, he visited Newburyport, Mass., and in June, was invited to become pastor of the Federal Street church. He was ordained and installed as pastor, Nov. 19th, following. His ordination sermon was preached by his father. He at this time became connected with the Presbyterian Church, and his love for Presbyterianism increased from this time. Here he labored for twenty-six years, in the faithful and uninterrupted discharge of his duties.

In 1820, after the death of Dr. Brown, he was elected President of Dartmouth College; this connection was quite brief. As soon as he resigned, he was called to the pastoral care of the church in Londonderry, N. H., where he was installed, January, 1822; his brother, from Marblehead, preached on the occasion. After four-and-a-half years' labor with this people, he resigned, and again became a pastor in Newburyport, Mass., his congregation being this time a portion of those who seceded from his church when he first settled in that town. Here he was installed in May, 1826. Rev. J. P. Williams preached the sermon. He remained with them until 1845. For a year and a half he was minister at large for the town, but after that, though he had no stated employment as a minister, he preached whenever occasion required. His health gradually became feeble, and without any disease, in full possession of his faculties, he died, Aug. 26, 1859.

He was an earnest defender of Presbyterianism. His protest against the Andoverian Theology will long be remembered, revealing, as it does, his love for the truth taught in the Scriptures and developed by the Shorter Catechism.

He was an affectionate and conciliatory preacher, his kindly demeanor towards all gained him many warm friends, and cemented them by his heavenly spirit. In his day, Dr. Dana exerted a large influence in the religious world. His reputation crossed the water, and visitors from abroad often called upon him. Though firm in his opinions, and uncompromising, if need be, in their expression, he was singularly urbane and prepossessing in his manners. No better specimen of the Christian gentleman could be found.

He increased in wisdom as his years grew upon him, and his counsels were treasured by his brethren. As a writer, his style was unaffected and pure, free from literary incongruities, and unmeaning though elaborate phrases. In 1802, he prepared from the English edition, Dr. Gibbons' "Memoirs of Eminently Pious Women," which was followed by his edition of "Flavel's Works." He wrote and published numerous Tracts and Sermons. He also prepared for Rev. Dr. Sprague very interesting reminiscences concerning the early ministers of his day. He was one of the original members of Newburyport Presbytery, (now dissolved,) and was its first commissioner to the General Assembly in 1827.

He married Miss Elizabeth Welcombe, December 30, 1800. She died in 1812. He married a second time Miss Sarah Emery in 1814, and she died in 1819. He left eight children living, two sons and six daughters; one of his sons is the Rev. W. C. Dana, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, Charleston, S. C.

DAVIES, JOHN LE ROY.—The son of Rev. John B. and Mary (Buford) Davies, was born in Chester District, S. C., Nov. 3, 1799. His parents trained him carefully, and he entered the University of North Carolina, where he graduated in 1821. He studied Theology at the Princeton Seminary, finishing his course in 1824. He was licensed by New Brunswick Presbytery, and ordained by Bethel Presbytery, then in connection with the Synod of North Carolina, June 7, 1827. His first charge was Catholic Presbyterian church, in Chester Dist., S. C., in Bethel Presbytery. Here he labored with success for eleven years.

A greater part of his time he preached at the "Brick church," which had been deserted by the Covenanters. Here also a large congregation was soon gathered. In 1839, he accepted calls from the united churches of Prospect and Centre, in Concord Presbytery, North Carolina. In 1845, he gave up Centre church, and was pastor of Prospect church alone until 1850, when he returned to Bethel Presbytery, South Carolina, and for some time supplied the churches of Hopewell in York, Waxhaw in Lancaster, and Cedar Shoal in Chester districts. In the summer of 1859, he visited Arkansas, with a view of settling in some of the inviting fields in that State. During this visit, he traveled much, preaching in destitute regions. In these laborious journeyings and protracted meetings, exposed to the severity of the summer heat, fever ensued, and his vigorous constitution gave way. Returning to South Carolina, his health gradually declined, until he died, June 16th, 1860, of chronic diarrhœa.

He was a man of vigorous intellect, and his attainments as a theologian were considerable. As a preacher, he was animated and graceful in his delivery, and his discourses were thoroughly Calvinistic, being strongly imbued with the truths contained in God's word. The first years of his ministry seem to have been his best. Seldom a sacramental meeting passed without numbers being added to the church. During the eleven years of his pastoral charge of Catholic church, over two hundred and fifty persons were added to the communion of the church, and when at Prospect church, N. C., members were received at nearly every communion.

He was an earnest advocate of the doctrines and polity of the Presbyterian Church, (o. s.) and took an active part in the division of the Church in 1837.

He was married twice: his first wife was Miss Mary Isabella, daughter of John Hemphill, M. D., of Chester Dist., S. C., she died about three years after their marriage; they had two children, both of whom died in infancy. His second wife was Miss Eliza C. G. Wilson, daughter of Samuel B. Wilson, D. D., Professor in the Union Theological Seminary, Va., who, with a family of eight children, survives him.

His father and brother, William B. Davies, who died in 1856, were Presbyterian ministers. His nephew, Rev. Jas. A. Davies, of Meeks Hill, S. C., and his son, Rev. Samuel W. Davies, of Pecan Grove, La., are members of the Presbyterian Church.

FEE, R. A.—Emigrated to this country, and was a licentiate in the bounds of Memphis Presbytery, and preached at Dancyville, Tenn.; the following year he joined Mississippi Presbytery, and was stated supply for Carmel church, near Natchez, Miss. In 1857, he removed to Louisiana, where he was ordained and installed as Pastor of the Presbyterian church at Williamsport, La. The Synod of Mississippi, at its meeting in 1859, adopted the following minute:

Rev. R. A. Fee came into our bounds about five years ago, and entered upon his field of labor in 1857, where he was quite successful in building two tasteful and commodious church edifices, and where large and respectable congregations have been collected. With an unusual degree of zeal and prudence he honored the ministerial profession, and won for himself a good report. He was called suddenly to his last account, being sick but two days, and was not aware of his dying condition until a few minutes before the last breath.

And to the distant relations in a foreign land of our young brother Fee, who had buried his last earthly kindred, a fond mother, on this side the great waters, we send our expressions of solemn and earnest sympathy, assuring them that though their relative died a stranger in a strange land, he died among those who loved and honored him, while his latest years were comforted by the respect and affection of a large circle of friends, the soft hand of friendship also wiped the cold damps from his dying brow.

FINLEY, ROBERT SMITH.—The son of Rev. Dr. Robert and Esther (Caldwell) Finley, was born at Baskingridge, N. J., May 9, 1804. His father's name is identified with the origin of the scheme of African colonization. His mother was a daughter of the Rev. James Caldwell, who was pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at Elizabeth, N. J.,—a man of devoted piety, and a revolutionary patriot. These parents dedicated their four sons to the work of the ministry, and gave a home training which exerted the happiest influence over them.

Robert S. Finley graduated at the College of New Jersey, at Princeton, then studied law, and was admitted to the bar in Cincinnati, Ohio, where his prospects were bright; but he felt constrained by a higher power to prepare for the gospel ministry. He entered Lane Seminary in 1833, with the intention of pursuing a regular course of Theological study, but the Abolition excitement having just broken out in the institution, with a zeal and asperity that entirely diverted the attention of the young men from study, he left the Seminary in a few weeks, and finished his ministerial preparation under the care of the Presbytery. He was licensed by the Presbytery of Mississippi in the autumn of 1835, and was ordained by the same Presbytery, in Oct. 1842. He commenced his ministerial work in Pine Grove, La., where, in addition to his labors in a congregation of white people, he had a large Bible class of negroes. He afterwards filled a post of great usefulness, near Natchez, Miss., where he was missionary to the slaves on several large plantations.

Mr. Finley edited the "Liberian Advocate" for about six years, in St. Louis, Mo. It was a monthly paper, devoted to the Colonization cause.

In 1850, he became pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Metuchen, N. J. For seven years, he devoted himself most earnestly to the care of that flock, not only in the pulpit and in pastoral visits, but in Bible classes, and in untiring efforts to promote the christian education of youth. He established a classical school for boys, and superintended a select school for females, which was taught at the Parsonage.

The last two years of his life were spent in Talladega, Alabama, where he was Principal of the Presbyterian Collegiate Institute for females. During most of that time, he preached regularly in the Presbyterian church, at Mardisville. Although a failure of health constrained him several times to seek change of place or employment, it was ever his joy to preach the gospel. His success as a minister was chiefly in promoting the spirituality of the Church, and instructing the youth. The seed thus sown, has sprung up and yielded its fruit in a gradual, steady increase of numbers and piety.

In 1834, he married Julia W. Robbins, daughter of Judge Robbins, of Montgomery Co., Ky. He left no children. Two of his brothers entered the ministry, and the younger brother was in a course of preparation, when he was called away from earthly duties. The Rev. George McKinley of Champaign, Ills., married Mr. Finley's youngest sister; and among the various branches of his parents' families, are many faithful ministers, while many others have passed to their great reward.

Throughout his life, four great objects were prominently before his mind: First, The Gospel of Christ, as the only effectual remedy for the evils of the world. Hence he looked with distrust and sorrow upon every political and social agitation, that was calculated to divert the public attention from religious and social duties.

Secondly, As a consequence of this view, he entertained a profound conviction of the importance of introducing the Bible as a regular branch of study into all our schools, throughout the whole course of education.

Thirdly, The religious instruction of the slaves. This part of his work was constantly before his mind as the great work of the Christian minister in the slave states,—a work into which he entered with all his sympathies and energies, for which he was eminently qualified, and in which he was very successful. He had a rare gift, which enabled him to interest and instruct the negroes, without departing from the seriousness and dignity of his office. The chief design of the "Liberian Advocate" was to promote the religious instruction of the slaves, and it exerted a powerful influence in that direction.

Fourthly, Planting colonies on the coast, and in the interior of Africa, as the most hopeful plan for introducing the institutions of religion into that country, and as the proper home for such of the African race as possessed the character and habits to enable them to avail themselves of its advantages. Some of the best years of his life were spent in advocating the claims of colonization.

To his mind, the domestic and social relations were invested with a peculiar solemnity and sacredness, as institutions ordained of God, whose obligations could not be invalidated by any act of the individual. His attachments were so sincere, so disinterested, so permanent as to be more properly characterized as acts of piety. To be his friend once, was to have a hold on his sympathies through life.

He was ardent, courageous, firm, devoted to the cause of Christ and the happiness of man, and full of sympathy for human sorrow. His own rights he easily relinquished for conscience' sake, but neither numbers nor example ever induced him to swerve from the maintenance of Christian principles, or the defence of the rights of the oppressed and the friendless. His perceptions of right were clear, and when he knew the path of duty, he never left it. When convinced that he was wrong, he was yielding, but no fear of man deterred him from what he believed God required.

In an eminent degree he secured the confidence and affection of all with whom he associated, of every rank and condition. His sympathy for the poor and suffering became more deep and permanent; the frequent departure of friends and the habitual view of his own approaching end, increased his anxiety to fulfill every obligation, and avoid every possible cause of offence to all men.

He died at Talladega, July 2, 1860, of inflammation of the bowels. As he approached the termination of his life, his character ripened rapidly for heaven. He seemed at a loss for words to express his views of the glory and perfection of the Divine character and will, and his grateful love for God's faithfulness to His people. When told that he would soon be at rest, he exclaimed, "Oh! happy day."

FOSTER, JOSEPH C.—The son of Thomas and Betsey (Porter) Foster, was born in Carmel, N. Y., July 20, 1822; he was educated at Williams College, Mass. Having made a profession of religion, he felt it to be his duty to study for the ministry; he studied Theology at Princeton, N. J., and was licensed by Bedford Presbytery in 1852, and occupied, with great acceptance, as stated supply the pulpit of the church in which he had been brought up. He received a call from the church at Red Mills, N. Y., where he was ordained in the autumn of 1854, and continued to be pastor until April, 1859. During these years his health was far from good, obliging him at times to desist from all labor. He was one who would rather wear out than rust out. That disposition, combined with an ardent desire to preach the gospel, often took him into the pulpit when his body would scarcely sustain him through the service. His health however continued to decline, and he resigned his charge. After resting several months, a journey to St. Paul, Minn., was proposed; he reached St. Paul, July 14, and died July 23, 1860, of consumption. He was highly esteemed for his modesty, Christian deportment, ability, and piety. He was an able and good minister of Jesus Christ. His sermons evinced fine powers of mind, good habits of study, and clear views of truth.

He married Miss Hannah Jackson, who survives him.

HARRINGTON, JOHN.—The son of Scion and Ann Harrington, was born in Moore County, N. C., Decem. 25th, 1790. He was educated at the Academy on Deep River, N. C. His parents were very careful in his training, and on making a profession of religion, his thoughts were turned towards the ministry. He studied Theology privately with Rev. Murdock McMillan for some time, and then with Rev. Dr. Snodgrass of Fayetteville, N. C. He was licensed and ordained by Fayetteville Presbytery in 1816, and labored as a missionary in the bounds of the Presbytery for two years. He received a call from Hopewell church, in Marion Dist., S. C., and joined Harmony Presbytery; here he remained until he removed to Sumterville, S. C., where he was pastor of Mount Zion, Concord, and Sumterville churches.

In 1829 and 1830, God crowned his faithful labors with a precious revival of religion in Mt. Zion congregation, by which a large number were added to that church; many of whom still live to testify by their consistent and useful lives to the genuineness of that gracious work. Shortly after this manifestation of God's blessing upon his labors, he was struck down in the pulpit with an epileptic spasm; from this he recovered, but the disease continued until he was finally laid aside from the duties of his ministry, in which, above all other things, his heart and soul delighted. For a quarter of a century did his long night of affliction continue, during which he was patient, submissive and resigned. No murmuring or repining at God's dealings with him ever escaped his lips, but he experienced an increasing anxiety and longing to depart and be with Christ.

Mr. Harrington was an able and favorite preacher, much loved by the people of his charge; and many persons still speak of the success of his ministry: He died of epilepsy at his residence in Sumter, S. C., Dec. 17, 1859.

He married Miss Harriet E. Hudson, who with two sons and four daughters survives him; three of his daughters are wives of Presbyterian ministers.

HEDGES, CHARLES E.—The son of Henry and Mary A. (Topping) Hedges, was born in Chester, N. J., in 1836. Blessed with pious parents, and surrounded by all the gentle influences of a Christian home, he was early taught the way of life. His academical training was received under the care of Mr. Chandler, at West Farms, N. Y., and subsequently at Allentown, Pa. On leaving school, he entered the Sophomore class of the College of New Jersey, at Princeton, N. J., in 1852. During the Christmas vacation of 1853, he made a profession of religion. He graduated at the College of New Jersey in 1855, and entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton, where, after a three years' course, he graduated in 1858.

He was licensed by Passaic Presbytery in April, 1858, and soon after commenced preaching at Croton Falls, N. Y. Here, his health failed, and in October following, he returned home; though he gained strength, a hemorrhage of the lungs prevented him from preaching. During the spring and summer, by exercise in the open air, his health improved, and it was thought a journey to California would restore it permanently, and in Dec., 1859, he left for San Francisco. For several months his health was better, but in April, he was again attacked with a severe hemorrhage of the lungs, and after lingering for eleven weeks, he died, July 12th, 1860, at Marysville, California.

His intellectual powers were good, and as a student he ranked high. He was very gentle in his manners, modest and retiring; when obliged to give up preaching, he became superintendent of the Sabbath-school, into which he entered with a singleness of purpose quite marked—his earnest desire was to be useful. Dying amidst strangers, his last words were, "Tell my parents, I feel perfectly resigned to the will of God. Jesus is very near, and very precious, and I die happy."

He was a nephew of Rev. Abram Williamson of Walnut Grove, N. J., and Rev. E. Quillan, of Ipava, Ills., and a great-grandson of Rev. William Woodhull, of New Jersey.

HERVEY, D. D., JAMES.—The son of Henry and Margaret Hervey was born in Brooke Co., Va., Aug. 13, 1782. He was educated in Jefferson College, Pa., graduating in 1810. He studied Theology under Rev. Dr. John Rea; he was licensed by Ohio Presbytery, and ordained in 1819 as pastor of the Forks of Wheeling church, in the bounds of Washington Presbytery, also the church in Wheeling, Va., and West Union church.

He was pastor for more than fifty years, and in all the community was looked upon as an humble, consistent, Christian man; he was faithful to the last. His system breaking down, owing to the decay of nature, he died, Sep. 13, 1859.

He married Miss Jane McKinley, of West Liberty, Va., who, with four sons and four daughters, survives him; one son lately died who was studying for the ministry; two of his brothers and a nephew are Presbyterian ministers.

HOGG, THOMAS.—The son of A. H. and Jessie C. Hogg, was born in Pittsburg, Pa., Feb'y 18, 1832. He received the best education, graduating at the Western University of Penna., and was admitted to the bar. The profession of law was very attractive to his mind, and he entered into its active duties with great zeal and success; at the end of several years, his thoughts were turned to the ministry; having experienced a change of heart, he entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton, N. J., and was licensed by Chicago Presbytery in the spring of 1860. He at once commenced preaching in the bounds of the Presbytery; earnest, laborious, and faithful, he rapidly gained the confidence of the brethren, and was highly acceptable to the churches. His scholarship was accurate and extensive, his mind was strong and his perceptive powers clear and penetrating; his intercourse with the people was marked by courtesy and refinement, his gentle and amiable spirit being in close alliance with sincerity and faithfulness as a friend and Christian. After a short illness from an affection of the brain, he died at his father's residence in Chicago, Ill., June 28, 1860.

HOPE, M. D., D. D., MATTHEW BOYD.—The son of Richard and Mary (Boyd) Hope, was born in Mifflin Co., Penna., July 31, 1812. His parents manifested the utmost care in the training of their son, and his subsequent career well repaid their faithfulness. He entered Jefferson College, Penna., where he graduated in 1830. He studied Theology at Princeton, N. J., graduating in 1833. He studied medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in view of his appointment as missionary to Singapore. In 1835, he was licensed by Huntingdon Presbytery, and ordained by the same Presbytery the year following. He entered upon the work of Foreign Missions, under an appointment from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, at Singapore, but the climate and his own delicate health soon forced him to return. He labored earnestly and faithfully till the last, and when he left his field of labor, it was very doubtful if he would reach the United States alive.

His voyage was however beneficial, and soon after his arrival home, he received an appointment as an agent for the American Colonization Society, then as Assistant Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Education, of which he became Corresponding Secretary in 1841. In 1845, he was elected Prof. of Belles Lettres and Political Economy in the College of New Jersey. This relation existed until his death, Dec. 17, 1859, of neuralgia of the heart.

He was a man of ardent piety; this was a peculiar trait of his character. He was a child of the covenant, and was trained in the nurture and admonition of the Lord; and when Secretary of the Board of Education, he did much to awaken the sympathies of the Church in behalf of the objects for which that Board was established; and his long connection with the College of New Jersey gave the best evidence of those intellectual resources with which he was gifted. He will long be honored by the College of New Jersey both as a teacher and as eminently advancing the general interests of the institution, not only by his own high intellectual powers, but in raising up friends and directing their abundance into the treasury. He was a close student, whilst he was for years a sufferer. As a preacher, he was attractive and instructive in the highest degree, though his health prevented him from occupying the pulpit for any length of time.

He was modest and somewhat retiring in his manner; and in his intercourse with the people, he won their hearts, and enlisted their sympathies by that spiritual mindedness and purity of life which were marked characteristics of the man. In the town of Princeton, N. J., during his funeral, the places of business were closed.

Though his health prevented any animated display of oratory, he was still a master of the art; the gracefulness of his address, the easiness of his manners, the urbanity of his intercourse with his brother professors as well as with the students, all revealed the high-toned Christian gentleman.

His disease, which was neuralgia, had been preying upon his frail body for many years. It first attacked him in his foot, then in his brain, next in his neck, then again in his stomach, and finally it went to the fountain of life, and clutched the pulsations of his heart. For several weeks he complained of his breast, but continued to go about and attend to his ordinary duties until the morning of his decease. He had but a few minutes' premonition that his hour had come.

He told his family that he was going to die; that the pins of his tabernacle had been taken out, and that it was going to fall. He spoke of his children, and repeated the verse, beginning:

"A guilty, weak, and helpless worm,
On thy kind arms I fall,"

and his heart ceased its pulsations before his physician could reach him.

His funeral sermon was preached by John Maclean, D. D., President of the College, from Ps. xlv. 10; xxxix. 9. "Be still and know that I am God." "I was dumb and opened not my mouth because thou didst it." He also spoke of the distinguished ability with which Professor Hope managed the instruction of his department, the importance of the services which he had rendered to the College in many ways, particularly in the matter of its endowment, in which it was remarked that he did more in its behalf than any other person had ever done, and he had laid the Institution under a debt of obligation to him never to be repaid; of his amiable and social qualities, and especially his ardent and devoted piety, and the interest taken by him in all that related to the spiritual welfare of the College.

He married Miss Agnes C. Bevan, daughter of the late Matthew L. Bevan, Esq., of Philadelphia, who with a son and a daughter survives him.

He was editor of the Biblical Repertory for some time, and wrote numerous essays which were published in its pages. Also an essay on What Constitutes a Call to the Ministry; a number of sermons by request, and last, a work on Rhetoric.

HUMPHREY, J. C.—The son of William and Susan (Woodward) Humphrey, was born in Darien, N. Y., July 3, 1829. He received the usual academical training, and entered Genesee College, at Lima, N. Y.; owing to feeble health, he left before graduation, and thinking a more genial climate would restore his health, he went to Georgia and engaged in teaching private classes of young men preparing for college; whilst thus employed in Griffin, Geo., he commenced his studies for the ministry, and entered the Theological Seminary at Columbia, S. C., where he graduated in 1857.

He was licensed by Flint River Presbytery, Oct. 10, 1856. He preached in several places during the last year of his seminary course; two months in Charleston, and also in Columbia during the temporary absence of Dr. Thornwell. On leaving the Seminary he was called to the First Presbyterian church, Augusta, Geo., but owing to the unsettled state of his health, he preferred being a stated supply; this arrangement lasted for eight months, when he accepted the appointment as Evangelist for Hopewell Presbytery. It was thought that the active open air exercise in traveling would enable him to overcome the disease which was gaining upon him. He entered upon his labors with zeal; on leaving Augusta, the congregation presented him with a handsome horse and carriage and every convenience for traveling. He was ordained by Hopewell Presbytery, May 2, 1858, and during the spring and summer his labors were arduous and unremitting. He was a good extempore preacher, with a clear voice, and loved his work so much that his enthusiasm in the cause of Christ prompted him to labor beyond his strength. When sudden debility forced him to refrain from preaching. Finding that his health was rapidly failing, he returned to the scenes of his early life, where after a few more months of resistance to disease, he died at Marilla, N. Y., Sep. 14, 1859, of hemorrhage of the lungs, being the final development of consumption.

He was, though a continued sufferer, a bright and cheerful Christian; with a deep and fervent piety he combined a sound judgment and a firm purpose; all loved him, and his brief career awakened the confidence and respect of his brethren. He was a brother of Mrs. Danforth, a missionary at Ningpo, China.

He married, Sept. 30, 1857, Miss Louise S. Jackman, daughter of Hon. Judge Jackman, of Marilla, N. Y. who survives him.

HUTCHISON, WILLIAM.—The son of Thomas and Sarah Hutchison, was born in Delaware Co., Pa., Jan. 4, 1803. He was educated in Jefferson

Co., Pa.; graduating in 1834, he studied Theology in the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny City, Pa.; finishing his course in 1837, he was licensed by Blairsville Presbytery in 1837. He was stated supply for Apple Creek church, Wooster Presbytery, for one year; and in 1839, he accepted a call from Bucyrus church, Ohio, and was ordained by Marion Presbytery, and installed Pastor, Sept. 4, 1839.

This relation existed until Sept. 8, 1848, when it was dissolved on account of his illness; he having suffered from a severe hemorrhage of the lungs. He removed to Solon, Tenn., for the benefit of his health. His continued ill health prevented him from taking a regular charge, though such was his love for the work, that he was always willing to preach when his health permitted; but he was unremitting in his attention to the spiritual wants of the people, originating and conducting Sabbath-schools, and in various ways commending the cause of Christ to the people where he lived. During this labor, he was struck with paralysis, and from this time till his death he was laid aside. He returned to Bucyrus, Ohio, where he had commenced his ministerial labors in 1859, and where he died of paralysis, Feb. 1, 1860.

He was a man of fervid piety, of sound, fixed principles, yet a warm and genial friend, somewhat humorous, but never exceeding the bounds of propriety. His prudence and discretion secured the continued and lasting affections of his people.

He married Miss Jane L. Mead, a daughter of Hon. Judge Mead of Meadville, Pa., who survives him.

JEFFERY, SAMUEL H.—The son of Alexander and Mary (Hunter) Jeffery, was born in Allegheny Co., Pa., in 1815. His pious parents gave him the best of training; at the age of twenty years, he made a profession of religion, turning his thoughts to the ministry. He commenced his preparation for that holy calling, but his scanty means rendered it necessary that he should support himself and obtain an education at the same time. He accordingly opened a school in 1838, at Hookstown, Pa., and sustained it for twelve years, when he was elected Principal of the High School in that place. In the meantime, he studied privately both the Classics and Theology with much diligence and zeal. He was licensed in Oct., 1853, by Washington Presbytery, and at the same meeting, he was appointed as stated supply for Waynesburg and Unity churches, Pa. He was ordained as an Evangelist to labor in the same field, April 18, 1855. Here his labors proved very acceptable, and he received a call and was installed pastor of these two congregations, Nov. 5 and 26, 1855. In 1856, he was elected Principal of the Waynesburg Public Schools, and in 1858 he was chosen to a Professorship in the College at the same town.

It was during these abundant labors that his health, which was never robust, gave way, and he died of consumption, Nov. 12, 1859.

He was greatly beloved by his people, and his cheerful disposition made him a welcome visitor. His preaching was evangelical, discriminating, and instructive, free from all vagueness and mysticism. Firmly and decidedly Presbyterian, he fearlessly avowed and taught the system as revealed in the Confession of Faith and Catechisms, and his ministry was attended with happy results; in six years the membership of his congregation doubled in numbers.

He married Miss Jane Scott, Oct., 1839, who with two children survives him.

JOHNSTON, WILLIAM HALL.—The son of Robert and Dorcas Johnston, was born in Rowan Co., N. C., May 24, 1819. His father was a ruling elder in Third Creek church. His mother was a woman of exemplary piety and highly intelligent, she devoted great care to the proper training of her son. He entered Davidson College, N. C., where he graduated in 1840. He studied Theology in the Seminary at Princeton, N. J., finishing his course in 1844, when he was licensed by New Brunswick Presbytery. In 1846, he was ordained by Cherokee Presbytery, and preached as stated supply for the churches of Lafayette, Pea Vine, and Chickamauga, in Ringgold, Georgia.

In 1849, he became pastor of Chickamanga and Pea Vine churches; this relation existed until long continued ill health compelled him to give up preaching. When all hope of recovery was gone, he removed to Yorkville, S. C., and joined Bethel Presbytery; and here, amid friends who had long known and loved him, he died of pulmonary consumption, June 19, 1859.

He was a faithful laborer, and fulfilled his duties in the midst of failing health, often in great suffering. His mind was clear and precise; his heart filled with love to the holy cause to which his life was dedicated; his manners courteous and refined; and as a Christian he was humble and devout.

He married Miss Susan Adams, a daughter of Rev. J. S. Adams, of York District, S. C., who with three children survives him.

Many of his family were ministers, he being connected with the celebrated Hall family, of Iredell Co., N. C.

JONES, D. D., WILLIAM DANIEL.—The son of Richard and Mary (Cooke) Jones, was born in Pittsylvania Co., Va., July 10, 1808. He was chiefly educated in Centre College, Danville, Ky. He studied Law, and was admitted to the Bar. On making a profession of religion, he studied Theology privately, and was licensed by Transylvania Presbytery in 1834. He was ordained by Muhlenburgh Presbytery in the autumn of the same year, and installed pastor of the Presbyterian church, Hopkinsville, Ky.; this relation existed for fourteen years. It was happy and successful, and the only one he ever had, when, owing to failing health, in 1848 he resigned.

He removed to Rogerville, Tenn., and took charge of the Odd Fellows' Female College in that place. In 1854, he went to Abingdon, Va., for the purpose of establishing the Martha Washington Female College, under the auspices of the Odd Fellows. He remained there but one year; during that time, he was employed on an agency in raising funds for the erection of the buildings, for the enterprise was a new one. The enterprise was too large for the means to be obtained. The walls of a very large building were erected, but it was never finished under the original plan. The institution passed into the hands of the Methodists, and has been for a year or two in operation. In 1856, Dr. Jones removed to Texas, and was elected President of Aranama College, at Goliad. He remained there but a short time. He returned to East Tennessee, and after a brief sojourn in Alabama, in the winter and spring of 1857, he bought the property known as Holston Springs, Scott Co., Va., and removed thither for the purpose of establishing a Female School. His school was in progress, though the number of pupils was not great, until a short time before his death. He died, July 21, 1860, of dysentery.

He was a successful educator of youth, an elegant, earnest, and pious Christian gentleman; his mind was well stored with literary and scientific knowledge; painstaking, gentle, and kind, apt and faithful, he never failed to win the confidence and affection of his pupils.

He was twice married: first to Miss Mary Lacey; they had six children; two only are living; one, a son, is now a lawyer in Memphis, Tenn. His second wife was a Mrs. Satterfield, who survives him.

KING, THOMAS DUNCAN.—The son of Samuel and Martha (Andrews) King, was born in Iredell Co., N. C., Feb. 13, 1813. Descending from that race, the Scotch-Irish, (which has done so much for Presbyterianism and liberty,) he was trained by his parents with care. In 1831, his parents removed to the (then new) State of Illinois; and here he labored hard to place them in comfortable circumstances. In 1834, he entered Marion College, Mo., and spent a single session.

At the age of twenty-five, under the ministry of Dr. Nelson, he made a profession of religion, and soon after removed to Mississippi. In 1840, he entered Oakland College, and graduated in 1844. After graduating, he spent the next seven years: part of the time teaching school, and part in the laborious and self-denying work of a Colporteur. In this work, he traversed a portion of Louisiana, and nearly all of the western and northern portions of Mississippi; scattering far and wide leaves from the tree of life; and it is believed, was thus the instrument of much good. During this time, and under these circumstances, he was pursuing his Theological studies, and was licensed to preach by the Mississippi Presbytery in 1851.

In 1852, he removed into the bounds of the Tombeckbee Presbytery, by which he was ordained to the full work of the ministry in 1853. In the meantime he had been laboring in Mount Moriah and Montrose churches; and after his ordination, continued to labor more widely in the counties of Newton and Jasper, where his labors were crowned with considerable success. In the organization of new Presbyteries by the Synod of Mississippi in the fall of 1854, he was found in that part of the field called East Mississippi Presbytery; and at its first meeting held in April, 1855, he was chosen Commissioner to the General Assembly. In 1856, on his return from that meeting, he commenced his labors in the churches of Dry Creek, Hopewell, and Sharon.

In 1856, he married Miss Martha McCollum, daughter of Mr. A. McCollum, of Simpson Co., Miss.; and soon after settled on a farm, near the centre of the bounds in which lay the churches to which he preached. And here he continued to reside until he died. In Oct. of 1858, he was attacked with paralysis; after which he preached but little, and then, with great difficulty of utterance, as the disease seemed especially to have affected his organs of speech. He had several repetitions of the attack, but bore his sufferings with great patience and fortitude, trusting in God. Being conscious that his end was near, he was calm in the prospect of death, and often spoke of his readiness to depart and be with Christ.

He died September 5th, 1859, of paralysis; his widow and an infant son, Samuel Davis King, survive him.

He was a man of strong feelings and warm friendship. As a Christian, he was more than ordinarily pious. He communed frequently with God. He had his stated seasons for closet devotion; and was familiar with the writings of Jeep-toned piety. Many will remember how he was ever furnished with the works of Baxter, Spencer, and Flavel, and others like them, for distribution.

As a preacher, he was practical. He insisted on the doctrines of grace, and lashed inconsistent Christians with an unsparing hand. He could not tolerate negative piety. It could not tarry in his sight. His style was original, and chiefly observational. Tracts were his arguments. He was by no means uniform in his efforts. At times he thundered, pouring on his audience a rugged eloquence that made all tremble; and then again he was tame and commonplace. His manner was very earnest; and he sometimes plead with sinners till tears told how sincere he was.

KIRKPATRICK, JR., JACOB.—The son of Rev. Jacob and Mary H. B. Kirkpatrick, was born in Amwell, Hunterdon Co., N. J., October 6, 1828. He was a quiet, observant lad, and early manifested a love of study, especially mathematics; he received his preparatory studies for College at Lawrenceville, N. J., under the care of the Revs. H. and S. M. Hamill. He entered the College of New Jersey, and his exact scholarship attracted the attention of the professors; but the failure of his eyesight compelled him to retire for a time, and he did not graduate until 1850. He received his Theological training in the Seminary at Princeton, where he completed a full course. He was licensed and ordained by Raritan Presbytery, and on leaving the Seminary, he supplied for six months the pulpit of Rev. W. L. Breckinridge, D. D., Louisville, Ky. Whilst laboring here, he received a call from the Third Presbyterian church, Trenton, N. J., in the bounds of New Brunswick Presbytery; this was accepted, and he was installed, November 3, 1853. Here he labored earnestly and successfully until his nervous system was completely prostrated, and he was forced to retire. After cherishing for months a hope of restoration, he signified his desire that the pastoral relation should be dissolved, which was done, Feb. 3, 1858.

He continued to reside in Trenton until his successor, Rev. Henry B. Chapin, was installed; he then removed to Ringoes, N. J., to finish his life where it had begun. He died of a spinal affection, Oct. 27, 1859.

He was a thoughtful and earnest preacher, devotedly pious; his talents were popular. He had the love and respectful consideration of his people, and received at their hands many tokens of affectionate regard.

He married Miss Sarah C. Vanleer, who died before him, leaving a daughter, who survives.

LANIUS, JACOB W.—Was born in Baltimore Co., Maryland, July 8, 1826. He was adopted and brought up by his grand-parents in Hopewell, York Co., Pa.; his parents removing to Ohio when he was a little child. He early manifested a thirst for knowledge, and was for a time under the tuition of Rev. S. H. Smith, of Pa. In 1847, he entered Muskingum College, O., and thence to Jefferson College, Pa., in 1851, and graduated in 1852. He experienced early religious impressions, and united with the Church in the first year of his college course. Before going to College, he was received by Zanesville Presbytery as a candidate for the ministry. He spent one term at the Theological Seminary, Allegheny City, and subsequently studied privately under the direction of J. Edwards, D. D., of Fort Wayne Presbytery, which Presbytery licensed him in 1854.

The following winter, he removed with his family to Amite Co., Mississippi, where he supplied the Unity church. Returning to Indiana, he accepted a call from the church at Waveland, and was there ordained and installed by Crawfordville Presbytery in 1856. In the fall of 1858, he removed to Nashville, Tenn., and became stated supply in the Edgefield church. Here his labors were suddenly terminated by death, Aug. 9, 1859. He died of dysentery. His labors in the ministry were very acceptable and crowned with success; the people loved him and his influence was good. He was a cheerful companion, a zealous and impressive preacher, and a devoted Christian.

He married, in Sept. 1853, Miss Jane A. H. Gordon, of York Co., Penna., who with two daughters survives him.

LANNEAU, BAZILE E.—The son of Bazile and Sarah L. B. (Palmer) Lanneau, was born in Charleston, S. C., March 22, 1830. Having descended from an ancestry, which, as far back as it can be traced, has always feared God, and through five generations has constantly served him in "the ministry of reconciliation." Trained by pious parents, by whom he was earnestly consecrated to the Divine service, at the age of fifteen he was united with the "Circular church," in his native city, of which, through a quarter of a century, his grandfather, Rev. Dr. Palmer, had been the pastor. In his nineteenth year, having graduated with the highest honors at Charleston College, he entered upon the study of Theology at the Seminary in Columbia, S. C., and completed the prescribed course in the spring of 1851; at which time he was licensed to preach the gospel by the Charleston Presbytery. His remarkable scholarship led to his immediate appointment as Tutor of Hebrew in the Seminary of which he was an alumnus. This post he filled until his declining health compelled him in the autumn of 1854 to seek a warmer clime. After an experimental residence of several months in Florida, he was ordained as an Evangelist in the City of Charleston, in the very church, and on the identical spot where twenty-five years before he had been dedicated in baptism, and where ten years before he had sealed his engagement to be the Lord's, by the public profession of his faith in Christ. Returning to Florida, he took up his permanent residence at Lake City, where he organized the church which he continued to serve, until his father's death, in 1856, devolved upon him the protection and care of a large and afflicted family. A temporary connection with the Southern Presbyterian, as one of its editors, together with the charge of the church at Summerville, near Charleston, afforded employment through nearly two years.

In the fall of 1858, he was induced to return to his former charge at Lake City; where, amidst feeble health and many discouragements, he continued to discharge the duties of a faithful pastor, till his election to the Chair of Ancient languages, in Oakland College, Miss., Oct., 1859. He entered upon his career as a professor with enlarged views, and not until his feet had actually touched the cold waters of the black river, did he relinquish the hope of their realization.

He died of consumption, July 12, 1860. Fitted by his talents and the structure of his mind for academical pursuits, he bid fair to have been one of the first scholars of our age. Besides an intimate acquaintance with the Greek and Latin, he read with entire fluency several of the languages of Modern Europe, especially the French and German. He was entirely conversant with the Hebrew, and with the languages cognate with it, and had made no small proficiency in the Arabic.

He was not only a scholar, but an accurate and well-read divine. His style as a writer was chaste and clear, revealing the operations of a mind disciplined to habits of vigorous and accurate thinking. His piety was earnest and deep—refreshing itself daily from the oracles of God, to whose authority he bowed with the docility of a child, and which his biblical and scholastic attainments enabled him to interpret with singular clearness and power.

He was married to Miss Fannie H. Eccles, a daughter of the late John D. Eccles, Esq., of Fayetteville, N. C., who survives him.

LOWRIE, REUBEN.—The son of Hon. Walter and Amelia Lowrie, was born in Butler, Pa., Nov. 24, 1827. His early years were spent in Washington, D. C., where his father was Secretary of the United States Senate; his education was carefully attended to, and on the removal of his father to New York, as Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, he finished his studies in that city, graduating at the University, where for one year he served as tutor. He also attended a course of lectures in the Union Theo. Seminary, but he finished his course of Theology at Princeton, N. J.; on leaving, he became Principal of a Presbyterian Academy in Luzerne county, Pa., he also preached as a missionary. He was licensed by Luzerne Presbytery in 1851, at which time he engaged in the work of Foreign Missions among the Choctaw Indians; but his heart was on China, and having been ordained in 1853, he was appointed to Shanghai, and on the 22nd of April he sailed for China. Here he applied himself with unusual vigor to the study of the language, and within a year he was able to commence public exercises in Chinese; he also devoted much of his time to the completion of a Dictionary of the Four Books, commenced by his deeply lamented brother. He had translated the Shorter Catechism, and a Catechism on the Old Testament History, into this dialect. He had nearly finished a Commentary on the Gospel of Matthew in the same, when he died, April 26, 1860, of chronic diarrhœa.

He married Miss Amelia P. Tuttle in 1854, who, with three children, survives him.

MACKLIN, D. D., ALEXANDER.—The son of Robert and Elizabeth Macklin, was born in Lambeg Parish, Down Co., near Belfast, Ireland, Jan. 15, 1808. After receiving a fair academical training, he entered Belfast College, Ireland, where he graduated. He studied Theology in Hill Hall school, Belfast, under John Edgar, D. D., Prof. of Divinity. He was licensed by Belfast Presbytery in 1830, and ordained by the same Presbytery in 1831. During the course of this year, he left Ireland for America, and landed in New York, Jan. 1, 1832.

He became a member of Newton Presbytery on his arrival, and was installed pastor of the Presbyterian church in Clinton, N. J., in the spring of 1832. He labored in this church for three years, when, having accepted a call, he was installed pastor of the Scots (Eighth) Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, in October, 1835, joining the Philadelphia Presbytery.

Here he labored for nearly twenty-five years. His health gradually became impaired, until he died of consumption, July 6, 1859.

He was a man of quick apprehension and sound judgment, of noble and generous impulses, a warm friend; and though he occasionally adopted a somewhat plain style of expression when he differed from another, his manners were those of a Christian gentleman. His preaching was off-hand and mostly without notes, but it was rich in Scripture truth; his illustrations being mostly taken from the Bible, using the very words of the sacred text. Among the people of his charge he was a friend and a counsellor, ever ready to visit the sick and distressed, and to administer consolation to those who mourn.

He seldom wrote for the press—his tribute to the memory of Archibald Robertson, Esq., a ruling elder, was published in a pamphlet, in 1859.

He married Miss Elizabeth A. Kelso, of Baltimore, Md., who with two children survives him.

MALTBY, HENRY.—The son of Timothy and Mabel (Dimock) Maltby, was born in Paris, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1806. His parents were from Connecticut. Many of the family were ministers of the Gospel. After receiving a good academical training, he entered Hamilton College, N. Y., where he graduated in 1836. For some years he devoted himself to teaching in his native State, until declining health forced him to abandon his labors. Thinking that a residence in the South might be favorable to his shattered constitution, he removed to Kentucky, but with little hope of recovery. The change proved beneficial, and he was again induced to resume his occupation as an instructor of youth, which he pursued for twelve years with great success. He built up a flourishing school in Flemingsburg, Ky., which is still in existence, and has contributed much towards the education of the youth of that portion of the State. He subsequently studied Theology privately, with no teacher but the word of God and his books, until he had completed a course which he thought necessary to entering upon the preaching of the Gospel. He was examined and licensed by Ebenezer Presbytery, Ky., in 1847, and ordained by Oxford Presbytery as pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, Oxford, O., in 1848. Here he labored with great fidelity and success. It was his only charge; and during his pastorate of six years, over two hundred were added to the communion. He was also a Professor in Oxford Female College.

Compelled by declining health to abandon his charge, with no hope of ever again being able to accept another, he removed to St. Paul in the spring of 1856. Here the invigorating and dry atmosphere of Minnesota seemed to have a favorable effect upon his health. Too far gone to hope for recovery, he yet was exempted from some of the sufferings to which he had been a victim for years. He joined St. Paul Presbytery, and preached occasionally in the Central church of St. Paul, and always to the satisfaction of the congregation.

He died, May 22, 1860, of consumption. He was greatly beloved as a pastor. His health, which had been feeble for many years, prevented him from taking a very active part in the duties of his calling; but his sermons were well-arranged, full of thought, and worthy of attention; and his intercourse with the people courteous and refined.

He married Miss Louisa Cook, of Wallingford, Conn., May 18, 1832, who with two children survives him.

MEBANE, WILLIAM N.—The son of David and Annie (Cummins) Mebane, was born in Guilford Co., N. C., March 10, 1809, of Scotch-Irish descent; he was trained with all the pious care for which that race is distinguished; his preparatory education was received in Greensboro, N. C., under Rev. Drs. Pressly and Carothers. He attended the University of North Carolina, where he graduated with second honors in 1833, and entered Princeton Theological Seminary, N. J., the following year, and after a full course, he graduated in 1837. On his return home, he was licensed by Orange Presbytery in October, 1837, and for two years labored as a missionary in the bounds of the States of Louisiana and Texas, in the Synod of Mississippi, and was the honored instrument in founding and establishing churches there, which have in turn sown the good seed far and wide. On his return, he was called to Spring Garden church, N. C., which was accepted, and he was ordained and installed in September, 1839; he labored also in destitute neighborhoods, and in 1852, he took charge of Madison church. Here he continued his work as pastor of both churches until increasing illness prevented him from preaching, and the pastoral relations, at his request, were dissolved.

He saw the sure coming of death from afar, and looked at it steadily without fear. The day before his death, when it was thought that he was dying, he was asked concerning his prospect. With much difficulty he replied, "I have no fear; my peace flows like a river." He died, May 8, 1859, of pulmonary consumption.

He was a good preacher, possessing independence of thought and sprightliness of manners; he made a favorable impression upon his hearers. He possessed fine conversational powers, and he had a peculiarly happy way of introducing the subject of personal religion, so that by this means he was enabled to become a very successful and beloved pastor. Never for a moment would he allow his ministerial character to be forgotten. Wherever he went he remembered that he was called to preach Christ and Him crucified, and every subject of conversation was so directed as at the most suitable time to bring before his hearers the claims of the Saviour upon their love and services. In his skillful hands religion was presented in its naturally attractive features. Speaking with a heart full of love to his Redeemer, he seldom failed to make some impression on the hearts of his auditors, and it was here that he chiefly excelled.

He married Miss Mary H. Aiken, in 1840, who with eight children survives him.

MORROW, RICHARD H.—The son of Richard and Margaret Morrow, was born in Huntingdon Co., Pa., Jan. 13, 1823. In early youth he was hopefully converted, and dedicated himself to the service of his Redeemer. It was his earnest desire and fervent prayer, that he might be permitted to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ. He obtained his preparatory education in the Academy at Academia, and graduated at Jefferson College, Pa., in 1851, after which he engaged for some time as teacher in the Milwood Academy at Shade Gap, Pa., then under the management of the late Rev. J. Y. McGinnes.

He studied Theology at Allegheny and Princeton Theological Seminaries, spending two years in the former and one year in the latter, where he graduated in 1854, and was licensed by the Presbytery of Huntingdon. Having received a call to the church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, then in its infancy, he entered on his labors in June, 1855, when he was ordained and installed by Cedar Presbytery. Here he continued pastor until compelled by declining health to resign his charge. During his labors he had the pleasure of seeing the work of the Lord prosper in his hands, and the church increased in her membership four-fold during the four years of his pastorate. It was during his successful labors here that he received a call to the churches of McVeytown and Newton Hamilton, Pa., in the bounds of the Presbytery of Huntingdon. Many were the inducements to accept, yet he promptly declined it, having devoted himself to the Western field.

His health gradually failing under the wasting effects of consumption, he was sent by his Presbytery as Commissioner to the General Assembly at New Orleans, in 1858, hoping he might be benefited by a visit to the South. But he returned without any improvement. Finally he was compelled to resign his charge, when no longer able to officiate. His pastoral relation was not dissolved till April, 1859, but in January preceding, he returned to Pennsylvania, that he might die surrounded by his mourning relatives and friends. On reaching home, his health failed rapidly, and as earth receded from his view, heaven with all its joys became brighter. That gospel which he preached to others, cheered and comforted him to his last hour. When asked concerning his faith in Christ, he replied, "I have not a doubt." Twice before he died he took an affectionate leave of his beloved wife, his aged mother, and his brothers and sisters who had gathered around his dying couch. His last words were, "Come, Lord, Jesus; come quickly." Thus he passed from earth to heaven, June 10, 1859, of consumption.

He was a plain and practical preacher, his style gave evidence of fine culture. He was zealous in the cause of Christ; having reached the ministry through earnest toil and self-denial, his experience was most useful to him. He spent much time in pastoral visitation; he possessed in an eminent degree the happy faculty of gaining the friendship and esteem of all who knew him; he was humble, consistent, devoted—one who walked with God and communed with him by prayer.

He married Miss Nannie Haman, of McVeytown, Pa., who with one child survives him.

McCALLA, WILLIAM LATTA.—The son of Dr. Andrew and Martha (More)McCalla, was born in Jessamine Co., near Lexington, Ky., November 25, 1788. His grandfather, Capt. Wm. McCalla, and his father were in the war of the Revolution, and at its close they removed to Kentucky. Descending from a long line of Presbyterian ancestry by his father's side, he possessed all that sterling integrity of character for which that denomination is proverbial; and by his mother's side, the blood of the persecuted and exiled Huguenots flowed through his veins. He early manifested literary proclivities, and was remarkable for the quickness of his intellect and the generosity of his conduct. His primary education was received under the careful supervision of his parents. He entered the Transylvania University, at Lexington, Ky., where he graduated with honors. Having made a profession of religion, he studied Theology privately, with the Bible as the basis of his studies; he brought the light of his acute mind, sanctified by prayer, upon his researches. He was taken under the care of West Lexington Presbytery, and was before the Presbytery for license in 1813, but it was however delayed; he subsequently went to New Orleans, La., and was chaplain to the army, on the establishment of peace, under Gen. Andrew Jackson, Gen. Jessup being commander of the station. His influence with the officers and men was very good. He was a high-toned chivalrous Kentuckian, his true Christian spirit gave a coloring to his whole life; and whilst he never feared the face of man, he never failed to acknowledge that he feared God. During the winters of 1817 and 1818, in connection with Rev. Messrs. Chamberlain, Cornelius, and Larned, he organized the First Presbyterian church, New Orleans.

On his return from the South he received a letter from Rev. Mr. McChord and Cabell Breckinridge, Esq., urging him to appear before West Lexington Presbytery and be ordained, which he did, and was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Augusta, Ky., in 1820; in 1823, he went from this place to Philadelphia, and was installed pastor of the Scots' (or Eighth) Presbyterian church. This relation existed until 1835, when impaired health prompted him to resign his charge; it was here that his fine pulpit talents placed him in the front rank of the clerical orators of his day. A year spent in traveling so far restored his health, that at the earnest solicitation of many friends and the unanimous call of the church, he was installed pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. Under his pulpit ministrations, the church became large and influential; the closeness and pungency of his preaching, the strict construction he placed upon the constitution of the church, and the conscientious claims the whole truth had upon his mind and heart, and developed itself in his preaching, awakened in the breasts of a number of the congregation an opposition to his ministrations. A large majority of his congregation, approving of his course, withdrew, and made an application to the Presbytery to be formed into a new church; they were organized into the "Assembly church," over which he was installed, and rented the building known as the Tabernacle, or Seventh Presbyterian church, which at that time was vacant. In 1839, he left this field of labor, and spent a year or two in traveling, most of the time as an itinerant missionary in Texas; on his return, he gathered the scattered members of his Assembly church together in the church on Second street below Christian, and for two years he was enabled to minister to their spiritual wants; thence he was called to Middletown and Ridley churches, in the vicinity of Philadelphia, where he labored until 1844.

He spent a year or two laboring in destitute places in the vicinity of Bedford, Pa., and in 1849, he returned to Philadelphia, and was installed pastor of the Union church, on Thirteenth street below Spruce street. In 1853, he removed to St. Louis, Mo., and after preaching there some time, he went up to St. Charles, Mo., and was connected with the Female Seminary there; this arrangement was of brief duration. He was without charge for some time, when in 1857, he removed to Somersct, La., and preached in Tensas and Madison Parishes, within the bounds of Tombeckbee Presbytery, also on the plantation of the Hon. Judge Perkins, of Miss., whose munificent liberality towards the Theological Seminary at Columbia, S. C., is well known. In 1858, he revisited Philadelphia, and though the weight of threescore years and ten was resting upon his brow, his eye was not dim nor his natural force abated. His preaching had all the clearness of a scholar, mellowed by the sanctified experience of the Christian. He returned to Louisiana, and preached in the Bayou Bidal church, and on the neighboring plantations; here he labored patiently and faithfully until his death, which took place, October 12, 1859, of congestive chills.

There in a little graveyard belonging to a plantation church, beside the "Father of waters," lie the remains of our beloved friend, who for many years was among the foremost men of the Presbyterian church. In all the labors which he was called upon to undergo, he was ever governed by the high and holy calling to which his life was dedicated; every duty was performed under the guidance of a conscience imbued with the spirit of truth, and no one had higher or more enlarged conceptions of what was demanded by the age in which he lived.

On his first entrance into Philadelphia, he ranked as a high-toned, courtly, Christian gentleman; commanding in his person, easy in his address, and refined and gentle in his manners, he won the esteem and affection of all. As a debater he was unequalled, and he loved to defend the cause of truth in this manner; and even now, the reading of his discussions, whilst they reveal his eminently clear conceptions of the subject, also awaken the enthusiasm of the reader, clearly indicating their great mental power. His ever active mind and ready pen enabled him to use the press with great effect, and his published speeches and essays continually bristled with an exuberance of wit, which, if his style had been touched with humor, all could have enjoyed, but as it was, he was at times severe.

His chief sources of power were his pulpit talents; he was a graceful speaker, possessing those natural gifts of eloquence which are potential. His expository style was rich and absorbing, replete with spiritual unction; his voice, like the prophets of old, revealing the innate truths of God's holy word. He was an attentive pastor, ever administering to the spiritual wants of his people. He was the author of many published sermons and essays; also Discussions with Alexander Campbell, on Baptism; with Kneeland, on Universalism; with Barker, on Infidelity; a small volume on the Doctorate of Divinity; and Travels in Texas.

He married Miss Martha Ann Finley, (only daughter of General Samuel Finley, of Chillicothe, Ohio,) March 30, 1813, who survives him.

McCLUNG, D. D., JOHN ALEXANDER.—The son of Hon. William and Susan Keith (Marshall) McClung, was born in Washington, Ky., Sept. 25, 1804. His early education was received under the immediate supervision of his uncle, Dr. Lewis Marshall, at a private school on his farm, at Brick Pond, Woodford Co., Ky.; his instructors being Messrs. Thompson and Daly from the University of Dublin, Ireland. He entered Princeton Theological Seminary in 1823, where devoting himself with great assiduity to his studies, his health failed, and at the end of eighteen months he left the Seminary. During the revival which manifested itself in Kentucky in 1828, his health being restored, he was licensed to preach by Ebenezer Presbytery. His career was however somewhat clouded by the temptations to which his brilliant intellect exposed him. His preaching was fervid and powerful, attracting crowded houses; but his mind became unsettled concerning the authenticity of some of the Books of the Old Testament, and one or two of the Epistles. He also turned his mind to literature and wrote a novel, and to go still further, he gave up preaching and entered upon the study of Law. During this stage of his life, he wrote sketches of Western Adventure, and otherwise contributed to the press of the day. He was admitted to the Bar in 1835, and became a regular practitioner until 1849, when during a protracted meeting held in the Presbyterian church of Maysville, Ky., under the care of Rev. Dr. Grundy, his religious principles were revived, and he came forward to renew the vows of his youth. After a careful and extended examination he was admitted to the church, and the following year, after a thorough examination by Ebenezer Presbytery, he was licensed and ordained in the year 1851, and during the visit of Rev. W. L. Breckinridge to Europe, he occupied his pulpit at Louisville, Ky. He was called to the First Presbyterian church, Indianapolis, Ind.; here he labored with all the fervor of youth and with great power. During his pastorate he was elected President of Hanover College, Ind., which he resigned. His health failing, he was compelled to leave Indianapolis, and try a southern climate; he was invited to take charge of the church in Augusta (Geo.), but the prostration of his health prevented his settling there; and with various other places to which he was called.

He visited his son, J. W. McClung, of St. Paul, Minn.; the cold, dry, and bracing air of Minnesota so far restored him, that he was able to preach occasionally, and supplied the pulpits in St. Paul. When it was known that he could preach, the church at Maysville, Ky., gave him a call, which he accepted; he was installed pastor, Nov. 16, 1857. Here amid the scenes of his youth he devoted all the energies of his mind and body in the service of his Divine Redeemer and the upholding of his Church. His health had not been good for years, but he was an uncomplaining sufferer. During the summer of 1859, a visit to the Lakes was thought advisable, by his friends, and whilst at Schlosser, a town on Niagara river, two miles above the Falls, he went in to bathe on the afternoon of August 7, 1859, and being swept off by the current was drowned; his body was taken over the Falls, and was discovered at Youngstown, N. Y., four days after his death. His remains were brought to Maysville, and buried in the graveyard of his church.

The event cast a gloom over the community; he was a popular man, and beloved by all who knew him; his rare eloquence placed him in the front rank of orators; he was a polished scholar, a generous friend, and an humble Christian.

A monument has been erected to his memory over his grave.

He married Miss Eliza Johnson, of Washington, Ky., who with four children survives him.

McLEAN, D. D., CHARLES G.—The son of Dr. John and Mary Ann (McCleau) McLean, was born in Arnagh Co., Ireland, March 17, 1787; his father, a surgeon in the British navy, died on the coast of Africa. His mother subsequently married John Gray, D. D., with whom she emigrated to America. Dr. Gray became pastor of the Scots' (or Eighth) Presbyterian church, in Philadelphia, where he, with Dr. S. B. Wylie, kept an Academy; here young McLean was educated. He subsequently attended the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1808. He studied Theology under Rev. Dr. John M. Mason, of the Associate Reformed church. He was licensed by Philadelphia Presbytery, and ordained pastor of the Presbyterian church near Gettysburg, Pa., in 1812. Shortly after accepting the call, the news reached him of the landing of the British troops at North Point, Maryland; he selected a suitable text, preached a patriotic sermon, and concluded by calling on every man to rally in defence of his country; he appeared the day following in the ranks of the volunteers.

He preached in the church near Gettysburg for twenty-nine years. During this pastorate, he became an Independent under the influence of Dr. J. M. Duncan, of Baltimore. He was invited to succeed Dr. Mason in the Cedar Street church, New York, but declined, and accepted a call in 1844 from the Reformed Dutch church at Fort Plains, N. Y., where he labored for eight years. He emigrated to the West several years ago, and in 1857 he joined Indianapolis Presbytery. On his removal west he established a Female Seminary at Indianapolis, Ind., in connection with his son-in-law, William C. Todd, under whom it is still continued.

For some months he suffered from paralysis, which however left his mind unimpaired, and he manifested his unflinching trust in his Redeemer. His strength gradually failed, and he died of congestion of the brain, July 4, 1860.

He was quite successful as a pastor and as a teacher; he had the confidence and affection of his pupils; in the community he ranked high as a noble Christian gentleman.

He was married twice: first, to Miss Helen Miller, of Philadelphia; second, to Miss Mary Yates, of Albany, N. Y., who with two daughters survived him, but his widow died a few days after her husband.

McPHERSON, JOHN ERSKINE.—The son of John and Mary McPherson, was born in Iredell Co., N. C., Aug. 17, 1806. His ancestors came from Scotland, and were distinguished for their piety; and it was under such influences that young McPherson received his home education. He was carefully trained by his mother in the faith and practice of our holy religion, and he ever manifested an unusual reverence for all the institutions of the Church.

Though his parents were Covenanters, he joined the Presbyterian church of Centre, N. C., then under the ministry of Rev. Thomas Espy. He was educated at Rev. Dr. P. J. Sparrow's Academy at Beatties' Ford, N. C., but owing to feeble health, his studies were somewhat interrupted. He was in the Union Theological Seminary, Va., for one year, and finished his studies privately under Rev. R. H. Morrison, of Davidson College, N. C.

He was licensed in 1838 by Concord Presbytery, and for several months labored as a missionary in Macon Co., N. C.; thence he labored in Anson Co., and at Statesville, N. C. Here his health broke down, suffering from a severe attack of dyspepsia, during which he labored under seasons of gloom and despondency. In 1841, he returned to Franklin, Macon Co., and labored as a missionary in the Presbytery, where he was ordained in the autumn of 1842; for ten years this relation existed, when he was called to Prospect church in Rowan Co., N. C. Here he entered upon his duties with alacrity, and developed the resources of his congregation. At the end of two-and-a-half years he removed to Cherokee county, and in that missionary region labored until Oct., 1859, when his health failed; this was followed by those seasons of gloom and despondency which dyspeptic persons suffer. A religious melancholy seized him, and every variety of anxious cares pressed upon him, though the record of his ministerial life shows an humble, industrious, and self-sacrificing laborer in his Master's cause. During his missionary career his travels developed a patient perseverance in well-doing, indicative of the highest grade of spiritual life, and through sunshine and storm he was always at his post. As an instance of his devotion to duty it is related that having an appointment to preach at the distance of fifteen miles, he started in a snow-storm; after progressing several miles, his horse escaped from him, and though there were ten miles of rugged traveling over mountain ridges and across streams, he pursued his weary journey on foot. At times he was nearly overcome by exhaustion, but he pressed on until he reached his journey's end. Continued ill-health completely broke down his system; and suffering from chronic dyspepsia and diabetes, he died April 9, 1860.

He married Miss Sarah Melinda Sellars in 1843, who with six children survive him.

NEILL, D. D., WILLIAM.—The son of William and Jane (Snodgrass) Neill, was born on a farm near McKeesport, Allegheny Co., Pa., in 1778. His parents were killed by the Indians while he was yet a child, so that he was raised by friends, whose kindness supplied in a great measure the loss of that inestimable treasure, a mother's love and a father's counsels. He was engaged in a store at Canonsburg, Pa., where he was under the faithful ministrations of that eminent man of God, John McMillan, D. D., pastor of the church of Chartiers, Pa., which were blessed in his conversion. The question of duty being brought to his mind and heart, he soon decided upon the ministry. He began his education in the old Academy (which subsequently became Jefferson College, Pa.). On the completion of his preparatory studies, he entered the College of New Jersey at Princeton, N. J., in the autumn of 1800; of which the Rev. Dr. S. Stanhope Smith was then President. After a full course he graduated in the spring of 1803, and was soon after appointed a tutor in the College, during which time he studied Theology. In October, 1805, he was licensed by New Brunswick Presbytery. He received a call to the church at Cooperstown, N. Y., which was accepted; the first meetings were held in the Academy, but a church edifice was soon erected, and in September, 1806, he was ordained and installed pastor by Oneida Presbytery. This relation existed for three years, when in September, 1809, he accepted a call from the First Presbyterian church, Albany, N. Y. After a pastoral relation with this people for seven years he was called to the Sixth church, Philadelphia, and in September, 1816, he was installed pastor, and was a faithful and earnest laborer in this charge until the autumn of 1824, when, on occupying the Presidency of Dickinson College, at Carlisle, Pa., he removed thither. This office he held for five years, when long continued difficulties which could not be controlled prompted him to resign, and by the action of the trustees the College passed into the hands of the Methodists. This action of the trustees has been considered as illegal. The College was founded and had been cherished by Presbyterians, and therefore ought to be at this time a Presbyterian school of learning.

On leaving Carlisle he became Secretary and General Agent for the Board of Education, which office was held for two years. In speaking of his duties at that time, he says, "I was their factotum, had the office in my dwelling, kept the records, wrote the letters, traveled, preached, collected funds, and prepared the reports, without even a boy to go of errands; but, harder than all, I had to contend with the American Education Society, and the prejudices of the people against all denominational Boards. My work was that of a pioneer, toilsome and rough, and often forgotten when success crowned the enterprise; we made some progress however by the hardest; a few hundred dollars were collected, a few beneficiaries were registered, and the people began to come slowly under the shadow of their own standard.

"Finding the work too hard for me, and incompatible with my duty to my numerous family, I resigned,—retired to Germantown, now in the City of Philadelphia; and there betook myself to my favorite employment,—the duties of the pulpit. I found the church there in a deplorable condition; broken down, peeled, and scattered, with but few symptoms of spiritual vitality. Indeed, it was a sort of hot-house plant, at first; a few individuals seceding from the German Reformed church, because the Germans would not allow the public services to be performed a part of the time in the English language. A little band of Presbyterians, led on by two or three men of more zeal than practical wisdom, procured a fine lot, built a large house, and placed in it an expensive organ,—borrowed money, and contracted a heavy debt, which sat, as the night-mare, upon them for many years. Thus, an injury was inflicted upon Presbyterianism, in the town, from which it has hardly recovered to this day. Their minister had died; there were no session records;—the pulpit was open to any quack preachers, male or female, that might happen to be on hand, and wished to hold forth themselves and their crude notions. In this state of affairs, and under the auspices of our Board of Domestic Missions, and at the request of my generous friend, John S. Henry, Esq., I turned in to see what could be done; and there I labored and watched unto prayer, eleven years, hoping against hope for better days. Nor was the labor in vain in the Lord.

"But the population of the town was sparse and fluctuating,—Presbyterian families were few and far between,—and, not having been installed pastor, I felt at liberty to give place to a successor, and determined to leave; in which I perhaps erred: if so, God overruled it for good. Had I been under inaugural engagements, I should, probably, have remained in Germantown to this day; and I take leave, here, to record my protest against the whole system of stated supplies. It is incompatible with our plan, as Presbyterians; and works badly in many ways. It makes the ministry too much of a jobbing business, diminishes the feeling of responsibility, promotes fastidiousness, and tempts both minister and people to be on the look-out for changes and novelties, rather than growth in grace, and godly edifying."

He removed from Germantown in 1842, and remained without charge till his death, August 8, 1860, of the gradual decay of his vital powers. His funeral sermon was preached by Joseph H. Jones, D. D., pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church, Philadelphia.

During the last years of his life, he was often called upon to preach, and was deemed one of the most useful ministers of the city; he was ever ready and willing to labor in the cause of his blessed Master, and on occasions of the absence of the city pastors, which was very frequent, he never hesitated in breaking the bread of life to their people. His preaching was clear and replete with gospel truth, persuasive and tender in his appeals to sinners. His pastoral duties were faithful, visiting his people and catechising the children; these labors were blessed in the conversion of many souls. His active mind found expression in the religious press; he also prepared and published commentaries on Ephesians and Corinthians, besides some smaller volumes.

He married in October, 1805, Miss Elizabeth Van Dyke, of Mapleton, N. J. His second wife was Miss Frances King, a daughter of Gen'l King of Ridgefield, Conn. His third wife was Miss Sarah Elmer of Bridgeton, N. J.; he had a large family, many of whom survive him.

PAINE, JAMES.—The son of Robert and Margaret (Welsh) Paine, was born within four miles of Londonderry, Ireland, Dec. 25, 1801; receiving at the hands of his parents that training in spiritual things for which the Presbyterians of our mother country are proverbial; he was early taught the ways of wisdom,—his mother being a descendant of Rev. John Welsh, who married the daughter of Scotland's greatest hero, John Knox; with such an ancestry, the highest hopes for a useful and successful life might be indulged in. During the year 1820 his parents emigrated to the United States, and became members of Dr. Baxter's congregation in Lexington, Virginia. Here he professed religion, and with his thoughts turned to the ministry, entered Washington College, Lexington, Va., and graduated with honor.

He studied Theology in the Seminary at Princeton, N. J., and was licensed by Lexington Presbytery in 1829; the year following he was ordained and labored as a missionary for several years, preaching with a burning zeal at Warm Springs and New Monmouth churches, Va. He afterwards took charge of Fairfield and Timber Ridge churches, Va. His ministerial labors were highly blessed; besides the two churches to which he regularly preached, he organized and supplied Mount Carmel church. It was here that the best years of his life were spent; ever ready to preach, he went in and out before his people, leading them like a true shepherd for twenty-three years.

His health began to show visible signs of decay, and having a brother, Rev. H. H. Paine, of Holly Springs, Miss., connected with the Synod of Memphis, he was induced to visit the Synod; and the church at Somerville, Tenn., extended him a call, which was accepted, and he joined Memphis Presbytery; besides his own congregation at Somerville, the pupils of the Young Ladies' Model School were among his hearers. His zeal for souls knew no abatement, though his health was fast failing, his devotion to the cause for which he had dedicated his life increased; a revival of religion manifested itself, though his elders and friends tried to dissuade him from such excessive labors. When told by his physician he must stop preaching, he replied that he would not stop preaching the unsearchable riches of Christ until his voice was hushed in death. As his health rapidly declined, his zeal increased, magnifying his office until he died, April 7, 1860, of bronchial consumption.

Though not an author, he often wrote for the press. His preaching was clear and expository, full of Bible truth, free from all affectation of style or vagueness. He was of that class of ministers, who, like McCheyne, have a single burning desire to glorify God in the salvation of souls. His efforts were blessed of God, and his was a most successful ministry.

He married Miss Matilda Finley, who left four children; after her death, he married Miss Mary Babcock, who with one child survives him. His youngest son is studying for the ministry.

PARSONS, HENRY M.—The son of Elnathan and Sarah (Moore) Parsons, was born at Glenn Falls, N. Y., July 27, 1813. He received a careful training from his parents, and with a fair preparation, he entered Williams College, Mass., in 1831. After a full course he graduated, and commenced the study of Theology under Hugh N. Wilson, D. D., at Southampton, N. Y. He was licensed by Long Island Presbytery, and ordained October 8, 1847, pastor over the Moriches church, Long Island; here his health failed him, and at the earnest solicitation of his people, he tried a southern climate, in the course of which he visited the Azore Islands, the Indian Ocean, and the coast of Africa. He spent a winter in Cuba, where he served as a chaplain for the seamen at Havana; after two years' absence, he returned and labored another year with his people on Long Island. His health was still poor, and thinking that an inland climate would help him, he accepted a call from Warrior Run church, Pa., in Northumberland Presbytery; here he was settled in 1852, and for two years, though struggling with disease, his ministry was blessed to his people. He returned to his native place in 1855, but the winter of 1856-7 he passed in Georgia and Florida in an earnest effort to regain his health that he might preach the gospel, but in vain. He returned to Southampton, N. Y., near the people of his first charge, and there, surrounded by friends, he breathed his last, Aug. 10, 1859. He died of consumption, and was buried in the graveyard at Moriches beside a little daughter who had preceded him several years to the Heavenly Home.

He possessed a well-balanced mind enabling him to present the truth in a terse and clear manner; and combining a Christian independence of thought with a feeling and considerate heart, he awakened the regard and obtained the affections of his people, and in his travels he made many friends. His descriptive powers were good, and his letters from abroad bear evidence of nice discrimination and clearness of perception; his preaching was persuasive and winning, his voice was clear and musical, and his earnestness made a deep impression on the mind; though for ten years a sufferer, he left a name of constant but uncomplaining endurance among those who knew him well. He was the author of "Christ in the Desert," published by the Presbyterian Board of Publication.

He married Miss H. Maria Brown of Southampton, N. Y., who with one child survives him.

PENNEY, D. D., JOSEPH.—Was born in Ireland, 1790; he was carefully educated, graduating in the University at Dublin. He emigrated to the United States, and was settled as pastor over the First Presbyterian church, Rochester, N. Y., in April 1822; this relation existed until November, 1832. He removed to Northampton, Mass., and subsequently became President of Hamilton College, N. Y., then as pastor of the church at Nyack, N. Y., and in 1837, he removed to Grand Rapids, Mich., and he afterwards preached at Pontiac, Mich. His health was gradually failing, and he returned to Rochester, N. Y., where he resided until he died, March 20, 1860, of paralysis.

His life was laborious and useful; he was well known and greatly beloved in Rochester, and wherever he was located his people were deeply attached to him.

He married Miss Isabella Sterling, of New York City; three sons survive him. He was the author of a work on Education, and several of his sermons were published.

PERRY, D. D., GARDNER BRAMAN.—The son of Nathan and Phebe Perry, was born in Norton, Mass., August 9, 1783. He received a very careful academical training, and entered Brown University in the fall of 1800; after two years' study he left, and entered Union College, Schenectady, N. Y.; where he graduated in 1804. After teaching for one year as Principal of Ballston Academy, New York, he was elected Tutor in the Union College, where he remained for three years. Here he studied Theology under Rev. Dr. Nott, and taking charge of an Educational Institution at Kingston, New York, he resumed teaching, which continued five years; in the mean time he was licensed in March, 1812, by Albany Presbytery. On accepting a call from the Second Congregational church at Bradford, (which name was afterwards changed to Groveland,) Mass., he was ordained by a Congregational Council, September 28, 1814; here he remained as pastor for forty-five years. Though pastor of a Congregational church, he was a member of Presbytery; he was one of the original members of Newburyport Presbytery, and preached the sermon of its organization in October 1826; he was a Commissioner from this Presbytery to the General Assembly in 1834. After the dissolution of Newburyport Presbytery, he rejoined Londonderry Presbytery, which he represented in the Assembly of 1849, this relation existed until his death, which took place at Groveland, Mass., December 20, 1859, of chronic erysipelas.

Dr. Perry was a Christian gentleman of the old school; his uniform courtesy and refinement of manners impressed every one he met. Kindness entirely devoid of complacency rendered him an agreeable companion, and his vast stores of general information enabled him to become a conversationalist of a high order.

He was interested in all public movements, and when it first started, he became identified with the Anti-slavery cause, but as he grew in years and wisdom he became conservative. He was an earnest advocate of the Temperance reformation, and felt a deep and abiding zeal in the cause of education, deeming that a cause of paramount importance in every community. As a counselor he was wise and prudent; when called upon to deliberate, his mind would instinctively take a view of both sides of every question; being thus free from impulse he was often called upon to preside over church councils, where his advice has dissipated differences of opinion, the mildness of his manners and his complete self-possession impressed all with confidence, that his judgment was unbiassed, and his decision impartial.

He was married three times: first to Miss Maria P. Chamberlain of Exeter, New Hampshire, second, to Miss Eunice Tuttle of Acton, Mass., third, to Miss Sarah Brown of Groton, Mass.; he had nine children.

He wrote a History of the Town of Bradford, which was published, also a number of sermons. He was appointed by Londonderry Presbytery to write a History of Presbyterianism in New England, but his declining health prevented his completing it. The materials he gathered, he transferred to Rev. Dr. Whiton of Antrim, N. H., who had nearly completed it at his death, and it is now in the hands of a committee of Londonderry Presbytery.

RICE, WILLIAM H.—The son of Isaac and Narcissa M. Rice, was born in Shelby county, Kentucky, July 15, 1827; descending by his mother's side from the Rev. John Welsh, who married the daughter of the Reformer of Scotland, John Knox, his early education was of the most valuable kind, and well did he repay his mother's care; he made a profession of religion in his fifteenth year, and in view of his preparation for the ministry, he spent some time in Wabash College, Indiana; but he received most of his education at Hanover College, Indiana. He spent one year in the Theological Seminary at New Albany, Indiana; but his feeble health prevented him from taking a full course. He was licensed by Crawfordville Presbytery in April, 1853, and was ordained the same year by Vincennes Presbytery, and preached as stated supply for the church at Rockport, Indiana.

During the year 1854 he removed to Texas, in the hope of restoring his health by a warmer climate; he settled at Palestine, preaching for the church in that place, and Mound Prairie church, in the bounds of Eastern Texas Presbytery; here his health failed completely, and he was compelled to cease preaching, and he resigned his charge in May 1858; thence he went to Alabama; and finally in the early part of 1859 he returned to Indiana, to spend his closing hours amid the scenes of earlier years, and to die among his kindred; and there under the roof of the old homestead he gently breathed his last, on September 27th, 1859, of consumption.

His mind was clear and penetrating, and his preaching powers were excellent, his personal intercourse refining and elevating, a vein of piety pervading all his thoughts and acts.

He was married twice: his first wife was Miss Rebecca Taylor, daughter of the Rev. Samuel Taylor, they had one son, who is living; his second wife was Miss Margaret E. Johnson of Summefield, Alabama, who survives him.

STEVENS, JOSEPH B—The son of Joshua Stevens, was born in Brookfield, Connecticut, Aug. 3, 1801. He was educated at Bowdoin College, and studied Theology in Bangor, Maine; he was licensed by the Congregational Association of Maine, and labored as a home missionary for two years in the state at large, when he was ordained over the Second Congregational church, Falmouth, Maine, in 1826.

At the end of eight years he removed to the South, thinking a more genial climate would improve his health; he located in Brunswick, Georgia, where he taught and preached for two years and a half; and for two years he preached at Darien, Geo. He then became pastor of the Smyrna and Bethany churches, Newton Co., Georgia.

He subsequently taught and preached in and near Griffin, Georgia, for a year. He then removed to Calhoun Co., Georgia, and supplied Pachitla church, here as was usual he also taught; laboring for five years; he died at Whitney, Georgia, May 9th, 1860, of an organic affection of the heart, and was buried in the graveyard of Pachitla church.

He spent most of his time in preaching to feeble and scattered churches where the compensation was small; still he was ever ready to travel and preach, whether to few or many; he was a missionary indeed. He was a good scholar, and a plain, practical preacher, earnest, laborious, and faithful; his piety was unobtrusive and refreshing; his intercourse with his people made him a welcome guest, cheering the desponding and encouraging the weak.

He was fond of teaching, and his efforts in this way were numerous, and highly blessed, as his Christian principles were always prominent in his character. His manners were gentle and refined, being those of a Christian gentleman. He married Miss Lydia Crabtree of Maine, who with six children survives him.

THOM, A. E.—Was born in North Carolina in 1810. He was educated in the best manner, and having made a profession of religion, his thoughts were directed to the ministry; he studied Theology in the Union Seminary at Prince Edward, Va., and was licensed by Orange Presbytery in 1833; his first charge was the Cove church, Albemarle Co., Virginia, here he labored for a short time, he accepted an agency, and traveled in the south and southwestern portions of our country; being a member of various Presbyteries, in 1854 he was elected Professor in Austin College, Huntsville, Texas; this relation existed until his failing health prompted him to retire in 1859; he removed to Thibodeaux, La., and joined New Orleans Presbytery. On his way to the Synod of Mississippi in the autumn of 1859, he journeyed as far as Louisville, Miss., where his health completely broke down; here he lingered until February 2nd, 1860, when he died of consumption.

He was a man of good sense, and well balanced character, a sound instructive preacher, and a most excellent teacher; he was of retiring manner, which gave him the appearance of being reserved.

He married Miss Mary Taylor, a member of the family of Rev. Daniel S. Carroll of North Carolina, they had several children.

VAN RENSSELAER, D. D., CORTLANDT.—The son of Hon. Stephen and Cornelia (Paterson) Van Rensselaer, was born in Albany, New York, May 26, 1808. He received the very best training in the schools of his native city, and his home instruction was of the first order. He graduated at Yale College, Conn., in 1827, and commenced the study of Law, and in 1830 he was admitted to the bar; previous to which time having made a profession of religion, the claims of duty presented themselves to his mind and heart; the result was his decision to study for the ministry.

He entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton, New Jersey, in the autumn of 1830, where he remained for two years; he then went to the Union Seminary, at Prince Edward, Va., where he finished his course; he was licensed in 1834, and ordained in 1835 by West Hanover Presbytery, Va. His first charge was a congregation of colored people, mostly slaves, belonging to one of Virginia's wealthiest sons, upon whose plantation the earliest, if not the very first house of worship was erected, exclusively for the colored members of the Presbyterian Church in the South; and thus among the lowly did this humble man of God first break the tidings of his glorious mission of peace and good will to men. Viewing the African race from the Christian stand-point, he felt that like himself they were the fallen children of Adam, and needed the gospel, and heeding their Macedonian cry he went in and helped them; it was with this people that the interest which he always manifested in behalf of the race first developed itself, and he was their lifelong friend.

Soon after his settlement with them, the influence of worldly men was such in the vicinity of his church, that it was deemed prudent for him to give up preaching to the negroes, and remove to another part of the field. In 1837 he organized the First Presbyterian church in Burlington, N. J., and was installed its pastor, by Philadelphia 2nd Presbytery; this relation existed until 1840, when it was dissolved; he continued to manifest a deep interest in behalf of this church, though his enlarged views of duty prompted him to engage in more arduous labors than those of the pastorate of a village church.

He was an enthusiastic friend of education, and his active mind and pen were ever on the alert, arousing the church to her privileges and her duty. He accepted a proposition to increase the endowment of the Theological Seminary at Princeton, New Jersey, and the friends of that institution throughout the land can remember the zeal, the industry, and success which crowned his self-denying labors, and when he placed $100,000 in the treasury as the result; his declination of all compensation was the crowning glory of a noble contribution to the cause he loved so well—the cause of Christian Education.

In 1847 he was elected Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Hope, his immediate predecessor, having been elected to a Professorship in the College of New Jersey, at Princeton, N. J. No other field of usefulness could have presented so great a variety of sources of Christian hope to his practical mind, than the one to which an overruling Providence called him; he entered into it with such an exuberance of zeal, that the cause of education ranked among the foremost in the church. Never idle, he was soon far ahead of his cotemporaries, not only in his views of the resources of the church, but the claims which the rising generations of the world had upon her for an education, based upon the gospel. To awaken the church, he visited the Assemblies, the Synods, and Presbyteries; but finding that even with his unabating zeal he could not do enough, he established in 1848 The Presbyterian Treasury, a quarto publication, which he issued on the first of each month.

This journal was quite popular, but owing to the earnest solicitation of other parties, at the end of two years it gave place to the Home and Foreign Record, edited by all the Secretaries of the Boards of the Church. He however issued in January 1851, the First Annual Volume entitled, The Home, School, and Church, a thick octavo pamphlet, which he distributed gratuitously to all ministers, licentiates, and students in the Presbyterian Church, (O. S.)

In 1851 he also issued the First Number of The Presbyterian Magazine, it was thus that by means of The Home, School, and Church; The Presbyterian Magazine; his Annual Reports to the General Assembly, replete with words of wisdom and sound instruction; and his various public addresses; that upon the subject of education, the mind of the church became intelligent and enlightened. His comprehensive intellect absorbed everything that could in any manner advance the cause of Christian education. It was through these means that he became so well known and so much beloved, he was the true Christian gentleman; kind and gentle in his manners, his personal intercourse happily sustained the favorable impressions his public services created. Entertaining a high sense of the claims of duty, he manifested it by doing his whole duty in behalf of every cause with which he became identified.

Being a man deriving his own resources from the abundance of a sound and vigorous intellect, fostered by an enlarged experience, and chastened by a Christian spirit, with a correct and practical judgment, somewhat cautious, but always considerate, industrious, self-denying, liberal, and benevolent; he stood foremost among his brethren, but though he enjoyed a large amount of good health, and was possessed of a constitution capable of enduring great labors, possibly, he may have overtaxed his powers. By doing less work in a year, he might have done more in a life time; but by doing his work promptly and vigorously, he brought many laborers early into the vineyard, and strengthened many who were already there. He may, by his own hands, have done less work than it would have been possible for him to do, by working more prudently; but, by other hands, he may be doing vastly more than it would have been practicable for him to have done with his own. But he was conscientious, and the Lord greatly blessed his work.

His health showed visible signs of decay in the autumn of 1859, and early in the following winter he was prompted to go to the genial clime of Georgia to recruit, but in vain; during all his journey, and even when on his return to his beautiful home on the banks of the Delaware, at Burlington, N. J., he labored on, contributing to the pages of the Presbyterian Magazine, and making many suggestions of value to the cause of education; whilst he thus lingered, the General Assembly met, and addressed him the affectionate letter found on a preceding page, this letter was signed by nearly every member of the Assembly, and also by a large number of persons in attendance upon, without being members of, the Assembly.

He had previously sent in his resignation to the Board of Education, (his letter and the action of the Board is placed upon record in the preceding pages of the Almanac,) feeling it to be his duty, when no longer able to do the work; for such was the strong conception of that principle, in obedience to which his life was freely devoted, that resignation must follow inability to perform the labor.

The breaking up of his strong constitution by consumption, was slow but sure, as day by day his strength decreased, his views of glory grew brighter, his mind and heart were imbued with a delightful peace, and with a seraphic patience he awaited the summons. He was often taken out to enjoy the pleasant air of summer, and it was on the morning of a lovely day, he had been removed to the porch of his dwelling to gather in the rich fragrance of the flowers, and to contemplate the quiet beauty of nature; whilst resting his head upon the breast of his eldest son, he said, "It is time for me to go! It is time for me to go!" and thus he died, July 25, 1860.

Having been placed at the head of the educational interest of the church, his mind became absorbed in the whole subject of Christian education, and without altering the plan established by the Assembly, he merely added several new features, which commended themselves to his observant mind. The inauguration of the Parochial School Department, the Presbyterian Academies, and Synodical Colleges, which he was the first to develop, gave the Board an impulse and a position never before attained; to bring the church at large up to his own high stand-point, awakened the manifold resources of his intellect; and the Board of Education, rich as she is in the love and confidence of the Church, owes it in a great measure to the self-denying, earnest, prayerful labors of her great secretary.

His liberality was in accordance with the abundance granted to him, laboring as secretary gratuitously, issuing essays, reports, pamphlets, and circulars continually; traveling all over the church; dedicating Parochial Schools, Academies, and Colleges; his name is one of our choicest household words.

Though engaged in these absorbing duties, he occasionally indulged by means of the press in controversy, and his honorable course gained him the respect of his opponents; his long and varied observation of character, the soundness of his views, and the logical precision of his mind, enabled him to keep the main question at issue in sight, and always with advantage.

His most important discussion was upon "The Founders, Principles, and Acts of the Presbyterian Church," this ran through many numbers of the Presbyterian Magazine. His discussion on "The Scriptural doctrine of Slavery," reveals his high-toned courtesy, as well as his manly and Christian independence of thought, besides minor discussions, such as, the Bible emendations of the American Bible Society, the revision of the Book of Discipline, —all revealed a healthy controversial tone, and indicated a well balanced mind, imbued with the true spirit of a Christian.

His sermons were marked by a simplicity of utterance, at once clear and forcible; he always felt that the gospel was to be preached to save sinners, he thus avoided the light conceits of pulpit oratory, and gave his hearers the truth as it is in Jesus.

His love for the church universal is shown in his ready acknowledgment in others of the good and the true; and his sermon on the death of Bishop Doane of New Jersey, is a sweet evidence of his loving nature, of his conception of what was demanded by friendship, and what was due to the memory of a great man.

His discourse on the death of an eminent Friend, Stephen Grelett of Burlington, was a faithful tribute to a most excellent Christian man. His love for the olden time, made him treasure all the records of the past, and his collection of documents, and old letters, and other memorials, which were published in the Presbyterian Magazine, are exceedingly valuable.

His critical reviews were discriminating, searching, and free from partiality, eminently readable, and wholly reliable. All his works will be published under the editorial supervision of his eldest son, C. Van Rensselaer, Esq.

He married Miss C. Cogswell, who with four sons and two daughters survives him.

WALKER, JAMES McCULLOCH.—The son of Hon. John and Jane Susan (McCulloch) Walker was born near Charlotte, N. C., November 1, 1829; surrounded by the happiest influences, he early exhibited an active, inquiring mind; under the fostering care of his parents, every opportunity was given him in the acquisition of knowledge. After his academical studies were completed, he entered Davidson College, N. C., and graduated with honor in 1847. He studied Theology at the Erskine Associate Ref. Presbyterian Seminary, Due West, S. C., and was licensed by the First Presbytery of the Associate Reformed Synod of the South, Sept. 1849, when he spent some time as the missionary of his Presbytery in Kentucky. On his return he was ordained as pastor of Sardis church, N. C., May 9, 1851; here he labored with great zeal and fidelity until 1858, when, in view of his opinions concerning the privilege of Christians singing hymns and spiritual songs, he joined Concord Presbytery, and preached for a short time in Lancasterville and Waxhaw churches, S. C. The impression he made on these churches prompted them to call him, but his feeble health prevented his accepting it. After a short time to recruit, he took charge of Philadelphia church, N. C., and entered into his work with his usual fidelity and zeal. He was devoted to his calling, bringing out the powers of a vigorous and brilliant intellect, governed by the decisions of a well-balanced mind; his preaching ranked him among the first in the Synod of North Carolina.

He was an untiring student, well-versed in Theology, science, history, and general literature; easy and pleasant in his intercourse with his friends, he was modest and unassuming, and his manners were those of a Christian scholar and gentleman. His delivery was fluent, calm, and impressive; his voice was well modulated, and united with his style, which was clear and logical, he always had power over his audience.

He was taken ill at his residence in Charlotte, N. C., and died of typhoid fever, April 15, 1860. His funeral sermon was preached by Rev. James B. Watt, from 2 Sam. i. 26. He was buried in the graveyard of Sardis church, in the bounds of which he was born and reared, and where he first proclaimed the glorious gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

He married Miss Elizabeth Jane Harris, May 13, 1851, who with two children survives him; she is a sister of Rev. John S. Harris of Guthriesville, S. C. He was also related to the Rev. J. Hunter, James Boyce, and E. E. Boyce, ministers of the Associate Reformed Synod of the South.

Possessing the pen of a ready writer, he contributed largely to the religious press of the day. A Sermon on Temperance and a tract entitled, Grieve not the Holy Spirit, issued by the Presbyterian Board of Publication have been published. It is proposed to publish a volume of his Sermons.

WASHBURN, CEPHIAH.—Was born in Randolph, Vermont, July 25, 1795; he received the usual education for lads, and finally entered the University of Vermont at Burlington, where he graduated. He studied Theology at Andover, Mass., and was licensed by a Congregational Association in 1817, and the following year he was ordained as a missionary to the Cherokee Indians. He first went to Georgia, but left in a short time to go with the Indians, who were removed west to the Arkansas river, about four hundred miles above its entrance into the Mississippi. In 1820, at Mr. Washburn's request, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions established the Dwight Mission, and located it on the west bank of the Illinois bayou, in what is now Pope Co., Arkansas; the first missionaries were Cephas Washburn and Alfred Finney. Here his labors among the Red men were blessed of God. In 1828, a new treaty was formed between the United States and the Indians, by which they exchanged the lands they then occupied for those lying "farther west." The faithful missionaries emigrated with their beloved people to their new homes, and established another mission, calling it the same as the one they had left. Here were established schools for boys and girls, and with an energy and devotion to the one great object, the conversion of the souls of the Indians, did this good man labor on year after year, and the poor Cherokees have learned to bless his name.

For over twenty years did this relation exist, when he left the station and labored as a missionary in the State of Arkansas, teaching school and preaching the gospel. In 1852, he united with Arkansas Presbytery, having up to this time belonged to a Congregational Association, and preached at Fort Smith and the settlements around. In 1855, he removed to Norristown, Ark., and during 1859 he was acting as a Synodical Agent. He was a hard worker for the cause of Christ; in all his efforts to do good to the lost and perishing, he developed the love of our Saviour; his discourses were practical, scriptural, and instructive.

He was a prompt attendant upon the courts of the Church; his experience and counsel were of great use to the brethren, and his humility and large-heartedness gained him the love of all who knew him. His devotedness to the cause of the Indians is well shown by the sacrifices to be made in a missionary life among them of over thirty years; during which time he gathered a vast amount of information. His "Reminiscences among the Cherokees," which was prepared for the press, would throw much light upon this people. His illness was of short duration; but the constant wear and tear of half a century of missionary frontier life had broken down his system, and he died at Little Rock, Ark., March 17, 1860.

He died as the righteous die. After speaking to every one in the room about the great salvation, he urged them to be faithful to God, and then they would find Christ to be precious to their souls. When the clock struck three, he remarked, "It is only three o'clock; do you think I will be at home before night? Oh! I long to be at rest." After a few minutes, he said, "This is my dying injunction to my family—Trust in God, and wait, in love and filial obedience, till He shall call you home. By and by God will come and take you to himself."

He married Miss A. W. Woodward, who with three sons and two daughters survives him.

Historical Sketch of the First Presbyterian Church, Rochester, N. Y.

THE General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (o. s.) held their Seventy-second Session in this Church, commencing May 17, and ending May 30, 1860.

This church was organized by the Presbytery of Geneva, August 22, 1815, with sixteen members, as follows:

Bush, Laura A.	Gibbs, Oliver	Stone, Sally
Cobb, Joshua	Hatch, Betsy	Walker, Sophia
Dickinson, Charles	Hernance, Susan	West, Daniel
Donnelly, Henry	Irvine, Lucretia	Williams, Lucy
Elliott, Nancy	Stone, Oringh
Ernsworth, Azel	Stone, Patty

Four elders were then ordained, viz: Messrs. Warren Brown, Henry Donnelly, Oliver Gibbs, and Daniel West. The settlement at Rochester at that time consisted of about 350 persons. There was no meeting-house, and the place of worship for all, without regard to denomination, was a small school-house.

On the 17th of January, 1816, Rev. Comfort Williams was installed as the first pastor. The service was performed in an unfinished store.

In January, 1817, a framed building, 40 by 50 feet in its ground dimensions, was commenced for a temporary house of worship. Money could not be raised in the ordinary way to defray the expense (about $2,000 for the house and lot). A stock company was formed which advanced the money, to be repaid from the yearly rent of pews. Comfortable seats were thus furnished. The enterprise proved successful and was greatly blessed. The building was erected in about four months, and was dedicated in May, 1817.

In September, 1817, nine of the members who resided in the town of Brighton were dismissed to organize a church in that town.

In the same year, the Episcopalians, and soon after the Baptists and Methodists discontinued their worship with this church and organized their own.

June 10, 1821, at the request of Rev. C. Williams, his pastoral relation to the church and congregation was dissolved.

April 3, 1822, Rev. Joseph Penney was installed as pastor over this church and congregation.

In October, 1824, the church edifice now occupied (and of which an engraving is given) was dedicated as a house of worship. Its ground dimensions are 84 by 65 feet. Its internal arrangement is very commodious, and although it is impaired by long use, and has a somewhat antique appearance, the congregation is so well accommodated and feel so much attachment for it, as to be in no haste to exchange for a more modern structure.

In 1825, the Second Presbyterian church (now known as the Brick church) was organized. To aid this enterprise, some twenty members were dismissed from the First church, and soon afterwards a like number went to strengthen the Third Presbyterian church, a new organization.

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

Published by Joseph M. Wilson N. 111 South 1st St. Phila.^a

On the 22nd of November, 1832, Rev. Joseph Penney, after having officiated as pastor nearly eleven years, greatly to the acceptance and edification of the church, resigned his pastoral office.

His successor was Rev. Tryon Edwards, who was installed July 22, 1834.

In July, 1836, about 40 members were dismissed from the church to be organized into a new church, called the Bethel Free church. This church is now known as the Central Presbyterian church.

June 28, 1844, Rev. Tryon Edwards tendered his resignation as their pastor, which was reluctantly accepted, and was confirmed by Presbytery, July 28, 1844.

He was succeeded by Rev. Malcolm N. McLaren, who was installed August 27, 1845, and was at his request dismissed Feb. 28, 1847.

On the 13th of July, 1848, Rev. Joshua H. McIlvaine was installed.

In December, 1853, about 15 members were dismissed to unite with others in a new church, called St. Peter's church, which was then organized.

In August, 1855, the Plymouth Congregational church was organized, and received about 30 members from this church.

In August, 1860, J. H. McIlvaine, D. D., accepted an invitation to a professorship in Nassau Hall College, and at his request his relation to the church as pastor ceased, August 26, 1860. His ministrations during twelve years were greatly blessed.

The church contains 460 members.

The church has ever taken a deep interest in Domestic and Foreign Missions. The monthly concert of prayer for Foreign Missions has been regularly observed by this church for more than forty years, during which time large sums of money have been contributed to the American Board; and from the church have gone forth as ministers and missionaries to foreign lands:—Jonathan S. Green, missionary to the Sandwich Islands; F. DeW. Ward, ten years in India; James Ballentine; L. Merrill Miller; T. Dwight Hunt, missionary to the Sandwich Islands; Henry B. Chapin; Frederick Starr, jr.; Henry E. Peck; Charles G. Lee; William N. McCoon; Everard Kempshall; Charles R. Clarke; Robert Proctor, and George Dutton. Miss Delia Stone (Mrs. Bishop), to the Sandwich Islands; Miss Maria W. Chapin (Mrs. Eli Smith), to Syria (deceased); Dr. and Mrs. De Forest, to Syria, (former deceased).

THE SIXTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES, (N. S.) assembled according to appointment in the Third Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Penn., on Thursday, May 17th, 1860; and was opened with a discourse by the retiring Moderator, REV. ROBERT W. PATTERSON, D. D., from 1 Cor. iii. 9, "Ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building;" and Ephesians iv. 16, "From whom the whole body fitly joined together, and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love."

After the discourse the Assembly was constituted with prayer, and the Committee on Commissions reported the following as

Bills and Overtures.

CONWAY P. WING, D. D., Chairman of this committee, reported the following Bills and Overtures, which were disposed of according to the suggestions of the Committee :

OVERTURE No. I.—An application to the Assembly from members of the Presbyterian Church of Mount Vernon, Indiana; to give "a release and quit claim" to certain property occupied by the church.

The real estate in question was conveyed, in April 1847, to certain "Trustees of the Presbyterian Church of Mount Vernon, connected with the (New School) General Assembly, and to their associates and successors in office for ever."

In 1848, the Church became connected with the (O. S.) Presbytery of Vincennes. From that time the real estate has been in the possession of the church, and occupied by them as a place of worship. They now desire to sell the property for the purpose of purchasing other property; but as the Committee infer, they are unable to sell, because the original grant, having been made to a "New School" Church, there is a cloud on the title, by which they at present hold the property.

The Committee recommend the adoption by the Assembly of the following resolution :

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Assembly the questions, arising under the application of the church of Mount Vernon, Indiana, are exclusively for the determination of the civil courts of that State; that it is, therefore, inexpedient for the Assembly to take any action in the premises; and that the applicants have leave to withdraw their application and accompanying papers.

No. II.—From J. C. ADAMSON, D. D., of the Third Presbytery of New York, now in South Africa, suggesting the appointment of a delegation from our branch of the Presbyterian family to the Convention to be held in Edinburgh during the present year, to commemorate the establishment of the Protestant Reformation in Scotland three hundred years since.

The Committee recommend that William Adams, D. D., M. L. P. Thompson, D. D., John Jenkins, D. D., and Rev. Robert R. Booth, be appointed to attend the Tri-Centenary celebration, and to act as delegates in its proceedings.

No. III.—A Memorial from the Presbytery of Alton, asking the General Assembly to take into its own hands the whole work of Domestic Missions; giving reasons why such a cause would be both right and expedient; after reading, the memorial was referred to the Committee on Church Extension.

No. IV.—From Alfred Beasley, M. D., of the Presbytery of Cincinnati, inquiring whether a respect for the action of former Assemblies does not demand, from our Southern Presbyteries, some explanation of the condition of the churches under their care, in relation to Slavery.

Your Committee have not been supplied with any information, which brings before us, in a manner authorized by our Book of Discipline, relations, practices, or delinquencies in relation to Slavery, which demand or render desirable any action of the Assembly on that subject.

No. V.—Requesting the Assembly to consider the propriety of appointing an Official Reporter of its proceedings.

The Committee recommend, that the paper be referred to the Committee of Arrangements for the next General Assembly, with instructions that, if they find such an arrangement practicable, it may be effected.

No. VI.—From W. F. Stuart, Samuel Polkey, Robert Barry, Joseph H. Leonard, and Parker Earle, representatives of different Temperance organizations in Illinois, praying that this General Assembly would “give the Temperance cause a proper prominence among the means of reform sustained by the church;” and especially suggesting, that if it would “arrange or recommend that some proper Temperance movement should sustain the same relation to the churches, as the Tract, the Bible, and the Missionary causes do, both morally and financially, it would be of immense advantage to the cause.”

The Committee report, that this Overture did not come into their possession until near the close of the Assembly, affording but little time for such action as the importance of the subject demands. In compliance with the request of the petitioners, the Assembly are willing to assign to the cause of Temperance a relation to our church not dissimilar to that which has been given to the benevolent objects with which it is compared. But with none of these do we maintain any other connection, than that which their own moral power secures upon the free affection and esteem of our members. Very cheerfully and earnestly would this Assembly commend the cause of Temperance to all the ministers and members of our church, and urge them heartily to co-operate with every judicious effort in a Christian spirit to promote it; that pastors frequently preach upon the subject, and especially that no countenance be given to those social usages, by which great temptations to intemperance are thrown before their fellow-men.

Polity of the Church.

HARVEY CURTIS, D. D., Chairman of the Committee, reported the following papers, which were adopted according to the recommendations of the Committee:

PAPER NO. I.—Being a request from the Presbytery of Kansas, asking that said Presbytery be transferred from the Synod of Iowa to the Synod of Missouri, the Committee recommend that the request be granted, and the Presbytery be accordingly transferred.

No. II.—Whereas, the Presbyteries of Winchester, Piedmont, and Hanover, constituent portions of the Synod of Virginia, have followed up their previous vote of withdrawal from the Assembly, by a positive connection with another ecclesiastical body; therefore, the Committee recommend, that the bounds of the Synod of Pennsylvania be so extended as to embrace the State of Maryland and the District of Columbia; that the Presbytery of the District of Columbia be transferred to the said Synod; and that the Synod of Virginia be stricken from the roll.

No. III.—An answer to the inquiry—"Ought the eldership to participate in the ordination of ministers by laying on of hands?"

It is a recognized principle in our Church Polity, that Bishops, Ministers, and Elders constitute but one grade or rank of officers in the Christian church; and hence, that in all our church judicatories they have equal rights and powers. In all the judicial business of the church all are Presbyters alike. Still it cannot be denied, that in the Bible a distinction is recognized between those Presbyters who rule only, and those who both rule and preach. In the practice of the Presbyterian Church, in all its branches, this distinction has become very marked. In the ordination of ministers, your Committee believe there are two distinct things to be done. 1st. The examination and approval of the candidate. In this all the members of the Presbytery participate alike; and 2d. The formal act of induction into office, in which, by almost universal consent, as we suppose, only ministers officiate.

Your Committee would suggest that the act of induction is ministerial, not judicial. And as, in respect to baptism, the Elders jointly with the Pastor determine who shall be admitted to this ordinance, yet the Pastor only administers it; so in ordination, the whole Presbytery determine the fitness of the candidate, but only the ministers present induct into office. This, we believe, has been the universal practice under this rule.

The Committee therefore recommend that the question be answered in the negative.

No. IV.—In answer to the question: Is it forbidden by our standards to baptize adult converts upon a general confession of faith in Christ, previous to their being received into a particular church, and assenting to its articles of faith?

The Committee reply, that in the practice of our church, and according to her standards, baptism is manifestly regarded as a part of the general profession of faith in, and obedience to Christ, which constitute his initiation into the visible church, and into some particular branch of it; and in no ordinary case ought the several parts of this solemn profession to be separated.

No. V.—From the Presbytery of Chicago, asking the General Assembly to take measures to secure more accuracy and completeness in the Annual Reports of Presbyteries.

It was referred to a Committee consisting of the Permanent and Stated Clerks, to report to the next Assembly.

No. VI.—When a church shall dismiss its ruling elders, and deny to its members the right of appeal and complaint, and deny the authority of Presbytery over it, has it a right to be represented in the judicatories of our Church?

The Committee recommend the following answer:

That the acts of insubordination specified do not, of themselves, infer a forfeiture of the church's right to be represented in the church judicatories; but such representation must be in the mode, and by the persons specified in the Constitution of the Church.

No. VII.—A memorial from certain members of the church in Bloomfield, N. J., inquiring as to the right of females and minor members of the church to vote in elections for church officers, was indefinitely postponed.

The Publication Committee.

The Eighth Annual Report to the Assembly is as follows:

In the review of the year the Committee find much reason for congratulation. With the very inadequate resources at their hand, to keep on their way without actual disaster, is a great success.

The new publications of the year add moral as well as material strength to the undertaking. The issues of the Committee have met the approbation of our pastors and intelligent church members.

The increase of the number of our publications gives increased facilities for their diffusion. Since the Committee are entirely dependent upon ordinary sales for the disposal of their books and tracts, this is an important item of progress.

In the actual increase of sales there is ground for encouragement. These have exceeded those of the last year fifty per cent., and those of two years ago, two hundred per cent. If, whilst laboring under great disadvantages from a lack of capital, the business of the Committee has made these advances, there is every reason to believe that, with a better financial basis, the undertaking will be eminently successful and useful.

The Publications for the year have been eight new books, viz: The Young Hop Pickers, The Little Orange Sellers, Paul and Harry Fane, Little Joe Ashton, Rose Cottage, This One Thing I Do, The Martyrs of the Mutiny, and The Shorter Catechism, with Analysis and Proofs; two tracts, 12mo., and two 18mo.; also Forms of Dismissions for Church members, for Reports of a Church Session or Presbytery, and for the Public Admission of Church Members, The American Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1860, also the Sabbath-school Hymn Book, 320 pages, 32mo. It contains a number of hymns which are most readily learned and loved by the young; not excluding those written for little children. The Shorter Catechism, Lord's Prayer, and Ten Commandments, are printed with each Hymn Book.

Eclectic Tune Book, edited by W. B. Bradbury, 368 pages. This book brings together the most popular and devotional tunes, old and new, now in use. The selection has been based upon actual returns, contained in more than five hundred lists of tunes furnished in response to a Circular of inquiry.

The Church Psalmist has been issued as heretofore. A large number of our churches have, during the past year, substituted it for other collections of Psalms and Hymns, and others will soon do so.

Special donations have been made to stereotype Permanency in the Pastoral Relation, The Presbyterian System, Shall I Dance? and This One Thing I Do.

The Committee have, in different stages of forwardness, and some of them ready for publication, several works, which they are anxious to issue. Lack of capital to invest in these books compels them to hesitate, although the interests of the churches claim their publication.

The Committee call attention to the circulation of their publications. In the absence of colporteurs or missionaries to carry out their books and tracts, they look to the ministers and elders of the churches to lend their aid in this important part of the work to be done.

The Treasurer's report, which covers but eleven months, shows,

Balance on hand, May 10, 1859,.....	$740.02
Donations received,.....	8095.81
Cash from sales,.....	10,942.95
	$19,778.78
Paid for stereotyping, printing, binding, salaries, &c.,.....	$19,692.62
	$86.16
Balance on hand, April 10, 1860,.....	$86.16

The cash received does not show the amount of sales, as balances in favor of the Committee only in many cases go on the books.

The sales of eleven months have been $15,048.05; being an advance of fifty per cent on the preceding year.

Donations of books and tracts have been made to the amount of $287.91.

Whilst the position of the Committee is better than in any preceding year, it is stated that without the results of a special effort made in the City of Philadelphia, the report must have worn a different complexion.

The Committee, in conclusion, appeal to their brethren for the moral and pecuniary support which the course upon which the denomination has entered imperatively demands.

By the direction of the Assembly, they have entered into heavy pecuniary obligations, for which they, as members of the Committee, are personally liable. They have sought to carry out faithfully the instructions given them, looking to the churches for the necessary means. But they are compelled plainly to say, that they have not received the support which they deem themselves entitled to expect.

They ask not for funds to invest in presses or binderies, or in any of the machinery of printing and book-making. These the Committee do not design to own. Nor do they ask for the means of meeting the current expenses of their organizations. But, simply, for such a working capital as will enable them to fulfill the instructions of the Assembly, to meet the demands and fulfill the duty of the Church.

The Committee to whom the report was referred, REV. JOHN G. ATTERBURY, Chairman, offered the following recommendation, which was adopted:

1. That the Publication Committee be endowed with a working capital of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars; 2. That the General Assembly earnestly request all their churches to make a special contribution for this object in the month of October next; 3. That the Publication Committee be authorized, in their discretion, to employ an Agent for the furtherance of this design; and 4. That the Assembly earnestly request the pastors to preach to their congregations on this subject in connection with the call for a contribution in October.

The Church Erection Fund.

The Sixth Annual Report is as follows:—

The number of churches to whom grants have been made the past year is thirty-one. The number of donations is nine, and of the loans, twenty-two.

The average of the donations is $183; and that of the loans, $436.

The average donations in 1857,	$191	The average loans in 1857,	$396
“ “ “ “ 1858,	187	“ “ “ “ 1858,	424
“ “ “ “ 1859,	180	“ “ “ “ 1859,	431
“ “ “ “ 1860,	183	“ “ “ “ 1860,	436

The whole number of grants made from the beginning is one hundred and forty, and the total amount granted to these churches is $52,396. The number of donations is thirty-three, and that of loans is one hundred and seven. The general average of the former is $186, and that of the latter, $432.

The Committee, in their donations and loans, are guided by strict economy, and have not expended the funds of the church in erecting expensive edifices. Of the one hundred and forty aided, seven cost less than one thousand dollars, fifty-two cost between one and two thousand, thirty-eight cost between two and three thousand, twenty cost between three and four thousand, twelve cost between four and five thousand, and ten cost over five thousand dollars; this in nearly every case includes the cost of the lot; in one instance the cost of the church is not named.

The number of applications the present year is somewhat less than that of the preceding year. But while the number is less, the amount of aid given is very nearly equal to what was paid out the year previous.

Most of the churches, to whom donations have been made, have complied with the conditions of the Plan, and have taken up and forwarded to the Treasurer of the Fund an annual contribution. In some five instances no such remittance was made the last year; and in two other cases nothing of the kind has ever been received.

There has not, however, been anything like the same general promptness in the repayment of loans. Some noble examples indeed there have been, where the action of the churches has been prompt and hearty; but these cases of promptness, the Board regret to say, are in the minority. Nearly two-thirds of those to whom loans were made during the first year's disbursement of the Fund, and whose first instalments have become due, have failed to pay that instalment

The Church Extension Committee.

The Fifth Annual Report is as follows:

The Committee would remark, that the same law which has marked their previous progress has also characterized the past year.

The number of Missionaries during the year acting under an appointment from your Committee has been forty. It will be seen that the increase is more than one hundred per cent. This agreeable result has been accomplished without incurring any debt, and with a balance of $1200 in the Treasury, while every approved application before the Committee has been met.

They have labored in the following states:—In New York, 1; Minnesota, 1; Indiana, 1; Wisconsin, 2; Iowa, 4; Missouri, 5; Michigan, 6; Illinois, 17; and 3 as itinerants in Kansas and Nebraska.

The receipts during the past year were $14,101.13; and as an evidence of the increasing interest felt by the churches, the following are the receipts for the three previous years: in 1859, $9,358.57; in 1858, $6,234.59; and in 1857, $2,908.19.

It is a matter to us of sincere pleasure, that no part of the Church has been burdened, but that the collections have been almost uniform over the whole Church, and mainly in proportion to the means of each part. The large cities of Philadelphia and New York have taken the lead in the amounts contributed, but not in sums disproportionate to the other parts of the Church. And while the main contributions have been from the East, as was to be expected, yet the West has shown by her donations a determination to care for her own wants. The increase which we report in funds has been almost uniform over the whole Church.

The total payments for the year, $12,878.82. Balance on hand, $1,222.31.

It would, no doubt, be pleasant for every Presbytery and Synod to be able to sustain entirely its own missionary work, just as it would be agreeable to every Church to sustain itself. While, however, some of them have large districts to cultivate, and are, in a pecuniary point of view, comparatively weak, it appears to be the true spirit of Christianity, that those parts of the Church, having compact fields of labor and more wealth, should assist their brethren. This assistance, we understand, the Assembly desires us to render, in such manner as the Presbyteries and Synods themselves desire, keeping always in view the inherent rights of each church court.

The Foreign Missions Committee.

The Second Annual Report of the Committee is as follows:—

The whole number of ordained missionaries in our connection, under the care of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions is fifty-six, the most of whom are married.

During the past year six have entered the field, as follows :

- Rev. Simeon F. Wooden, of the Pres. of N. Y. 4th, to Fuh Chau, China.
- Rev. Walter H. Clark, of the Pres. of North River, to Gaboon, Africa.
- Rev. Edward Chester, of the Pres. of N. Y. 4th, to Madura.
- Rev. Alvin B. Goodale, M. D., of the Pres. of N. Y. 3d, to South Armenia.
- Rev. John H. Shedd, of the Pres. of Franklin, to the Nestorians.
- Rev. Morris L. St. John, of the Pres. of Athens, to Gaboon, Africa.

The Committee have given renewed attention to the proposal, a second time presented to the General Assembly, in a memorial signed by George Duffield, S. M. Sparks, and H. Kendall, and referred by that body to their consideration. The memorial, it will be remembered, suggests and argues the expediency of establishing Missions in Mexico and Central or Southern America, or some other appropriate field, as a distinctive independent movement of our Church, employing, however, the American and Foreign Christian Union as the agent for disbursing the funds which should be raised for this object. While the Committee readily admit the cogency of many of the reasons urged in behalf of this measure, they are still unanimous in maintaining the opinions expressed against it last year.

Agreeably to the recommendations of the Assembly of 1859, correspondence has been had with the several missionaries belonging to our body. As the result three letters have been received, containing matters of much interest. One is from the missionaries among the Dakotas; another is from our brethren at Madura; and the third from South Africa.

These letters exhibit the close and vital connection in which we stand to at least some of the missions under the American Board. They show us how narrowly the record we make of ourselves is scanned, what expectations are entertained of us, and how our deficiencies are marked. And, in kindly terms, they urge us to perform a more equitable part in sustaining the burdens of that great work, in which we are associated with those of another name. Not till a more thorough system is observed, in all our benevolent operations throughout our Presbyteries, in both the presentation of the several Causes and in the taking up and the reporting, with constant accuracy, of contributions for them, will our Church be able to ascertain its resources, and know how to arrange its plans for future action.

The Committee would also urge upon the several Presbyteries the duty of maintaining stated correspondence with the missionary brethren of their own body, and so to vitalize the connection existing between them. Too often is it the case that the Missionaries have no other recognition of their Presbyterial membership than in the roll-call which they never hear. And when they return to their country, and enter the meetings of their Presbyteries, they appear there as forgotten exiles or as strangers. Thus are they without any sense of home in the midst of the brethren with whom they are most closely allied.

Of such a condition of things they may well complain, and they sometimes do complain. Brotherly love and regard for our own benefit, require that we maintain intercourse with our Missionaries.

In conclusion, the Committee need but remind the brethren and elders throughout the churches, that great results in the Mission work can only be expected from commensurate efforts. God has reserved the most arduous portion of this work unto these latter days, when the Church shall be strong in resources, and mighty for action.

The Committee, ALFRED T. CHESTER, D. D., Chairman, to whom this report was referred, reported the following resolutions which were adopted :

First. The urging upon Presbyteries of the importance of securing a more perfect system, in respect to contributions for missionary purposes, and especially the necessity of reporting such collections, not in a spirit of boasting, but in order that full and correct statistics of our benevolent operations may be secured.

Second. The correspondence from the Dacotah, the Madura, and the African missions is worthy of notice, from the excellence of these communications and the important information which they convey; but more especially as constituting the beginning of an interchange of letters between the General Assembly and its absent and distant members, who are preaching the Gospel among the heathen.

Third. That portion of the report which is in reply to the Memorial for the establishment of Missions in Mexico, or Central or Southern America, may be accepted as the proper reply to the resolution of the Presbytery of Detroit, and a memorial signed by George Duffield and H. Kendall, submitted to the Standing Committee; as it argues at length the impracticability of attempting to establish separate and independent Missions at the present time.

The Education Committee.

The Committee, D. HOWE ALLEN, D. D., Chairman, to whom was referred the Annual Report, offered the following report:

The attention of the Assembly is called to the occasion of gratitude to the great Head of the Church, for the increasing interest which is felt in this cause throughout our Church, for the continued prosperity of our Theological Seminaries, and especially for the success which has attended the efforts to enlarge the endowments of Auburn and Lane Seminaries.

At the same time we are called upon for more earnest prayer to the Lord of the harvest, in view of the fact, that the whole number of students in these Institutions, and so far as we can learn, the whole number of Candidates for the Ministry in any stage of their education, is scarcely at all in advance of that of the preceding year.

The labors of the Permanent Committee, through their Secretary, have done much to deepen the interest on this subject in the churches, Presbyteries, and Synods, and especially among the young men in the various institutions which he has visited. Your Committee are persuaded, that if the condition of this whole cause at this time could be compared with what it was four years ago when these labors commenced, the Assembly and the churches would feel, that the money necessary to sustain them could not have been better expended, and that these labors must on no account be discontinued. Their Report has already informed you of the embarrassment under which they have labored, on account of the fact that the interest in the cause "has gathered itself around local centres," instead of around one common centre, so that what they have done cannot be embodied and made manifest to the church at large.

The most serious question which presses upon the minds of your Committee is, Can these causes of embarrassment and difficulty be removed—wholly or in part?

They believe that they can be removed, and that it is the sincere desire of all parts of the Church that they should be. Therefore,

Resolved, 1. That the Permanent Committee continue their work as heretofore; and that they be instructed, at an early day, to revise the present plan of the Assembly, and submit the revised plan to the Presbyteries, with the earnest request that they express their views and wishes concerning it to the Permanent Committee previous to the meeting of the next Assembly; and that Rev. Albert Barnes, D. Howe Allen, D. D., Ezra A. Huntington, D. D., and Henry B. Smith, D. D., be appointed to confer with said Committee concerning the revision of the plan.

2. That this Assembly are gratified to learn that the Permanent Committee have begun to aid students from their own treasury; and that the churches be earnestly requested to replenish that treasury, that the work may go on in a manner worthy of the cause and of the Church at large.

Narrative of the State of Religion.

The Committee, Rev. WILLIAM S. HUGGINS, Chairman, reported:

The Narrative of the State of Religion, within the bounds of whatsoever ecclesiastical body, is an answer so far as it goes, to Zion's question: "Watchman, what of the night?" We ought to have an answer to this great inquiry from every portion of our field; but many of the Presbyteries, as in previous years, are silent. Last year the number being then sixty-five, and this year seventy-one—they yet feel called upon to suggest, that every Presbytery ought to remember, that the General Assembly is very desirous to ascertain, from year to year, what each Presbytery within its bounds has been doing, what its experience has been, what its present wants are, and what are its prospects. And they would suggest, further, that every Presbytery ought to be equally desirous of coming into closer sympathy and fellowship with the other portions of the Church, by putting the Assembly in possession of these facts.

Many of the Presbyteries report one or more revivals, which, though not so marked in their features, nor so large in their results, as those of two years ago, have still greatly cheered and strengthened the churches.

The reports generally make mention of the Sabbath-school, of increased interest in it, and increased efforts in that direction; and not only in behalf of the children of the Church and congregation, but of such as are gathered in Mission schools. There seems to be special interest in this cause, accompanied with corresponding labors in every portion of our field. When Zion's watchmen report this fact to us, we cannot but be greatly cheered.

The instruction of the older youth and of adults in Bible classes seems to be receiving very general attention. Its importance is appreciated, and greater efforts are being made to secure it.

Comparatively little allusion is made to catechetical instruction. Some of the reports speak of its importance in connection with its general neglect; while a few indicate an increased attention to it. It is greatly to be desired, that an increased attention to it should become more general. Error in these days assumes so many and such plausible shapes, and so easily communicates itself to the atmosphere which we breathe, and to the food which our mental appetites crave, that it is of especial importance, that our children should be furnished, in due season, with that well-proved "form of sound words" which the Catechism gives us. We wonder that Christian parents are not afraid to send their children out into the world, as the world is in these days, without arming them with some specific safeguard against the soul-destroying errors which everywhere prevail. The Bible, they will, of course, be made familiar with; but it is very desirable that they be made familiar, also, (and so familiar that memory can never let them go,) with clear and definite doctrinal statements of what the Bible teaches. We would suggest, that, while the Church is to be held responsible for the catechetical instruction of the children within its reach, a greater responsibility rests upon Christian parents. Unless the Catechism is honored, and its words made "household words" in our Christian families, the efforts of the Church in this direction will be of little avail.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON HOME MISSIONS.

The Committee, appointed by the General Assembly of 1859 on the subject of Home Missions, reported:

We deeply regret that our relations with the American Home Missionary Society have grown more complicated and embarrassing. We see no prospect of any effectual removal of the difficulties which have arisen between that Society and our Church, as will fully re-establish the harmonious and beneficent co-operation in the Home Missionary work, which was so happily maintained in former years. All endeavors to effect a satisfactory adjustment in the matters of difference between us have proved fruitless.

It is with us no longer an open question, whether we should continue to prosecute our Church-Extension work, so as to supply any lack of service that may exist on our field, according to our own judgment and ability. In maintaining this position, we are guilty of no breach of good faith towards the American Home Missionary Society. For we have never expressly, nor by remote implication, bound ourselves to make that Society the exclusive agency of our Church in the Home Missionary work.

And, that we may do all in our power to secure a wise and Christian adjustment of the difficulties by which we are encompassed, in relation to this subject, the General Assembly hereby appoint a Committee of ten, to meet, in a fraternal conference, a Committee of Congregational brethren.

It shall be the duty of the Committee of the Assembly, herein provided for, to use their utmost endeavors to secure such an understanding between us and our Congregational brethren in regard to our co-operation with them in the work of Home Missions, as may conduct to an equitable and final settlement of this whole question.

It shall also be the duty of this Committee to make a full report to the next General Assembly, and to recommend to that body such plans and measures pertaining to the Home Missionary work as they may deem necessary.

We would lay no restrictions whatever on our Presbyteries, or churches, as to the exercise of their liberty, in choosing, for themselves, through what agency they shall bestow their contributions for the promotion of the Domestic Missionary work. But we would earnestly urge them, to do all in their power for the furtherance of this great cause, either through the A. H. M. Society, or the Church-Extension Committee.

DEMISSION OF THE MINISTRY.

The Committee appointed by the Assembly of 1859 to whom was referred the question, "May an ecclesiastical body, in any case, demit from the office of the ministry without discipline or censure?" reported that, We simply refer to the usages of our own Church, and urge them upon the attention of our Presbyteries. They are not to allow any of their ministers to retire from the ministerial work, of their own accord; but to require, of such as are desirous to enter into a secular calling, their reasons for such a course, which they are to put upon record, approvingly or otherwise. The circumstances of the age call loudly upon this Assembly to re-affirm these long-established principles, and to enjoin upon the Presbyteries the utmost carefulness in preventing the secularization of our ministry.

The first Monday of January, 1861, was recommended as a day of Fasting and Prayer for the conversion of the world; and the last Thursday of February as a Concert of Prayer for Colleges and other Institutions of Learning.

Thanks were adopted, to the respective Railroad Companies, who furnished Excursion tickets at reduced rates, to the citizens of Pittsburgh, Allegheny City, and the neighboring villages, for their large-hearted hospitality, to the Committee of Arrangements and the Third Presbyterian Church.

The Assembly was dissolved, and another General Assembly, chosen in the same manner, will meet in the First Presbyterian church, Syracuse, N. Y., on the third Tuesday of May, 1861, at 11 o'clock A. M.

BASSETT, ARCHIBALD.—The son of Benjamin and Mary Bassett, was born in Derby, Connecticut, March 21, 1772; he received a careful education, and graduated at Yale College in 1796, with the highest honor for scholarship in the languages.

He studied Theology under Rev. Dr. Dwight, at that time President of Yale; and was licensed and ordained by New Haven Consociation, at Winchester, Conn., in 1801; here he laboured five years. He removed to Walton, N. Y., in 1807, and became pastor of the Congregational church in that place; in 1810 he resigned his charge, though residing at Walton, he preached in churches at Westerloo, Lexington, Andes, Homiden, and supplied temporary vacancies for many years.

In 1828 he was a member of Columbia Presbytery, and he was one of the original members of Delaware Presbytery, organized in 1831, which relation existed uninterruptedly until his death, April 29, 1859, of a general breaking down of his system, with the usual debility of old age; though never robust, by careful diet and exercise, his life passed beyond the usual allotment to men.

He was a regular attendant upon all ecclesiastical meetings, and by his active mind and energetic will, took a leading part in the business transacted. As a preacher, he was systematic and positive, being a theologian of the old type of Edwards; he inclined to be a reformer, earnest and at times somewhat radical, but his temperament was even. He was denominated a revivalist, and during his ministrations many evidences of the Spirit were brought to light. At the age of eighty he preached the opening sermon of Susquehanna Synod, which revealed the earnestness and vigor of his earlier years.

He married Miss Kezia Curtis, daughter of Deacon Job Curtis of Torrington, Conn., May 1, 1804, who is still living; they had seven children, Rev. George W. Bassett of Illinois is a son; Rev. C. R. Clarke of Illinois, and Rev. Vinal Smith of N. Y., are sons-in-law.

BETTS, M. D., ALFRED H.—The son of Hezekiah and Grace (Hanford) Betts, was born at Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 2, 1786. Under the influence of religious training which he received from pious parents, his mind was early trained to serious subjects. He had chosen the profession of medicine, which he practiced in Danbury, Conn., for seven years after he left his native town. Here he manifested that earnest desire to do good, which characterized him. There was in him a rare spirit of Christian benevolence. It was while he was pursuing this course of benevolent action that his mind became deeply interested in the spiritual wants of the Western country. Locating at Florence, Ohio, in 1817, he immediately established a meeting at the house of Mr. Hawley, which soon attracted a large number of people, and was the means of spiritual quickening to many who had enjoyed religious privileges at the East.

Feeling that his call for the ministry was decided, he studied Theology under Rev. Dr. Hanford, at Hudson, Ohio, and was licensed by Portage Presbytery, when he engaged fully in the work, which he prosecuted with untiring diligence in Florence and the neighboring region. After four years of labor here, he removed to Brownhelm, and was ordained by Portage Presbytery, and installed over the church in 1821. At first he devoted all his time to this congregation, but afterwards to Vermillion and Wakeman churches in adjoining places. In 1835 he found his health so much impaired, that he felt inadequate to the labors of the pastorate, and was dismissed. But his dismissal from this church was not a release from labor, he engaged in the distribution of the Bible and other religious books. It was in such self-denying labors that his years rolled on, he was taken with a fever and died Sept. 8, 1860.

He was diligent and pains-taking in church meetings. So long as he could attend them he was sure to be present, and always contributed to make them interesting. His genial spirit, his mature wisdom, his good sense, made him a valuable member, and endeared him to all. He was eminently judicious in counsel. His ready mind was quick to perceive the bearings of any proposition under discussion. As a preacher, he was simple, direct, and lucid in his presentation of God's word. His sermons were rather expository than topical. His leading trait was his benevolent, his self-forgetful, self-renouncing spirit evinced in every way. If there was any feeble church struggling for its very existence, he was sure to be its helper, giving his time, his labor, and even his money, without apparent regard to compensation. He did not seem to think of that. His chief and all-absorbing enquiry was whether he could do any good. He took with him from Connecticut the strict Puritan habits with regard to the Sabbath which marked the former days of New England piety.

The doctrines, too, of that Theology, he warmly loved. It was his strong attachment to what he regarded as the cardinal doctrines of the Bible, that made him impatient of those who teach another gospel. Yet as life waned, his Christian charity expanded, and he appreciated more clearly the position and the work of other Christian denominations.

He married Miss Sallie Harris, who with ten children survives him.

BOARDMAN, CHARLES ADOLPHUS.—The son of Homer and Amaryllis (Warren) Boardman, was born in New Milford, Conn., Nov. 19, 1788; he was a descendant of Rev. Daniel Boardman, the first pastor of New Milford church. On making a profession of religion, he was prompted to enter the ministry; he studied Theology under Rev. A. Elliot, he was licensed by Litchfield South Association, and ordained by a Council in Feb. 1818, as pastor of the Congregational church in New Preston, Conn. His preceptor, Mr. Elliot, preached the ordination sermon, and the Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher delivered the charge to the pastor. He remained pastor of that church for twelve years, when he was called to the Third church in New Haven, Conn., and installed in April 1830. He labored there two years, and then accepted a call from the Congregational church in Westport, where he remained four years. Being urged to accept the office of secretary and agent of the Western Reserve Educational Society, he entered upon that work. The traveling duties of this position not being congenial to his domestic habits, he resigned, and accepted a call to become the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Youngstown, Mahoning county, Ohio, in Trumbull Presbytery, and was settled over that church in the fall of 1838. There he labored for Christ, and lived in the hearts of the people for sixteen years. In the year 1854 he removed to Monroe, Wisconsin, intending to spend the remainder of his days with a married daughter, the wife of S. B. McEwen, Esq., at whose house he died, surrounded by every comfort and attended by every care. Soon after his removal to Monroe he was prompted to preach to the small remains of a Presbyterian church. He preached with success for about three years, when he retired from the active ministry. The church at its re-organization, took the form of Congregationalism. The attachment between himself and the church and congregation at Youngstown, Ohio, continued unabated till his death. He spent the winter of 1859-60 among them, and returned to Monroe in April, when he began to fail, and without any disease his vital powers decayed, and he died July 24, 1860.

He had a sound mind in a sound body. A well cultivated intellect was assisted by a most tenacious memory. He understood well what was due to the dignity of human nature, and what was due to the amenities of social life. Hence he so well maintained his own manhood, and conceded to others what was due to them. As a Christian minister, he was a model of industry, perseverance, and labor to all who have taken upon them the vows of ordination. As a pastor, a reference to the book of the church in Monroe, will show how thoroughly he understood his work. His death was peaceful, retaining his strong faculties till the last, he testified for Jesus, and bare witness to the truth. As he lived, so he died, sound, evangelical, and orthodox. His funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Edward Morris, pastor of the church in Monroe.

He married Miss Sophia Hine, March 7, 1811; a son and daughter survive him.

BRINKERHOFF, ABRAHAM D.—The son of Derriek and Catharine (Hoffman) Brinkerhoff, was born in Fishkill, N. Y., June 5, 1795; after a good academical training he entered Columbia College, N. Y., but did not graduate. He studied Theology in the Seminary at Auburn, N. Y., and was licensed by Champlain Presbytery at Essex, N. Y., in October, 1832, and ordained by same Presbytery as pastor of the church at Chazy, N. Y., Sept., 1833; he subsequently preached at Plattsburgh, Keeseville, and Champlain. In 1850, he resigned his charge at Champlain, and in 1852 he became stated supply to the First church at Chazy, N. Y., where he labored until the gradual decline of his health forced him to give up, which he did in 1858.

He remained without charge until his death, which took place at Champlain, N. Y., March 2, 1860, of a spinal affection.

He married Miss Matilda L. Moore, of Champlain, N. Y., who survives him.

CHANDLER, GEORGE.—Was born in Middletown, Connecticut, January, 24, 1790; whilst a youth and an apprentice, he made a profession of religion, and felt it to be his duty to preach the Gospel. He began his studies to this end, and after a full preparation, entered Yale College, Conn., where he graduated, and was licensed by Huntingdon Presbytery in 1813, and preached some time in Newark, N. J.

The First Presbyterian church of Kensington, Philadelphia, was organized, March 23, 1814, and they invited Mr. Chandler to preach for them, which resulted in their presenting him a call and in his acceptance. The church consisted of but seven members; but from this small beginning one of the most useful and important congregations has grown. Mr. Chandler, for over forty-five years, went in and out before this people, leading them to the Saviour; amid many changes, he remained steadfast, and the happy results of this continued pastorate is shown in the increase of members, thirteen hundred and fifty-eight having been added during his ministry.

He had been ill for some time; a gradual decay of his vital powers was visible, and he died, Feb. 15, 1860. His death filled the upper portion of the city with grief; he had baptized, married, and buried successive generations; his presence had gladdened many a bridal festival, and had sanctified many a house of mourning; when he found his end was drawing nigh, he sent for the session of his church to meet him once more upon earth; when they approached his bedside, he addressed words of comfort to each.

He was a lively, fluent, earnest, sincere, and intelligent preacher of the Gospel, confining himself to his own field, working hard and constantly, he was sustained by his Saviour, and has left a name and an example worthy of profound attention. His example is the more valuable, as it is within the reach of his brethren at large, demanding not greatness but goodness. He loved revivals of religion, and he unhesitatingly used strong means, almost every lawful means to bring sinners to God. In doctrine he was soundly orthodox, after the type of Edwards and Dwight, but liberal to those who differed.

Mr. Chandler among his brethren and in the community, was a gentlemanly, affectionate, but retiring, and apparently diffident man. Kensington church was the home of his heart. He was regular in church courts, but he seldom spoke on any subject, and almost never proposed a measure for adoption.

Indeed, it has been regarded as an imperfection in his nature, that he so loved quiet, so shut himself up in his own field, and mingled so infrequently in the weekly meetings of his brethren. But if he seldom originated new enterprises or undertook large outside labors, he was always the man to smile upon and aid every good work, planned by others for the glory of Christ, or well-being of his denomination. He was peculiarly free from personal, social, professional, and ecclesiastical ambition; he had "a meek and quiet spirit, which, in the sight of God, is of great price;" he labored long, hard, judiciously, and successfully for his Master; and his whole course has been one approved of God, and all good and true men; it will be hard to replace him in the church militant. He died at a good age, with the harness on. His last hours were soothed by the attentions of a loving household, and by the sympathies and prayers of a stricken and weeping people. He lived and died well.

Shortly after his death, his friends throughout the whole community united and erected a monument to his memory, which bears the inscription: "Pastor of the First Presbyterian Congregation in Kensington 45 years." "His last charge was, to be faithful to Jesus." "Born, January 24, 1790. Died, February 15, 1860." It is seventeen feet high. The base is of blue Pennsylvania marble, with a second moulding base of Italian marble, upon which rests the die. This is of octagonal Gothic style, very elaborate in ornamentation, on the face of which there is a bust of the deceased. Beneath which is inscribed: "Erected to the memory of Rev. George Chandler by his friends. He was the representative of Christianity in its purity." Upon this rests the obelisk, which is octagon and paneled; also very rich in decoration, in harmony with the die.

The whole is surmounted by an urn, which is richly carved to correspond with the other portions of the work, all except the base being of the Italian marble.

It was inaugurated, October 18, 1860, when addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Brainerd, and Rev. Dr. Newton, of the Episcopal Church, and the closing prayer was offered by the Rev. William T. Eva, the pastor elect.

COE, HARVEY.—The son of Israel and Artemisia (Wright) Coe, was born in Granville, Mass., October 6, 1785. His preliminary education was carefully attended to; having made a profession of religion, he joined Dr. Cooley's church, March 11, 1804; his thoughts were turned towards the ministry, and in due season, he entered Williams College, Mass., where he graduated, Sep., 1811.

He studied Theology under Rev. Dr. Fitch, President of Williams College, Rev. Dr. Woodbridge, of Hadley, and Rev. Dr. Cooley, of Granville, Mass. He was licensed by the Hampden Association of Mass., Oct. 11, 1812, and ordained by the same Association as an evangelist, May 19, 1813. Previous to his ordination, he preached in several places in Massachusetts, and was invited to settle; but the West was his field, and he emigrated the same year to the Connecticut Western Reserve, Ohio, where he labored as a missionary until he was installed, April 14, 1814, over the united congregations of Hartford, Vernon, and Kinsman, in Trumbull Co., Ohio, within the bounds of Trumbull Presbytery, and was for some years the only settled pastor in that part of our country.

Entering into the duties of the ministry with apostolic zeal, the blessing of the Lord crowned his labors; a revival of religion manifested itself, and nearly two hundred persons were hopefully converted; but his health could not stand the great tax which his zeal forced upon it, and he was compelled to suspend his pastoral duties.

He interested himself in behalf of Christian education, acting as agent for Western Reserve College, of which he was one of the founders, and of which he remained a director till the 70th year of his age.

In 1833, he joined Portage Presbytery, and accepted an appointment as Agent for the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions; this was a cause dear to his heart, and in behalf of which, for seventeen years, he developed that zeal tempered by judgment and experience, which made him one of the most useful and popular agents for that cause; but constant labor and increasing years compelled him to retire into private life, which he did in 1850.

He removed to Hudson, Ohio, where his declining years were sustained by Divine grace, and soothed by the attentions and filial piety of his children and grand-children, one by one all his children became professed followers of the Saviour, and three of his sons-in-law, Rev. Wm. C. Clark, Elroy Curtis, and Aaron K. Wright are ministers of the Gospel. But the infirmities of age were pressing upon him, and without any apparent disease, this servant of Christ gently passed away, March 9, 1860.

He married Miss Deborah Eddy, of Williamstown, Mass.; they had seven children, five of whom are still living.

COLLINS, LEVI.—The son of the Hon. Joseph Collins, was born in Somers, Conn., February 12, 1777. He received the best academical education, and entered Yale College, Conn., where he graduated in 1802.

He studied Theology with his pastor, Rev. Dr. Backus; he was licensed by Holland Association, and ordained in 1832; his health did not allow of his taking a pastoral charge, his taste and studies indicated teaching as his proper calling; consequently most of his time was spent in that capacity, and he was very successful.

He was principal of Monroe Academy, Mass., for eight years, he also taught in Chenango Co., N. Y., and moving west, he became a member of Belvidere Presbytery, Ill. He was a man of fine taste, and well cultivated intellect, and was very fond of music. He died in Belvidere, Ills., Dec. 10, 1859, in his eighty-third year, of the infirmities of age.

He married Miss Alice Allen; two of his children survive him.

DEAN, ARTEMAS.—Was born at Taunton, Mass., August 16, 1783, he was educated at Rhode Island College, and also at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. He studied Theology privately, and was licensed by a Congregational Association at Franklin, Delaware Co., N. Y. Having received a call to the Presbyterian church, Bethlehem, Orange Co., N. Y., he was ordained by Hudson Presbytery, May 11, 1814; this relation existed for twenty-eight years, when in 1842 he resigned; he subsequently supplied the churches at Sidney, Masonville, Homer, Locke, and Groton, all in New York.

He had been affected with asthma for many years, but death came gently being the result of the gradual decay of his vital powers; he died September 9, 1859.

He was a laborious and faithful pastor, and his labors were blessed in the enlargement of his congregation. Though called upon to farm to aid in the support of his family, he never forgot his holy calling. His brethren held him in high esteem; and his death was like his life, eminently calm and peaceful. The gospel he had preached supplied its precious consolations; and the Saviour he trusted, sustained him with his presence. In reply to a question by his son, he said, "Do you think he would forsake me now?"

He married Miss Sarah Loveland, July 1, 1813, who, with four children, survives him.

GAYLORD, FLAVEL S.—The son of Rev. Nathaniel and Percees (Stebbins) Gaylord, was born at West Hartland, Conn., August 22, 1795; he was educated at Williams College, Mass., and studied Theology at Andover. He was ordained at West Hartford, Conn., by a Congregational Association in 1822, and after preaching for some time in New Hampshire, he went to Ohio, returned and was stated supply for Sparta church, in Bath Presbytery; he subsequently preached in Gorham and Naples, and for a number of years in vacant churches. He was for many years principal of Prattsburgh Academy, N. Y. He died of paralysis, February 8, 1860.

He married Miss Henrietta McNair, several of his children survive him.

HOUGHTON, D. D., DANIEL CLAY.—Was born in Lyndon, Vt., in 1814. During his minority he learned the printer's trade, under Dr. Luther Jewett of St. Johnsbury, and was fitted for college at Bradford, Vermont. He graduated at the University of Vermont in 1840, and subsequently taught a few years in Western New York, and then entered the ministry in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church. If not the originator, he was one of the earliest and most active instruments in founding and endowing Genesee College in Lima, N. Y., raising most of the funds by his own efforts. He was offered the Presidency in this College, but declined it and accepted the Professorship of Moral and Intellectual Philosophy, at the same time acting as Financial Agent.

He subsequently transferred his church relationship from the Methodist to the Presbyterian Church, joining Ontario Presbytery in 1853. In 1854 he became pastor of East Pembroke church in Genesee Presbytery; he was appointed Editor of the Genesee Evangelist, published in Rochester, N. Y.

Meanwhile the American Presbyterian had been established in Philadelphia, and the editors found that the Genesee Evangelist took views almost identical with theirs as to questions before the church. The idea arose in the minds of Dr. Houghton and one of the editors of the American Presbyterian, that the two papers might be advantageously united. This was accomplished late in the year 1857, and Dr. Houghton became the responsible editor; he evinced much talent for business, and was an excellent financier. He understood well how business ought to be managed, and his own affairs and those intrusted to him, were conducted with skill. He was unwearied, punctual, industrious, and economical, and faithful to the trust committed to his charge.

He was acute in regard to his judgments of character; keen in his estimate of motives; perhaps too candid in his exposure of all charlatanism in religion. He had a very tenacious will. His views were very decided, and clearly expressed. This grew out of the honesty of his own nature, and his sincerity in advocating what he deemed right and expedient; his habits and tastes, apart from his public life, were rather retiring. He loved his study and his family, and the quiet of his own domestic fireside.

He was attacked by a severe pain in his right foot, which gradually developed itself as a gangrene. For the first weeks of his attack he was able to be in his office, and it was with great reluctance that his active and energetic nature submitted to the necessity of entire rest from labor. After suffering a few weeks, on Sabbath, July 8, 1860, he was suddenly taken ill. One of his physicians, Rev. Mr. Butler, and Judge Allison, an elder, were sent for, and on arriving they found that he was able to recognize his children only for about five minutes after his seizure, and that in fifteen minutes more he had passed that mysterious barrier which separates time and eternity.

JUDD, D. D., GIDEON N. The son of Abner and Elizabeth Judd, was born at Danbury, Conn., July 1, 1788. He graduated at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1814, and studied Theology at Princeton Seminary, where he finished his course in 1817.

He was licensed by Columbia Presbytery at Cambridge, N. Y., in July, 1817, and the Presbytery ordained him in June, 1818, as an Evangelist. He subsequently became pastor of the church at Bloomfield, N. J., which relation existed for some years, and in 1840 he accepted a call from Catskill church, N. Y., and he subsequently became pastor of the church at Montgomery, N. Y., where he died, March 3, 1860, of pneumonia, complicated with an affection of the throat.

He was well known in the Presbyterian church for thirty years past. He was at one time Secretary of the American Home Missionary Society, in the Philadelphia district, as well as, for a brief period, agent to endow the Union Theological Seminary. He was greatly beloved by the people of the churches where he was pastor. The Bloomfield church presented him with a lot in their cemetery, and the congregations of Catskill and Montgomery erected a monument to his memory.

He was active and enterprising, and though without robust health, he retained all his powers of vigorous exercise to the last. His last sermon, one of a series on the "Mind of Christ," indicated high mental power, and he was actively employed in his pastoral duties the whole day previous to his last illness. His end was peace, perfect through an abiding faith in his Saviour; he published a work entitled, "Worldly Conformity," also a History of the Division of the Presbyterian Church.

He married Miss Catherine Frelinghuysen of Somerset Co., New Jersey, May 18, 1818, who, with one son and three daughters, survives him.

His son, Rev. F. F. Judd, is pastor of the Presbyterian church at Parsippany, New Jersey.

MYERS, JOSEPH.—The son of Joseph and Abigail Myers, was born in Hermiker, N. Y., January, 1795; he was early taught the way of salvation, and made a profession of religion in the eighteenth year of his age; he studied in Union College, N. Y., where he graduated in 1821, and entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton, where he attended a full course. In 1824 he was licensed by Troy Presbytery, and the following year he was ordained by Genesee Presbytery, as pastor of Leroy church, New York; he was subsequently pastor of the churches of Brockport, Lockport, Orville, Waterville, Salina, and Liverpool, in the bounds of Onondaga Presbytery; he was also an agent for several benevolent societies.

His health was not robust, and suffering from chronic dyspepsia, with a complication of diseases, he died at Liverpool, N. Y., February 9, 1860.

He was twice married; first, to Miss Hall, and second, to Miss Harriet Hatch, who, with three children, survives him.

McLAURIN, JAMES.—The son of James and Margaret McLaurin, was born in 1796, in Perthshire, Scotland. He was related to several ministers of the Church of Scotland; one, Dr. Dewar of Aberdeen, author of a work on Moral Philosophy, a text book in the University of Michigan.

After a thorough preparation, he received his college course in Edinburgh, and studied Theology in Glasgow; during which time he attended the ministrations of Rev. Dr. Andrew Thompson of St. George's church; after three courses he was licensed and ordained by a Presbytery of the Church of Scotland in 1824. After laboring as a preacher for sixteen years, he left his native land for the United States of America. He had experienced the evils of patronage, in being called twice to churches by the congregation, and being vetoed by the patron; his religious liberty being thus depressed and fettered, he left for a land of freedom.

On landing, he continued out west as far as Michigan, and preached in Plainfield church, within the bounds of Kalamazoo Presbytery; he also preached for Paw Paw church. In 1853 he was a member of Detroit Presbytery, and preached at Birmingham, and afterwards at Fentonville, Mich. In 1856, at the erection of Saginaw Presbytery, he was one of the original members, this connection lasted until his death. He died at Fentonville, Mich., May 11, 1860, of bilious pneumonia.

He was an able and learned minister, his success as shown in the reports of his church in the Minutes of the Assembly are marked, and indicate a close attention to the varied duties of his calling; in the mother country he was an intimate friend of Dr. Chalmers, and preached for him at various times, and sympathized with that great man in all his efforts with the Church of Scotland.

He labored zealously, riding eight miles every Sabbath to fulfil his appointments, and more than his health would permit; he was an earnest preacher, a great friend of revivals, though he was conservative in all his modes and measures.

He married first in Scotland, Miss Lillias Menzies, she died before he left Scotland, leaving a daughter, now the wife of Mr. James Stewart of Logie Almond Lodge, Perthshire; his second wife was Miss Sarah H. Bostock, who survives him.

NEAL, BENJAMIN T.—Died of paralysis, August 20, 1859, in the fifty-ninth year of his age, and twenty-sixth of his ministry; his health had been feeble for many years past, though at the time of his death, he was about entering upon the duties of his calling for the Presbyterian church at Monroe, Indiana, in the bounds of Logansport Presbytery. In 1851 he was a member of Detroit Presbytery, Mich., and in 1853 he was connected with Winchester Presbytery, Va.

PUTNAM, FRANKLIN.—The son of Hon. Edwin and Eliza (Davise) Putnam, was born in Marietta, Ohio, July 22, 1801. His father was one of the Associate Judges in Muskingum county, Ohio, and a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church; the piety of his parents prompted them to take especial interest in the spiritual welfare of their children.

After receiving a good academical training, Franklin entered Athens College, Ohio, in 1817, and after taking a full course, he graduated with honor in 1823; during the last year of his college term he experienced a change of heart, and though up to this time the Law had been the object of his studies, the Gospel now became his soul-absorbing hope, and to be a minister of glad tidings, and to preach Christ and him crucified, the object of his earnest prayers.

He entered the Theological Seminary at Auburn, N. Y., and in 1826 he was licensed by Oneida Presbytery, N. Y. In 1827 he returned to Ohio, and was appointed by the Synod of Ohio to labor as a missionary and evangelist to the feeble churches in Springfield, Urbana, and Buck Creek, Ohio; during the course of his labors he was called to Springfield church, and was ordained and installed as pastor by Dayton Presbytery.

Here he labored with zeal and success for eighteen months, when he received and accepted a call to the Presbyterian church at Dayton, Ohio, and for nine years he labored with his usual earnestness. In 1837, at the division in the church he resigned his charge, and accepted a call to Cireleville, Ohio, and joined Marion Presbytery; for six years he was pastor of this church, during which, several revivals took place; at the last revival forty persons were added to the communion.

It was upon a Sabbath evening he was struck with paralysis, which affected one half of his body, so that for months he was entirely helpless; in this state he resigned his charge, and removed to Delaware, Ohio; here, after devoted care on the part of his family his health was restored, so that he resumed preaching, and ministered to the church at Delaware, and subsequently at Tiffin, Greenville, and Republic, Ohio; and joining Indianapolis Presbytery, he preached to the church at Thorntown, Ind. Here he died of congestion of the lungs, Oct. 11, 1859. He had been a sufferer for many years from a bronchial affection of the throat, which finally settled on his lungs. He was a clear thinker, and full of zeal for the cause of Christ; though broken down in health, the main object of his life was never lost sight of, and whenever his health would possibly permit, he was at his favorite work again; his success was the result of his preaching faithfully the whole counsel of God, followed up by an attentive regard to the just claims of his people upon him as their pastor; he was an ever ready friend in sorrow, to administer comfort and consolation, affable and courteous in his address, his influence for good was freely acknowledged.

He married Miss Annic G. Brice of Athens, Ohio, in 1826, who, with three sons, survives him.

He was the author of a volume on the Division of the Presbyterian Church in 1837.

RENSHAW, RICHARD.—Was born April 1, 1776, in Manchester, England; he received a fair education, which was improved by foreign travels, having visited Southern Africa and Egypt, an account of which was published in Manchester in 1804. He entered the ministry as a Wesleyan, and began preaching in 1808, among the New Connection Methodists; he afterwards became an Independent.

He emigrated to America in 1856, and the year following removed to Iowa Falls, Iowa; where, after an examination by Iowa Valley Presbytery, he was admitted as a member of that body in 1858. His extreme age prevented him from taking charge of any church, though he was very willing to preach whenever an opportunity offered. He was taken ill of inflammation of the bowels, and died, Sept. 5, 1859. He was a man of great decision of character, and of undoubted piety.

He was married three times, his last wife was Miss Catherine Yates; he had thirteen children and outlived them all, save one, who, with his widow, survives him.

RENSHAW, GEORGE Y.—The son of Rev. Richard and Charlotte Renshaw, was born in Manchester, England, March 11, 1829; he was a delicate youth, and evinced a great partiality for learning; owing to his circumstances he did not go to college, he was therefore self-educated, devoting the powers of his mind to the acquisition of knowledge. He emigrated to the United States with his father in 1856, and continued out west with him the year following.

He was examined by Iowa Falls Presbytery, and licensed, June 7, 1859, he supplied the churches at Maysville and Jamison's Grove, Iowa, with great acceptance. He was suffering from dropsy, of which he died at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, February 11, 1860.

He was an estimable man, with high intellectual qualities, but in a weak body, his clear but unobtrusive piety gave evidence of his true Christian spirit; his death was peaceful and triumphant.

He married Miss Maria Evans, Nov. 27, 1850, who, with three children, survives him.

ROOT, HENRY.—The son of Eleazer and Lucinda Root was born in Canaan, Columbia Co., N. Y., July 17, 1813. He was educated at Williams College, Mass., and studied Theology at Auburn Seminary, N. Y.; he was licensed by Cayuga Presbytery, N. Y. After graduating, he removed to Michigan, where he was ordained in 1835 by Washtenaw Presbytery, and was stated supply for Dexter and Howell churches, Mich.; he subsequently preached for Granville, Portland, and Bunker Hill churches, all in Michigan, and within the bounds of Marshall Presbytery.

He was connected with the American Home Missionary Society, and was one of their most successful Missionaries. He died at Feltz, Mich., April 5, 1860, of bilious pneumonia.

Mr. Root was an honest, frank, full-hearted, scriptural preacher, emphatically a man of prayer; and in gathering churches and building them up in the faith, he had no superior.

He married Miss Lavinia Norton, who, with one child, survives him.

ROWLAND, D. D., HENRY A.—The son of Rev. Henry A. and Frances (Bliss) Rowland, was born at Windsor, Conn., Sept., 19, 1804. His father was pastor of the Congregational church at Windsor, and his mother was a relative of Rev. Jonathan Edwards, D. D.; under the training of such parents young Rowland made rapid progress, and he graduated at Yale College, Conn., September, 1823, in his nineteenth year; he studied Theology in the Seminary at Andover, Mass.

He was licensed by the Hampden Association, and ordained by New York Presbytery, Nov. 24, 1830, and he shortly after entered upon the active duties of the ministry in the Presbyterian church at Fayetteville, N. C., in the bounds of Fayetteville Presbytery. In 1834, he removed to New York, and was installed pastor of Pearl street church, in New York 2nd Presbytery, April 17. In the summer of 1843, he became pastor of the church in Honesdale, Pa., in Montrose Presbytery, being installed, June 14. In 1856, he accepted a call to Newark, N. J., and was installed pastor of the Park church, January 23, 1856. Here he labored until his death, September 4, 1859, of a complicated disease, but principally of an enlargement of the heart.

He was a successful pastor and an earnest, eloquent preacher, a man of influence among his brethren; he was an efficient and successful laborer in the vineyard for more than one-third of a century, and he carried with him to the grave the respect and love of all with whom he was associated. With much practical sagacity, great devotion to his work, a sincere love of souls, an unremitting anxiety for the prosperity of his own branch of the Church, and a large and liberal sympathy with the cause of Christ in all its varied interests, he labored efficiently with his pen and in the pulpit to promote the interests of the Redeemer's kingdom, and to subserve the great cause of Evangelical truth. Always accessible, candid and unreserved in his intercourse, of a uniformly cheerful and buoyant disposition, and with the most kindly feelings toward all with whom he came in contact, he was eminently successful in winning the confidence and affection of his people.

He was fond of literature, and wrote much for the periodical press, also several volumes, viz: The Path of Life, Light in the dark Valley, The Way of Peace, Tracts on Christian Baptism, The Elect saved by Faith, and A Conversation on Decrees and Free Agency, also several Sermons in pamphlet form. A small volume, containing a brief sketch of his Life and Services, together with a sermon, by Rev. Dr. Fairchild, on the occasion of his funeral, has been published by Mr. Dodd, of New York. In 1850, he published an octavo of about 300 pages, "On the common Maxims of Infidelity."

He married Miss Harriet Heyer, of New York City, Aug. 15, 1833, who, with six children, survives him.

SMITH, MATTHEW.—The son of Henry (Smyth) Smith, was born in Antrim Co., near Belfast, Ireland, in 1825, where he received his early education; he studied Theology at Paisley, Scotland, and after graduating, he was ordained and installed pastor of a Presbyterian church near Belfast, Ireland, in 1846.

In 1850, he emigrated to the United States, and was stated supply for the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, at Milton, Pa.; here he labored for more than a year, when he removed to Wisconsin as an Associate Reformed Missionary. In 1854, he accepted a commission from the American Home Missionary Society, and became stated supply of the Presbyterian church at Centreville, Iowa, and joined Keokuk Presbytery.

Attending to the duties of his calling, Mr. Smith endeared himself to his people; no one could do more in behalf of the cause which occupied all his soul and mind; he was quite a revivalist, and with unabated zeal and untiring energy he advanced the interests of his church; when sickness visited any of his flock, he was the first to administer consolation. He exalted the elder-ship by insisting on their co-operation with him in his labors among the people, feeling that the hope of the church was in developing the active power of its lay element. In the midst of these labors he was taken with typhoid fever, and after an illness of two weeks, he died, Aug. 13, 1859.

He married Miss Mary Frances Nourse, of Washington City, D. C., who survives him.

STRONG, WILLIAM L.—The son of Adonijah and Abigail Strong, was born in Salisbury, Conn., October 18, 1782; after receiving a good preliminary education, he entered Yale College, Conn., and graduated in 1813; he studied Theology under President Dwight, and was licensed by New Haven Association, and ordained and installed at Somers, Conn., by the Tolland County

Association, in 1814. Here he labored earnestly for twenty-five years, when he removed to Redding, Fairfield Co., Conn., where he preached for five years; and accepting a call from Vienna Presbyterian church in Ontario Co., N. Y., he joined Onondaga Presbytery; here he was pastor ten years, when, owing to an affection of his eyes, and the increasing infirmities of age, he gave up preaching. He removed to Fayetteville, N. Y., and died of dysentery, Aug. 31, 1859.

He married Miss Harriet Deming, of Wethersfield, Conn., June 5, 1817, who, with eleven children, survives him. Two of his sons, and two sons-in-law were ministers.

A number of his sermons have been published, and one Tract, The Sinner condemned already, has been greatly blessed in the conversion of the impenitent.

He was an ardent and evangelical preacher, thoroughly conversant with the history and polity of the Church, his counsels were valuable; his manners, though dignified, were genial, and he was beloved by all who knew him.

WAITH, WILLIAM.—Was born in the Parish of Preston-on-Wye, Herefordshire, England, April 17, 1796; his parents died whilst he was an infant, and he was adopted by a gentleman named Elliott, who having no children of his own, became strongly attached to the houseless orphan, and reared him with all the care and fondness of a father. His boyhood and youth were spent amid the active labors of an immense and well-conducted farm; and his opportunities for an education were such as the country schools of that part of England afforded. Not far from the time of his majority, his kind benefactor died, leaving him, however, but slenderly portioned. He shortly after went to seek his fortune in London, and was employed in various capacities until he became a petty tradesman, and married. The business, however, did not prosper; as, indeed, with him, nothing of a pecuniary nature ever did. Losses were experienced, until the most rigid economy hardly sufficed to keep the wolf from the door.

He finally became an attorney in the Mayor's Court, and was doing well in the business, when the progress of a malady, (asthma) which he had contracted in boyhood, warned him that he must cease to breathe the humid and smoky atmosphere of London. In the autumn of 1832, with his family, he emigrated to the United States. Designing in the first place to be a farmer in the valley of the Ohio, he was strangely persuaded to purchase and settle in Cattaraugus county, N. Y., not far from Ellicottville. Here every thing went ill but the money, which went with surprising rapidity. Practice in the Law was tried, but soon abandoned in disgust.

By the death of a dear little son in England, the Lord had smitten him to the earth, and renewed and refined his heart; though as to his real conversion in later years, he was inclined to refer it to a much earlier period in life. It was under the gloomy cloud of his bereavement, however, that the Redeemer's glory first shone brightly upon his soul; and straightway he was obedient to the heavenly vision. After having determined to preach the Gospel, he pursued a course of private study under the direction of a Committee of Buffalo Presbytery, was licensed by that body in 1835, and ordained an Evangelist the following year. For about a year, he preached in Burton, Cattaraugus county, and then for about two years in Napoli. He then removed to Ellington, Chataqua county, where he was pastor for seven years.

The succeeding six years he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Silver Creek; and the closing five years of his life he was pastor of the church in Ripley, where he died, June 4, 1860, of rapid consumption, complicated with other diseases; though he often suffered and struggled painfully, his soul was full of rapture at the prospect of seeing Jesus; and he was constantly comforting the sorrowing ones around him with those holy texts which had supported and encouraged his own spirit. All his people, all the children of the parish (with whom he was a favorite), came in little companies toward the last, to bid him farewell; and each received a word of comfort and counsel.

He was as remote as possible from all paltriness and meanness; of unflinching warmth and generosity; approachable, kind, and charitable to the lowliest sons of grief; frank and fearless, without a particle of harshness or rancor; a determined foe to oppression in all its forms; a fast friend, ever bright and cheerful; full of hope; a good preacher; Calvinistic and Presbyterian without bigotry; a laborious and faithful pastor; a praying holy Christian. He was buried at Silver Creek Church; Rev. C. F. Mussey preached the funeral sermon.

He married Miss Sarah Goodman Bunting, who with two sons and a daughter survives. His eldest son, Rev. Wm. Waith, is pastor of the Presbyterian church, Lancaster, N. Y.

WILSON, JAMES.—The son of Alexander Fleming and Susannah Wilson, was born in Plymouth, Ohio, Oct. 13, 1831. His youth was marked by a readiness to learn, and especially by a very accurate and retentive memory. At the age of fourteen, he commenced preparation for college at "Huron Institute," Milan, Ohio. With a thorough preparation of three years, the last year of which was spent in the preparatory department of Western Reserve College, he entered that college in 1848, but illness prevented him from remaining, and he entered the college again in 1850. In 1852, as he was entering upon his senior year, the college, by the sudden resignation of its Professors, was prostrated, and he pursued his studies privately, and did not graduate till 1854. When his class was scattered in 1852, he held the first place in it as a scholar.

After graduation, he married and went into Indiana on a farm. Though the child of parental consecration, given to God renewedly in the dying prayers of a sainted father, though educated with the full expectation that he would be a minister of the Gospel, yet he had gone through college, and gone into the woods of Indiana an unconverted man. Things could not remain so long, for God hears prayer, and keeps covenant. In 1856, he and his wife were both born again. He turned his attention immediately to the study of Theology, taught during the winter in Windham, Ohio, and in the spring entered the Junior Class in Lane Theological Seminary; he was licensed by Cincinnati Presbytery in 1858, and he graduated in May, 1859. He had already been invited to preach to the church in Ruggles, Ohio, and to supply them till January 1st, 1860. He accepted their invitation. At the end of this time the church and congregation unanimously asked the Presbytery of Elyria to ordain him to the work of the Gospel ministry, and install him pastor of the church. This the Presbytery did on the 23d of February, 1860; and such was the heartiness of the relation constituted, that the prospects of the church seemed bright, and Christians took courage.

In less than four months time, his two children, two and four years old, were taken away from him, and the father and mother were prostrated with sickness; he rallied a little, and went to see his brother, Rev. Levi B. Wilson, at Youngstown, Ohio, but cares and watchings, doubtless helped forward the prostration, and threw his system under the power of disease, [typhoid fever.] His prostration, weakness, and emaciation were amazing; he died July, 1860.

He married Miss Isabella McCutchan, who, with an infant, survives him.

WOOD, DANIEL THOMPSON.—The son of James and Mary Wood, was born in Florida, N. Y., January 11, 1800; his ancestry was Presbyterian for several generations, his father was a ruling elder in the church at Florida for forty-five years. Daniel, who was the oldest of eleven children, received a good education, and entered Williams College, Mass., and graduated in 1824. He studied Theology in the Seminary at Princeton, N. J., graduating in 1827.

He labored for one year in behalf of Home Missions in Maine, and April 18, 1828, he was licensed by Hudson Presbytery, at Scotechtown, N. Y., and Oct. 23, 1828, he was ordained by same Presbytery; the year following, in September 1829, he commenced preaching in Middletown, N. Y., where he was installed June 9, 1830; and continued as pastor of this people for thirty years.

Here his faithful labors were blessed, going in and out before his flock, this man of God magnified his office; he was their father, counselor, and friend; active, zealous, and industrious, by word and example he taught those around him how to live for Christ.

He was interested in all the educational interests of the people, his judgment was often appealed to, and the wisdom of his counsels were sustained by experience; he was social in his feelings, refined and courteous in his manner, and he was beloved by the whole community.

About three weeks before his death he attended the commencement of Yale College, to witness the graduation of his only son, shortly after his return he was taken ill with jaundice, and died Aug. 18, 1859.

He married Miss Catherine C. Andress of Catskill, N. Y., who, with three children, survives him. The Rev. James W. Wood of Chester, N. Y., is his brother.

WOODRUFF, EPHRAIM T.—The son of Timothy and Lucy Woodruff, was born in Farmington, Conn., Oct. 7, 1777; his mother dying when he was quite young, he was placed in the family of his uncle, Rev. Hezekiah N. Woodruff of Stonington, Conn.

In 1792, in his fifteenth year, he made a profession of religion, and the following year he entered Yale College, Conn., then under the Presidency of Rev. Dr. Stiles; he received a full course, and graduated in 1797, at which time Timothy Dwight, D. D., was President.

Being somewhat feeble in health, Mr. Woodruff adopted a series of resolutions to govern his conduct; one was, "to rise at four o'clock in the morning, and go to bed at nine o'clock in the evening, from the vernal to the autumnal equinox; and to rise at five o'clock, and retire at ten o'clock from the autumnal to the vernal equinox;" also, "never to eat to excess, but to use (and not abuse) the food furnished by a kind Providence, and to be temperate in all things,—thus, though sickly in boyhood, he lived to be eighty-two years of age.

During his collegiate career he supported himself by teaching, at one time being in the family of Governor Treadwell, a man of sterling worth and high Christian character.

After graduating, he studied Theology under the care of Rev. Charles Backus of Somers, Conn. He was licensed in 1800, and preached in North Livingston, and Marlboro, Conn. In 1801 he was called to the church in North Coventry, Conn., which he accepted, and was ordained.

In 1817 his health prompted him to offer his resignation to the church, which, after great reluctance was accepted; he removed to Ohio, going out and securing a home in what was then a wilderness; his family followed in 1819. He was then a minister to the Presbyterian churches of Williamsfield and Wayne, in the bounds of Grand River Presbytery, Ohio; devoting half of his time to traveling as an itinerant, over what is now five counties in Ohio, and two in Pennsylvania.

He labored under the heavy duties, hardships, and privations of a missionary life for seventeen years; he subsequently preached for Pierpont church, and continued to preach as circumstances would permit till after his eightieth year, for the last two years his health gradually failed; having caught a violent cold, which settled on his lungs, he gradually sunk under its power, and died Nov. 26, 1859.

He was a man of earnest piety, and unwearied industry, his missionary labors were arduous and exhausting, but carried on perseveringly, in obedience to a sense of duty, and out of love for his Master's cause.

He was a forcible preacher, and a clear, terse writer; he often wrote for the press, and of his public labors the following have been published: "An Oration on the death of Washington," in 1799. A sermon on the death of three children, who were murdered, in 1820. A Fourth of July sermon, and a sermon at the Ordination of his son, Rev. J. A. Woodruff. He also prepared for the press a volume of short sermons, for the use of vacant churches.

He married Miss Sally Alden of Norwich, Conn., in 1801, they had eight children, four of whom survive, one, Rev. J. A. Woodruff, being a minister. His second wife was Miss Susan Porter of Augusta, N. Y., who survives him.

WOODWORTH, FRANCIS C.—The son of Vaniah and Lavinia (Phelps) Woodworth, was born, February 12th, 1813, at Colchester, Conn. He served an apprenticeship in the office of the "Norwich Courier," and afterwards worked at his trade as a printer, in the office of the "Missionary Herald," Boston. At eighteen, he joined the Congregational church of Norwich, Conn., and soon after commenced a course of study for the ministry, several of his relations having been of this profession. From Boston he removed to New York, for greater facilities of study, and while there, supported himself by working at his trade, and writing for the press. Thence he removed to Whitesboro, N. Y., and pursued his studies in connection with "Oneida Institute," remaining there until it closed. In 1837 he attached himself to "Union Theological Seminary, N. Y.," and completed his course of preparation in 1840. He was licensed by the Third Presbytery of New York, April 26, 1840. He was ordained and installed pastor of the Congregational church, Fairhaven, Vt., by an Ecclesiastical Council, October 28, 1840. At the expiration of two years he resigned his charge, in consequence of a hemorrhage of the lungs. Subsequently he was settled for two years in South Norwalk, Conn., but was again compelled to abandon the pastoral work by the failure of his health.

Taking up his residence in New York, he became a member, Oct. 7, 1846, of the Third Presbytery of New York, and devoted himself to editorial labors, in connection with the Christian Parlor Magazine, and the National Preacher; writing also for other Periodicals. The same year he established, in connection with his brother, D. Austin Woodworth, "The Youth's Cabinet, and Uncle Frank's Dollar Magazine," retaining the editorial charge of this spirited and popular juvenile monthly, until its union in 1857 with "Merry's Museum;" after which he served as one of the editors until his death. In addition to the fifteen volumes of the Cabinet, he wrote not less than thirty-five volumes of juvenile literature; and was regarded as one of the most successful and useful authors in this department.

In 1852 he visited Europe, and in 1857, the Western States. On his return from the West, he was again brought low at Buffalo, N. Y., with hemorrhage, lying for several weeks apparently at the point of death. The remainder of his life was an almost constant struggle with death. Early in 1859, he visited St. Augustine, Florida, but continued to decline in health. He reached New York just in time to breath his last, June 5, 1859, on board the steamer, "Star of the South;" at the wharf in New York, in the presence, unconsciously, of his dearest friends. His remains were laid in Greenwood Cemetery.

He was never married, but thousands of children mourned at his death, as for a father departed.

Historical Sketch of the Third Presbyterian Church, Pittsburg, Pa.

THE Third Presbyterian Church of Pittsburg was organized by the Presbytery of Ohio, in compliance with the wishes of several individuals, members of other Presbyterian churches in the city.

So far as can be ascertained, the persons who first petitioned the Presbytery were nine in number, viz: Richard Edwards, Thomas J. Campbell, C. P. Wetmore, A. H. Hoge, Isaiah Dickey, Wm. F. Irwin, M. D., Moses Atwood, Wm. M. Semple, and A. P. Childs.

A few months previous to the organization of the church, a congregation, consisting of the petitioners and others with their families, had been formed, and religious services had been conducted in the Court House by Rev. Dr. H. A. Riley, now of Montrose, Pa.

The Church was organized March 19, 1833, by a Committee of Presbytery, associated for that purpose, consisting of Rev. Drs. Herron, Swift, and Campbell, and embraced thirty-six members, as follows:

Albree, George	Edwards, Richard	Irwin, Jane
Albree, Martha	Edwards, Cath. P.	Irwin, Wm. F.
Atwood, Moses	Edwards, Rhoda C.	Kasson, Levereth
Atwood, Harriet	Gray, James J.	Kasson, Nancy

In the month of June, 1833, Richard Edwards was elected an elder, he had previously served as an elder in the First Church.

Immediately after the organization of the church, steps were taken to erect a house of worship. The foundations were laid in April, the basement room was completed in December of the same year, and the house was dedicated to the service of God with appropriate solemnities in the month of August, 1834; the venerable Dr. Herron preaching the opening sermon, and pronouncing his blessing on the consecrated work.

This church edifice, when built, was the most commodious and beautiful Protestant place of worship in the city; a lasting monument of the zeal and self-sacrifice of the first movers and founders of the congregation; the first fruits of their increase in prosperous business unto the Lord; a building, which in the "great fire" of 1845, was a bulwark against the destroying element itself, saved so as by fire, and like the bush of Moses, burning, but not consumed, and therefore, dear to the members of the congregation, and to many other inhabitants of the city.

The first pastor of this church was D. H. Riddle, D. D.; he was called from Winchester, Va., in the summer of 1833, and in January, 1834, he was installed. He labored in this congregation faithfully, acceptably, and successfully, till, at his own request, he was dismissed, March 19, 1857, just twenty-four years after the organization of the church, to take charge of the First Reformed Protestant Dutch Church in Jersey City.

A few days after Dr. Riddle's installation, F. Lorenz and Moses Atwood were elected ruling elders. And the church as thus constituted, with pastor, ruling elders, and church edifice complete, seemed to enter at once on a career of healthful prosperity. Forty-eight persons united with the church at the first communion, and during the first year seventy-five: thirteen on examination, and the rest by certificate.

In the winter of 1834-5, soon after the dedication of the church edifice, the pastor was assisted in a season of special religious services by Rev. James Gallagher, as the result of which, forty-seven persons were received into the church the following communion, and the increase of this year was ninety-one: sixty by examination, and thirty-one by certificate; nor did the special religious interest subside till 1837, when the division in the Presbyterian Church, and the commercial disasters in the country, seemed to interrupt the spiritual prosperity of the congregation.

But in 1840, upon the settlement of these difficulties, this church having decided to adhere to the Presbyterian Church, (N. S.) connected itself with the Presbytery of Pittsburg, and prosperity returned again. George Albree, Thomas J. Campbell, and B. A. Fahnstock were added to the eldership; the Spirit of the Lord was poured out, and eighty-nine persons were added to the church: sixty-six on examination, and twenty-three on certificate. In 1850, L. R. Livingston, and Daniel Bushnell were elected elders. From this time to the close of Dr. Riddle's ministry in 1857, there was a steady prosperity in the church, with only occasional seasons of spiritual dreariness, without any great revivals, but with frequent and sweet refreshing periods, especially among the young, and particularly in the years 1849, 1852, 1854, and 1857.

In 1857, Henry Kendall, D. D., of East Bloomfield, New York, received and accepted a call to the pastorate of this church, and entered on his labors in January, 1858, and was installed July 18th of the same year. Henry W. Williams, and James J. Gray, were added to the eldership the 12th of May preceding. This year is also remarkable for the wide-spread out-pouring of the Holy Spirit on the churches of the country, in which this church also shared, and as the result, sixty persons united with the church, and in 1859 forty more. Extensive repairs and alterations were made on the church edifice during 1859, at an expense of about $8,000.

The General Assembly met in this church in 1860. The Committee of Arrangements consisted of Rev. Henry Kendall, Rev. S. M. Sparks, Rev. J. F. Read, and the elders of the Third Presbyterian Church.

RULING ELDERS.

The church has been served in the capacity of ruling elders by Richard Edwards, Moses Atwood, Frederick Lorenz,
 B. A. Fahnestock, Thomas J. Campbell, George Albree,
 S. R. Livingston, D. Bushnell,
 H. W. Williams, Jas. J. Gray.

Messrs. Albree, Livingston, Bushnell, Williams, and Gray constitute the elders at the present time. Of the five others, four have removed their relation to this church, and only one has died in connection with it. Of him much might be said, but the following few lines must suffice.

MOSES ATWOOD was born in Haverhill, Mass., March 11, 1801. He was a younger brother of MRS. HARRIET NEWELL, one of the first missionaries who left our shores to carry the Gospel and break the bread of life to the distant heathen. Diligent in business; maintaining his honesty and integrity, always blameless and above reproach, he was "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." Retiring in his habits, yet eminently social, vivacious without levity, he displayed the powers of a well-cultivated and well-balanced mind, without being conscious of the capacity he possessed. His greatest enjoyment was in religion. He was well-versed in the Scriptures, and always punctual in his attendance on all the means of grace; faithful and affecting in his appeals to the impenitent, never letting an opportunity pass without urging upon all his friends, who were out of Christ, the importance of immediate repentance.

He died, as he had lived, a true Christian. Death had no terrors, for to him to live was Christ; to die was gain. Having arranged all his worldly affairs, he requested his pastor to test his hopes and pray with him, and whilst thus engaged he fell asleep in Jesus, at his residence, near Pittsburg, April 5, 1848, in the 48th year of his age.

SABBATH-SCHOOLS.

Sabbath-schools have been maintained in this church from its organization. It now supports three schools combined in an association, and all under the general direction of a committee of five persons, elected annually; the present committee is as follows:

B. Preston,	J. F. Robinson,	Wm. Warden,
Wm. Shaw,	Wm. Dean.

The pastor and the three superintendents being members *ex officio*s.

UNITED SYNOD OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE U. S.

THE UNITED SYNOD met according to appointment in the Presbyterian Church, Huntsville, Alabama, Thursday, May 17, 1860, and was opened with a sermon by REV. JOHN J. ROBINSON, retiring Moderator, from Luke xxiv. 27. "And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem."

After the sermon the Synod was constituted with prayer.

REV. CHARLES M. ATKINSON was elected Moderator, and REV. GEORGE A. CALDWELL Temporary Clerk.

REV. THOMAS D. BELL, Chairman of the Church Extension Committee, reported: That the Board of Missions have under their care Rev. Dr. Kalopothakes of Athens, Greece, also the Rev. Samuel A. Rhea, missionary to the Nestorians.

Experience teaches us that while the most of our Home missionary work can best be done by the Presbyteries, respectively working within their own bounds, there are cases occurring, which need the attention of a general Board, and appropriation from a general fund.

The meagreness of the statements and statistics shows the importance of Presbyteries furnishing the materials necessary for making a correct and satisfying summary of all our Home missionary operations. The Treasurer of the Board reported his receipts at $1,061 72, paid Rev. Dr. Kalopothakes, &c., $972 30, leaving a balance of $89 42 in the treasury.

THE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION recommended: That Rev. J. J. Robinson be appointed an Agent to endow Maryville College, Tenn., by soliciting subscriptions, payable in five equal annual instalments, with interest from date. That as an object of special contribution, the agent be authorized to secure $1,000, to purchase apparatus for the use of college.

That Gen. Wm. Wallace, Treasurer, be directed to sell all county bonds now the property of Synod, for the Professorships in Maryville College, and to invest the proceeds in Railroad bonds, endorsed by the State of Tennessee, or in the bonds of such states as he approves; and also to sue for and collect all the other amounts belonging to said fund, and invest the proceeds the same way. The Treasurer of the Board reported that his receipts were $521 11, and payment on account of students for the ministry, $475 25, balance on hand, $45 86.

THE COMMITTEE ON CHURCH POLITY reported an application from Lexington Presbytery of Missouri, to be received under care of Synod; on motion, the application was granted, the Presbytery will unite with the Synod of Mississippi.

A. H. BOYD, D. D., Chairman of Committee, to confer with the General Assembly, (N. S.) about a division of the Church Erection Fund, reported: that the Assembly decline, on the ground that the fund was created for churches in connection with the General Assembly.

The thanks of the Synod were tendered to the citizens of Huntsville and vicinity, for their liberal and generous hospitality; to the Railroad Companies for granting excursion tickets at reduced prices; and to the Methodist and Cumberland Presbyterian Churches for the use of their pulpits. On motion, the Synod was dissolved, and another United Synod to meet in the United Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Va., May 16, 1861, at 8 o'clock, P. M.

BLACKBURN, ANDREW.—The son of Alexander and Priscilla (Morrow) Blackburn, was born in Jefferson county, Tennessee, Sept. 28, 1827; descending from a Scotch Irish ancestry, he inherited many of those excellent traits of character for which that noble race is remarkable; he was trained in the true Presbyterian way.

He early manifested a taste for letters, which grew upon him during his school boy days; his academical studies were pursued at Dandridge, Tenn., where his love for editorial occupation revealed itself. His literary studies were received at Maryville College, and Theological studies were pursued at the South Western Seminary, Maryville, Tenn., under the Presidency of the late Isaac Anderson, D. D. He was licensed by Union Presbytery, at Eusebia church, Blount Co., Tenn., April 13, 1850.

He was also ordained as a ruling elder of Westminster church, and was a lay commissioner to the General Assembly which met at Detroit, Michigan, in 1850. On his return from the Assembly, he took charge of the church at Chattanooga, Tenn. October 5, 1850, he was ordained an evangelist at Rutledge church.

The Synod of Tennessee, which met Oct. 11, 1850, at Greenville, Tenn., resolved to establish a Newspaper, (previous to this time Mr. Blackburn with others had been editing The Calvinistic Magazine, a monthly journal, and they were willing to drop it.) They therefore resolved to establish The Presbyterian Witness, a weekly paper, that it be edited by Rev. A. B. Blackburn, and Revs. R. P. Wells, Wm. Minnis, and J. H. Myers. that the Synod pledge themselves to raise twelve hundred and fifty subscribers, and that it be published at Knoxville, Tenn.

The first number of the paper appeared in February, 1851, and for several years Mr. Blackburn sustained it, not only by his talents, but with his money; and though the Synod started it, nothing but the zeal and courage of Mr. Blackburn kept it alive, but it was never profitable; to aid him in the support of his family he became stated supply for Spring Place church, near Knoxville, Tenn., here he labored until he removed to Bristol, Tenn, in 1856. During a portion of 1855, he acted as agent for the Home Missionary Society, but he gave it up, and resumed the editorial chair, which had been held during his absence by Revs. J. H. Martin and S. Sawyer.

On his removal to Bristol, he was co-pastor with the Rev. James King; one of the churches of this charge was at Paperville, two miles distant, but Sept. 5, 1858, a new church was organized in Bristol, and Mr. Blackburn was appointed stated supply.

He still continued to write for The Presbyterian Witness, though he was no longer its publisher, but the parties who had assumed the task of publishing it, failed, and the paper went down, August 31, 1858. Mr. Blackburn determined that it should be revived, and in October following, it again appeared, whilst he was still living at Bristol; January 1, 1859, he transferred the office back to Knoxville, intending to follow in the spring, but when spring returned, he found that his health was declining; his lungs were weak, and the winter months had been very trying to his constitution.

He disposed of the paper to Rev. George W. Leyburn, (who soon gave it up,) and resigning his charge at Bristol, left for Maryville, Tenn., and took up his abode with his father-in-law, Dr. James A. Gillespie; here he lingered until August 22, 1859, when he died of consumption.

He was an earnest laborer for the church, his sacrifices made to sustain The Presbyterian Witness, bear evidence of its sincerity; he was an acceptable preacher, and the people became deeply attached to him.

He married, whilst yet a student of Theology, Miss Ann Elizabeth Gillespie, who, with four children, survives him.

DUNCAN, JOHN McKIM.—The son of Rev. Dr. John Mason Duncan, was born in Baltimore, Md., March 1, 1819. (His father, John Mason Duncan, nephew of Rev. John Mason, was for many years pastor of the present Fayette Street Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, Baltimore.) Graduating at the University of Virginia, he studied Law with Hon. Reverdy Johnson, and commenced practice in the courts of Maryland. While a resident of Baltimore, he became an active politician, and was nominated for Congress by the Native American party, but was defeated, he shortly afterward took up his abode in St. Louis, Missouri, continuing the practice of his profession.

Having experienced a change of heart, he felt desirous of fulfilling the earnest wish of his father, and commenced studying with Rev. Stuart Robinson, (now of Louisville, Ky.,) with a view to the ministry. Finishing with the Rev. M. A. Jewett of Terre Haute, Indiana.

He was licensed by the Association of Vigo, Indiana, and preached his first sermon at Indianapolis, March 6, 1853. Subsequently he was called by the church in the city, long in charge of Rev. H. Ward Beecher; but entertaining some of his early feelings with regard to Presbyterianism, he was not prepared to accept. Returning to Baltimore, and while engaged in preaching to an Independent congregation in a public hall, he was called to the Second Independent church, Philadelphia, and was installed by Rev. John Chambers, March, 1854. Owing to pecuniary trouble and embarrassment in that church, existing prior to his connection with it, his stay was brief, and he resigned at the close of the year, the church dissolving entirely, immediately afterward. Several of his intimate friends induced him to take the initiative in a new movement, and he commenced to preach in Washington Hall, Eighth and Spring Garden Streets, on January 14, 1855. This enterprise was continued, changing location to the church at Thirteenth and Vine, and subsequently to Broad and Spring Garden; until November, 1856, when he resigned. In December 1856, he took charge of the Presbyterian church at East Whiteland, Pa., and also of a congregation in Downingtown. He was received into connection with the Third Presbytery of Philadelphia, October, 1857. Although much endeared to the people of his congregation in both places, he esteemed it to be his duty to accept the call of the church at Elkton, Maryland, and removed to that place on the 5th of April, 1858; where he continued to preach until near the close of 1859; when his disease (dropsy) becoming so painful, he was compelled to take to his bed, where he continued to suffer until he died, March 28, 1860.

While at Elkton, he also had in charge a congregation at Chesapeake city, which is now a flourishing church. He was a man of warm, impulsive temperament; a firm and unwavering friend; professed of great frankness of manner, and above all, was a most sincere Christian.

As a preacher, his aim was to win souls to Christ; and his unflinching manner of extreme earnestness, was ever well supported by an evident sincerity of purpose, pressing his arguments with much force of reasoning and illustration, to which his early profession lent him excellent method of arrangement.

He married Miss Elizabeth D. Lawrence of Exeter, New Hampshire, in 1854, who, with three children, survives him.

McCAMPBELL, D. D., JOHN.—The son of James and Martha McCampbell, was born in Rockbridge county, Virginia, April 9, 1781; after receiving as good an education as could be obtained in that portion of the state, he entered Washington College, Lexington, Virginia; where he graduated, and subsequently studied Theology with his relative, Isaac Anderson, D. D., at Maryville, Tenn.

He was licensed in 1805, and ordained by Union Presbytery, February 13, 1807; he preached at different times to the following churches, viz: Shunem, (now Strawberry Plains,) of which he was pastor, and as stated supply for Hopewell, and New Market churches, within the bounds of French Broad Presbytery; these churches were organized through his exertions.

In 1833 he resigned his pastorate of Strawberry Plains church, in 1838 the churches of which he was stated supply were transferred to Union Presbytery, and he devoted all his time to Hopewell church, until 1853, when he also took charge of Concord church; this arrangement lasted for two years, when he again gave all his time to Hopewell church. Here he continued as a faithful minister until his death.

He was taken ill with an inflammatory disease, which extended to his vital organs, and he died September 28, 1859.

After a ministry of over fifty-four years, during which time he had labored earnestly in the cause of his Master, was this venerable patriarch called to his rest, leaving behind a record of faithfulness to the very last.

He married Miss Catherine Caldwell of Jefferson county, Tenn., who, with six sons and two daughters, survives him, one of his sons, and two nephews are ministers.

NEWTON, D. D., ALEXANDER.—The son of Rev. George Newton, was born in North Carolina, December 15, 1803. In 1808 his father removed to Bedford county, Tenn. Under the careful training of his father, his studies were carried forward, both classical and Theological, and thus fully prepared for the ministry, he was ordained in 1824 by Shiloh Presbytery.

In 1829 he emigrated to Mississippi, settling near Livingston, Madison Co., here he taught school and preached until 1835, since which time he has devoted himself to the work of the ministry, as stated supply at different times to the following churches, all within the bounds of Clinton Presbytery, viz: Osborne, Spring Ridge, Shongalo, Oxford, Middleton, Grenada, Clinton, Brandon; these were new churches, coming into existence from time to time, mainly through his earnest efforts to extend the Redeemer's kingdom.

He was one of the first settlers in that portion of the state, and his influence in Carroll, Madison, Hinds, and Rankin counties will long be felt.

He was a close attendant upon all the judicatories of the church, and took an active part in all the subjects brought before either the Presbytery, Synod, or General Assembly, and his influence with those who knew him well, was great. His health gradually declined, being the decay of his vital powers, until November 27, 1859, when he died.

His death was considered as a heavy stroke of affliction by all his brethren, he was acknowledged to be a leader in the United Synod, and in the early efforts of that organization his executive talents were all important.

He possessed genius, with a large amount of common sense. His attainments were varied; an accurate scholar, an original thinker, and a terse writer, he was in the front rank of those with whom he mingled, and as a preacher, he was scriptural and evangelical. At one time he edited a periodical entitled, "The True Baptist;" during the existence of the magazine, he did much to instruct the public mind upon the subject of baptism; he wrote much for the various papers, religious and secular, and in "The Eagle of the South," he published a series of articles on the Presbyterian Church, (O. S.,) these he afterwards issued in a pamphlet form, under the title of "The Position of the Old School Presbyterian Assembly on the subject of Slavery;" shortly after the appearance of this pamphlet he died.

At a meeting of Clinton Presbytery, held April 6, 1860, Revs. C. Parish and D. A. Campbell, and Messrs. G. W. Shelton, J. Smith, and D. Askew, were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions for a monument to be erected to his memory.

His widow and several children survive him.

SNODDY, ROBERT H.—The son of Thomas and Hannah Snoddy, was born in Jefferson Co., Tenn., in 1800. After the usual training in academi-cal schools, he went to the College at Maryville, Tenn., where he graduated, and also received his Theological training in the South Western Seminary, at Maryville, under the care of Isaac Anderson, D. D.; he was licensed by Union Presbytery in 1831; in 1833 he was ordained, and preached for Lebanon and Eusebia churches; in 1836 he took charge of New Prospect church; having organized Spring Place church, he added that to his other places of preaching, until 1853; in 1855 he took charge of Ebenezer church; here he labored until his death, which took place, June 22, 1859, of consumption. He was a faithful and devoted minister of our Saviour.

He married twice: first, to Miss Elizabeth Donelson, and second, to Miss Nancy H. Moore, July 1, 1835; his widow, with two sons and two daughters, survives him.

Historical Sketch of the Presbyterian Church, Huntsville, Alabama.

THIS Presbyterian church was organized by Gideon Blackburn, D. D., June 15, 1818, in connection with North Alabama Presbytery, and William Leech, John Adams, and John Lorance, were set apart and ordained as ruling elders. Soon after the organization, a call was presented to Rev. John Allan, which was accepted, and he was installed pastor, and in 1822 they erected their first house of worship. This pastoral relation existed for twenty years, during which time the church prospered.

His successor was Conway P. Wing, D. D., now of Carlisle, Pa.

In 1838, at the time of the division of the Presbyterian Church, this church joined the New School body, and remained in that connection until the formation at Knoxville, Tennessee, in April 1858, of the United Synod of the Presbyterian Church in the United States; (for a full account of which, see the Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1859, pp. 135-152.)

Rev. Joseph H. Martin, now of Knoxville, Tenn., Rev. John H. Zively, now of Austin, Texas, Rev. John W. Hall, now of Oxford, Ohio, have succeeded each other as pastor.

Frederick A. Ross, D. D., the present pastor, was called in 1855, and under his active labors the church has prospered exceedingly. The edifice, of which an engraving is given, was erected in 1860, and was dedicated at the opening of the Third Annual United Synod, May 18, 1860. Rev. James McChain preached the dedication sermon. It is a commodious edifice, with all modern conveniences.

The present eldership consists of Samuel Coltart, Isaiah Dill, L. B. Sheffery, William B. Figures, and E. M. Cowles; in these men of God the pastor finds warm coadjutors in his Master's service. The membership is about 160.

THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTH AMERICA.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY met, according to appointment, in the Second United Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, on Wednesday, May 23, 1860, and was opened with a discourse by the Moderator, P. BULLIONS, D. D., from Ephesians iv. 3. "Endeavoring to keep the Unity in the bond of peace."

JOSEPH CLOKEY, D. D., Professor in the Theological Seminary at Xenia, Ohio, was elected Moderator, and Rev. THOMAS H. BEVERIDGE, of Philadelphia, Assistant Clerk.

Bills and Overtures.

JOHN T. PRESSLY, D. D., Chairman of the Committee on Bills and Overtures, reported the following, with recommendations of adoption, and in all cases the Assembly complied.

OVERTURE No. I.—A memorial from the Presbytery of Oregon, on the subject of a union with this General Assembly. The Committee recommend, That the General Assembly cordially acquiesce in the proposal of the Presbytery of Oregon, and regard it as one of the Presbyteries under its care.

No. II.—A petition from the Synod of Illinois, on the subject of a division of the Synod of Illinois. The Committee recommend,

1st. That a new Synod be formed out of the Synod of Illinois, to be called the Synod of Iowa, including the States of Iowa and Minnesota, and the Territories of Kansas and Nebraska.

2d. That in conformity with their request, the Presbytery of Kansas be connected with the Synod of Illinois.

3d. That the Synod of Iowa meet on the last Thursday of August, 1860, at 7½ o'clock, P. M., in the city of Oskaloosa, to be constituted by Rev. W. Boyce, or Rev. Samuel McArthur, as his alternate.

No. III.—A memorial from Rev. G. D. Henderson and others, complaining of a supposed vagueness and indefiniteness in the exhibition of our distinctive principles as unfolded in the action of the United body, adopting the basis of union.

The Committee recommend,

That not amendments nor modifications of the principles embraced in her standards, but the faithful application of them, in their plain and obvious sense, is the present duty of the United Presbyterian Church.

No. IV. Memorials from Chartiers and Frankfort Presbyteries, on the subject of "public, social covenanting."

The Committee recommend,

That it is the duty of pastors to instruct their people in relation to the nature of the duty of public, social covenanting, and the proper seasons for its observance, in common with other religious duties.

That pastors and sessions should carefully observe the dispensations of Divine Providence; and if the circumstances of congregations furnish a call, and it is deemed for edification, that they engage in the observance of the duty.

That a Committee of three be appointed to prepare some directions for engaging in this duty, and report to the General Assembly of 1861.

No. V.—A petition from the First United Presbyterian Synod, on the subject of a division of the Synod. Referred to the next General Assembly.

Board of Foreign Missions.

The First Annual Report of the Board was submitted to the Assembly.

The Board would say that the report includes the operations of the two bodies composing the United Presbyterian Church, and the Assembly will be advised, in the outset of its course, of the present state of this important department of its work.

As directed by the General Assembly, the Board was formally organized in the Second Church, Philadelphia, on the 21st of June, 1859, and since that time has held twelve meetings and seventeen sessions. These meetings have not only steadily deepened the interest which every member felt in the cause of missions, but have also greatly strengthened the conviction that the whole church is called upon, by every consideration, to rise and gird herself to the work of making the gospel known for the evangelization of the world.

According to the Regulations of the Assembly relating to the Board of Foreign Missions, it is made the duty of the Board, though not exclusively, to nominate suitable persons for the Foreign field. After careful inquiry and deliberation, the Board recommend the appointment of Mr. James Barr, a licentiate of the Presbytery of Chartiers, and Mr. Andrew Watson, a licentiate of the Presbytery of Allegheny, to India and Egypt, and that steps be taken for their departure at an early day.

As it has also been becoming more and more important that additional help should be provided for the Girls' School in Alexandria, the Board have had it under careful consideration, and having now a prospect of finding such a person, respectfully suggest that the Assembly will leave the whole matter in the hands of the Board with power to act.

The Treasurer has received, during the year, exclusive of the Building Fund, $14,332.77, and paid out on the order of the Board, for salaries, outfit, and passage of new missionaries, and current expenses of the various missions, $13,477.08, leaving a balance of $855.69.

Board of Home Missions.

The Board in presenting their First Annual Report present, for the consideration of the Assembly, the following questions: Are Presbyteries responsible for the full payment of supplies sent, by the request of their delegate, into their bounds, by the Assembly; they being on the ground and ready for service?

Resolved, That when any Presbytery settles a missionary who has appointments unfulfilled in other Presbyteries, it shall be the duty of that Presbytery to supply his place out of the appointments made to them.

Resolved, That we call the especial attention of vacancies, missionary stations, and pastoral charges, dependent on the Home Missionary Fund, to the fact that, in order to secure aid, they must comply with the Regulations of this Board, which requires each congregation or unorganized nucleus, to raise and forward annually contributions to that Fund, and also a statement of their general condition.

Resolved, That we recommend that arrangements be made for the ordination, as soon as practicable, of the missionaries now appointed to Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri, viz: Thomas Andrews, J. L. Whitla, E. A. Brownlee, Thomas McCartney, and Joseph McCartney.

The Assembly appointed a Committee consisting of Rev. R. D. Harper, Rev. Wm. Davidson, and Rev. J. Y. Scouler, to revise the Regulations of the Board of Home Missions, and provide a plan for the reduction of the size of the Board, and report to the next General Assembly.

Board of Publication.

The First Annual Report is as follows:

The Board organized by choosing James Rodgers as President; Rev. James Prestley, Vice President; Mr. Charles Arbuthnot, Recording Secretary; and Rev. John G. Brown, Corresponding Secretary. When constituted, we would have found ourselves unable to do anything for want of funds, had it not been that the former Board of the Bible and Book Concern of the Associate Synod loaned us the funds at their disposal, amounting to 1,744.10; one thousand of which was the generous donation of A. Stewart, Esq., of Indiana Co., Pa., designed by him for the Board of Publication of the United Presbyterian Church. With such a small fund, the Board was unable to carry out, except very partially, the instruction of the last Assembly. All the money at our disposal would scarcely have been sufficient to publish a moderate edition of a moderate-sized book; and until very near the close of the year, but little additions were made to the original sum by contributions. As will be seen from the Treasurer's report, the whole amount contributed for the year is, by congregations, $807.06; by individuals, $552.83; making a sum total, at our disposal, of $3,103.99.

We first commenced with making a selection of suitable books for Sabbath-schools; to which additions have been made from time to time, until we have now collected about 1,200 different books of this description. We have proceeded on the principle of taking good books wherever we can find them. We have all that we consider safe from the catalogues of the various publishing houses in this country and Great Britain. We have also selected a great variety of editions of the holy Scriptures, and have been particularly careful to select the best Reference Bibles we could find in both countries.

A good friend donated us $500 for publishing the Scriptures; and with this we had an edition of 500 copies, of the medium size, issued; and with the balance contracted for an edition of a valuable Reference Bible, with the Oxford references. We have also published a Tract on the United Presbyterian Church, another on Systematic Beneficence, and an edition of the Shorter Catechism, the plates of which were presented to the Board by Mr. Robertson, through P. Bullions, D. D.

In regard to the edition of Psalms ordered by the last Assembly to be published, we report as follows:

The Committee took charge of this work under the following instruction: "Either by selections from versions extant, or the labors of a competent person, endeavor to have such a version in readiness to report to the next General Assembly; that, in this work, they be instructed to make fidelity to the original an object of special attention, and that, as they progress, they publish the results of their labors in the periodicals of the Church."

Under the above instruction the Committee elected the plan of selecting the best version extant. After a careful examination of a number of versions, some of them in manuscript, that of Professor Abner Jones, of New York, was regarded the best and most eligible. The following are the principal considerations which influenced the Committee in their decision:

I. The version of Mr. Jones, as a whole, was regarded as a fair expression of the sense and meaning of the Psalms; and it was supposed that, with amendments, it might be made such a version as the church now very much needs.

II. In conciseness, vigor, terseness, and an adaptation to music, it was regarded as superior to all others of which the Committee had any knowledge.

III. It is constructed on what may be regarded as an all-important conception of the subjects embraced in each Psalm, and of the unity of each.

Board of Church Extension.

The First Annual Report is as follows:

The Board would report that they met, June 14, 1859, and organized by appointing John T. Pressly, President, and William Dyer, Sec. The Board was scarcely organized, when applications from different quarters were made for assistance, before the Board had any means at its disposal.

According to the regulations adopted by the Assembly for the government of the Board, we are not allowed to make an "appropriation to any church not under the control of one of our Presbyteries, nor without the recommendation of the Presbytery to which it belongs." It is also required that, accompanying the application for aid, there shall be a certification from "the trustees of the church, that the church lot is fully secured to the United Presbyterian Church." And that, "any congregation, settled or vacant, which shall fail to contribute to the funds of the church, shall not be entitled to benefit from any of the funds, except by a special act of the General Assembly." The consequence is, that out of more than six hundred congregations, not more than about one-sixth have contributed anything to the Church Extension Fund.

If the Assembly would see the accomplishment of the object for which this Board was established, attention must be paid, both by pastors and people, to that regulation which declares, "It shall be the duty of the officers of each church to see that every member in their respective congregations is afforded an opportunity of contributing to each of the Funds at least once annually."

During the year the Board have afforded some assistance to different congregations. In conformity with the request of the Presbytery of Chicago and the Board of Home Missions, an appropriation was made to the congregation in the city of Chicago.

They have also made an appropriation for the Fifth Church, Philadelphia. A small amount has been appropriated to aid the congregation in the town of Garnett, Kansas, under the care of Rev. John R. Slentz.

Board of Education.

The First Annual Report is as follows:

The Board organized according to appointment; a circular giving notice of the organization and its objects.

They have held two regular meetings. Some of the congregations have contributed to the Funds of the Board, but the amount has been so small, only $308.71, that they could not extend all the aid to the young men preparing for the ministry which could have been desired; but eight young men have received some aid; $308 have been disbursed, leaving a balance of 71 cents in the Treasury.

On motion, the second week in January, 1861, be spent in religious exercises, and the last Thursday of February be observed as a day of prayer for Colleges and Seminaries.

The following paper was adopted :

Whereas, The members of the missions at Cairo and Alexandria have reported to the Assembly the organization of a Presbytery under the name and style of the Presbytery of Egypt : therefore

Resolved, That their act be recognized by this Assembly, and that the Presbytery be placed on the roll.

The Assembly dissolved after having appointed a meeting for the next General Assembly to be held in the Presbyterian Church, Monmouth, Illinois, Wednesday, May 15, 1861, at 2 o'clock, p. m.

BEVERIDGE, THOMAS HANNA.—The son of Rev. Dr. Thomas and Eliza Beveridge, was born in Philadelphia, March 31, 1830. From his earliest years he manifested a strong propensity to literature. When only three years of age he took a fancy to the letters upon a stone, and by occasionally asking his mother their names, he soon learned them. As there was a school very convenient, he was sent to it, and was able to read at the age of five. At this period of his life the family removed to Canonsburg, Pa., where he continued the study of the common branches of English education. At the age of ten or eleven he commenced the study of Latin at home, and entered the Freshman class of Jefferson College in 1842, being then twelve years of age. It would, no doubt, have been better had his classical education been deferred till a later period.

He graduated under the Presidency of R. J. Breckinridge, D. D., in 1847, and commenced the study of Theology under Abraham Anderson, D. D., and his father, attending the Associated Seminary at Canonsburg, Pa. He was licensed by Chartiers Presbytery in 1851. After preaching in various churches in the western part of Penna., in Baltimore, in New York state, and other places, he received and accepted a call from the (Third Associate, now the) Sixth United Presbyterian church, Philadelphia; he was ordained in 1853, and installed pastor, October, 1854. Here he labored with great zeal and success. He was identified with the various institutions of the church. He attended a meeting of the Board of Foreign Missions, on Monday evening, the 13th of August. At that meeting, which was quite a protracted one, he gave no indication of being unwell; on the contrary, he appeared to be unusually cheerful, and took a special interest in the proceedings. On the following day, he started, in company with his wife and children, for Kishacoquillas, Pa., with a view of supplying a vacancy there, which, for some time past, has not enjoyed the public preaching of the word. He reached in safety the house of Col. Wm. Cummins. On the next day, after breakfast, he complained of a head-ache, and continued to grow worse until a physician was sent for. All efforts, however, to preserve his life were unavailing. He died between four and five o'clock that evening, August 15, 1860, of congestion of the brain. He was unconscious during the greater part of the time.

He was an able preacher. Possessing natural abilities of a superior order, his sermons were always well-arranged, replete with important and instructive truths, and delivered in a style that never failed to please and impress. He was a most affectionate son and brother; he was a faithful friend; his preferences for those whom he loved were very decided, so much so as, perhaps, to induce those, with whom he felt but little sympathy, to view him as unsocial and austere. Such, however, was not his disposition. There was always in the society of those in whom he had confidence, a remarkable degree of familiarity and playfulness.

He was a man of fine literary attainments. He wrote much for the press, and published several Discourses, also a Memoir of Rev. Thos. B. Hanna. He kept himself well acquainted with the literature of the day, and possessed a nice, discriminating taste for the beautiful in nature and art. No one would be more likely to detect an inelegance either in thought or expression, or feel a keener relish for any thing that would exhibit indications of a refined and cultivated genius.

As a Presbyter, he was remarkably quick in his perceptions, had a happy faculty of presenting clearly and concisely the question before the court, and of grouping together in a logical manner arguments by which he proposed to sustain his position. There was with him an utter absence of anything like wordiness. He was peculiarly happy in drafting resolutions and reports in a form and style suitable for the press. He was clerk of his Presbytery from the time of his ordination, and performed the duties of this office with an accuracy and neatness rarely witnessed. He was also Assistant Clerk of the last two General Assemblies.

He married Miss Mary Kerr McBride, who, with two sons, survives him.

BOYD, BANKHEAD.—The son of Hugh and Elizabeth Boyd, was born in Ballydaly parish, Londonderry Co., Ireland, March, 1808. He attended school in Derry, and was advanced in the classics, when his parents emigrated to the United States in 1824, and settled in western Pennsylvania.

He finished his studies in Jefferson College, Pa., in 1829, and entered upon the study of Theology in the Associate Theological Seminary, under the care of James Ramsay, D. D.; here he graduated after a full course of four years. In 1833, he was licensed by Chartiers Presbytery; receiving a call from Pigeon Creek church, Strabane, Pa., he was ordained an installed pastor in July, 1834; this relation existed for a period of twenty-six years, until his death, February 3, 1860, of a disease of the kidneys, with which he had been for some years afflicted.

He was a plain, practical preacher, a faithful pastor, visiting his people and going about doing good; he was ever ready to advance the general interests of the community in which he lived; and his death awakened very general sympathy, he was loved and respected by all classes.

He married Miss Margaret Thorn, who, with four children, survives him.

CAMPBELL, JOHN A.—The son of John and Agnes Campbell, was born near Edinburgh, Indiana, March 21, 1825. He was educated in the Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., where he graduated in 1845, and studied Theology in the Oxford Theological Seminary, under the care of Rev. Dr. Claybaugh; here he graduated in 1848, and was licensed by Indiana Presbytery of the Associate Reformed Church. He labored as a missionary, preaching to the numerous churches which were too small to support a pastor, when, in 1854, he accepted a call from Putneyville church, Armstrong Co., Pa., where he was ordained and installed by Butler Presbytery. He subsequently preached for Fairview and Mount Varnum churches; this relation existed until 1858, when he resigned and took charge of the Mount Lebanon Academy, Allegheny Co., Pa., and became a member of Monongahela Presbytery. In 1859, he gave up teaching, and in January, 1860, offered his services as a missionary, and whilst performing his duties as such, he was taken ill at the residence of Mr. Andrew Beveridge, ruling elder in the United Presbyterian congregation of Somonauk, Illinois, and died, after an illness of a few hours, Aug. 8, 1860, of congestion of the brain.

He was somewhat backward and retiring in his manners, but when drawn out in animated conversation had few superiors. As a speaker, he was not eminently easy or fluent; but as a writer was very ready. As a general thing, the people of his pastoral charge esteemed and loved him as a kind-hearted, amiable, and devoted pastor. In his pulpit ministrations he was didactic, clear, logical, earnest, and when his feelings would kindle up, rising to impressive eloquence. At the sick bed, he was the sympathizing friend, the tender, yet faithful pastor.

Socially he held the warm esteem of those who could win his acquaintance, and these felt that his amiable feelings were the bright jewel of his character.

He married Miss Ellen J. Claybaugh in 1849, (a daughter of Rev. Dr. Claybaugh,) who, with four children, survives him.

MURRAY, ALEXANDER.—The son of Alexander Murray, was born in the state of New York, September 2, 1806; of his earlier years little is known, he received a good academical education, and studied Theology in the Associate Reformed Seminary at Canonsburgh, Pa., graduating in 1842; he was licensed by the Associate Presbytery of Chartiers the same year, and ordained, September, 1844, as pastor of Ohio church, and subsequently of Kerr's Creek church, in the Presbytery of the Lakes. It was during this pastorate that his system gave way under a complication of diseases, and he died, October 8, 1860. He had been attending the meeting of the Synod, and was on his way home, and had got as far as Freeport, Pa., when he was taken ill at the house of Hugh Reed, Esq., and died.

He was emphatically a good man, sincere, and of the most ardent piety. As a husband and father, he was kind and affectionate; as a minister of the Gospel, faithful and disinterested, seeking not his own, but the honor and glory of Christ, who had put him into the ministry. As a preacher, Mr. Murray stood high in the estimation of his brethren, and the pious, well-informed part of his audience; and no man, we believe, could attend upon his ministry without being convinced of one thing, his sincerity and strong desire to commend Christ.

He married Miss Anna D. Groff, who survives him; he was related to Rev. A. R. Rankin of Centreville, Pa.

MCCRACKEN, SAMUEL W.—The son of John and Martha McCracken, was born near Lexington, Ky., January 12, 1800. His early education was carefully attended to, though he had to labor to aid in obtaining it, and after a thorough course in Miami University, he graduated with distinction in 1831. He studied Theology at Maryville, Tenn., and was elected Professor of Mathematics in the College at Maryville; at the end of two years he was chosen Professor of Mathematics in Miami University, his Alma Mater. In 1836 he was transferred to the chair of Languages, this arrangement was altered, by his again being placed in the chair of Mathematics.

In 1835, whilst Professor in the University, he was licensed by Ohio 1st Presbytery of the Associate Reformed Church, and the following year ordained by the same Presbytery. During his connection with the University, he preached to a small congregation at Oxford, Ohio, which increased largely under his ministrations. In 1839 he accepted a call to Hopewell church, Ohio, which he accepted, and resigned his professorship in the University. This was his only charge, for twenty years he went in and out before this people, leading them like a good shepherd, until his death, which took place September 10, 1859, arising from a disease of the prostate gland.

His devotedness to his great work, that of preaching the gospel, increased with his years, evincing a marked spirituality. He was far sighted and prudent, his counsels were always worthy of consideration; opposed to all expedients, he made experience the basis of his acts.

He was married twice: first, to Miss Catherine Monfort, and second, to Miss Mary Leech; his widow, with seven children, survives him. His father-in-law, Rev. Peter Monfort, and his brother, Rev. John S. McCracken, are ministers.

McELHANY, WILLIAM G.—The son of William and Mary (Smart) McElhany, was born in Huntingdon, Pa. He was educated at Jefferson College, Pa., where he graduated in 1847, and studied Theology in the Associate Reformed Seminary at Canonsburgh, Pa., graduating in 1850, at which time he was licensed by Chartier Presbytery. In 1855 he removed to Hoboken, N. J., where he was ordained and installed pastor of the church in that place. This relation existed until his death, May 28, 1860, of consumption.

He was a sound evangelical preacher. He was of Scotch descent, several of his relatives are ministers.

He married Miss Elvira Walsh, who, with two children, survives him.

STEWART, ROBERT E.—The son of Thomas L., and Mary (Braham) Stewart, a daughter of John Braham, D. D., was born in New Richmond, Ohio, in 1825. He was educated in Miami University, Oxford, Ohio; he studied Theology at Oxford, Ohio, under Rev. Dr. Claybaugh, and was licensed by Indiana Presbytery, of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church; and by the same Presbytery, he was ordained in 1850 pastor of the Shiloh and Vienna churches, Indiana. He was faithful and assiduous in his work, and was much endeared to his charge, and his labors were blessed, but repeated slight hemorrhage of the lungs compelled him to desist from preaching. After about a year's rest, he, with much precaution and hesitancy, yet with hopefulness, entered again upon the great work in which his heart was thoroughly enlisted—that of proclaiming the love of God in Christ to sinners.

In 1856 he became pastor of Sugar Creek church, Bellbrook, Ohio, in Xenia Presbytery. There they esteemed him highly, and received the gospel from his lips as from one whose tenure of life was peculiarly frail. In conversation, as well as in preaching, there was a peculiar unction, as of one who dwelt in meditation much on unseen realities, and who felt that eternity was ever near. The congregation has remarkably increased under his instrumentality, proportionably more than any other in the Presbytery, and possibly the Synod. The congregation, in their zeal to carry forward the home evangelization scheme, about a year since finished a new church in Bellbrook, some two miles from the old church edifice. The services of the pastor were given to both localities with marked profit.

During the past three summers, Mr. Stewart had a furlough from pastoral labor. With his pulpit partially supplied, he passed a few weeks in successive years recruiting his health by the bracing atmosphere of Mackinac, Mich.

A severe pain in the knee, of some days' continuance, had lessened, when, on Friday evening, October 12th, his lungs became suddenly congested. This affection increased in violence until his death, October 16, 1860. At the close of life's struggle, the departed said, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

He had a quick, clear, discerning mind. His style of composition was smooth, flowing, ornate, systematic, and commanding. As a speaker, he was graceful, natural, earnest, feeling, and impressive. In private converse, in extemporaneous address, and in writing, he had a facile out-gushing of appropriate language. To him it was visibly a pleasure to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ. He uniformly secured the sympathies and good will of his audience.

He married Miss Elizabeth F. Graham, who, with five sons, survives him.

Historical Sketch of the Second United Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE church edifice in which the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America opened its Second Annual meeting, on Wednesday evening, May 23, 1860, is the successor of a quaint but substantial old building, that was long known as it stood on Thirteenth street, above Market, as the VOW church, and which as such had a singular and eventful history connected with it.

About the year 1758, a family of Scotch-Irish emigrants sailed from Belfast, Ireland, for this country. They were in humble circumstances in life, and the wife and mother especially, Mrs. MARGARET DUNCAN is uniformly reported to have been a woman of singular energy and determination of spirit, and of devotion to what she conceived was truth and duty. In the passage, which at that early day was a very serious matter, the captain is said to have been crossing the Atlantic for the first time, and in his desire to escape the dangers that might arise from falling in with hostile ships, as France and Great Britain were then at war, he went far out of his way. An almost uninterrupted succession of head winds was also encountered, and the right direction being lost through some derangement of the compass and long continuance of damp and foggy weather, the voyage was protracted to an unprecedented length. To add to all the horrors of their condition, the passengers found ere long, that floating as their vessel was at random and in constant danger of being shipwrecked, their provisions were failing, and, for some time, they were compelled to live on the most scanty allowance of food and especially of water. At length even this was also well nigh exhausted, and nothing but starvation and a most painful death stared them in the face. Every expedient was devised to obtain relief, and even the desperate proposition was whispered around of having the lot cast, with the understanding that the person on whom it should fall should be put to death, that thus means might be furnished for the preservation of the lives of the rest. In this awful extremity, Mrs. Duncan retired to her berth—spent some time in fasting, humiliation, and prayer, and then entered into a solemn Vow, that if God would by any means interpose and send the relief by which she and her fellow passengers might escape the dreadful death to which they were exposed, she would devote herself unreservedly to his service, would throughout her life have the day of her deliverance consecrated to humiliation, thanksgiving, and prayer; and if ever blessed with the means, would set apart a sufficient amount of money to erect a House of Worship in honor of Him whose mercy would be so signally shown her.

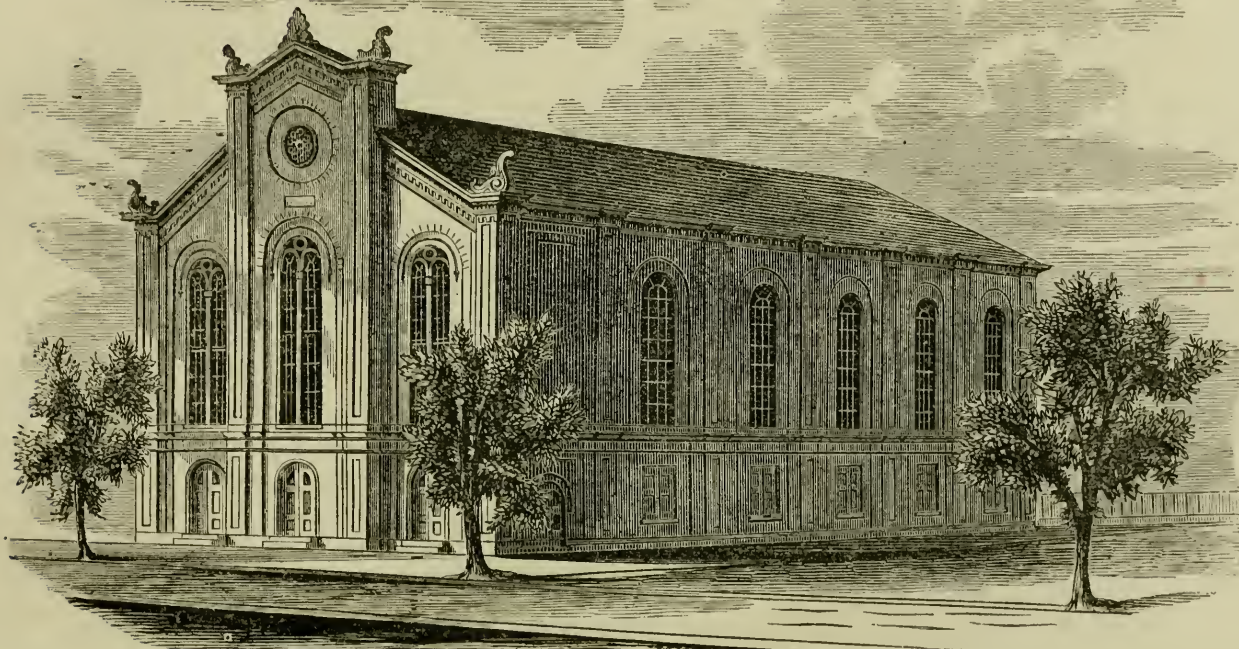

From these solemn acts of devotion, she rose calm and confiding in God, and as the first evidence that He, who had said, "Call upon me in the time of trouble, and I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me," heard her prayer, a shower of rain shortly afterwards fell, furnishing readily a sufficiency of water to satisfy the thirst that was nearly consuming them all. Not long afterwards, also the man at the mast-head discovered in the distance a vessel, from which, on being hailed, the needed relief was at once obtained, and the way was opened for a speedy and safe entrance into the port of Philadelphia. At these successive and almost immediate displays of the Divine goodness, Mrs. Duncan was overwhelmed with grateful feeling, and at once, and ever after had her heart fully set on having her vow some day paid to the very uttermost.

On the organization of the First Associate Church in this city, which took place in 1767, Mrs. Duncan united with it; as its members were worshipping in a small frame building in Shippen street, below Fourth, and afterwards when Rev. Wm. Marshall became the pastor, and a new House of Worship was erected on Spruce St., above Third (now the Scots' Presbyterian church), she removed thither with the congregation. In this place she steadily continued worshipping till the day of her death, separating, however, from the Rev. Mr. Marshall, who refused to enter into that union of the Associate and Reformed Presbyterian Churches, by which the Associate Reformed Church was organized at Pequea, Pa., June 13, 1783, and she adhered to the Rev. Robert Annan, who warmly advocated the union, and was ever afterwards a devoted member and minister of the Associate Reformed Church.

On the 20th of March, 1770, the husband of Mrs. Duncan died, and thus she was left with a large family of children upon her care, and in comparatively dependent circumstances in life. But by patience and grace, she was equal to her position, and devoting herself to her business was prospered and greatly blessed. Ever after the death of her husband, she regularly conducted morning and evening family worship, and faithfully labored to bring up her children in the knowledge and fear of God. Never too did she neglect the memorial day of her deliverance, or suffer the claims of her vow to be forgotten or overlooked. On the contrary, after her death, which occurred, Nov. 16, 1802, her will, dated Philadelphia, Dec., 1801, pointed out a lot upon which a House of Worship should be built, described its exact size, shape, material, and manner of construction, appointed a particular Executor to carry out that part of the will, devised to him the monies that would be necessary to complete the work, and then expressly declared that the house, built as she had thus named, "should be for the use of such a congregation of persons as shall belong to the present Reformed Synod to which the Rev. Robert Annan's church in Spruce street in said city belongs," and that the said Executor should "permit and suffer the said congregation to use and occupy the same for the purposes of Divine worship, according to the rules and ceremonies of the said present Reformed Synod," &c.

After some delay, the house thus purposed in Vow and provided for in Will was completed, and on the 26th of November, 1815, was opened for the objects for which she so solemnly intended it. Since that time, and under all the changes through which it has passed, it has been signally blessed. Directly or indirectly, twelve or thirteen congregations have gone out of it to build up in different parts of the city the Church of God. And when under the Divine blessing upon the means of grace, its congregation in the present pastoral charge had come to have in 1855 a larger number of communicants on its roll than could find seats to rent within its walls, liberty was obtained from the Legislature of Pennsylvania to dispose of it, and put the avails of it in another House of Worship, subject to the same provisions and regulations that it had been. Accordingly it was removed and rebuilt in its present neat and commodious form, on Race street, near Sixteenth, and on the first Sabbath of September, 1857, was opened, to be still as before, the Vow Church.

The church now worshipping in this memorable building was organized in October, 1830, by the late John McJimsey, D. D., under the direction of the Associate Reformed Presbytery of New York. Its first membership consisted of seven persons. Its first ruling elders were James P. Ramsey and Robert Dunlap, and the first trustees were J. P. Ramsey, Robt. Dunlap, Thos. H. Dickson, A. H. Julian, Wm. McKee, and Samuel Sloan. Its first years were emphatically years of struggles and discouragements, of trials and sorrows. Its audience oftentimes did not exceed twenty persons in number. But its members loved their Divine Master and their church, and abounding in prayer-meetings, in Sabbath-school labors, and in missionary efforts, they had their hearts knit together in love, and their faith ever strong in God, that he would yet come and bless a heritage that was itself the fruit of fervent prayer, and of a solemn and well-paid vow.

In 1834, the congregation greeted its first pastor in the person of Rev. John Forsyth, D. D., then a licentiate of the Associate Reformed Presbytery of New York. Under this, his first and very promising ministry, the church prospered for nearly three years, when he was forced by ill health to demit the charge, and for nearly four years after, the congregation was without a shepherd, and often fainting and ready to be scattered abroad, yet holding together and holding on their way.

On the 4th of June, 1840, the present pastor, Jas. B. Dales, D. D., was ordained and installed, since that time, a favoring Providence has kept the roots of bitterness from springing up, and has suffered the means of grace steadily to continue. Sixteen members have been added to the session, fourteen hundred and sixty-two persons have been received into the full communion of the church, five hundred and seventy-one persons have been baptized, eleven persons have gone in whole or in part into the Gospel ministry, and two have entered upon the work of Christ as missionaries in the Foreign field. The present statistics show that there are 706 communicants in the church, and 231 families in the congregation, and that the church is one of nine sister United Presbyterian churches in the city of Philadelphia.

THE GENERAL SYNOD OF THE REFORMED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN N. A.

THE GENERAL SYNOD met, according to appointment, in the Reformed Presbyterian church, in Allegheny, and was opened with a sermon by the Moderator, REV. JOHN NEVIN, from 1 Cor. x. 4: "For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty, through God, to the pulling down of strongholds." After the sermon, the Moderator constituted the Synod by prayer.

REV. WM. STERRETT was elected Moderator, JOHN MCLEOD, D. D., continued Stated Clerk, and REV. J. AGNEW CRAWFORD was appointed Assistant.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence reported a letter from the Synod of the Waldenses, it was Resolved, That Synod have heard with great satisfaction the letter transmitted to them by their dear brethren, the old Dissenters of the Alps, and direct that a suitable reply be made to it by the Committee on Foreign Correspondence.

The Committee on the Tri-Centenary of the Reformation were directed to prepare the required address to the churches.

The Committee on Presbyterian Reports presented their report, from which it appears that from Iowa to Nova Scotia, as well as from far off India, the reports of the various Presbyteries came to Synod, without the utterance of a discordant note. Peace and harmony, revival and joy, strengthening and extending are heard from all.

On motion, a committee was appointed to take into consideration the whole subject of the gospel support; to obtain all useful information regarding it, and to disseminate it through the church.

The Statistics of the churches having been neglected, the following was adopted:

That Synod highly disapprove of the neglect of various Presbyteries in not furnishing full statistical tables as directed. That the Clerk of Synod be directed to furnish each congregation, settled or vacant, by January 1, 1860, with blank forms for statistics. That Presbyteries be directed to sum up the reports of their congregations, and present them to Synod in a condensed form.

The Stated Clerk of Synod reports the following summary of the Church:

Presbyteries.....	7
Ministers.....	56
Probationers or Licentiates,	8
Students of Theology.....	25
Churches and Stations.....	114
Communicants (estimated).....	10,000

The receipts for the year are as follows:

Foreign Missions.....	$7,092.02
Domestic Missions.....	1,843.08
Seminary and Synod's Fund.....	1,234.14
Jewish Mission, &c.....	150.00

$10,319.24

Reports were received from the various committees and appropriately referred.

The Synod recommended that the second week of January, 1861, be spent in prayer and other religious exercises.

The Committee on FOREIGN MISSIONS reported, that after much deliberation, they had decided to issue the Banner of the Covenant weekly, and that in order to give increased efficiency to it, they had appointed JOHN M. M. WILSON, (a Licentiate) its permanent editor. The standing of Mr. Wilson, his acquaintance throughout the church, and his eminent qualifications must render his appointment eminently satisfactory. After passing the usual resolution of thanks to railroad companies and the families of Allegheny city and Pittsburg, it was Resolved, That Synod do now adjourn to meet in the First Reformed Presbyterian Church in the city of New York, on the Third Wednesday of May, 1861, at 7½ o'clock, P. M.

McMILLAN, D. D., HUGH.—Was born in Chester Dist., South Carolina, in February, 1794. At a very early period in life, he expressed his desire for more than an ordinary education, and after studying the learned languages for a while, under the superintendence of Mr. John Orr, he repaired to Philadelphia, and entered the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated with the highest honors. He then returned to his native State, and was soon after elected Professor of Languages in Columbia College. But he desired to serve his God in a higher and better sphere, and determined to consecrate himself to the work of the ministry. With this view he returned to Philadelphia, and entered the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, under the care of the late Dr. S. B. Wylie. (For a memoir of this eminent man of God, see the Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1860, pp. 177, 178.) Having completed his Theological course, he was licensed in 1820.

After his licensure, under the appointment of Presbytery, he itinerated as a domestic missionary through the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, and South Carolina. He very soon received a unanimous call from Rock Creek Brick church congregation, Chester Dist., South Carolina, to become their pastor. He was ordained to the ministry and installed pastor of the congregation in 1821. Dr. McMillan's reputation as a profound linguist was now well established, and at the earnest solicitation of a number of distinguished gentlemen, he founded an Academy at the Brick church, in which many young men who are now occupying honorable positions, both in church and state, received their primary education.

Owing to his views on slavery, he proposed to some of his congregation to remove to one of the Free States. With this view, he visited Ohio in 1828, and after preaching a short time, received an invitation to become pastor of the United Congregations of Xenia and Massie's Creek, in Greene county. This invitation he accepted, and removed, accompanied by a large portion of his Carolina charge, to Xenia, Greene county, which was then a wilderness. It is now one of the most wealthy and flourishing counties in Ohio, and much of its prosperity is due to the McMillan family, who settled in and around Xenia. Here the Doctor was earnestly solicited to establish an Academy—a solicitation to which he yielded in 1830.

In 1850, Dr. McMillan's congregations became too numerous for the services of one man, and they agreed to form two distinct societies. The old church buildings on Massie's Creek were removed, and new ones erected in Xenia and Cedarville. The Cedarville division having all the elements of, and being regarded as the original congregation, the Doctor continued his pastoral care of it, and accordingly in 1851, he removed to Cedarville. Here he died, Oct. 9, 1860, of lung fever.

His remains were interred in the cemetery on Massie's Creek, on the ancient site of the church edifice, where he preached for nearly twenty-five years, and on the spot directly beneath where the pulpit stood from which he had frequently warned, exhorted, and entreated sinners to seek preparation for death. Many hundreds testified their regard for him as a man, a minister, and a philanthropist, by their presence at his simple funeral, which was the largest ever witnessed in Greene county. Although Cedarville is a small village, there were no less than fifteen ministers of different denominations, some of whom had traveled hundreds of miles to be present.

He was a man of deep-toned piety, of fervent zeal for his Master's cause, and unfeigned love for the salvation of souls. He was a zealous, faithful, and indefatigable minister. He was greatly honored by his people, and was ever greatly respected and highly esteemed by the General Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, having been elected twice to the office of Professor in her Theological Seminary, and appointed as her delegate a few years since to visit the sister churches in England, Ireland, and Scotland. He was the spiritual father of a large majority of his flock, and very many of them were his "kinsmen according to the flesh." His ministerial labors were but little interrupted till he was stricken down by his last illness. He was at his post, and died with his armor on.

In the language of one who knows the family well, he says, "No other family within her pale has done more for the Reformed Presbyterian Church than the McMillans. Rev. Gavin McMillan, of Morning Sun, Ohio, a brother of the deceased; Daniel McMillan, Esq., of Xenia, another brother, known for his liberality in advancing the interests of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, as well as in assisting and honoring her ministry; the Rev. G. R. McMillan, nephew of the deceased; James C. McMillan, Esq., of Xenia, a nephew, is a leading elder in the Reformed Presbyterian Church, and the Treasurer of her Domestic Mission Board. The zeal, faithfulness, and success as a pastor of the Rev. John McMillan of Allegheny City, is well known, and upon his own son has his mantle fallen, the Rev. Robert McMillan, of Neshannock and Hermon churches, Princeton, Pa., who, at the request of the Pittsburg Presbytery, was, in May, 1860, consecrated to the work of the ministry by his own father.

He married Miss Mary Ann McClung, of Brownstown, Pa., who, with one son, survives him.

SILLIMAN, WILLIAM D.—The son of Charles and Mary (Davidson) Silliman, was born in Beaver Co., Pa., November, 1823; his father was a ruling elder in the Reformed Presbyterian church, Darlington, Pa.; his mother was also a member of the same church. They trained their family both by precept and example in the true Presbyterian way—memorizing Psalms, portions of Scripture, and the Shorter Catechism. It was the custom of the pastor to meet the young people once in three months for catechetical instruction. In the interval, they were trained in the Society by the ruling elders. Mr. Silliman was regular and attentive in these schools, where, together with family instruction, the foundation of his religious education was laid.

He commenced his studies in Darlington Academy, Pa., and entered New Athens College, Ohio, where he graduated in 1850. Depending in a great measure upon his own energies for support, he frequently followed the vocation of school-teaching. At this time he contemplated the Law as his profession for life, but the subject of duty presenting itself strongly to his mind, he made it the subject of meditation and prayer; and as the result, it was clearly revealed to his own heart, that the high and holy calling of the minister of the Lord Jesus Christ should be the object to which his life should be devoted.

He entered the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Presbyterian church at Xenia, Ohio, under the care of Gilbert McMaster, D. D., and Hugh McMillan, D. D., and finished a full course with honor. He was licensed by Pittsburg Presbytery; and in the year 1853 was ordained by the Northern Presbytery as pastor of the Potsdam congregation, and in January 15, 1857, he was called to the pastorate of the Second congregation of Lisbon, in conjunction with his former charge.

The disease of which he died was a cancerous affection of the face, from which he suffered the most excruciating pain; being twice operated upon by the most experienced surgeons, but which baffled all their skill. From newspaper reports and pamphlet testimonials, he was induced to place himself under the care of a professed cancer curer in Auburn; and after enduring the burning and festering operation of his blisters and plasters for about twelve months or upwards, he was obliged to have recourse to regular treatment.

His bodily powers at this time were far reduced, and nature was fast giving way under such torturing applications. But in hopes of being restored to his usefulness in the vineyard of the Lord, and his place in the family circle, he was persuaded to make another effort, and once more he subjected himself to the treatment of another cancer doctor. And in this instance it was believed the applications were successful, and that the disease was eradicated; but his system was greatly reduced, and though brighter days seemed to dawn, he yielded to a sudden attack of dysentery, and died, March 7, 1860, at Madrid, New York.

He was a man of fine talents, of good mental cultivation, and of great energy. He had gathered around him a superior congregation which now mourns his loss, and he had been instrumental in establishing several missionary stations, and places for preaching which were fast ripening into congregations, when he was prostrated by disease. He was a firm and consistent Reformed Presbyterian, understanding her principles, and at all times disposed to maintain them. He was a valuable member of the courts of the church, and highly esteemed through the whole region in which he lived, as a man of integrity whose counsel was wise and candid, and whose words always meant what they expressed.

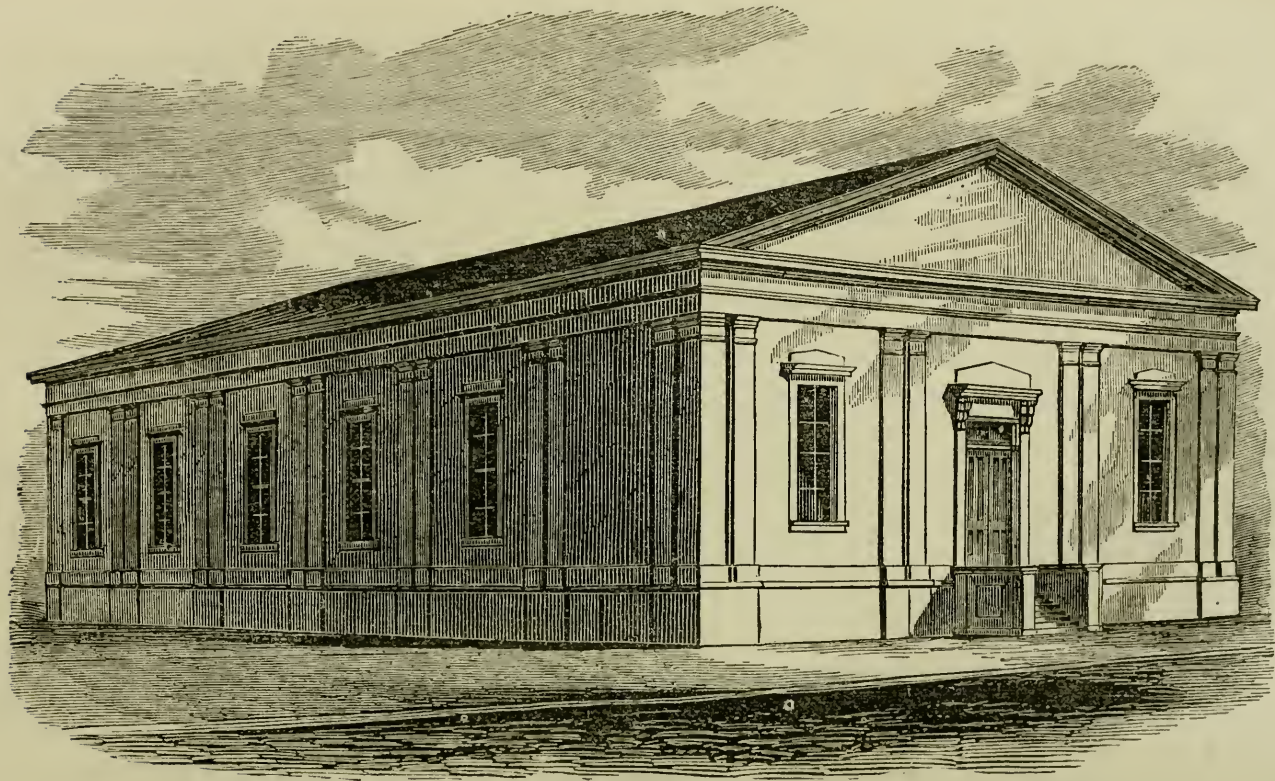

He was not only esteemed by his congregation, but admired by all who knew him. He was a man of sincere piety, unbending integrity, and untiring zeal—an embodiment of kindness, generosity, and candor, combining, in a rare degree, a gentleness of disposition and a gravity of deportment which inspired respect, and won for him the confidence and esteem of all, so as to constitute him, in an eminent manner, a companion and a friend much to be loved, and a successful minister of Jesus Christ. It is but just for us to add, that although deprived of Mr. Silliman's labors for more than a year, the congregations regularly met all their obligations to him, and treated him and his family with love and kindness to the close of his life; it is also proper to mention the continued attentions paid to the people by his co-presbyter and brother, Rev. W. J. Macdowell, of Heuvelton, N. Y., whose kindness not only in supplying their pulpit, but in various ways soothing their suffering pastor and attending his anxious cares, revealed the true Christian spirit.

He married Miss Jane Graham, September 24, 1858, who, with one child, survives him.

Historical Sketch of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, Allegheny City, Pa.

THIS church is a branch from the First Reformed Presbyterian church, Pittsburg, which was planted some sixty years ago, and was most faithfully nurtured for about fifty years by the late John Black, D. D., and since his death has continued to flourish under the watchful and efficient ministry of the present pastor, John Douglas, D. D.

In the spring of 1838, about thirty members were certified by the Session of the First Reformed Protestant church, Pittsburg, and according to due form were organized and denominated the First Reformed Presbyterian church of Allegheny City. Mr. Jas. McVicker (who now sleeps with his fathers) and Mr. James Gormly were chosen ruling elders, and installed at that time. The congregation were supplied with preaching under the direction of the Presbytery until the 1st of April, 1840, when a call was duly moderated and presented to the Rev. A. W. Black, and by him accepted; he entered upon his duties as pastor, and continued to act in that capacity (though he was never formally installed) until April 1, 1855, when, at his own request, the relationship between him and the congregation was dissolved.

The flock was now without an earthly shepherd—the hearts of many, who heretofore had been most anxious and most sanguine, began to despond—there seemed to be no tenure by which the people were to be held together, not even the ownership of the ground on which the House of Worship had been built, and the lease of which was about to expire. Some thought it scarcely worth while to attempt to call another pastor; but God had otherwise determined, and by his grace filled the hearts of all with fresh courage.

After a few months of supplies from various sources, a call upon the Rev. John McMillan was moderated, and, at a meeting of the Presbytery held in Allegheny, October 31, 1855, was presented and accepted. Mr. McMillan immediately entered upon his duties as pastor, and in the evening of the 9th of January, 1856, was formally installed by the Pittsburg Presbytery; Dr. Douglas preaching the sermon, Dr. Guthrie charging the pastor, and, as was most appropriate, Dr. Black (who has since then ceased from his labors on earth and entered into his rest) charging the people to whom he had ministered for fifteen years. (A memoir of the Rev. Dr. Black will be found in the Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1860, p. 170.)

At that time the communicants numbered one hundred and sixty-three. Since then one hundred and sixty-eight have been added. Prayer-meetings are held regularly every Wednesday evening. Contributions are made on the plan of "Systematic Beneficence" for the sustentation of all the schemes of the General Synod. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is dispensed three times a year, in the months of January, May, and September. There is an interesting Sabbath-school in connection with the church, under the tuition of competent Superintendents and Teachers.

Along with the pastor are associated in the spiritual oversight of the congregation, and in the most cordial co-operation with him and one another, the following

It is proper also to record that under the efficient management of the Board of Trustees, the lot on which the church stands has been purchased. The church itself (an engraving of which is published) has been thoroughly repaired, and in answer to many a fervent prayer to the Triune God, in the name of Jesus, that he would "send now prosperity," all things seem to be in a fair way, with the Divine blessing, for the perpetuity of the First Reformed Presbyterian church in Allegheny City.

THE SYNOD OF THE REFORMED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

This Synod did not meet in 1860. Its next meeting will be held in the Second Reformed Presbyterian Church, New York, May, 1861. The number of Ministers is 63; Churches, 75; Communicants, 8000. The receipts during the year, $5000. These items are estimated.

THE ASSOCIATE REFORMED SYNOD OF THE SOUTH.

THE SYNOD met, according to adjournment, in Hopewell church, Covington, Newton county, Georgia, on Monday, October 8, at 10½ o'clock, A. M., and, in the absence of the Moderator and his alternate, was opened with a sermon by Rev. H. T. SLOAN.

The Synod was then constituted with prayer by JAMES P. PRESSLY, D. D., the oldest minister present.

The roll of Synod was then made out, and 58 ministers and 24 elders were present.

JAMES BOYCE, D. D., of First Presbytery, South Carolina, was elected Moderator; R. C. Grier, D. D., Assistant Clerk; Rev. J. I. Bonner, Stated Clerk, pro. tem.

On motion of Rev. H. Quigg, Rev. H. C. Carter and Rev. J. McKittrick, of the Presbyterian Church, (o. s.) and John T. Pressly, D. D., of the United Presbyterian General Assembly, being present, were invited to sit as corresponding members.

Rev. R. A. Ross, Chairman of the Committee on BILLS and OVERTURES, reported,

A petition from West Union, White county, Illinois. The Committee are of opinion, that that paper presents but one subject for their consideration, viz.: the petition from said congregation, to be taken under the care of this Synod and assigned its Presbyterial connection.

The Committee recommend that said congregation be put under the care of Kentucky Presbytery, and that Rev. T. Turner be transferred to said Presbytery.

Rev. R. A. Ross, Chairman of the Committee appointed by the Synod of 1859, to whom was referred the proposition to separate the Preparatory Department from Erskine College, and the erection of a Synodical Academy or of several Academies, reported,

That the endowment fund did not contemplate any educational department separate from the College; it would not be acting in good faith to divert any part of it from its original design. Besides, the erection of one Synodical school separate from the College would not be of any advantage in a pecuniary point of view to such as might patronise it. The Committee recommend that the matter remain as it is.

Rev. A. Ranson, of the Committee appointed to prepare a Memoir of Rev. A. F. Quay, reported that the work was still incomplete. The Committee was continued.

Rev. John S. Pressly, of the Committee on the re-publication of the Constitution of the Associate Reformed Church, reported that they had made an effort to ascertain the probable cost of a new edition and the demand existing for such a work.

It was ascertained that about five or six hundred copies were wanted. The Committee were directed to secure a stereotyped edition of the work, taking the last Pittsburg edition as the standard.

James Boyce, D. D., G. Gordon, and J. I. Bonner were appointed a Committee to revise the Proof.

James Boyce, D. D., the delegate appointed to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, (o. s.,) reported, that on account of indisposition and for other reasons, he did not attend.

E. Thompson Baird, D. D., delegate from the Presbyterian Church, (o. s.,) addressed the Synod.

The Theological Seminary, after some discussion of the question, was allowed to remain in Due West, S. C., and in order to still further increase its efficiency, a second Professor was deemed necessary. J. P. Pressly, D. D., was elected to fill that position.

By the election of Dr. Pressly to a chair in the Seminary, his place in Erskine College was made vacant. Mr. John P. Kennedy, of Abbeville, was elected to supply the place.

The thanks of the Synod were tendered to the good people of Hopewell for their generous hospitality and attention.

On motion, the Synod adjourned to meet in Bethel church, Allentown, Wilcox county, Alabama, on Monday, September 16, 1861.

Pressly, Ebenezer Erskine	Second.	1830	1860	52	Apoplexy.

PRESSLY, D. D., EBENEZER ERSKINE.—The son of William and Elizabeth H. Pressly, was born near Cedar Spring, Abbeville District, South Carolina, in 1808. His parents (belonged to that good old Scotch-Irish stock which has been such a blessing to our country) were remarkable for their piety and intelligence, who early dedicated their only son to the work of the Christian ministry.

At an early period in life he was sent to Union Academy to prepare for College. At the age of eighteen, he entered Miami University, in Ohio, going there on account of Dr. Bishop, who had just entered upon the Presidency of the Institution, where he graduated in 1826. He was received as a student of Theology by the Second Associate Reformed Presbytery, and studied under John T. Pressly, D. D., (now of Allegheny City, Pa.,) who was then pastor at Cedar Spring and Long Cane, S. C., and Professor of Theology for the Southern Synod. He was licensed at Due West, in 1829, and on the 7th of August, 1830, was settled as pastor of Due West and Generostee churches. The latter congregation he gave up in 1837, and since has been pastor of Due West alone—which connection continued for thirty years; during the whole period there was uninterrupted harmony between pastor and people.

In 1832, he was chosen the successor of Dr. John T. Pressly, as Professor of Theology, and his house became the Seminary of the Associate Reformed Synod of the South. In 1839, he was elected President of the Clark and Erskine Seminary, which afterwards took the name of Erskine College. In this position he remained until the Spring of 1848.

In the position of President of the College and Professor in the Seminary, Dr. Pressly continued as long as health would permit, and his resignation was universally regretted. He was highly respected by the people and greatly beloved by his pupils. He possessed many of the qualities necessary in a presiding officer, and he was apt to teach. Much of the success of the College and Seminary in the early periods of their history was traceable to his influence.

For several years, Dr. Pressly had been in feeble health, but an injury, received by a fall last spring, no doubt hastened his death, which occurred on the 26th of July, 1860. The immediate cause of his death was apoplexy, the result of a slight fracture of the skull, produced by the fall referred to.

He was a man of more than ordinary talent, and was a good general scholar. He had a special fondness for the Hebrew language; loved to read and teach it. He had a very retentive memory, which was well-stored by reading. His extemporaneous efforts in the pulpit and on the platform were good. He may be said to have been a speaker rather than a writer. The most of his sermons were preached from notes. During the latter part of his life he used the pen more than in the earlier part.

He was eminently a man of prayer, adopting the Scripture rule, "Pray without ceasing." As a Christian, he was a burning and shining light. And yet, owing to a constitutional tendency, no doubt, he was, during the latter part of his life particularly, often very melancholy. He loved to look on the dark side of things. The natural tendency in that direction was strengthened, probably, by the feebleness of health long continued; and by the many afflictions he was called to endure. But the clouds of earth have vanished before the clear sunlight of heaven.

Dr. Pressly was married, some time after his settlement at Due West, to Miss Elizabeth Agnew, a daughter of Samuel Agnew, an elder at Due West, with whom he lived in peace and happiness until 1853, when his helpmate was taken from him by death. He was afterwards married to Miss Mary A. Taylor, of Laurens District, S. C., who died in less than a month after the decease of her husband.

Dr. Pressly outlived all of his children except two. One of them, Rev. W. L. Pressly, is a licensed Minister of the Gospel, in connection with the Associate Reformed Presbytery.

Though an interesting writer, Dr. Pressly had a singular aversion to appearing before the public as an author. He never published anything except an occasional sermon, and that was done always at the request of friends. An effort will probably be made to publish a volume or two of his manuscripts with a memoir of their author.

Sketch of the Hopewell A. R. Presbyterian Church, Georgia.

Two or three families from the Hopewell and Union churches, South Carolina, moved into Newton Co., Geo., in the year 1825, and formed the nucleus of the now flourishing church of Hopewell.

In 1826, Henry Bryson, D. D., preached the first sermon under a wide-spreading oak to these few sheep in the wilderness. The place at the time was almost an unbroken forest. He continued to preach to them, at intervals, several years. Early in 1826, and prior to Mr. Bryson's arrival among them, a Religious Society was instituted and conducted by George McDill and David Chesnut. The former removed long since to Illinois, where he still lives—the latter sleeps with the silent dead. This Society gave birth to three others, so that, while yet in an unorganized condition, four religious meetings were held every Sabbath in the same settlement. During those early years, they were visited by several Associate Reformed Presbyterian Ministers, Father Blackstock, Renwick, and Lowry, in 1828.

John T. Pressly, D. D., now of Allegheny City, Pa., whose praise is in all the churches, and Mr. Balbridge, in 1829. The former, (Dr. Pressly,) returning in 1830, organized the church with a membership of 47, and ordained three elders, Wm. McCaw, Alex. Cowan, and Robt. Nisbet. The first named is now in Illinois, the others, Mr. Cowan and Mr. Nisbet, are still here at their post, faithful and efficient officers in the House of God.

The church was favoured with occasional supplies until the year of 1836, when Rev. T. Turner was obtained as stated supply. In 1837, he was ordained and installed as their pastor. This devoted servant of God, who is now in Illinois, labored zealously and faithfully among his people until 1852, when he demitted his charge.

Against intemperance wherever it prevailed he set his face—labored ardently for its suppression, and not without marked success. He ground his people thoroughly in the peculiar principles of Associate Reformed Presbyterianism—somewhat slow in speech, but a profound Theologian. During his administration in this place, he set apart to the eldership, Wm. Chesnut, Samuel Wiley, and John Wear, the latter, an excellent and efficient man, fell at his post in 1858, lamented and beloved by all who knew him. The others, Messrs. Chesnut and Wiley, have long since removed to different portions of our country.

Mr. Turner, until 1854, though removed to Dalton, Geo., a distance of 140 miles, continued twice a month to supply the people of his former charge with the bread of life.

In the autumn of 1854, the Rev. H. Quigg, just licensed by the Second Presbytery of Carolina, was obtained as stated supply. In 1855, he was ordained and installed their pastor. In the same year, the old church being dilapidated and uncomfortable, the congregation, with great unanimity and liberality, erected a new and commodious house in its stead. In 1856, three elders were ordained, John McDonald, John Cowan, and D. Thompson. Three more have also been elected: namely, John W. Aiken, W. Weldon, and A. S. Grier.

During the summer of 1860, the congregation erected a spacious board-roofed arbor near the church to accommodate the crowd who will be in attendance to hear the Word preached during the session of the Synod of 1860, and, afterwards, for accommodation at Communion seasons. A very large Sabbath-school is in operation under the instruction of efficient teachers. The labors of the present pastor, Mr. Quigg, have been greatly blessed. About 80 members have been added to the church during his pastorate—30 upon one occasion, and 18 upon another. It now numbers 160 members—is possessed of the symptoms of healthy action, and, indeed, glows with all the elements of increased prosperity. The Lord has done great things for us, whereof we are glad.

THE CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

THE THIRTIETH GENERAL ASSEMBLY met, according to appointment, in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., Thursday, May 17, 1860, and was opened by a sermon from T. B. WILSON, D. D., retiring Moderator, from ACTS x. 33. "Immediately therefore I sent to thee; and thou hast well done that thou art come. Now therefore are we all here present before God to hear all things that are commanded thee of God."

The Assembly was constituted by prayer.

The Stated Clerk reported 101 ministers and 66 elders present.

S. G. BURNEY, D. D., was elected Moderator; Rev. W. S. CAMPBELL, Clerk; and Rev. JOHN G. WHITAKER, Assistant Clerk.

R. BEARD, D. D., Chairman of the Committee on BILLS and OVERTURES, reported,

OVERTURE No. I.—From Neosho Presbytery, praying the General Assembly to re-organize Ozark Synod, which it is alleged had become disorganized in consequence of a failure to meet on its own adjournment. It appearing to the Committee that all the elements of the Synod still exist, notwithstanding its failure to meet according to adjournment, they recommend that the last Moderator of the Synod be directed to call a meeting of the Synod at such time and place as he shall deem suitable, according to the principles laid down in the Form of Government for the calling of extraordinary meetings of the Presbyteries. Adopted.

No. II.—From White Rock Presbytery, asking the Assembly to define the boundary between Texas and Brazos Synods. The Assembly ordered that the West Fork of the Trinity river be the boundary line between said Synods.

No. III.—A memorial from Hernando Synod, asking the Assembly to alter the line between the Hernando and White River Synods so as to make the Mississippi river the boundary line. The request was granted.

No. IV.—A memorial from California Presbytery, asking for the formation of a Synod on the Pacific coast. The request was granted, and California, Sacramento, Pacific, and Oregon Presbyteries be constituted as Sacramento Synod, and that said Synod hold its first meeting in Sonoma City, California, on Thursday, October 11, 1860, and Rev. John E. Braley be its first Moderator.

No. V.—A memorial from Red Oak Presbytery, asking the Assembly to take the steps necessary to a change in the second section of the eleventh chapter of the Form of Government, with a view to the establishment of a new basis of representation. The request was granted.

No. VI.—From West Tennessee Synod, praying the Assembly to take under its fostering care the Theological Department of Bethel College, and "place it on equal ground with other departments of a similar character elsewhere established." Your Committee report,

Thos S Wagner's Lith 38 Madison St Philad^a

S. G. Burney

President of Union Female College, Oxford, Miss.
Moderator of General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church 1860.

Published by Joseph M. Wilson No 111 South 10th St Phil^a.

That the Assembly, at its sessions in 1852, expressed itself unequivocally in favor of one Theological school for the church at present. That time and experience have proved, that but one school was needed, and that the policy of the Assembly was wise.

We, therefore, whilst we sincerely wish our brethren of the memorial success in every good work, and would not hinder or discourage them in their efforts to build up their Theological school; in view of what we consider to be the policy of the Assembly established in 1852; in view of the imperfectly endowed, furnished, and organized condition of the school already established; in view, furthermore, of what seem to be the real wants of the church, as indicated by the small number of students devoted wholly to the study of Theology, recommend unanimously that the Assembly respectfully and kindly incline to grant the prayer of the memorialists. Adopted.

The Committee on the JUDICIARY, Thomas B. Wilson, D. D., reported, that Union Synod of Alabama asks for an explanation of the decision of the Assembly of 1858, on the question of the administration of discipline by church sessions. The Committee believe that the construction given by the Assembly of 1859 is sufficiently explicit.

The Committee on EDUCATION, T. C. Anderson, D. D., Chairman, reported, The only institution under the care of the Assembly is the Cumberland University, at Lebanon, Tenn. This institution has the departments of Theology, Literature, and the Law.

The Theological department has one Professor, and an endowment of $45,000. The Literary department has six Professors and an endowment of $60,000. The Law department has four Professors. The number of students during last year was 446. There are also fifteen Colleges, male and female, and thirteen academies, &c., under the control of Synods and Presbyteries. The Committee would also say that at no period of the history of the Church has there been such a deep interest manifested in behalf of education as at present.

The Committee on MISSIONS, Rev. C. A. DAVIS, Chairman, reported,

That an increasing interest in behalf of the Missions during the past year is very manifest, and the increase in funds over the previous year is six thousand dollars.

They suggest, that the Presbyteries and Synods be requested to place their Missions under the Assembly's Board as early as it can be done without detriment to the cause, that the monthly concert and anniversary meeting be recommended to the observance of all the ministers and churches.

The receipts during the year from all sources was $18,564.54; payments, $15,860.30; balance, $2,754.24.

The Committee on Statistics, MILTON BIRD, D. D., Chairman, reported, That of the ninety-seven Presbyteries belonging to the church, only forty-five have made any report; and they are so incomplete that it would thus be more likely to mislead the reader than to furnish any facts concerning the importance of the church. Arrangements are in progress, by which a change will be accomplished in this department. (A fair estimate makes 97 Presbyteries, 1150 ministers, 325 Licentiates, 1250 churches, and 103,000 communicants. Collections for all causes, $600,000.)

After passing the usual resolution of thanks to the people of Nashville for their kindness and generosity, to the Railroad Companies for excursion tickets at reduced rates, and the reporters of the papers, the Assembly was dissolved, and another Assembly ordered to meet in St. Louis, Mo., May 16, 1861.

BELL, W. W.—Was born in Greene county, Tenn., July 30, 1799; he professed religion and joined the church when he was quite young. And soon after he felt impressed by the Holy Ghost, that it was his duty to preach Christ to perishing sinners; he therefore made application to the Knoxville Presbytery, of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, in Tennessee, and was taken under its care. In 1830, the Presbytery licensed him as a probationer for the holy ministry. In the fall of 1834, having made ample proficiency, he was ordained by the same Presbytery. After his ordination, he spent much of his time as a missionary through a portion of Tennessee and Mississippi, and being a devoted and faithful minister, did much for his Divine Master.

Having a large family to support, and being a man of limited means, he concluded that he could do more for himself and the church by emigrating to the West; consequently, in 1855, he, with his family, removed to Jackson county, Missouri, and united with the Lexington Presbytery. He continued in Missouri for two years, and then moved to Kansas. He was here at the organization of the Kansas Presbytery, and was its oldest member. He was very punctual in attending the judicatories of the church, and never missed a meeting of the Kansas Presbytery, though at times scarcely able to be up. His longing desire was to be entirely devoted to the work of the ministry; but such were the circumstances with which he was surrounded, that he was not able to spend much of his time in the missionary field. He was compelled to labor on his farm to support his family; but his heart was in the work. He loved his church and did all he could for its success.

He spent nearly thirty years on the wall of Zion, proclaiming salvation to the people. Like Paul, he finished his work, and departed for a brighter world, where troubles cannot enter. He was, emphatically, a good man—a kind neighbor, husband, father, and a faithful minister. He suffered much, but bore his sufferings with great Christian fortitude. He died, March 11, 1860, of typhoid fever, at the house of Mr. Franklin Lincoln, in Oskaloosa, Kansas, his own dwelling having been destroyed by fire, in January.

His widow and several children survive him.

BLACK, JAMES.—The son of Thomas and Margaret Black, was born in Kentucky, Nov. 20, 1795. His parents were devotedly pious, and gave their son a good training. His education was private and somewhat limited; he never attended College or Seminary; he was licensed and ordained by Arkansas Presbytery in 1827 as pastor of Mt. Prairie church, Hempst'd Co., Ark. He subsequently preached in the church at Washington, Ark. His health became impaired, and he removed with his family to Coffeeville, Texas, where he died, Feb. 14, 1859, of paralysis.

He was a most estimable man, very useful and laborious, spending much of his time as an evangelist.

He was twice married: first, to Miss A. B. Craig; and second, to Mrs. Clarinda Rawles, who, with five sons and two daughters, survives him.

FINCHER, F. M.—Was born in Union Dist., S. C., Nov. 20, 1801. He removed with his father's family to Middle Tennessee when only a youth. He professed religion about the year 1825, and joined the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. He became an active promoter of prayer-meetings in the town of Fayetteville and vicinity. He was one of the three persons who pledged themselves to keep the prayer-meeting regularly at Fayetteville, and which resulted, after three years' continuance, in one of those great revivals with which that community was favored. He was promoted to the eldership, and served very successfully for several years. He had impressions to enter the ministry soon after his conversion, but, like many others, shrunk from the great responsibility for a time.

In 1834, on examination he joined Elk Presbytery. After his licensure, he removed to Madison county, Mississippi, Jan., 1836, where he placed himself under the care of Mississippi Presbytery. He was ordained in 1838, and in 1840, he removed to Philadelphia Mississippi, where he resided until his death, May 7, 1860, of pneumonia.

He was truly a man of God. His religion was always the governing principle of his mind. His Bible was emphatically the man of his counsel, his endeavor was to conform his life to its teachings. He was a peace-maker. He was remarkably hospitable, and was blessed with a spirit of large benevolence. He was a cheerful giver, whether in money or personal effort. He had a good report of them that are without, and Christians of all denominations loved and respected him.

He married, February 1, 1831, Miss Susan Whitaker, daughter of Joseph Whitaker, near Mulberry, Lincoln county, Tenn.

HARRIS, SAMUEL.—The son of James and Susannah (Guiss) Harris, was born near Danville, Ky, October 7, 1794. He was educated in a Presbyterian school, Lincoln county, Tenn. After his conversion, he studied for the ministry privately, and was licensed in 1822, and ordained by Elk Presbytery in 1823 as a missionary, in which department of his Master's cause he spent his life.

He died, trusting in Jesus, after a lingering illness, Jan'y 30, 1860, of paralysis.

A friend who knew him well thus speaks of him:

"The Rev. Samuel Harris was one of the most indefatigable and successful laborers in his Master's vineyard. He was a true pioneer preacher. Gifted by nature with eloquence, and a heart warmed in the love of Jesus, he commanded a universal respect, and enlisted the admiration, and, consequently, the attention of the refined as well as the grosser class of sinners. Whilst he could introduce himself into the company and win to the cause of Christianity the wild bandit of the southwest, he was the most agreeable and welcome visitor to the homes of the most refined and excellent citizens of his field of labor. He possessed a versatile genius to win souls to Christ. Whilst he had the character of being eccentric, it was to attract the attention of the curious to the subject of his mission. One while he indulged in innocent joviality that he might bring to bay and secure the attention of the gay and thoughtless, whilst he made the offers of pardon in Jesus' name. He was bold and daring in his teaching. Wherever sin defiled, he ventured to go; and, like the Saviour, for eating with publicans and sinners, his name was reproached for temporary associations, and hence with a mean design, that now re-acts upon the foul perpetrator of the slanders, his name was twice associated with the idle tales of Western Romance. One of these false stories represents him as being the convert of his own preaching, whilst mocking he preached to his fellow banditti in Arkansas. Whereas the truth is, he was brought under convictions and was converted at Mount Carmel church, Franklin county, Tennessee, under the preaching of the Rev. William Moore.

Thousands who heard the melting rehearsal of his own experience, long before he came to Arkansas, are now, as they have often done before, ready to vindicate his good name from the assaults shamelessly made against an influence so useful in the Southwest in checking the progress of a certain baptized Infidelity, which alone sanctioned and gave credence to the slanders.

"Masonic honors were done about his grave, and deep feeling pervaded the noble Brotherhood.

"Sleep peacefully, my brother; your labors enter into the elements of a Divine Progress in the condition of mankind, that shall grow and yield to your blessed spirit immortal honors and happiness when kindred, friends, and enemies are stilled in death."

LAMBERT, JORDAN B.—Was born in Mercer county, Ky., May 9, 1798; his parents were from Virginia. He made a public profession of religion at Robertson's Camp-ground, in 1820, and united with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Impressed by the Holy Spirit to preach the Gospel, he became a candidate for the ministry in 1828, the year after his removal from Kentucky to Henderson, Tenn., and was ordained in 1831. He was a co-laborer with Drs. Beard, Burrow, and the lamented Robert Baker and James S. Guthrie. Removed to Monroe county, Arkansas, where he died, 1839. Was one of the ministers who constituted Helena Presbytery at its organization, with A. Shelby, John Barnett, and Thomas Law. Was a good Presbyter. He attended a meeting some six miles from his residence with Rev. J. B. Groves, and after having preached, rode home, whither he arrived about midnight. His wife, having been informed by him that he had preached before he left the meeting, said to him, "You'll kill yourself." He replied, "Well, I had better wear out than rust out." The day after, but one, he was taken with a chill. That was his last sermon. He never was well again. Nine days previous to his death he was attacked with pneumonia, of which he died, Jan. 10, 1860.

On being informed that his time had come, he said, "All is well; I am ready." Being asked if he had any word to leave for his family, he replied, "Yes; tell them to be Christians." Have you any message to leave the church?" "Yes; tell them all to live better, and try to do more." "Anything you would like to have said to your brother ministers?" "Yes; tell them to preach Christ faithfully. He is the world's only permanent hope." A few hours after this conversation he breathed his last.

A friend, in writing of him, says,

"He was a good man, faithful and conscientious in all the relations of life. He often preached to and prayed with his servants, of whom he owned about eighty, and their sorrow during his illness was quite affecting. On coming from their labor at night, they would all, as fast as permitted, steal softly in to get a look at "old massa." Then they would turn softly away, saying, with sobs, "I'm sorry to have old massa leave us—he was so good to us." One said, "Massa, I tank you—you have been good to us black ones. You talked to us, and told us about Jesus. I hope to meet you in heaven."

He married Miss Judith W. Key, December 24, 1818, who survives him.

McCRARY, W. H.—Was born in Tennessee, January 17, 1831. He was well educated, graduating at Bethel College, Tenn.; he was licensed by Elk Presbytery in 1849, after which he taught school for several years. He was ordained by Hopewell Presbytery in 1854.

He died, September 14, 1858.

He was quite a successful teacher, a good preacher, and a fine theologian.

McGEE, B.—The son of Henry and Rachel McGee, was born in Graves county, Ky., in 1834. He was educated at Bethel College, at McMoresville, Tenn., and licensed by Hopewell Presbytery, and was an itinerant missionary. He was afflicted with dropsy, of which he died, June 15, 1859.

He was a very pious young man, and greatly beloved by all who knew him. His ministerial life was brief, but full of hope.

SUDDATH, WM. W.—Was born in Fairfax county, Va., July 31, 1826. When a lad, his parents removed to western Virginia, thence to Kentucky, and finally to Lafayette county, Mo., where he obtained his education, working occasionally on a farm. During this period of his life he exhibited great industry, as well as a strong desire for intellectual attainments, and a capacity to acquire them.

He professed religion in his nineteenth year at his father's house, during a protracted meeting, which was held there by Revs. J. B. Morrow and B. F. Thomas. He soon joined the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and in a short time felt impressed with the duty of taking upon him the work of the ministry. He was received by the Lexington Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church as a candidate for the holy ministry in his twentieth year, and was licensed to preach the gospel in his twenty-first year. About this time, or perhaps before, he entered Chapel Hill College, in Lafayette county, Mo., and soon ranked in the first class of her students for strength of intellect, success in his studies, and correct moral deportment.

He studied Theology in the Cumberland University, at Lebanon, Tennessee; but before he graduated he was induced by the great interest he took in the success of Chapel Hill College, to return to Missouri and accept the Professorship of Languages in that College. He soon became a very successful teacher. He was elected President of that Institution, which he filled until the close of the year 1857, when he was called to the chair of Languages in the Masonic College at Lexington, Mo. During the two years he remained at Lexington, he preached as extensively as he was able at Mount Hebron, Greenton, Wellington, and other points.

In the summer of 1858, he became enlisted for the St. Louis Mission, and his far reaching mind, and noble, benevolent heart, conceived a plan to relieve it of its embarrassments. But his labors were too great for his physical energies. His mighty soul had become so powerfully enlisted for the church and her welfare, that he over-taxed his body, and his health failed under it. He had, for several years, been anxious to give up the confinement of College for the active duties of the ministry, and now he thought that the time had come for him to engage in the work of his choice—the interesting duties of the pastor. He accepted a call from the church in St. Joseph. He returned to Lexington, shipped his goods to St. Joseph, sent his family to Liberty to remain with a brother-in-law till he should return, and started to Cooper Co., to assist Bro F. A. Witherspoon in holding two protracted meetings. He arrived at the house of Rev. A. F. Reed, in Cooper county, on the 15th of July, and took his bed immediately. It was thought, at first, that his affliction was induced by fatigue and exposure to the sun, and that a few days' rest would restore him again; but nature was too far exhausted to revive. In a few days, he had a congestive chill, after which his disease assumed a fatal type, and he died, Aug. 1, 1860.

He was a man of ardent devotion and every-day piety; he walked with God. He was a logical and eloquent preacher, a scholar, and a Christian gentleman; dignified, yet mild and courteous in his manners, in the social circle instructive and fascinating, always kind to his brethren, prudent, reserved, and forgiving; indeed, a model in all the relations which Providence called him to fill, worthy the imitation of his brethren

NOTE.—The following list of the MINISTERS AND LICENTIATES OF THE CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH has been made up from a great variety of sources, and I cheerfully acknowledge the favors of those who have aided me in furnishing the names and address of such a number, which, it may not be improper to remark, comprises more names, with their presbytery and post-office address, than has ever before been issued of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Its reliability may be understood, when it is known that these names were supplied, through the courtesy of the publishers of the periodicals of the church, by Stated Clerks of Synods and Presbyteries, and by letters from personal friends throughout the country.

BRETT, D. D., PHILIP MILLEDOLER.—The son of Martin W., and Susan Ann (Milledoler) Brett, was born in the city of New York, July 13, 1817; after receiving a thorough academical training, he entered Rutgers College, where after receiving a full course of studies he graduated, and studied Theology in the Seminary of the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church at New Brunswick, N. J., where he graduated.

He was licensed by New York Classis in 1838, and ordained in the same year by Paramus Classis, and installed as pastor of the church at Nyack, New York. In 1842 he supplied the church at the Island of St. Thomas, W. I. On his return in 1844, he was without charge; but in 1846 he became pastor of Mt. Pleasant church, N. Y., and in 1851 he removed to Tompkinsville, L. I., New York, in the bounds of New York South Classis; it was whilst laboring here he died of an internal cancer, January 14, 1860.

He was a man of ardent piety, retiring manners, great circumspectness of deportment, though affectionate and kind in his intercourse with his people. His influence in St. Thomas was good, and his memory is fondly cherished by the members of his last church.

He was married three times: first, to Miss Margaret De Peyster; second, to Miss Cornelia Bogart, both of New York city, and third, to Miss Maria Krause of Santa Cruz, W. I., who survives him with five children.

He was the author of a volume of sermons.

BROWNLEE, D. D., WILLIAM CRAIG.—The son of the Laird of Torfoot and Margaret (Craig) Brownlee, was born at Torfoot, Lanarkshire, Scotland, in 1783. He descended from the Covenanters, and his early training was in accordance with the usual plan adopted by that noble race. He entered the University of Glasgow, where he graduated, adopting the ministry as his profession; he studied Theology under Rev. Dr. Bruce, and was licensed by Stirling Presbytery in 1808; he shortly after emigrated to the United States, and removed to Mount Pleasant, Washington Co., Penn., where he was pastor of Mt. Pleasant and Burgettstown churches, of the Associate Presbyterian Church; in 1813 he accepted a call from the Associate Scotch Church, Philadelphia; and in 1816 he removed to New Brunswick, N. J., to take charge of the Academy connected with Rutgers College. In 1819 he resumed preaching at Baskingridge, N. J., having at the same time the charge of an academy.

In 1825 he was elected Professor of Languages in Rutgers College, and the year following, he became pastor of the Collegiate Dutch Church, New York, as successor of Dr. Milledoler, who had been elected President of the College. Here he labored until 1843, when he was laid aside from active life by a stroke of paralysis. Although his health improved somewhat from the effects of the stroke, he was entirely disqualified for attending to any of the active duties of the ministry; he was almost entirely confined to his room. He had a good reputation, both as a speaker and as a writer; and as a debater he had few equals. He distinguished himself in this respect in the Roman Catholic controversy that was carried on in N. York some twenty years ago. Several works have come from his pen, which are valuable for the clearness with which he sets forth the doctrines of grace. He was a man who was highly gifted by nature. All who remember having seen him in health speak of his fine appearance. His education was of the highest order. His mind was well trained by laborious study. He lacked in nothing that could give access to the minds of others. And yet with all these gifts and accomplishments, God, in his infinite wisdom, saw fit to lay him aside from the active duties of the gospel ministry. The charge over which he was placed when he was silenced in the providence of God from preaching the gospel, still contributed to his support. The Collegiate Dutch Church, of which Dr. Brownlee was one of the pastors, consists of three congregations, which are intended to support four pastors. Being the oldest organization in connection with the Dutch church in N. York, it contains a large amount of wealth, which enables these congregations not only to support their active ministers, but those who are laid aside from public duties. He died, February 10, 1860, of paralysis. The funeral was attended by a large concourse of people. The different branches of the Presbyterian Church were well represented by their respective ministers.

He was the author of the following works: Quakerism; The Roman Catholic controversy; Lights and Shadows of Christian Life; Christian Youth's Book; The Whigs of Scotland; Christian Father at Home; On the Deity of Christ; Baptism; Popery, an enemy of civil and religious liberty; The Roman Catholic Religion viewed in the lights of History and Prophecy; St. Patrick, or the Ancient Religion of the Irish, besides numerous sermons; and was editor of the Dutch Church Magazine for four years.

His family of nine children survive him; his wife died in 1849.

DWIGHT, MAURICE W.—The son of Maurice W. Dwight, D. D., was born at Kempsville, Va., May 4, 1796. After receiving a careful academic training, he entered Columbia College, N. Y., where he graduated in 1816. He studied Theology at the Seminary of the Reformed Protestant Dutch church, at N. Brunswick, N. J. He was licensed by New York Classis in 1821, and the following year he was ordained by Washington Classis, and installed over Waterford church, N. Y. In 1826 he accepted a call to New Hackensack church, in Poughkeepsie Classis, and in 1823 he removed to Brooklyn, L. I., and was pastor of the First Reformed Presbyterian Dutch church, under the care of South Classis of Long Island; here he labored until 1855, when his health failed, and he gave up preaching. He died of consumption, December 3, 1859.

He was an evangelical preacher, possessing a well balanced mind, carefully cultivated, he prepared his sermons with close attention, rendering them lucid and neat. He was discreet and judicious in his practical course; and in the quiet, faithful discharge of his ministerial and pastoral duties, he exercised great discretion and kindness. He had many warm and affectionate friends.

He married Miss Catherine Ten Brook of Watervleit, N. Y.

MARCELLUS, AARON A.—The son of Nicholas and Sarah (Vedder) Marcellus, was born in Amsterdam, N. Y., May 11, 1799. His father was for more than forty years a ruling elder, and his son was early taught the way of life. His primary education was mainly directed by Rev. Halsey Wood of Mayfield, N. Y., Rev. Dr. Peter Van Zandt, and the late Rev. Dr. Spencer of Brooklyn, N. Y.; he entered Union College, N. Y., where he graduated in 1826, when he commenced the instruction of youth, and for some years had charge of the Female Seminary at Syracuse, New York, and subsequently that in Schenectady, New York. He removed to New York, and was superintendent of the Orphan Asylum for a short time. His mind had been directed towards the ministry, and finding that his duty pointed in that direction, he removed to New Brunswick, N. J., and entered the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Dutch church, and graduated in 1830. He was shortly after licensed by New York Classis, and in July 1830 he accepted a call from the Reformed Dutch church at Lysander, New York, where he was ordained and installed by Cayuga Classis; here he remained one year, when he became pastor of the church of Schaghticoke; at the end of four years he resigned; thence to a missionary enterprise near the Dry Dock, New York city, where he labored two years, during which time his health failed, and he was obliged to rest from preaching for some years. To be useful was his earnest desire, and he accepted the position of Principal of Lancaster county Academy, Pa.; here his health recruited, and at the end of three years he was able to return to the pastoral work, and in 1839 he continued his ministerial life as pastor of the Reformed Dutch church at Freehold, N. J.; at the end of eleven years he again returned to teaching in Williamsburgh, New York city, and for a short time at Bergen, N. J.

In 1856 he was again permitted to preach, his health having been comparatively restored, and he became pastor of the Reformed Dutch church in Greenville, New York, in Westchester Classis; after three years he was again a teacher; in 1859 he removed to Bergen, New Jersey, and whilst thus employed, his feeble health gradually gave way, and he died May 24, 1860, of congestion of the liver.

He was an earnest, tender, and comprehensive preacher, and though suffering from many bodily infirmities, his zeal knew no abatement. and when prevented by failing health from preaching the word, he became a teacher of youth, and in all the relations of life, he strove to lead the hearts of those with whom he laboured, to the Saviour. During his ministry his success was gratifying, having been blessed with revivals of religion at Schaghticoke and Freehold. He was courteous and refined in his manners and loved by all.

He married Miss Sarah Marselus of Schenectady, N. Y., who, with four children, survives him.

ROMEYN, D. D., JAMES.—The son of Rev. James V. C., and Susanna (Van Campen) Romeyn, was born at Blooming Grove, New York, Sept. 30, 1799. At this time his father was pastor of two congregations, Greenbush and Wynantskill. When James was about two years old, his father removed to New Jersey, and became pastor of Hackensack and Schraalenbergh churches, New Jersey. Here his primary education was received, until he entered Columbia College, New York, in 1812, where he was an industrious student, and graduated with a high reputation in 1816; during his course his heart was touched by divine grace, and he was led to consecrate himself to the ministry. He studied Theology in the Seminary at New Brunswick, N. J., and finishing a full course, was licensed by Bergen Classis in 1819, and in 1820 he was ordained by Rensselaer Classis, as pastor of the Reformed Dutch church at Nassau, New York. Here he laboured faithfully and successfully for seven years, when he accepted a call from the Reformed Dutch church, Six Mile Run, N. J., as successor of Rev. Dr. Cannon, who had been elected Professor in the Seminary at New Brunswick.

In 1833 he was called as co-pastor with his venerable father in the Reformed Dutch church at Hackensack, New Jersey. He entered upon his duties with great zeal, so much so that his health, which was somewhat impaired, gradually gave way, though he was not laid aside; he however in 1836 asked for a dissolution of the pastoral relation.

After a season of comparative rest from public duty, and being somewhat invigorated thereby, he accepted the invitation to succeed his intimate friend, the Rev. Dr. I. N. Wyckoff, in the pastoral charge of the Reformed Dutch church at Catskill, New York. Here he commanded the unbounded regard of the citizens, and the undying affection of the people of his charge. In the untiring diligence he ever exercised, he was assiduous in his pulpit and pastoral labours, leaving everywhere, as he went about doing good, the deep impression of his sincerity and zeal in efforts for the salvation of souls, and his aims to elevate the standard of piety, and foster the interests of Zion.

His services continued in this church until the latter part of the year 1840, when his health again compelled him to relinquish his charge. In feebleness of body, he continued to reside among this kind people, enjoying their intercourse and Christian fellowship, until, in 1842, he was urged to labor at Leeds, (Old Catskill.) This being a very small charge, he thought he might work advantageously, and again resumed pastoral duty. Every indulgence was granted him, and he might labor lightly; but his ever earnest temperament would show itself, and he pressed on as before, to work for God with all his soul, and mind, and strength, with no other than similar results elsewhere. The people loved him; and God gave him success in his work.

In April, 1844, he was called by the Reformed Dutch church at Bergen Neck, in New Jersey, and soon transferred his relation to that church. Here, for six years, he dispensed the word and ordinances, always delighting the people with his able discourses and generous flow of Christian sentiment. In the autumn of 1850, he was called to the Reformed Dutch church, Geneva, New York, which having accepted, he repaired thither, and commenced his public ministrations with very large acceptance. But, ere arrangements could be perfected for his official induction into the pastoral office of this church, the rod of his heavenly Father fell upon him.

On the morning of the 25th day of November, 1850, he was, while in his chamber, stricken with paralysis, and disabled from future public service. Surrounded by an affectionate household, the sympathies of his friends, and the prayers of the church, this man of God lingered, awaiting with patient submission for his final summons; though suffering much, he was resigned, and leaving behind the record of a useful life, spent in his Master's cause, he died, Sept. 7, 1859. On the afternoon of the next day, the funeral solemnities were observed in the Second Reformed Dutch church at New Brunswick, New Jersey, when the Rev. Prof. S. M. Woodbridge, D. D., delivered a discourse. In the morning of the ensuing day, the remains were conveyed to Hackensack, New Jersey, for interment. On arrival at the First Reformed Dutch church, of which he had been pastor, the house was soon occupied by a large assembly, when further exercises were conducted by H. N. Wilson, D. D., in a tender and impressive manner.

After an opportunity to take the last look of his noble countenance—in doing which, tears of love and sorrow fell from many eyes—the procession moved to the grave, the pall supported by six clerical brethren. There his flesh was laid to rest; there he was gathered to his fathers and to his people.

He married Miss Joanna B. Romeyn, who, with two sons, J. R. Romeyn, M. D., of Keesville, New York, and Rev. T. B. Romeyn of Blawenburgh, New Jersey, survives him.

Three of his sermons have been published.

WARD, JOHN W.—The son of Hon. Jasper Ward, was born in New York city, June 20, 1801. After receiving a good academical education, he entered Nassau Hall, Princeton, New Jersey, and graduated in 1822. He immediately entered the Theological Seminary at Princeton. He was licensed by New Brunswick Presbytery in 1824, and he preached for the Presbyterian church at Union, New York, and was ordained and installed by Cayuga Presbytery in 1827. In 1831 he was called to the Reformed Protestant Dutch church at New Prospect, New York, and joined the Classis of Orange, here he labored until 1836, when ill health forced him to resign; after resting for two years he supplied the churches of Ellenville and Warwarsing; in 1841 he accepted a call from Upper Red Hook church in Hudson Classis; he left in 1845, and was without a charge until 1849, though when his health permitted he supplied various pulpits, and aided his brethren. In 1849 he took charge of a new enterprise at Green Point, in the North Classis of Long Island, here, after six years' labour he was permanently laid aside by ill health; his disease was paralysis, first destroying his vocal organs, and eventually his whole system; he died in 1859.

He was a clear thinker, a careful writer, and a bold preacher of the Calvinistic faith of the gospel; sovereign grace was a favorite theme, this he held up as the only hope of lost sinners. He was successful, and in all his charges he left evidence of his faithfulness, and in several instances God blessed his efforts with revivals. He loved to preach, and though for many years an invalid, his devotion to the sacred cause to which his life was dedicated, prompted him often to go beyond his strength.

He possessed fine social qualities, and in all his intercourse with his people he illustrated the reality of Christian experience.

He married Miss Charlotte Wygant of Marlborough, New York, May 22, 1826, who, with one child, survives him.

Historical Sketch of the Old Second Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

THIS Church, organized April 15, 1817, became extinct; and continued thus from August, 1846, until March, 1852. The building was erected in 1818, and is located on the east side of Eighth street, above Noble street. It is a plain brick structure, capable however of holding a large congregation; having roomy galleries with comfortable Sunday-school rooms in the rear.

This enterprise originated through the missionary labors of the Rev. Francis G. Ballentine, who was the pioneer in this section of the city for the dissemination of gospel truth, and under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society connected with the Second Presbyterian church, he preached for a length of time in the hall which formerly stood at the N. E. corner of Eighth and Buttonwood. Mr. Ballentine's piety and consistent walk won for him the confidence of many who had hitherto been utterly careless and indifferent with regard to eternal things; and his personal and assiduous zeal were early repaid by an encouraging blessing.

Soon an attentive congregation were gathered around him, and he had the pleasure of witnessing many asking the way of salvation, whilst others, through grace, were brought into the kingdom. This was about the year 1816 or 1817; the neighborhood being at this time quite destitute of places for worship, and the spot alluded to, near the then northern outskirts of the city. Mr. Ballentine, although a student of Princeton, and a minister in regular standing in the Presbyterian Church, had nevertheless determined to connect himself with the Classis of the Reformed Dutch Church, and this under the advice and cordial approbation of the Rev. Dr. Brodhead.

The means subsequently used to remove Mr. Ballentine, and take the congregation from the Presbyterian denomination, which had first occupied the ground, and under whose auspices it had experienced its infant growth, (together with the unpleasant circumstances pertaining to the affair,) it would at this late day be of no advantage whatever to recite.

Let it suffice, that the Rev. Mr. Ballentine was obliged to abandon the enterprise shortly after the completion of the building, being privileged to preach but a few times in the new church. The unkind treatment he received was greatly to the regret of many; and the means to accomplish the end, not in anywise creditable to the Christian courtesy of a few active individuals, and questionable, if indeed honorable or just. He left the church about June, 1818. It was not long after, that Mr. Ballentine was called to rest from his labors.

The payment for the building (after learning that Mr. B. was not to have charge) soon involved and embarrassed those who had the matter in hand. At this point of time, a few of the members of the First Reformed Dutch Church interested themselves, and through the well-meant counsel of the Rev. Dr. J. Brodhead, its pastor, the Rev. Brogen Hoff was selected and called as the first pastor of the church. He was accordingly installed, December 17, 1818; and the church was at this time known under the style of "The First Ref. Dutch Church of Spring Garden District." The first Elders were Geo. Sterr and Jeremiah Hukill. The first Board of Trustees was composed of Jeremiah Hukill, Peter Hornberger, Frederick Boss, Charles Colladay, S. J. Pearson, James B. Ramsay, Lewis Lowry, George Sterr, Daniel Newman, Lewis Mattingly, W. S. Fredericks, Philip Lowry, Jacob Carr, Andrew Wray, John D. Huhn, Joseph B. Norbury, Henry Beagle, Thomas Cranmer, Mordecai Hart, Thomas Caves, Charles Souder, John Delaney, D. Stroock, and H. Sailor.

For several successive years the church was pecuniarily embarrassed; and in a spiritual point of view, met with little or no prosperity. A strong dissatisfaction during Mr. Hoff's ministry produced a division, which resulted in a large portion of the former friends of Mr. Ballentine inviting the Rev. R. Green, a Presbyterian clergyman, to preach for them. This occurred, June 29, 1824. Mr. G., after preaching a few times in the church, declined the invitation, and withdrew with his seceding friends and preached in a small church building located on Thirteenth street, below Vine. Mr. Green's sudden death, in the course of a few months, unexpectedly brought this enterprise to an end.

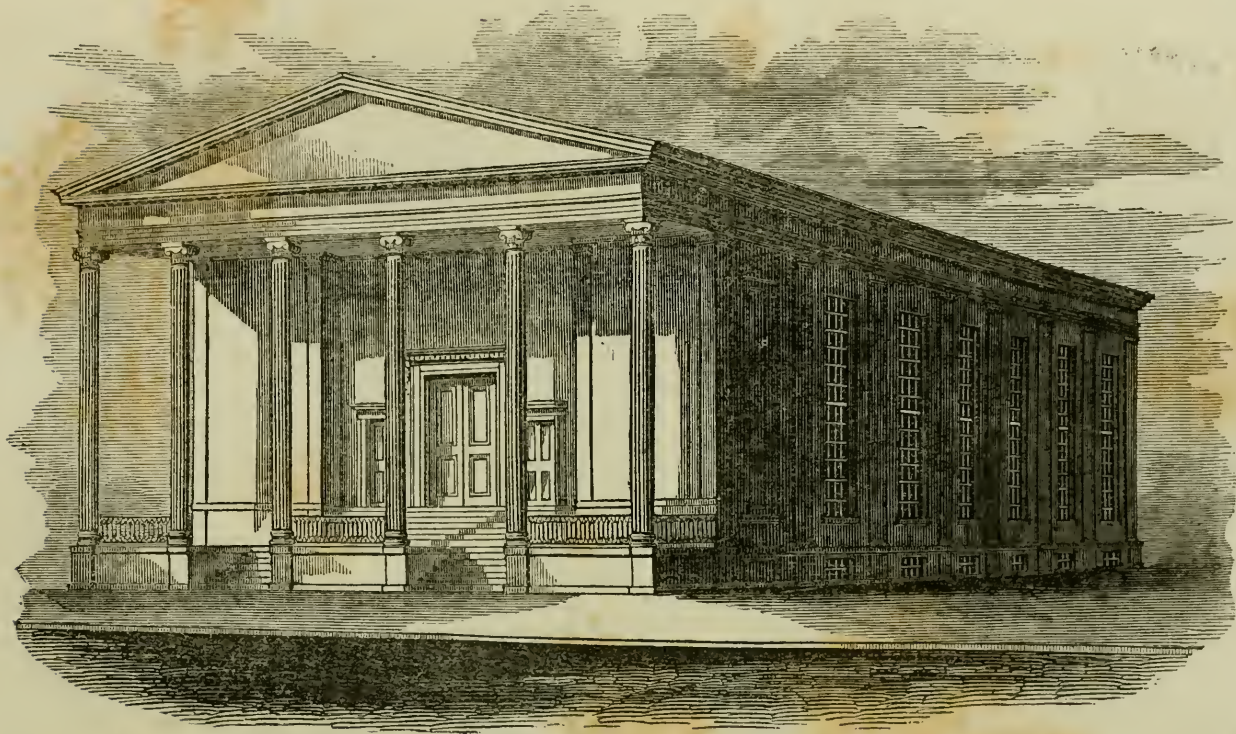

Rev. Mr. Hoff resigned his pastoral charge, April 21, 1824, although the creditors of the building had sold the same by Sheriff, Jan. 5, 1824, to Mr. F. Gaul; who, together with Rev. J. Brodhead, James Gray, John Rohrer, G. W. Mentz, and John Willis, were afterwards the reputed owners. It was still called "The First Reformed Dutch Church of Spring Garden," and so continued from Apr. 15, 1817, until February, 1828, when its name was again changed to "The Second Reformed Dutch Church of Philadelphia, located in Penn Township;" and at this time an act of incorporation was obtained from the Legislature.

The Trustees were now F. Gaul, Robert Brooke, Jacob Carr, Dan'l C. Ellis, Joseph S. Colladay, and Robert Evans. July 21, 1825, Rev. Jacob C. Scars was unanimously elected pastor, who continued to fill the office acceptably until August, 1833. September 23, 1833, Rev. Garret Garretson was unanimously elected pastor, but he declined to accept. February 11, 1834, Rev. Henry H. Hayes was duly elected pastor; he likewise returned the call, and refused to appear before Classis for examination. June 16, 1834, Rev. Amzi Babbitt was also elected pastor; he accepted the call and remained until June 30, 1835.

July 27, 1835, Rev. John Gosman was elected pastor, who continued until September 1, 1836.

In July, 1836, the church property was sold to the Methodist Society, which worshiped in the building on the first Sabbath in Sept., 1836. Dr. L. P. Gebhard, R. S. Clark, and Alexander Campbell were appointed trustees to invest and act as custodians of the proceeds resulting from the sale of the property.

In 1854, the church building was sold to the Universalist Society. On the 19th of September, 1844, a formal application was made by Matthew Arrison and others to the above committee in trust, for the funds in their possession, with the design of building a new church at the corner of Broad street and Girard Avenue, to be called "The Second Reformed Dutch Church of Philadelphia," and under the charge of the Classis of Philadelphia. This project was however abandoned. By entirely new parties the effort was successfully carried out in 1853, as the following sketch will show.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE NEW SECOND REFORMED DUTCH CHURCH. PHILADELPHIA, PENNA.

The Second Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of Philadelphia, (of which an engraving accompanies this sketch,) is comparatively a new enterprise; having been organized March 29, 1852.

The origin of the present congregation, (whose first members withdrew from the First German Reformed Church of the same city,) was based upon principle: viz., an honest desire for the promulgation of Scriptural truth in its purity, with an open avowal for the maintenance of unadulterated protestant doctrines. By the pastor of the church just named, J. F. Berg, D. D., together with many of the congregation, the teachings of the German Reformed church, through their duly authorized Professors of Theology, were esteemed unsound; and particularly the instructions of the Mercersburg Seminary, under the influence of Professor J. W. Nevin, as utterly at variance with the orthodox standards of the church. This was not a matter of mere opinion, for the influence of a false system of Theology had already been made apparent throughout the borders of the church. Under Providence, therefore, a stern conviction of duty prompted the movement, with the determination to disown every and all insinuating theories of a Romanizing tendency.

Soon after the organization of the church, they presented a call to the Rev. Dr. Berg, which was accepted, and he was installed in the Crown Street church; sermon by Rev. H. G. Livingston. The congregation worshiped from March, 1852, until October, 1853, in the Whitefield Chapel, on Fourth street, near Arch street. Here the attendance upon divine service was always encouraging, and with the commencement of the enterprise, a flourishing Sabbath-school was established under the superintendence of Mr. Charles Santee. About one hundred and forty persons united with the church at its beginning, by dismissal from the German Reformed Church, Race street, Philadelphia.

Soon after the date of organization, the congregation authorized the purchase of a lot of ground on Seventh street, north of Brown, from Mr. J. J. Sharpless, for the sum of $13,000; and upon this site proceeded at once to the erection of the present capacious and comfortable house of worship. The following persons were elected TRUSTEES:—John Ross, Wm. Wells, John M. Riley, Albert Rorer, D. W. C. Moore, Fred'k Heidrick, Geo. Haws, Peter Klahr, Charles Collins, jr. The ELDERS were Daniel Paul, Charles Santee, William Hancock, A. J. Dumont, L. S. Somers, M. D., and Samuel Shriver. The DEACONS were George R. Peddle, C. C. Raphun, Jos. Campbell, and George Clift.

The Building Committee were Rev. Dr. Berg, George Hawcs, D. W. C. Moore, and Charles Collins, jr. The lot is 100 feet front, by 100 feet in depth. The building is 68 feet front, with colonnade portico, and 100 feet deep. The audience chamber is 84 feet deep, 64 feet wide, with a height of 35 feet clear, having an organ gallery in the west end, capable of seating about 150 persons. The ceiling and walls are appropriately frescoed, and the room properly heated and ventilated. There are 156 pews, which will seat about 800 persons. A very superior organ of the largest class, built by Thomas Hall of N.Y., occupies a place in the centre of the gallery, and cost about $4,000. The basement, which is however a little elevated, comprises a large lecture room, capable of seating about 400 persons; a fine Sunday-school room, a library room, Trustees' room, etc. The whole exterior appearance of the building is granite. Substantial in its material, and comfortable in every particular, it stands as a noble monument for Protestant truth; devised, reared, and completed by the blessing of God, to whose worship and for whose glory it was instituted.

The entire cost of the edifice, including ground, organ, furniture, etc., was $38,000, towards which a legacy of about $6,000, from the former Second Reformed Dutch Church of Philadelphia, (extinct since 1836,) was received. The corner stone was laid, April 21, 1853, with becoming ceremonies. On Sabbath, October 23, 1853, the Lecture and Sabbath-school rooms were first used. Sabbath, March 5, 1854, the church was dedicated. The sermon, by G. W. Bethune, D. D., of Brooklyn, the afternoon sermon by E. S. Porter, D. D., and evening by Rev. Dr. Berg.

The present church membership is about 325. The Sunday-schools are prosperous; 40 teachers and 250 scholars comprise the main school, under D. W. C. Moore as superintendent. The Infant school has about 125 children, under the care of Mr. A. M. Spangler. Both named schools have large and handsome new libraries, of several hundred books each. The Mission school connected with the church is located on Seventh street, near Germantown Avenue, and has an attendance of about 150 scholars. This school has 15 teachers, and is under the superintendence of Chas. Collins, jr., and C. Creagmile, Assistant.

Before concluding this cursory historical sketch, the writer would briefly remark, that the church has been greatly blessed in the choice of a spiritual teacher; and the warm affections of his people attest their appreciation of his talents and services. Dr. Berg is a plain, easily to be understood, instructive preacher; cogent in reasoning, powerful in enforcing and applying truth, earnest in manner, skillful in method, zealous for the doctrines of the church, and withal, solemn and dignified in the sacred desk.

The following persons are at present ELDERS:—Francis Grice, W. S. Green, Joseph Campbell, Henry Ingham, George R. Peddle, and Samuel Lodor. The DEACONS are G. Clift, J. B. Rorer, C. Lawall, and E. McCarty. The TRUSTEES are D. W. C. Moore, F. Heidrick, John M. Riley, John Supplee, G. H. Gardner, Jas. E. Trexler, Jas. T. Brodie, Charles Creagmile, and Charles Collins, jr.

ASSOCIATE SYNOD OF NORTH AMERICA.

ON the formation of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, (for a full account of which, see the Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1859, p. 187,) a number of persons preferred remaining outside of the Union, and keeping up the old organization; they held their second meeting at Xenia, Ohio, May 23, 1860. The Synod has three Presbyteries, CLARION, IOWA, and NORTHERN INDIANA. They report 14 ministers, 47 congregations, 1021 communicants; contributions for the year, $257.

GILMER, DANIEL.—The son of David and Mary Gilmer, was born in Allegheny Co., Pa., July 25, 1809. He was educated in Miami University, Ohio, graduating in 1835. He studied Theology under Dr. Carothers, and was licensed and ordained by Chilicothe Presbytery in 1838. He was an active and zealous preacher, and during his ministry he supplied many churches in Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and Illinois. He was one of the original members of Ripley Presbytery, which seceded in 1846, because they differed from the (N. S.,) General Assembly in regard to slavery, and in 1847 the Free Presbyterian Synod was formed. He suffered much from several attacks of bleeding at the lungs, and he thought that the climate of Southern Illinois would suit him; he took charge of a Congregational church at Sandoval, Ills., where he was laboring at his death, Aug. 25, 1860, of bilious dysentery.

He married Miss Margaret Strain, who, with seven children, survives him.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN CANADA
 IN CONNECTION WITH
 THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

THE THIRTY-SECOND Session of this branch of the Church of Scotland met, according to appointment, in St. Andrew's church, Kingston, Canada, on Wednesday, May 30, 1860, and was opened with a discourse by the retiring Moderator, John MacMurchy, D. D., from Romans vii. 25. "I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord."

The Synod was constituted with prayer, and the Stated Clerk reported that 63 ministers and 29 elders were present.

ALEXANDER MATHIESON, D. D., of St. Andrew's church, Montreal, was elected Moderator.

Rev. Thomas G. Smith, of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, (O. S.,) and Alexander McGillivray, D. D., of the Synod of Nova Scotia, were invited to act as corresponding members.

A letter from the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland was read, and referred to a Committee to answer, Rev. Dr. Cook, Chairman.

The report of the Committee on the Tri-Centenary celebration was read, and Synod resolved to celebrate it by holding public religious services during the session of the Synod, and also in December, 1860.

The Committee on the formation of a General Assembly reported a prevailing opinion against the expediency of the movement at present.

The Act regulating public collections ordered that the collections should be as follows:

The Jewish Missions, first Sabbath in July; for the Temporalities Fund, the first Sabbath in October; Ministers and Widows' Fund, the first Sabbath in January; French Missions' Scheme, the first Sabbath in April.

The Committee on Maintenance of Ministers was appointed to prepare a new enactment on the subject, which shall prohibit Presbyteries from settling any minister without a promise of $400 a year, independent of the Temporalities Fund.

The report of the Trustees of Queen's College was read. The Synod learned with gratitude the general success of the College during the past year; and that all the members of this church be recommended to preach on the Call to the Gospel Ministry, on the second Sabbath of February in each year, on which day a collection should be taken up in aid of the Colleges' Bursary Fund.

A Committee was appointed to petition the Provincial Parliament claiming for Queen's College a share of the public appropriation for Academical Education.

The Synod took up a protest and appeal of John Robertson against a judgment of Toronto Presbytery, refusing to interfere with the mode of conducting the public psalmody of the congregation of St. Andrew's church, Toronto, with the aid of a melodeon. The parties were heard at length, and the Synod decided that the musical instrument must be removed.

Against this decision several entered their protest. Addresses to the Queen, the Prince of Wales, and the Governor General were reported and approved.

UNION WITH OTHER PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES.—A committee, Rev. Dr. George, Chairman, was appointed to consider the subject, and to be ready to meet with brethren belonging to the other Synods to ascertain their views and feelings in the matter, and report to the next Synod. Against this several dissented.

The attention of the Synod was called to the Presbyterian Historical Almanac, published by Joseph M. Wilson, of Philadelphia; and it was resolved to direct the attention of ministers and members of this church to the said work, as containing a vast amount of religious information which should be in the possession of all Presbyterians.

The statistics show 99 ministers, 116 churches, and 12,000 communicants. Collections for all causes, $80,000.

The thanks of the Synod were voted to the ministers and elders of the church and their families for their generous hospitality. No dissents.

The Synod was dissolved after praise and prayer, and another appointed to meet in St. Andrew's church, Quebec, C. E., on Wednesday, May 29, 1861.

In Memoriam.

LEGER, PROSPER L.—Graduated at Queen's College, Canada, and was ordained, March 10, 1859, over the charge at Beauharnais, C. E.; his health was frail whilst a student, and soon after his induction, he died, November 26, 1859, of consumption.

LIVINGSTON, JOHN.—Was born in Nova Scotia in 1834, and was educated at Queen's College, Kingston; he was licensed and ordained by Montreal Presbytery, in 1859, over the congregation of Dundee; this was his only charge. He died, August 16, 1860, of consumption.

He was a young man of known ability, and although it was his first attendance on the Superior Court of the church, he was one of three chosen by the Moderator to preach before the Synod at its last meeting (1860). He was zealous in his sacred calling, and was animated with the desire of saving souls. As an instance of the ruling desire strong in death, those attending his death-bed were deeply solemnized when his mind began to wander, by hearing him as if addressing his congregation, first in English and then in Gaelic, of both which languages he was master.

Historical Sketch of St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, Canada.

THE Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, in connection with the Church of Scotland, held its sessions this year (1860), in St. Andrew's Church, Kingston.

The city of Kingston is situated on the St. Lawrence, at the foot of Lake Ontario, and the head of the far-famed Lake of the Thousand Islands. It is one of the oldest cities of Canada, and is distinguished for its substantially built streets, and the elegance of its public buildings. Almost from the time of its attaining any importance, it contained a considerable number of Presbyterian families, but it was not until 1822, that the church, known by the name of St. Andrew's church, was completed for divine service. Application having been made to the Presbytery of Edinburgh, Scotland, to select a minister for the congregation, the Rev. John Barclay was appointed and ordained by that body, and came to Canada, and entered upon his labours about the close of 1821. He appears to have been a most amiable man, and a highly acceptable minister. He died on the 26th of September, 1826, to the great grief of a most attached people, the survivors of whom still speak of him in terms of touching affection. On his death, application for a minister having been again made to the Presbytery of Edinburgh, they selected and ordained the present pastor, John Machar, D. D., who arrived in Canada, and entered upon his ministry in September, 1827. At that time the number of communicants was 113; it has since increased to upwards of 400. The church having been found insufficient to contain the continually increasing congregation; a large addition, having a cut-stone Tuscan front, was made to it in 1838. It is a plain-looking, substantial edifice, seated for 950 persons.

With this edifice, in its original state, will ever be associated one interesting event connected with the early history of Presbyterianism in Canada. It was within its walls that, in 1831, a convention of ministers and elders from the various congregations in Canada, in connection with the Church of Scotland, formed itself into a Synod, and held its first session.

Within the walls of this edifice also, the Secession which arose out of the Free Church movement in Scotland, took place. By those who saw no ground in Canada to justify this division, it was greatly deplored; but like many other apparently adverse events, it may yet be found to have fallen out to the furtherance of the gospel. The unfriendly feelings which it excited at the time were undoubtedly an evil, but they have passed away, nor may the time be remote when the breach may be healed, and they, whom there is so much to unite, and so little to keep apart, be one again, striving together only for the advancement of the kingdom of their common Lord.

The congregation of St. Andrew's church have at all times been ready for every good work in which it becomes a Christian people to engage, looking not on their own things only, but also on the things of others, and contributing liberally of their substance to promote their spiritual interests. The exertions which God has put it into the hearts of the ladies of the congregation to make on behalf of Christian objects, are especially worthy of being recorded. For, besides being mainly instrumental in extinguishing a debt on the Manse of $4000, and another on the Church of $2000; they, by their work, and otherwise, long supported a missionary in the neighbouring township of Pittsburgh and Wolfe Island—with such happy fruit that a minister will be settled in Wolfe Island during the approaching summer, (1860,) while it is hoped that the Presbyterians in Pittsburgh will not be long without one, steps having been already taken by them to obtain a site for a church, as well as to enter upon its erection. How pleasing to have*to record such labors of love, especially when, as in the present case, a blessing from on high has so evidently rested upon them!

The Sabbath-schools connected with the church are in an efficient state. Besides the one which meets in the church, and which is attended by 240 pupils, there are two mission schools, one at Portsmouth, superintended by John Paton, Esq., containing 70 pupils; and another at Barriefield, under the supervision of a student of Queen's College, containing 35. In these schools the young are not only instructed in Christian truth, but also trained to Christian effort; the church school supporting two Hindoo orphans, and the Portsmouth school, one at Calcutta Orphanage. The Bible classes are two, one of young men, numbering 23; and another of young women, 15.

There has recently been formed a Young Men's Christian Association for the promotion of objects which, while connected with their own improvement, will also, it is hoped, prove beneficial to the congregation at large.

THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN CANADA.

THE twenty-fourth session of the Synod was held in the United Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, C. W., on Tuesday, June 12, 1860, and was opened with a discourse by the retiring Moderator, WILLIAM ORMISTON, D. D., from Ephesians iii. 8. "Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ."

The Synod was constituted by prayer, and A. A. DRUMMOND, D. D., of Mornington, was elected Moderator.

The report of the Committee to limit the time during which probationers should remain on the list, reported: That the period for which a probationer should remain on the roll, should be three years; that those at present on the roll, should be reckoned one half the time they have been there; that no name should be dropped for a year from the present date; that if a minister who has already had a charge in this church should take appointments, he should have only two years' probation; that Presbyteries may give appointments to probationers not on the roll; but that these shall have no claim for supplement from the Mission Fund, but must be satisfied with what they receive from the congregations they supply.

The Tri-centenary celebration was held during the sessions of Synod.

The Rev. Mr. Bell appeared as a delegate from the Presbyterian Church of Canada, in connection with the Church of Scotland. He delivered an address, in the course of which he expressed his sense of the favor shown him, and of the worth of those members with whom he was acquainted, and rejoiced in the opportunity of meeting with them as members of the church of Christ. He next referred to the question of union. He was a Canadian and could not be expected to feel interested in some of the ecclesiastical questions agitated in Scotland. He had long thought that the Presbyterian denominations in this land should be one. They would be better prepared and enabled to fulfil the great purpose God had in view in planting them in this country.

Dr. Thornton introduced the Revs. Prof. Young and Robert Ure, who appeared as a deputation from the Presbyterian church in Canada to meet the Synod, and present the Basis of Union as it had been amended and adopted by the sister church. Mr. Ure remarked that all the Presbyteries to whom the basis had been sent down last year, approved of it, and eighty-eight out of the ninety-five sessions that had reported.

The subject of UNION was taken up for consideration, a strong and earnest desire for it was universally manifested, and a spirit of brotherly kindness and Christian charity at all times exhibited.

The statistics show 70 ministers, 120 churches, 11,000 communicants, and collection for all causes $46,000.

The thanks of the Synod were voted to the members of the church for their hospitality. On motion, Synod adjourned to meet in the United Presbyterian Church, Montreal, C. E., June 4, 1861.

Historical Sketch of United Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, C. W.

IN 1836 the United Secession church formed a preaching station in Hamilton, which was visited as opportunity permitted by ministers of that body, the principal preacher being Rev. Thomas Christie of Flamborough; this continued until 1841, when a small stone church was erected. In 1847, Rev. J. R. Dalrymple was inducted pastor, and after laboring for three years resigned. In 1850, Rev. John Hogg became pastor, he demitted his charge in 1855, they were without a pastor for some time; the last day of December, 1856, the present pastor, Wm. Ormiston, D. D., was inducted, his success was quite marked, the congregation increased so that the house became too small, and though enlarged at different times, it had to be taken down, and in its place a new edifice has been erected, of which an engraving is given; it is of white pressed brick, 126 feet in length, and 68 in width, it will seat 1500 persons; the total cost of which was $32,000.

The additions during the past four years have been over 400 persons, 160 on profession of their faith.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF CANADA.

THE seventeenth session of the Synod was held in Knox's Church, Hamilton, C. W., on Wednesday, June 13, 1860, and was opened with a discourse by the retiring Moderator, REV. G. P. YOUNG, from 2 Cor. iii. 18: "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

The sessions were constituted by prayer, and the clerk reported 111 ministers, and 67 elders present.

REV. WM. B. CLARK of Quebec was elected Moderator.

The report of the Committee on UNION was read and approved, by which it appeared that 88 out of 95 sessions sending returns, approved of the Union; it was ordered that this result be transmitted to the United Presbyterian Synod.

The Committee on the Tri-centenary, reported: that Synod direct the attention of their people to the character and results of the Scottish Reformation on December 16, 1860.

W. Taylor, D. D., Wm. Ormiston, D. D., and Rev. Wm. Cavan, were introduced to Synod as the Committee of the United Presbyterian Church on Union, they were cordially received by Synod.

The subject of Union occupied a large portion of the time of Synod, and a Committee, Rev. Robert Ure, Chairman, was appointed to meet a Committee of the United Presbyterian church.

The Committee on Statistics reported: that the year shall begin at one common time; that contributions of congregations for the various funds be entered by the agent of the church, under the heads of their respective Presbyteries, and reported at the second session of each Synod.

STATISTICS: Ministers, 151; Churches, 187; Communicants, 20,934; Collections for all causes, $141,545.

An address to the Prince of Wales was read and approved.

It was also ordered that the second week in January be observed as a season of prayer.

A motion was adopted that the Committee on UNION should hold themselves in readiness to facilitate all efforts towards a union in truth and love of all the members of the Presbyterian family in the land.

The thanks of Synod were voted to the members of this church, and the citizens of Hamilton, for their generous hospitality.

The Synod was dissolved, and another appointed to meet in the Cote Street Presbyterian Church, Montreal, Canada East, on Tuesday, June 4, 1861.

Stated Clerk.

In Memoriam.

BAYNE, D. D., JOHN.—The only son of Rev. Kenneth and Margaret (Hay) Bayne, was born in Greenock, Scotland, in 1806. His parents dying when he was quite young, he was trained by his pious relatives. He early dedicated himself to the ministry, and after studying at Glasgow and Edinburgh, was licensed by Dingwall Presbytery in 1833. He entered upon his work on a small island of the Orkneys, among a simple and unlettered people; in the following year he emigrated to Canada, and supplied the pulpit of St. Andrew's church, Toronto, during the absence of Rev. Wm. Leach, the pastor, in Europe.

After his period of service at Toronto was completed, he received a call from the congregation at Galt, the inhabitants of which were composed, almost exclusively, of a respectable class of Lowland Scotch farmers. Under his predecessor, the Rev. William Stewart, a man of fine mind and of deep piety, but of feeble health, and who had accepted a call to Demerara, where he shortly afterwards died, the congregation at Galt had never greatly flourished; but Mr. Bayne soon drew around him, from a circuit of fifteen miles, a large congregation.

In this sphere of duty he continued to labor with untiring zeal and faithfulness, with intervals of absence on account of his health, till his death. For, although, after the disruption of 1844, he left manse and church, the members of his congregation, with few exceptions, followed him in his exodus, so that his position was little changed. He was surrounded by old familiar faces, and his hands were held up by old tried friends. The structure in which they worshiped was changed, but the living church was substantially the same.

From this period, he took a deep and earnest interest in all that concerned the church, and to his accurate and extensive knowledge, his clear head and his sound heart may be traced, under her great Head, much of her present prosperity. He was an able counselor, and his opinion had always great weight. He was clear and powerful in debate, whether in the statement of a case, or in reply. He had a remarkable faculty of unraveling perplexed cases, and of exposing sophistries. He never aimed at fine speaking, but, when his feelings were roused, he was more than eloquent, and he impressed, with the depth and sincerity of his feelings, even those who were unconvinced by his arguments.

The Widow's Fund scheme, now in successful operation, was much aided by his co-operation, and matured by his counsels. In the establishment and organization of Knox College also the church received great assistance from his knowledge and practical wisdom, and more especially in the prudent discharge of the delicate commission entrusted to him, while in Scotland, in regard to the selection of a competent Principal and another Professor, for carrying on the work of the Institution. The soundness of his judgment in the choice which he made, has been fully evinced by the success of the College under the superintendence and teaching of those who have been entrusted with the duties, and by the character for thorough instruction and piety, in general, of those who have passed through the curriculum.

He was a man independent in thinking, as he was in character, and of much originality of conception. His sermons were distinguished by profound views, logical clearness, and a thorough acquaintance with the system of divine truth. His philosophical reading, to which he was much devoted, and his varied knowledge were apparent in his discourses; but with him, philosophy and science were ever but the handmaids of revealed truth.

His illness was sudden. He was prepared to go to preach at West Pauslinch on their day of preparation for a communion Sabbath, when his Master summoned him to enter, as we believe, into the reward of his labors. His sufferings were short. The few words he spoke, were inquiries about the services of the day—the day of public thanksgiving—and when afterwards left alone to repose, when it was thought he was asleep, he had passed away, as it would seem without a struggle—alone with God.

Historical Sketch of Knox's Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, C. W.

In the Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1859, the History of this church and congregation was brought down from its origin until May, 1854, at which time their present pastor, R. Irvine, D. D., was inducted.

The success of Dr. Irvine as pastor revealed itself in the continued enlargement of the congregation, and, in 1855, it was resolved to add 400 sittings to the church. In order to manifest their regard for their pastor, a commodious Manse or Parsonage was erected, connecting with the church, with a private entrance to the church on the ground floor.

The building is now seated for 1200 persons, and is a neat but plain substantial structure of dressed stone, in the Grecian style of architecture. The Manse is of the same material, and finished in uniformity with the church. During the construction of the Great Western Railroad, the population of Hamilton, in common with that of all the towns along the line, grew very rapidly; but that great work being now finished, and the province having suffered by the general commercial depression of the past few years, almost all the town and city charges in Canada have been more or less thinned by emigration. In this respect the congregations of Hamilton have felt the pressure of the times to a greater or less extent. The returns however of Knox's church, as published by the Synod in the year 1860, show as follows:—families, 356; members in actual communion, 477; average attendance at each diet of public worship, 650. Two efficient Sabbath-schools and a Bible class are numerous attended and seem to be in a healthy state.

The following is a statement of the growth of the congregation in point of membership since 1854:—From May, 1854, to April, 1855, there were added to the communion roll by profession and certificate, 134 members; from April, 1855, to April, 1856, 141 members; from 1856 to 1857, 100 members; from 1857 to 1858, 87 members; from 1858 to 1859, 71 members; and from April, 1859, to April, 1860, 53 members. In each year there has been a diminution by emigration, change of residence, or death.

The number added to this church from May, 1854, to May, 1860, by profession, is 255, by certificate, 322; in all, 577 members. The following is a list of the names of the office-bearers:—ELDERS, Rob't Kelly, Session Clerk, George Coumbe, John Cook, William Cook, Peter Eadie, Edward Bethune, Hugh Brown, and James Thompson. DEACONS, James Walker, Secretary of Deacon's Court, John Field, John McArthur, Robert Macdonald, J. D. McKay, and John Taylor.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF THE LOWER PROVINCES OF BRITISH N. AMERICA

It will gratify all Presbyterians to see placed upon record in THE PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL ALMANAC a full account of the UNION of the late Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia, and the late Free Church of Nova Scotia.

The preparatory meetings were held in Pictou, N. S., on Wednesday, October 3, 1860.

The Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia met in Prince Street Church at 11 o'clock, A. M., and was opened with a discourse by REV. J. L. MURDOCH, the Moderator, from Zech. iv. 6. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord"

The Synod of the Free Church of Nova Scotia met in Knox's Church at 12 o'clock, and was opened with a discourse by REV. WM. G. FORBES, Moderator, from Acts i. 5. "For John truly baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence."

The day was spent by both Synods in closing up the missionary, educational, and general business of the respective churches, so as to be in a state of readiness for UNION the following morning.

On the morning of the 4th of October, both Synods met in the churches already named, at 10 o'clock, and spent most of the hour between that and 11 o'clock, in devotional and other appropriate exercises.

At quarter to 11 o'clock, the Free Synod walked in procession from Knox's Church to Patterson's Hill, and entered the UNION tents prepared for the accommodation of 3000 people. At the same hour the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia proceeded from Prince Street Church, and entered the tents a few minutes after their brethren of the Free Synod.

The members of both Synods, including ministers and elders present, exceeded one hundred. The audience amounted to about 3000.

The proceedings were commenced by Rev. J. L. Murdoch, the senior Moderator, giving out the 100th Psalm L. M. The Psalm having been sung, Mr. Murdoch called on the Clerk of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia, to read the last minute of that body, which being read, the last minute of the Free Synod, expressed in similar terms, was read also.

The rolls of the two Synods were then called by their respective clerks, and the following were present.

The two Moderators then signed the document, and the time not admitting of the signatures of all being appended at this stage of the proceedings, the rolls were again called, and all the members of both Synods expressed their consent audibly.

The Moderators then declared their respective Synods merged in, and to be hereafter known as, "The Synod of the Presbyterian Church of the Lower Provinces of British North America." The Moderators then shook hands in token of Union and fellowship, and their example was followed by all the members of Synod, the choir and the assembled thousands of people singing:

Behold how good a thing it is,
And how becoming well,
Together such as brethren are,
In unity to dwell.

REV. ANDREW KING, Professor of Theology, was then chosen Moderator by acclamation, and offered prayer constituting the Synod, when the clerks were re-elected.

After the reading of the Scriptures, praise, and prayer by the Rev. David Roy, the Moderator addressed the Synod to the following effect:—

Fathers and Brethren,—I thank the living God, the God of all grace, that He has permitted me to witness the transactions of this day, and that He has vouchsafed to me the honor—and I deem it a high honor—to take part in these transactions. He has led us in a way which I am persuaded is in accordance with His own word, and fitted to promote the interests of pure and undefiled religion. I have to thank you also, Fathers and Brethren, for calling me to be the Moderator of the Presbyterian Church,—not of Nova Scotia now, but of the Lower Colonies of British North America.

Christ plead with His Father for the union of His followers, and to-day that prayer is receiving its answer; but He prayed that they might be sanctified through his truth; and if I had even the least idea that I was compromising a particle of the truth, I would not be here this day. If I were to stand alone in this country, I would not enter into a Union that involved any sacrifice of what I regard as the truth of God's word. It is with the full conviction that we hold by the whole truth that we stand here, and feel that we have an interest in our Saviour's prayer for His people.

We have the warrant of His own word to look to Him for more and more grace, that we may be able to illustrate to the world how it operates, even in bringing into Ecclesiastical Union Churches which were once separate—not in spirit indeed, but in organization. We are one now, and can do all that we have done while separate, and a great deal more. We can look upon what each has done and call it ours. We have a wide field to occupy. Nova Scotia, P. E. Island, Newfoundland, Bermuda, New Brunswick, the Lower Provinces of British North America—but not these alone. Our field is the world.

He was followed by REV. PROFESSOR ROSS:

The events of this day, while occupying an important and instructive chapter in the ecclesiastical history of the Lower Provinces, will leave their impress upon the future; an impress which will broaden and deepen as it is borne down the stream of time to the most distant ages. Eternity alone will reveal its full import and magnitude. After the delightful excitement produced by the Union now consummated shall have subsided, humble and devout gratitude shall fill our hearts. Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but to thy name give glory, for thy mercy and for thy truth's sake. The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad. The Lord hath repaired the breach of his people and healed the stroke and the wound. We accept what has been done most thankfully as a token of further Union; as a token and pledge that all the members of the Presbyterian family will be drawn nearer and nearer to each other till they form one body corporate, a numerous, a wealthy, an intelligent, a religious incorporation. The thought is transporting. When the spirit of Union begins to move, who will venture to set bounds to his influence? Our hearts yearn after the Union into one body of all the Presbyterians of the Lower Colonies. We believe that in doctrine and discipline, in ecclesiastical polity and church order, no difference exists between us to justify us in continuing in a state of separation; and we look forward to the time when the Repairer of breaches will take one stick and write upon it for the Presbyterian church of the Lower Provinces and all true Presbyterians within her pale, and then take another stick and write upon it for the Established Church of Scotland and the witnessing remnant who hold up the Covenants, and join them one and another that they may become one stick in his hand, and of that stick make a new threshing instrument wherewith he will thresh every mountain that opposeth the triumph of Emmanuel, our Prince, and beat them small, and make the hills as chaff before the summer wind. And beyond this, we look forward to the time when all the true followers of Christ, whatever branch of the Church they may belong to, whatever name they bear,—may form one organization possessing the attribute of visibility, that the sublime prayer of the Son of God when on the eve of leaving the world to go to his Father may be fulfilled, that they all may be one, that the world may know that his mission was from heaven. In the Union consummated to-day, we think that we can see the dawn, faint indeed and scarcely discernible, yet we allow ourselves to believe that it is the dawn of that glorious day—gleams of whose brightness already illumine the eastern sky giving hopeful promise of its approach and urging to speed it onward. Happy day when Zion's watchmen shall lift up their voice and with the voice together shall they sing.

After prayer, the Rev. C. L. Ross, in the absence of Rev. Dr. McLeod, who was detained by indisposition, addressed the audience in the Gaelic language. Rev. J. Stewart offered prayer in Gaelic, and gave out a psalm which was sung in the same language, when the benediction was pronounced at 2 o'clock, P. M.

The Basis of Union was then signed by the ministers in the order of seniority, and next by the ruling elders, as follows:

“The Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia, and the Synod of Nova Scotia adhering to the Westminster Standards, recognizing each other as Churches of Christ, deploring the differences which have hitherto existed between them, and desirous of forming a Union, agree to the following statement of principles as a basis:—

“I. That whatever designation may be adopted by the United Church, it shall be in all respects free and completely independent of foreign jurisdiction and interference, but may hold friendly intercourse with sister churches, whose soundness in the faith and whose ecclesiastical polity accord with the sentiments of the United Body.

"II. That the great object of Union shall be the advancement of the Redeemer's glory by a more visible expression of the unity and love of the members of Christ's body, the cultivation of a more fervent piety, devoted zeal, and practical godliness, and subordinate thereto the setting forth of a more united testimony against all Popish, Socinian, Arminian, Erastian, and other heresies, as these have been exhibited in past ages, or are now manifested under the garb of the religion of Jesus, and the providing by the combined exertions of the United Body of a duly qualified ministry for an efficient dispensation of Gospel ordinances within our bounds, and for the enlargement and permanence of the Church, and the preparation of a platform of discipline for the sake of obtaining uniformity in the proceedings of Ecclesiastical Courts.

"That the Standards of the United Church shall be the Westminster Confession of Faith, with the Larger and Shorter Catechisms." (A formula was also adopted for the admission of all duly accredited ministers of other Presbyterian bodies.)

At 3 o'clock, p. m., the celebration was continued in the same place, and after the Synod had been constituted, addresses, with devotional exercises at intervals, were delivered on suitable subjects by Rev. Messrs. McCulloch, Blair, R. S. Patterson, and by Messrs. James Forman of Halifax and Samuel Creelmen of Upper Stewiacke, Ruling Elders. The celebration closed at five o'clock, p. m.

The following day the Synod met in Prince Street Church.

Rev. WM. ELDER, of the Presbyterian Church of New Brunswick, was invited to sit as a Corresponding member.

It was agreed that the Presbyteries of Cape Breton, Halifax, Pictou, Richmond, Truro, and Victoria remain with the same bounds as before the Union, except that Whycoomah and Mabou churches be joined to Victoria Presbytery, and that Prince Edward's Island Presbytery be divided into three Presbyteries, viz: Charlottetown, Georgetown, and Princetown.

It was recommended to the church to make a large contribution for educational purposes.

The preparation of statistical questions was referred to a committee, Rev. P. G. McGregor, chairman.

The thanks of the Synod was voted to Messrs. Adam McKeen, Esq., R. P. Grant, Esq., M. P. P., and Clarence Primrose, Esq., for their services.

Rev. George Patterson, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, reported, that the expenses attending the celebration cost the Synod nothing, whereupon the Synod passed a resolution, thanking their good friends of Pictou for their generous hospitality.

It was resolved to transmit the basis of Union to the other Presbyterian bodies in the Lower Provinces. Rev. J. L. Murdoch being chairman of the Committee of Correspondence.

The Synod adjourned at midnight, after appointing the next Synod to be held in Chalmers Church, Halifax, N. S., June 26, 1861.

Historical Sketch of Prince Street Church, Nova Scotia.

PICTOU was first colonized by a dozen families from Maryland, U. S., in the year 1767. In 1773, the ship Hector arrived with a full freight of Highland emigrants from Lochbroom, Scotland. One or two years thereafter, about 15 families from Dumfriesshire, Scotland, came by way of Prince Edward's Island. The same summer brought eight families of Highlanders by way of Halifax. All these families with few exceptions were originally Scotch and Presbyterian. The entire population in 1786 amounted to 500 souls.

The first stated supply of religious ordinances was given by Mr. James Drummond McGregor, afterwards known as Dr. McGregor, an ordained missionary from the General Associate Synod, Scotland. He preached his first sermon at Pictou Harbor, July 16, 1786, in a barn belonging to one of the first settlers from Maryland, Squire Patterson, who was the only individual then living in a frame house. At that period there was no road cast up, no merchant's store opened, and no school-house in existence. The site of the now populous and thriving town of Pictou was then a dense unbroken forest. The first church was built during the summer of 1787, being a log house, and in size not more than 30 by 40 ft. The openings between the logs were stuffed with moss to exclude the wind and rain, but neither ceiling nor seating was provided for inside comfort. Logs or slats of wood supported on blocks of wood or rough hewn feet were the best substitute for pews, and what there was of pulpit presented the same primitive aspect. In 1796, Pictou was divided into three districts for public religious instruction. Another missionary, by this time, had arrived from Scotland to share the toils and reap the rewards of the ministry with Dr. McGregor. Each had his separate charge, while the Harbor station was supplied alternately by both. On the sixth day of June, 1804, the Rev. Thomas McCulloch, afterwards known as Dr. McCulloch, was inducted as the stated minister of this station, which had now acquired the status of a self-sustaining congregation. A frame meeting-house of very respectable structure and dimensions was raised during the following year. Henceforth the congregation rapidly grew and multiplied. Dr. McCulloch, however, ere long, discovered the urgent necessity of training a native ministry for the supply of that spiritual destitution which the irregular and limited accessions from the Scottish ministry were so inadequate to meet. So heartily did he enter into this scheme, that he readily devoted his earnest and most efficient labors to the founding and upholding of the Pictou Academy. From this institution the Province of Nova Scotia first received the precious blessing of a learned education free from the trammels of church formularies; and of such an order as contributed greatly to elevate the standard of general education throughout the whole Province, while it furnished not a few well-equipped and successful ministers to the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia. Dr. McCulloch became Principal of this Academy, and so entirely did he devote his eminent talents and varied attainments to its success, that he, in 1824, felt it to be his duty to resign his charge as the minister of Pictou.

During the course of the same year, the Rev. John McKinlay, Licentiate from Scotland, but for some years Associate in the Academy with Dr. McC., received and accepted a unanimous call to the spiritual oversight of the vacant congregation. Having resigned his situation as Classical and Mathematical Professor, he was inducted to his new charge on the 11th day of August, 1824. The duties of this pastorate he continued to fulfill with great fidelity and much success during the period of twenty six-years. He died, October 20, 1850, while his bodily strength and mental vigor were but little abated, in the 62nd year of his age and the 27th of his ministry. On the 24th of July, 1851, the Rev. James Bayne, originally from Dunbar, East Lothian, Scotland, but for several years the minister of Lower Londonderry, N. S., was translated by unanimous call to the pastoral charge of Pictou, of which he is now the incumbent. In 1848, their present House of worship was erected. It is of Gothic structure, 75 by 50 feet, with end gallery; and is at once substantial, elegant, and commodious, being constructed throughout on the most approved principles of church architecture. The following details are taken from the published statistics of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia, for the years 1859 and 1860.

Pictou Congregation:—Adhering population, 1100; families, 200; church accommodation, 650; general attendance, 550; communicants, 308; elders, 11; managers, 6; Bible classes, 4; average attendance, 50; Sabbath-schools, 3; teachers, 32; pupils, 245; volumes in library, 2075; prayer-meetings, 4; average attendance, 50; stipend, £200 per annum; year's collections for Foreign Missions, £85; Home purposes, £213, 9s, 5d. THE SYNOD OF NOVA SCOTIA
THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

THIS SYNOD met in St. Andrew's church, Pictou, N. S., June 27, 1860, and was opened with a sermon by the retiring Moderator, Rev. Alexander McLean, from Matt. xi. 29. "Learn of me."

The Synod was constituted with prayer.

Rev. THOMAS DUNCAN of Prince Edward's Island Presbytery was elected Moderator.

Rev. ALLEN POLLOCK, Chairman of the Committee on Overtures, reported:

OVERTURES Nos. I and III.—On private communications sent to the Colonial Committee in Scotland, in reference to the character of the ministers and missionaries appointed by that Committee; it was, after discussion, resolved, That when the Colonial Committee receive any communication prejudicial to any of the ministers or missionaries in the bounds of this Synod, that they would acquaint either the individuals in question or the Presbytery where they are laboring.

No. II.—On the Tri-Centenary celebration, it was resolved to celebrate it in a becoming manner, and that congregations or Presbyteries can join with other evangelical bodies in their services.

No. IV.—On Thanksgiving days, it was resolved that churches appoint two days in each year, one in the spring and the other in the autumn for said exercises.

A communication was read on the subject of Union among Presbyterians, when a committee was appointed, Rev. A. POLLOCK, Chairman, who reported. That at present this Synod is not in a position to come to any decision regarding this subject; but as they are earnestly anxious to promote peace, brotherly love, and Christian fellowship among Presbyteries of all branches, they hope that at the next meeting of Synod, a committee may be empowered to take up this important subject.

An Address was adopted to be presented to the Prince of Wales.

The statistics show 20 ministers, 25 churches, 2,000 communicants; collections for all causes, $18,000—these items are estimated.

The thanks of Synod were voted to the members of St. Andrew's church for their hospitality; and the Synod adjourned to meet in St. Matthew's church, Halifax, N. S., June 26, 1861.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NEW BRUNSWICK

IN CONNECTION WITH

THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

THE SYNOD met in St. Andrew's church, Chatham, N. B., July 12, 1860, and was opened with a sermon by the retiring Moderator, Rev. John Ross, from Daniel vii. 14. "His dominion is an everlasting dominion."

The Synod was constituted with prayer. Rev. WM. MURRAY was elected Moderator.

The annual report of the exertions made by the churches in behalf of the Benevolent and Missionary objects was made, and deemed by Synod as highly satisfactory.

Rev. Dr. Brooke, Chairman of the Committee to correspond on the subject of a General Assembly for the British N. A. Provinces, reported that no projects had been made, and asked to be discharged, which was done.

The act of incorporation, entitled "An Act to incorporate the Synod of the Presbyterian church in New Brunswick in connection with the church of Scotland," passed by the Legislative Assembly was read, and after discussion it was adopted, and the thanks of the Synod were voted to George Kerr, Esq., M. P. P., for his services in this matter.

Rev. John McCurdy of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia was present and addressed the Synod, expressing his earnest desire to cherish a feeling of brotherly love between the branches of the Presbyterian Church. He was replied to by the Moderator, who reciprocated his feelings of affection and Christian regard.

The vote of last Synod dividing the Presbytery of Miramichi was rescinded, and the Presbytery remains as before.

The Synod recommended that Lay Associations be formed in the several congregations, in order to combine the energies of Presbyterians throughout the country.

Rev. Wm. Donald was appointed Chairman of a committee to devise some general plan for making collections in aid of the several schemes of the church, and report to the next Synod.

Rev. Dr. Brooke, Stated Clerk, called the attention of the Synod to The Presbyterian Historical Almanac, published by Joseph M. Wilson of Philadelphia, as a work containing a vast amount of information of value to Presbyterians. The members of Synod expressed their favorable opinion of the work, and resolved to circulate it among their people.

A communication was read from the Rev. WM. ELDER, in reference to the COLONIAL PRESBYTERIAN, published in St. Johns, N. B. A committee was appointed, Rev. W. Murray, Chairman, to take the matter into consideration, and report at the next Synod.

The statistics of the church are 12 ministers, 16 churches, and 1400 communicants.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

THE SYNOD met in Calvin church, St. Johns, N. B., on Wednesday, June 20, 1860. (The retiring Moderator, Rev. W. Ferrie, being detained by illness), it was opened with a discourse by Rev. James Bennet, from Eccl. vii. 29. "God hath made man upright, but they have sought out many inventions."

The Synod was constituted with prayer, and Rev. John Turnbull, of St. James, was elected Moderator.

The Tri-Centenary celebration was to be celebrated, and in connection with other Presbyterian Boards in the Provinces.

The subject of Union came up, and after full discussion it was resolved that the basis agreed upon by the Presbyterians of Australia (See The Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1860, p. 278) is well adapted to the purpose of such Union.

The Moderator was instructed to inquire of the Governor of the Province whether it is true that the Roman Catholic Bishop is assigned precedence of all Protestant denominations in the table of precedence appointed by the Legislature for the Colonies.

Reports from Presbyteries were received, and special times appointed to take up collections for the benevolent operations of the Synod.

The statistics are 4 Presbyteries, 17 ministers, 18 churches, and 2,000 communicants. Collections for all causes, $16,000.

The next meeting of the Synod was appointed to be held in St. David's church, St. Johns, N. B., Tuesday, June 18, 1861.

Historical Sketch of Calvin Church, St. John, New Brunswick.

THE city of St. John, with a population of about forty thousand, numbers as many as six Presbyterian churches, of which one belongs to the body that stands in connection with the Established Church of Scotland, another to the Reformed Presbyterian Church, and four to the Presbyterian Church of New Brunswick, which represents the principles of the Free Church of Scotland, although ecclesiastically an independent body.

Of the four last mentioned, the oldest is that known by the name of "The ST. JOHN Presbyterian Church," of which the present pastor is the Rev. James Bennet. The congregation occupying that church is both numerous and active, and is chiefly, if not entirely, composed of Irish Presbyterians. The next in point of age is "ST. DAVID'S," which is a very fine and commodious structure, built about ten or eleven years ago, through the instrumentality of Dr. Thompson, now of New York. The congregation occupying it is also very active, and probably the largest of the connection in St. John. It is almost exclusively a Scotch congregation; and its present pastor, who has presided over it for nearly nine years, is the Rev. Wm. Ferrie. CARLTON CHURCH comes next, built about four years ago, a remarkably neat and conspicuous structure, occupying a commanding site on the opposite side of the St. John's river, from St. John. The Rev. James Baird, its present pastor, was chiefly instrumental in the raising of funds for this building, which may be safely said to be an ornament to the place. The most recent addition to the Presbyterian Church in St. John is that of CALVIN CHURCH, represented by the accompanying engraving. About five years ago a new congregation in St. John was constituted by the Presbytery, consisting of an off-shoot from the "St. John Presbyterian Church," so called, and soon after it chose for its pastor the REV. WM. ALVES, who had been sent to New Brunswick by the Free Church of Scotland. The congregation being neither large nor wealthy, it was some time before any efforts were made to build a church. But becoming gradually stronger, and more hopeful, they set about the task in the expectation that God in his Providence would forward their undertaking. With very little assistance from others they have now so far accomplished their wishes, although the church is still in an unfinished state. The building was opened for worship about two years ago. It is a plain structure, capable of accommodating eight hundred persons, if its galleries were pewed. At present the congregation numbers between five and six hundred. There were between forty and fifty communicants at the first communion; there are now nearly one hundred and fifty communicants on the roll.

The basement story of the church affords a large and commodious school-room, which is rented by the Government for the Provincial Training School, and is used on Sabbaths for the Congregational Sabbath-school, at which there is an attendance of about one hundred children, with fifteen teachers. The Synod of the Presbyterian Church in New Brunswick held its last meeting in June in Calvin Church.

THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

In the Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1860, pp. 243-249, will be found a brief, but complete history of this church, so dear to us all. Three hundred years have elapsed since it was recognized by Act of Parliament, and the whole Presbyterian Church throughout the world will commemorate this fact by Tri-centenary celebrations in December, 1860.

The first General Assembly consisted of twelve ministers, and thirty-two elders; since then, by the blessing of God, her influence and power has extended over the world. Carrying on the various schemes of benevolence, extending her missions to the Colonies, to India, to the Jews, also to education in the Highlands, and to Home missions; creating an Endowment scheme for sustaining new parishes, which scheme, since its commencement in 1846-7, until the present year, 1860, has collected £353,000, ($1,694,400.) It has endowed over 60 parishes, and still prosecutes the work with vigor.

The Assembly met in their Hall, Edinburgh, on Thursday, May, 17, 1860, and was opened with a discourse by the retiring Moderator, JOHN COOKE, D. D., from Ephesians iv. 13. "Till we come in the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

The sessions were constituted by prayer.

JAMES MAITLAND, D. D., minister at Kells, was elected Moderator.

The Right Hon. Robert Montgomery, (LORD BELHAVEN,) presented the Queen's Commission, constituting him Her Majesty's representative in this Assembly, which was read and recorded. He then addressed the Assembly from the throne; announcing the continued interest felt by her Majesty in the spiritual welfare of her people, also stating the renewal of her grant of £2000, ($10,000,) for the extension of the reformed religion in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland.

REV. DR. BRYCE, Chairman of the Committee on Indian affairs, reported: The Assembly expressed great satisfaction in the increase of chaplains of the Church of Scotland in India, and also the obligations they are under to the Metropolitan Bishop of India, for acceding in a manner so courteous; the churches, now consecrated to the use of the Church of England, being used for the Church of Scotland, when necessary.

Reports concerning the missions to the Jews, Colonies, Home missions, the Endowment fund, were presented and received with favor.

REV. DRS. LEYBURN and N. MURRAY, delegates from the Presbyterian Church in the United States, presented their credentials to the Assembly, and were cordially welcomed; they addressed the Assembly, and were replied to by the Moderator.

The report on the Tri-centenary celebration was read; it was resolved to celebrate it with appropriate religious exercises on December 20th, 1860.

The Assembly adjourned to meet in their Hall, Edinburgh, on Thursday, May 16, 1861.

ALEXANDER SIMPSON,

Principal Clerk.

THE FREE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

THE General Assembly met on Thursday, May 17, 1860, in their Hall, and was opened with a discourse by the retiring Moderator, WM. CUNNINGHAM, D. D., from Galatians iv. 4. "But when the fullness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law."

The sessions were constituted with prayer.

ROBERT BUCHANAN, D. D., of Glasgow, was elected Moderator.

Reports were received from Committees on Home Missions, Highlands and Islands, Colonial and Foreign Missions, also the Mission to the Jews; these reports indicate an increase on the part of the church in behalf of each cause.

The statistics which follow, give the amounts received during the year.

The Tri-centenary celebration was held during the sessions of the Assembly, though it was resolved to celebrate the 20th of December as a day of Thanksgiving for the great blessing of the Reformation.

Rev. Prof. Gibson of the Irish Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Leyburn and N. Murray of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, (o. s.) Rev. Dr. Burns of the Canadian Presbyterian Church, Rev. Professor King of Nova Scotia, were received as delegates, and addressed the Assembly; they were replied to by the Moderator in a fraternal manner.

The Rev. Mr. Miller of Melbourne, Australia, was also present as a representative of the Free Presbyterian Church in that colony; it appears that at the time of the UNION of the Presbyterian bodies in Australia, (see The Presbyterian Historical Almanac for 1860, pp. 278,) a few ministers declined to enter, some of them formed a body called The Free Church, and Mr. Miller wished to be recognized as a representative of that body; this by a very large majority was refused on the ground that the UNION of Presbyterian bodies was much to be desired, when it can be done properly. He was afterwards heard in his private capacity as a member of the Free Church of Scotland.

The Assembly adjourned to meet in Edinburgh on Thursday, May 16, 1860.

R. BUCHANAN, Moderator.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

THE Synod met within the Synod Hall, Queen Street, Edinburgh, on Monday, May 14, 1860, and was opened with a sermon by the retiring Moderator, JAMES BOYD, D. D., from Psalm xlvi. 12. "Walk about Zion and go round about her."

The Synod was constituted by prayer.

JAMES HARPER, D. D., of North Leith, was elected Moderator.

The Committee on the Tri-centenary reformation reported: and it was agreed to celebrate it during the sessions of Synod, and also on the 20th of December, 1860.

Rev. Dr. Somerville, Chairman of the Committee appointed last year to prepare a plan for aiding the foreign missionaries of Synod in educating their children, reported: That it is the duty of the church to grant aid in the education of the children of those missionaries who are laboring in tropical or heathen countries: That the Committee on Foreign Missions shall consider each case, and make such a grant as the circumstance of the case requires, and the state of the funds warrant; but that (unless in extreme cases) the grant shall not exceed £30 ($150) for a boy, and £25 ($125) for a girl, per year; said grants not to continue longer than five years, and that special donations, subscriptions, and legacies be solicited, in order not to encroach upon the Foreign Mission Fund.

A report from the Committee on Home Evangelization was read, when Synod resolved to continue the work with increased vigor.

The Committee on Irish Evangelization was read, and Synod resolved to commence a mission in Ireland.

Church Extension in London; after considerable discussion, it was resolved to recommend to the Church at large to raise a loan building fund of £6000, ($30,000) to aid in erecting places of worship, and £2000, ($10,000) to enable congregations to secure the settlement of pastors.

In reply to an overture from the Synod of Glasgow, it was ordered that students should not be admitted to plead the cause of missions at the ordinary times of divine service, unless the minister of the congregation be present and preside.

DAVID R. KERR, D. D., and REV. R. D. HARPER, of The United Presbyterian Church of North America, appeared as delegates, and were fraternally received by the Moderator.

Reports were received from the various committees, which were appropriately referred.

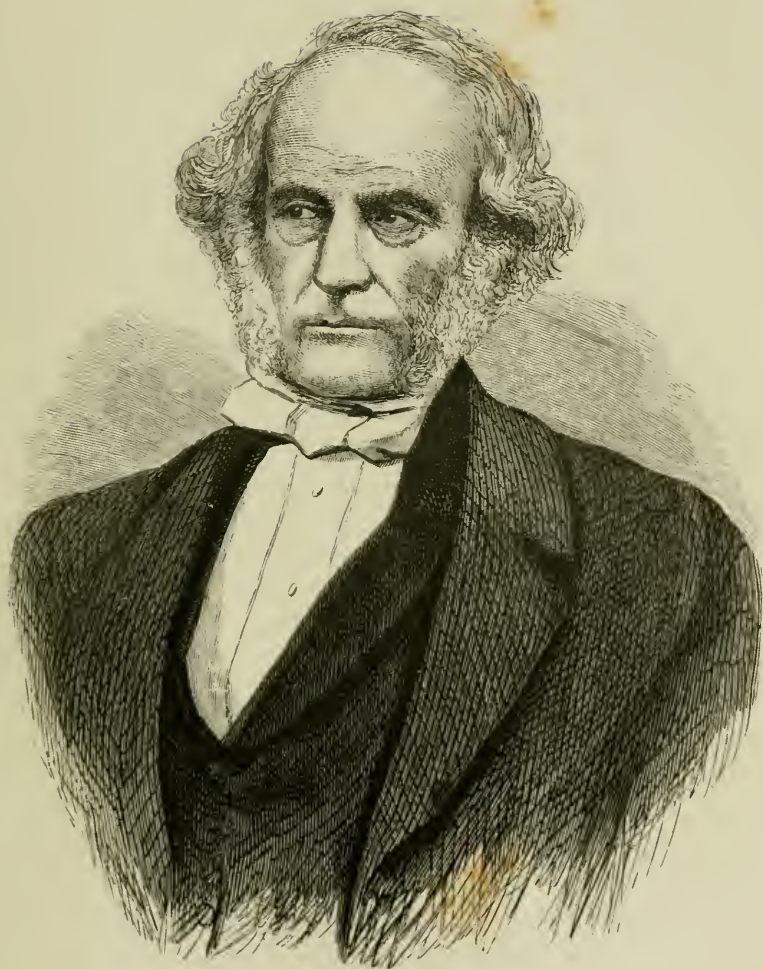

After a closing address from the Moderator, the Synod adjourned to meet on Monday, May 13, 1861.

REFORMED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

THE SYNOD met in Glasgow, May 7, 1860, and was opened with a discourse by the retiring Moderator, Rev. James Morrison, from Isaiah xlii. 4. Rev. THOMAS MARTIN, of Strathmiglo, was elected Moderator.

The Theological Seminary is in efficient operation; eight students belong to the Reformed church, and a large accession is anticipated at next session.

The Foreign Missions are prosecuted with zeal. Also the Church Building committee and Domestic Missions.

The death of Rev. A. GILMOUR was reported. He was a member of Greenock Presbytery, and entered upon his ministerial work in 1833. He died June 7, 1859, in the 65th year of his age. He was a faithful laborer in his Master's cause. The Presbytery of which he was a member and also the Synod passed resolutions indicating their high appreciation of his worth.

The Synod adjourned to meet May 6, 1861.

THOMAS MARTIN, Moderator.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF VICTORIA.

The list of ministers of this church is continued on the following page; there are quite a number of ministers who are not yet enrolled within its pale, but they are decreasing; time is removing prejudices from the mind, and enlightened wisdom will undoubtedly harmonize all the elements of difference.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF IRELAND.

THE General Assembly met in Rev. Dr. Cooke's Church, Belfast, July 2, 1860, and was opened with a discourse from the retiring Moderator, REV. PROF. GIBSON.

REV. S. M. DILL of Ballymena, was chosen Moderator.

The various reports were presented. The Church and Manse fund: twenty-four grants were made from this fund during the year, amounting to $11,300. Since the formation of this fund, 253 grants have been made, $82,030 having been for manses, and $25,100 for churches; total, $117,587. The receipts during the past year were $4,848.

Prof. Gibson, Chairman of the Committee on that subject, read a report on Intermediate Education. They had an interview with the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and also with the Chief Secretary for Ireland, in which they urged the necessity of a united system of intermediate education on a non-sectarian basis. Though little has yet been done, the Committee believe that at no distant day both the government and legislature will be in a position to deal with the subject in the comprehensive spirit its importance demands.

The Committee on the College report, during the year 100 students were in attendance, being an increase of 28 over previous session.

The affairs of Magee College are reported to be in a prosperous condition.

The Committee on Chaplains for Presbyterian soldiers and sailors, reported: that the Secretary had admitted the justice of their claims, and that chaplains should be appointed in accordance with their request, but the selection to be made from those who are free from a sectarian or controversial spirit.

The American deputation reported $30,340 as the amount received in the United States.

Home Missions: the receipts during the year were $6,095. The Tri-centenary celebration will be held on December 20, 1860.

Reports from the Jewish, the Roman Catholic missions, the Widow's fund, Sabbath-schools, State of Religion, were read and appropriately disposed of.

The next Assembly will be held July 1, 1861, in May Street Church, Belfast.

ROBERT PARKE, Stated Clerk.

S. M. DILL, Moderator.

NOTE—The preceding list contains the notices of such works as have come under my notice; and I would suggest to Authors, that in order to complete the list as much as possible, that the title and publisher of any of their works be sent to me during the year. It is, surely, of not only present interest, but future importance to know the extent of attention paid by our Ministers toward furnishing a literature for the country.

MEDIA CLASSICAL INSTITUTE, MEDIA, DELAWARE COUNTY, PA.

ELEVEN miles from Philadelphia by Railroad. The location and surroundings for beauty cannot be surpassed. The buildings are new, and their arrangement is most complete, being planned expressly for educational purposes. The grounds, though within the Borough, are retired, secluded, and ample, covering several acres, and have an abundance of shrubbery and shade.

The Institute has been in successful operation for twenty-six years.

Of its numerous students, during that period, nearly sixty have become Ministers of the Gospel. Of these, three are now in India, two in China, and one in Africa.

Many have distinguished themselves in the Legal and Medical Professions, in the Professor's Chair, in the Halls of Congress, and in the various departments of business life. Two are now Presidents of Colleges.

THE WINTER SESSION opens on the First Tuesday in November, and
THE SUMMER SESSION on the First Tuesday in May.

Seminarie de Greenwood,

PRÉS DE LEBANON, TENNESSEE.

N. LAWRENCE LINDSLEY, A. M., PRÉSIDENT.

L'année scolaire est divisée en deux périodes, commençant respectivement les premiers lundis d'Octobre et de Mars. Les vacances embrassent les mois de Juillet, d'Août, et de Septembre.

Le propriétaire de Greenwood, ne désirant pas patronner des familles qui n'accéderaient pas cordialement aux conditions d'admission, dirigera son institution sans prendre garde aux critiques suggérés souvent par le manque de capacités.

Le nombre des pensionnaires étant limité, il est nécessaire de demander à l'avance l'admission de nouvelles élèves.

Les parents trouveront, à se loger à Lebanon; toutes les chambres, à Greenwood, étant destinées exclusivement aux jeunes demoiselles.

"Il existe dans le Tennessee, à trois ou quatre milles de Lebanon, dans une situation charmante, un établissement qui jouit dans les Etats-Unis d'une grande réputation. Fondé sous la direction d'un homme aussi instruit qu'intelligent, le Professeur N. Lawrence Lindsley, cet établissement, connu sous le nom de Greenwood Seminary, est spécialement affecté à l'éducation des jeunes filles.

"L'instruction, largement comprise, embrasse toutes les branches dont la connaissance est indispensable à une jeune personne bien élevée. Nous n'avons pas besoin d'ajouter que la partie morale et religieuse, base de toute éducation sérieuse, est l'objet de soins particuliers; c'est rendre service aux parents que de leur recommander un pareil établissement."—Courrier des Etats-Unis.

INTERESTING TO THE DEAF.—For the benefit of our readers who may be afflicted with a partial loss of hearing, we publish the following extract from the pen of an eminent divine of our city. Speaking of the loss of sight and hearing, the two most important senses, he says: "When men find their eyesight failing, they then resort at once to the optician and supply themselves with artificial helps to vision—they are not willing to grope their way in darkness, when science supplies them with the means of seeing clearly. Now it seems strange indeed to us, that this promptitude to remedy the defects of failing vision is not witnessed when the ear is implicated and man's hearing is impaired!

Deaf men, it is generally observed, are more sad than blind men; and yet, the deaf man can remedy his defect, in nine cases out of ten, with scarcely more cost, and certainly not more discomfort, than the feeble-sighted. Why, then, does he sit in silence, when he would not sit in darkness? We asked this question to-day while looking over the various ear instruments provided by modern science to assist the hearing, and read in the book of Mr. Pugh Madeira, (No. 115 South Tenth street,) the numerous testimonials voluntarily recorded there, of those who bore grateful testimony, from their own experience, that science had succeeded in her task, and supplied the muffled ear with an instrument that opens its obstructed passages to the incomings of sweet sounds and articulate enunciations. Let all affected with deafness try the instruments thus offered them, and we feel confident that one of the many scientific instruments in the possession of Mr. Madeira will afford relief.

JOSEPH P. ENGLER, PUB. AGENT,

Established by the General Assembly in 1838.

LATE PUBLICATIONS.

THE TRUE PATH, or the Young Man Invited to the Saviour. In a Series of Lectures. By the Rev. Joseph M. Atkinson of Raleigh, North Carolina. 12mo. pp. 300, Price 60 cents, postage 13 cents. To clergymen 61 cents.

The subject may be said, in a very general way, to be Divine Revelation, its claims, aspects, relations, and benefits to man. The writer has "aimed to adapt his book to young men who are pursuing a course of liberal study in high-schools, academies, and colleges." He has endeavored to make his book "such as he now feels would have been useful to him when a young man in college, such as a Christian parent might put into the hands of a son with confidence and hope."

WORK AND CONFLICT, or the Divine Life in its Progress. A Book of Facts and Histories. By the Rev. John Kennedy, M. A., F. R. G. S., Author of "The Divine Life." 12mo. pp. 396. Price 65 cents, postage 16 cents. To clergymen 68 cents, postage paid.

This is a work of more than ordinary interest. It exhibits a deep insight into the workings of the human heart, under the culture of Divine grace. The former work of this author treated of the Divine Life principally in its nature, and its origination in the human soul. The present work exhibits the efforts and struggles, by which, aided by Divine grace, it is trained up from the weakness of infancy to the strength of manhood.

THE ROCK OF AGES, or Scripture Testimony to the one Eternal Godhead of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. By Edward Henry Bickersteth, M. A., Incumbent of Christ Church, Hampstead. A new and revised edition: 8vo. pp. 182, bound in bevelled boards. Price 60 cts., postage 15 cents. To clergymen 63 cts. net.

This is one of the most beautiful and important books ever published by the Board. It is an exact reprint of the London Tract Society's edition, which had the author's revision. The paper, print and binding are as attractive to the eye, as the contents are to the heart of the believer. Never was a work written on a controverted subject with less of the spirit of controversy. Love to the souls of those who differ from the author breathes in every page. No work on this all-important subject can be more safely put into the hands of an inquirer or a doubter. And the confirmed believer will be pleased to see what a flood of light is poured on the doctrine of the Divinity of his Saviour by this pious and judicious appeal to the sacred source of light, the word of God.

No clergyman's library can be considered complete without this admirable treatise.

CHILDREN'S SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE SCHEME, FOR USE IN SABBATH-SCHOOLS.

Under the instructions of the General Assembly, the Board has issued a neat card, with a very simple and comprehensive scheme marked out upon it. Wherever introduced into a Sabbath-school, it must have a most important influence in helping to train up the children of that church in habits of generous, intelligent and systematic giving to the cause of Christ.

Price of the cards, twenty-five cents per dozen, net. One card answers for a whole class. Accompanying this is printed in bronze, upon fine, stiff paper. This certificate is intended to be signed by either the Pastor or Superintendent, and presented to each Sabbath-school scholar who fully carries out the "Children's Systematic Beneficence Scheme" throughout the year, by making a systematic offering to the five Boards of the Church. It is prepared in a way suitable for framing, like certificates of life-membership. Price twenty-five cents per dozen, net.

A specimen copy of both the "Scheme" and the "Certificate" will be sent on application.

NEW YORK OBSERVER FOR 1861.

There are some considerations to which we invite your attention in favor of introducing the NEW YORK OBSERVER into families that take no religious paper, or are able to add another to those now taken.

1. The NEW YORK OBSERVER is the largest and cheapest religious news paper that is published.

2. It contains

TWO COMPLETE NEWSPAPERS,

one devoted to SECULAR, and the other RELIGIOUS matters; and these may be separated so as to make two complete journals, while the price for both is no greater than is charged for many papers smaller than either one of the TWO.

3. It aims to promote good feeling among Christians of all names, its motto being peace on earth and good will among men.

4. It devotes much space and attention to the advancement of

and its intelligence is full, reliable, and interesting in this department.

5. It is an earnest defender of the great principles of Protestantism held in common by every Evangelical Christian denomination.

It gives every week a complete synopsis of the most interesting events in including those that are called Evangelical, and those that are not, as every intelligent Christian wishes to be well informed respecting all of them.

7. It gives a well-digested epitome of the

NEWS OF THE DAY, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, prepared with great labor and care, so that the reader is sure to be put into possession of every event of interest and importance to the public.

8. The

of the OBSERVER is unrivalled, and has long commanded the admiration of intelligent men.

9. A large corps of the best writers are constantly at work in furnishing their best thoughts for this paper.

10. The NEW YORK OBSERVER is the unflinching advocate of conservative, scriptural principles in the work of moral reformation, resisting all those isms, errors and heresies which are not supported by the Word of God and the common sense of mankind.

11. It is a

BOND OF UNION

in Church and State, circulating in all denominations and all sections, everywhere teaching those doctrines which make good Christians and good citizens, and opposing everything that tends to strife and division.

It has AGRICULTURAL, COMMERCIAL, SCIENTIFIC and MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS, conducted by men of practical experience, presenting information, original and select, of great variety and value.

The arrangements for regular Foreign and Domestic Correspondence will be continued and enlarged, so that the NEW YORK OBSERVER will contain a complete epitome of the secular, religious and literary news of the whole world.

Each number contains FIFTY-SIX columns of printed matter, furnishing ample space for these and other attractions to be introduced from time to time, without diminishing the VARIETY that now distinguishes the OBSERVER.

We pledge ourselves, as proprietors and editors, to furnish an interesting, impartial, faithful and wholesome review, summary and digest of all events relating to the Religious, the Civil and Political Communities of the whole earth; to avoid all bitter and unholy controversies; to publish nothing detrimental to Evangelical truth, to the harmony and union of Christian denominations, and the best interests of mankind; and to produce, if possible, the largest, purest, cheapest and best religious and secular newspaper in the world.

We request our present readers to co-operate with us in introducing the NEW YORK OBSERVER into every family not supplied with a religious newspaper. By so doing, you will confer a blessing that will continue for successive generations. You will do a good service to the church, to the community, and to the State, for the principles which we teach are identified with the best interests of the whole human family. We will strive to make the paper more and more worthy of the confidence of the whole country, a means of grace, a friend of the pastor, a supporter of the church, and a mighty instrumentality for good in the land.

Every person who will give attention to the subject, may obtain from 10 to 100 subscribers.

For every new subscriber paying $2 50 for one year in advance, we will give the agent procuring the same Fifty Cents.

To enable our friends to bring the paper directly and repeatedly before the eyes of their friends, we now offer to send the New York Observer gratuitously for one month to any person whose address shall be sent to us before the 1st of December. This will give the family into which it may come a fair opportunity of learning the spirit and value of the paper.

To every person sending us the names of five new subscribers with one year's payment in advance, we will give the sum of five dollars, which may be deducted from the sum forwarded to us.

To each new subscriber paying in advance, a copy of our beautiful and valuable BIBLE ATLAS, with five colored maps, will be sent gratis!

Specimen numbers of the NEW YORK OBSERVER will be sent gratis to any address that may be forwarded to us for that purpose.

The present is a favorable season for making an effort. Subscriptions are received to begin at any time, and unless otherwise stated, will be understood to begin at the time the names are received.

To introduce the NEW YORK OBSERVER into families of the whole country, we trust, is a work of sufficient importance to secure the aid of every patriot and Christian. We ask your personal and immediate co-operation.

HAVE NOW READY,

OUTLINES OF THEOLOGY, by the REV. A. A. HODGE, 8vo. - $2 00

“Although we have seen various compends and outlines of theology, we know of no one so satisfactory and so well adapted to present exigency as the one before us. It meets every question with reference to the present state of theology, and the manner in which its radical truths are discussed. It will accordingly become an important aid to students, to pastors, and to Bible-classes. It is sufficiently full to satisfy readers generally who may wish to attain an intelligent view of revealed truth, and will prove suggestive and stimulative to earnest inquiry and study. Mr. Hodge is a son of our highly and justly esteemed Professor in the Theological Seminary at Princeton, under whose supervision he has been carefully trained, and if we desired any stronger guaranty of the soundness of the views embraced in the outline, we have it in the fact that, with his permission, the questions used by his father in his theological instructions are incorporated. The author has given to the subjects careful and independent thought and study, and no reasonable expectation will be disappointed in the results of his labours. The volume is very handsomely got up by the publishers.”—Presbyterian.

EDGEHILL SCHOOL,

PRINCETON, N. J.

Rev. J. P. HUGHES, A. M., Principal.

This Institution was founded in 1829, by Professor Patton. Its aim has always been to furnish a thorough preparation for College or for a business life, and its success is seen in the large number of its pupils who are already eminent in the learned professions and in other walks of life. It is the constant endeavor of the present Principal to make the school equal, if not surpass, what it was in its palmyest days.

He is happy to announce to the patrons of Edgehill that the Classical Department is under the direction of the REV. THOMAS W. CATTELL, A. M., formerly Principal of the School. The Principal retains the departments of Mathematics and English. Both will be aided by an ample corps of able and experienced instructors, and it will be the aim of all to enable the pupils thoroughly to master those fundamental principles in every branch of study, that will make future and higher attainments rapid and easy.

Princeton is situated, about mid-way, on the great route between New York and Philadelphia. Parents can therefore visit the School from either of those cities, by any one of the numerous daily trains, and with the loss of only a few hours of the day or night.

The situation of the town is elevated, the air pure, and the health unsurpassed. The College and Theological Seminary give to the place a high literary character, and by their very presence impart a stimulus even to preparatory education.

The School is on the edge of the town, sufficiently removed from its noise and bustle for all purposes of study, and yet convenient to the Churches, Post office, Physicians, &c. The buildings are large and commodious. The school-room is 48 feet by 24, with recitation rooms adjoining. A large and pleasant reading room, containing a library and several select newspapers, is appropriated for the use of the boys. The dormitories are carpeted and furnished with bureau, wash-stand, &c, for two boys, each having a separate bed. Care will be exercised in the selection of room-mates, but where single rooms are, for special reasons, desired, they can be had at an extra charge. The grounds enclose more than 13 acres, providing amply for lawn, play-ground and garden.

There are two sessions in the year, of five months each, commencing on the first Wednesday of August and the last Wednesday of January.

TERMS, $125 PER SESSION.'

This includes all ordinary expenses except washing, which is $8 per session. Modern Languages and Music are also extra. The French language is taught by a native of France, who resides in the house and devotes all of his time to the School.

New pupils are received at any time, when there are vacancies, and charged from the time of admission.

This beautiful village, with its various Institutions of Learning, is readily accessible, in one direction by the Lebanon branch of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and in the other by the Kentucky Central Railroad. The latter will be speedily completed to the southern bank of the Kentucky river, a few miles from Danville, and thence extended to the Village. The other, terminating for the present at Lebanon, leaves a pleasant ride of three or four hours, in comfortable coaches, for the Southern student, wearied by days of confinement to the Rail-car.

The completion of the Endowment of $50,000, the munificent donation by a Friend of $5000, for the erection of a suitable building for a Library, and the rapidly increasing number of students, have enabled the Board to take a decisive step forward in enlarging the advantages of education in the Institution. A new building, adapted to the present and prospective wants of the Institution, will be immediately commenced, with an Observatory and Astronomical Apparatus, adequate to all the purposes of the highest instruction in that department. Of the Endowment, about $20,000 will be added to the permanent fund, and the income from $10,000, ($800,) is already pledged to the enlargement of the General Library and the Special Apparatus in the department of Physical Science.

The attention of the Board has been specially directed to the organization of a Latin, Greek, and Mathematics, together with the English branches, and French, are thoroughly taught. In short, every effort is made to give the pupils a four-fold and complete education.

THE TERMS,

SMITH, WOODMAN & CO.

THIS Agency for Schools and Teachers was established in New York City, in 1855. Its intention was to meet a necessity, felt and expressed by many prominent Teachers and Proprietors of Schools. It was conducted at first, hardly more than as an experiment, till its practical usefulness was fully established. Its business has been steadily increasing, and its acknowledged benefits extending more widely; and now its numbers among its friends and patrons, many of the first Educators in the land.

Recently the plan of business has been carefully revised, and every improvement has been made, which large experience and good judgment could dictate. In 1859 a branch office was established in Philadelphia. In 1860 a Branch office was opened in San Francisco, California; and in the same year, another in Savannah, Georgia. These offices are conducted by practical Teachers—men of liberal education and acknowledged business ability. Through this chain of offices the "American School Institute" comprehends the educational resources of the entire country, and affords unparalleled facilities to TEACHERS and EMPLOYERS OF TEACHERS.

The leading objects of the AMERICAN SCHOOL INSTITUTE are:—

FIRST: To aid SCHOOLS, COLLEGES, and FAMILIES in securing suitable TEACHERS and PROFESSORS for any Department of Instruction.

The proprietors of the INSTITUTE appreciate the delicacy and difficulty of performing this office: and yet they can assure satisfaction to those who apply, stating fully what qualifications and peculiarities are required. They have the best facilities for reaching every grade of teachers, and their system enables them to estimate the precise qualifications and abilities of candidates for the high vocation of Teaching.

SECOND: To aid worthy and competent teachers in securing positions adapted to their qualifications.

THIRD: To buy and sell School properties on commission.

FOURTH: To become a general depository of information and circulars of the better schools every where.

FIFTH: To supply Teachers and School Officers with School Books, Charts, Maps, Globes, Philosophical Apparatus, School Furniture, and every kind of School Merchandise, at the lowest rates. Also to execute at the shortest notice, in the highest style of art, all kinds of School Printing, Circulars, Catalogues, Blanks, Cards, etc., at the lowest rates.

In selecting PIANO FORTES FOR SCHOOLS, they have peculiar advantages, and possess an experience and an acknowledged ability which defies competition. Parties may depend on being satisfied in the quality and price of instruments selected.

PRINCIPALS of Schools, may have their advertisements inserted in any of the Leading Newspapers, at their lowest cash rates.

A Circular containing particulars of our Plan, Terms, and the highest Educational and business endorsements, furnished when applied for.

Correspondents are requested to furnish Stamps for replies to their inquiries.

From Rev. Samuel Lockwood, the accomplished Scholar and the eminent Naturalist.

Perhaps the most remarkable exponent of what method can accomplish, is that system of intelligence tactics, or that new phase of Educational business as conducted and developed by the "AMERICAN SCHOOL INSTITUTE." Here is a set of gentlemen who keep themselves posted on the entire Educational wants and resources of the whole country. Every department of Education, high or low, comes within the plan. In a word, as to Education, taking it in a wide range, its apparatus, its literature, its wants and resources, are tabled as it might be in a Bureau of Educational Statistics.

And now mark the effect of such knowledge. In a time consideration, what saving! Instead of schools of high character being closed, or suffered to decline until the right man turns up, one is provided whose calling is known. "The right man in the right place."

The loss of time, misdirection of talent, imposition by unprofessional charlatany, each in itself no small misfortune to patron or pupil, are happily avoided.

From the Daily (Philadelphia) Press.

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL INSTITUTE affords undoubted and reliable facilities to the vast educational machinery of our country. We have had frequent evidence of its advantages to teachers, in procuring the most congenial positions; and to schools, in procuring for them the most suitable teachers; and to many of our first citizens who are governed by its direction in bestowing their patronage upon schools away from the city. The highest educational and business references, in every part of the country, are given by Messrs. Smith, Woodman & Co., Proprietors of the American School Institute.

GEORGE JUNKIN, D. D., PRESIDENT.

The unrivalled beauty of our mountain scenery, contributes not a little to its advantage, in the view of all persons who duly appreciate the power which the sublime scenes of nature exert upon the mind, and especially upon the youthful mind. It is not possible, that the eye of youth, under a course of intellectual training, should continually rest upon our undulating hills and rise to the summit of our majestic mountains, without lifting the spirit to something of their own sublimity.

The session opens on the second Thursday of September. Punctuality in attendance at the opening of the Session is of the utmost importance. Deficiencies are often due to missing or neglecting the first lessons.

The Commencement Exercises will take place on the last Thursday in June.

THE HON. EDWARD EVERETT'S OPINION OF CASSELL'S ILLUSTRATED FAMILY BIBLE.

"You have succeeded in preparing for the mass of the community, a very valuable illustrated edition of the Bible, at a moderate price.

"The amount of knowledge of History and Antiquities, Ancient Art, Geography, and the various branches of Natural Science, which your edition brings together for the better understanding of the Scriptures, is really surprising. You have my best wishes for the success of the enterprise."

OPINION OF RIGHT REV. DR. POTTER (Bishop of Pennsylvania), OF CASSELL'S ILLUSTRATED FAMILY BIBLE.

"Having examined a portion of the Illustrated Family Bible now in course of publication by Mr. CASSELL, I cannot but express my surprise and admiration at the beauty and cheapness of the work; its artistic embellishments and illustrations and the mechanical and literary execution are excellent, and it is offered at a price which places it within reach of a large proportion of our people. I heartily wish it success."

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"The illustrations are so large, frequent, and graphic, that they attract the admiration of subscribers, who wonder that so many can be given at such a price. In England the work has reached a quarter of a million, and it is gaining a strong hold on the Bible loving people of this country."—New York Observer.

"This is an extraordinary work. Its illustrations are all original, and by good artists. Nearly every page is illustrated."—Christian Advocate.

"We were struck with the clear, open typography, and the bold and beautiful engravings."—Christian Intelligencer.

"We have no hesitation in pronouncing it the most desirable Illustrated Bible ever issued."—Independent.

"We hope this Bible will find a welcome in thousands of American homes."—N. Y. Evangelist.

"Its peculiar characteristics are its extraordinary cheapness, and the profusion of its very beautiful and life-like illustrations."—World.

"No illustrated Bible has ever equalled this in the artistic merit of its pictures: None ever approached its combined beauty of printing and cheapness."—N. Y. Weekly Tribune.

"A new edition of the Bible, amply illustrated, and enriched with notes and marginal readings. The text of the authorised version is faithfully adhered to. The edition is very handsomely issued, and is offered at a price much lower than other illustrated copies."—N. Y. Times.

"One of the cheapest and most beautifully illustrated editions of the Bible ever brought out here."—N. Y. Herald.

"The cheapest publication of the Bible that has yet appeared."—N. Y. Evening Post.

"It is one of the finest illustrated works we have ever seen."—N. Y. Ledger.

"This will form the most magnificently illustrated edition of the Holy Scriptures which has been produced in this or any other country."—Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

"Its beauty and exceeding cheapness should reserve it a place in thousands of families."—Eclectic Magazine.
